WILLIAM TAGGARD PIPER

By CLARENCE WALTER AYER, A.M., of Cambridge, Mass.

WILLIAM TAGGARD PIPER, public-spirited citizen, organizer and patron of charities, man of affairs, and scholar, was born in Boston August 9, 1853, and died there, at the Massachusetts Homœopathic Hospital, victim of an epidemic of tonsillitis, July 25, 1911. He was the son of Solomon Piper,⁵ whose ancestors in direct line back were Solomon,⁴ Joseph,³ Jonathan,² and Nathaniel,¹ all of unusual length of life; and of Mary Elizabeth Taggard, his wife, whose father was William Taggard, whose mother was Mary Trow Welch, and whose ancestry goes back to early Colonial times.

During boyhood Mr. Piper was educated in the public schools of his native city, receiving a Franklin medal at the Quincy school in 1866, and another at the Latin school in 1870. In that year, at the age of sixteen, he entered Harvard College, and took his degree of A.B. in 1874, with distinction in scholarship which made him a member of the Phi Beta Kappa society. For the next four years he was engaged in study and travel abroad, the first two at Trinity College, Cambridge, England, and the third and fourth in Germany, chiefly at the University of Leipzig, and other parts of the continent. Returning to Cambridge in 1878, he resumed his studies at Harvard, taking his degree of A.M. in 1881, and his final degree of Ph.D. and A.M. in 1883, his subject being classical philology.

Even in the midst of the studies for his higher degrees he had married, on July 10, 1879, at Yellow Springs, Ohio, Anne Palfrey Bridge, of Lexington, whose father was William Frederick Bridge, whose mother was Elizabeth Gould Crosby, and whose ancestral line can be traced back to Elder William Brewster. To them were born, in Cambridge, four children, all now living: William Bridge, Nov. 21, 1880 (A.B., Harvard, 1903, M.F., Yale, 1905); Elizabeth Bridge, Sept. 19, 1883 (A.B., Radcliffe, 1906, A.M., same, 1911); Anne Taggard, Sept. 26, 1887 (wife of Matthew Hale, A.B., Harvard, 1903); and Ralph Crosby, Aug. 29, 1890 (A.B., Harvard, 1911, three years' course).

Solidly equipped in scholarship and mental acquirements as his Harvard degrees vouchsafed, and possessed of independent means and ample leisure, Mr. Piper might naturally have continued to live the academic life of a college community, pursuing special investigations and otherwise gratifying his scholarly tastes at will, or he might have sought a regular position in college work as instructor in classics. At this critical juncture, however, he seems to have abandoned, if indeed he had ever seriously entertained, a scholarly career, and to have chosen, or to have been led to give his life, with the entire force of his strong and vigorous personality, to the service of the many and varied interests of Cambridge. From 1870 his family had resided in that city, first at 22 Concord Avenue, and next and last at 179 Brattle Street, corner of Fayerweather Street, where in 1885 he had built for himself and growing family a spacious and attractive home. His readiness to serve and his ability to act met with a quick and cordial response on the part of his fellow-citizens. The number of organizations, municipal, social, philanthropic, historical, and other, of which he became a member during the decade following the completion of his studies at Harvard in 1883, and the administrative ability, untiring energy, devotion, and self-sacrifice which he showed in his service for each and every one of these organizations, form a unique record in the social life of Cambridge.

From that time onward it was the interests humanitarian, and not the humanities, that absorbed his main time and thought, and his freedom from the exactions of a regular business career or profession gave him ample scope for his work for others, and seemed, by a sort of reflex action, to spur him on to the utmost length in the execution of each self-imposed task. No detail, however trivial and insignificant in itself, would be neglected or overlooked by him, if, in his opinion, the matter in hand needed its consideration. Indeed, his attention to details, his capacity for taking pains, and his keenness of vision and judgment in matters small as well as large, are conspicuous traits of his mind and character.

It was these traits, to be sure, combined with his unswerving fearlessness and rigid determination to stand for what he thought was right and best in each emergency as it arose, that at times brought him opposition and caused misunderstanding of his motives. This is not surprising, for it is the lot of leaders of men to be misunderstood now and then, if not often, and it was due to another quality of mind which he possessed, and which is not always coupled with his recognized administrative ability, namely tactfulness and consideration of the point of view of the other man, that his course in the conduct of important plans and measures to which objections may have been raised was made smooth and his purpose gained.

The year of 1883 that brought an end to Mr. Piper's academic career saw the beginning, at the age of thirty, of that splendid service, public and semi-public, which absorbed his adult life for its last twenty-eight years. He appeared first as an organizer and member of the Associated Charities of Cambridge, being secretary from 1883 to 1889, director from 1889 to 1899, vice-president from 1899 to 1902, and honorary vice-president from that time to his death. In the next year, 1884, his ability, dignity, and tactfulness as a presiding officer received first recognition as president and director of the Cambridge Social Union for two years, of which he later, in 1896, became, and remained to the end, a trustee of the Permanent Fund. In the same year of 1884 he was chosen a member of the Parish Committee of the First Parish Church, on which he served until 1891, and yearly thereafter he was re-elected chairman of the annual Parish meetings, with further service on various committees of the church.

In 1886 Mr. Piper took upon himself another responsibility, which developed into one of his most devoted services, as trustee of the Avon Home for Children, becoming in 1888 its vice-president, and from 1892 its president. Whether or not the nearness of this institution to his home later had additional influence, it is to be noticed that this charity received from him more attention than any other. As chairman of its Building Committee, in 1891-2, he was foremost in preparing plans for the erection of the new building at 309 Mt. Auburn Street, and was interested in following every step of its progress. For this work he solicited a large portion of the funds; for the institution he showed a parental care throughout; and in his will he gave to it $5,000, the larger of his two public bequests, primarily to help carry out his project of adding a department for an Infants' Hospital, which is still under consideration. With characteristic enthusiasm and thoroughness he visited, last spring, a number of similar hospitals in and about Boston, in order that advantage might be taken of every new device and practice which the best equipment might require. He has left the institution in such perfect condition and in such excellent hands that his successors in its management will be under great and lasting obligations to his pioneer service.

All these kinds of service were semi-public. In 1888 Mr. Piper entered upon an active municipal career, which continued, in various forms, almost to the end of his life. In that year he was elected to the Common Council, on which he served two years; and in 1890 he took higher office as member of the Board of Aldermen. To all this municipal service he gave of himself just as freely and conscientiously as he had already done in all his earlier responsibilities. In 1891 he became, and continued to his death, a member of the local board of Civil Service Examiners.

In 1891, also, began his largest public service as member of the School Committee. Recognition of his executive ability and fitness, by that time well proved in several fields of activity, brought his elevation to the presidency of the School Board in 1892, which he retained until his retirement from that service in 1909. A full and just estimation of these devoted years of labor for the public schools is voiced in the following excerpt from an editorial in the Cambridge Tribune of July 29, 1911:

“For some sixteen years the president of the board, he exhibited in that capacity those traits which so signally marked his career and indicated him as the accomplished, courteous and fully equipped leader among men. During all that long period, it never occurred to the board to suggest any other name for its president or to demur on the decisions which it was his province to make. Few people in the community have a conscious knowledge of the management of school affairs; but those who are cognizant of the work of the schools fully appreciate the conscientious, skilled and superb work rendered gratuitously all these years by Mr. Piper. Had he been credited with this work alone, the people of Cambridge would be under a vast and an enduring obligation to him.”

The complete story of Mr. Piper's educational, as well as of his philanthropic service can never be told, and it is characteristic of the persistent benevolence and kindheartedness of the man that he should keep in touch with the later life of the older teachers, and that for some of those whose needs had become pressing he should, with great tact and consideration, make adequate provision.

It must be borne in mind, however, that, although Mr. Piper's relations with the school teachers were always just and impartial, yet at times his rigid and unbending sense of justice and responsibility, especially in financial matters, led him to make decisions which would seem, from a broader point of view, to have been inconsiderate and undeserved. Among the many, however, these were very few. In his determination to give a fair judgment of the fitness and ability of teachers, whether for re-appointment or to fill vacancies, he would make it a rule to give a teacher a second chance, if a first judgment had happened for any special reason to be unfavorable. Such determination would mean increase of labor on his part in each instance, but that for him was characteristically no deterrent. Indeed it came naturally to be thought and said that wherever there was something extra to do, and when there was no one else who could or would do it, Mr. Piper would detail himself for the task, no matter at what cost of time or effort. Thus it was that his personal visits to the actual fields of work of candidates for vacancies, whether teachers, superintendents of schools, or librarians, brought to examining committees in each instance additional information in aid of their final choice.

By a special provision of the City charter one member of the board of trustees of the Public Library must be chosen from the School committee. In that dual capacity Mr. Piper served from 1892 onward, being annually re-appointed, except for the year 1903. Throughout his long service of nearly seventeen years, the third longest in the history of the Library, he came to know and to appreciate the institution in every detail of its work, and he was keenly interested in every step of its development. He took office first as secretary in 1894 and 1895, next as president from 1896 to 1902, and last as treasurer on from 1904. In each capacity he sought to advance the best interests of the Library, sparing neither time nor effort to that end.

In the writer's position as librarian of this Library since 1904, he came to know well certain aspects of Mr. Piper's character and personality. To his work for the Library Mr. Piper gave more time, thought, and energy than any other trustee. Thoroughly congenial to one of his scholarly tastes, his duties as trustee, especially as chairman of the committee on books, became genuine pleasures. As elsewhere and always, he was in close touch with all details of administration and service, and much of this matter he had at call, with or without the aid of an omnipresent note-book, which he kept by him for emergencies which might arise in any of his manifold interests. Generally twice a week, and some weeks oftener, he would come to the Library, nearly always bringing back a parcel of books just read, and again taking out a new selection for himself and his family. Occasionally he would stop off on his way back from Boston, with the latest information about certain new books which he had just seen there, and which the Library might not yet have received, or had not been able to buy, and thereupon would generally ensue eager discussions of books new and old, comments on current events, and random talks on any other topic, related or, as often, unrelated. As the weeks and years went by, the writer came more and more to look forward to these visits of Mr. Piper, and to count them among the rare pleasures of his library experience.

Mr. Piper's active interest in libraries dates much farther back, to 1878, when he became a proprietor in the Boston Athenæum, of which thereafter he was a constant user and patron. Much later, and onward from 1894, he was a member of the Massachusetts Library Club, always planning to attend the winter meeting, which was generally held in Boston.

Correlated to these libraries were three learned societies, each with its own special library, two of which Mr. Piper joined in the early nineties. With the first of these, the New England Historic Genealogical Society, he had longest and most intimate connection, from 1892 onward, becoming in 1899 a life member, and serving on a varied succession of its committees: first as councillor, 1898-1900; next as member of the Committee on Papers and Essays, the Nominating Committee, and the Committee to Print Proceedings of the Annual Meeting, all in 1900; member of the Committee on the Library, 1903; again Councillor, 1904-1907; member of the Committee on Finance, 1905-1906; and last as member of the Committee on Real Estate, 1910. To all this service Mr. Piper gave unsparingly of his time and energy, no doubt the more eagerly because it brought variety to his many responsibilities. Likewise was added, from 1894 on, membership and keen enjoyment in The Colonial Society of Massachusetts. Last of this type came membership in the Cambridge Historical Society from 1905, its first year, to 1910, when he resigned.

Among business interests Mr. Piper's chief connection was with the Cambridge Trust Company of which, from 1892 on, he became an active, influential, and public-spirited director, but in which he held no other office.

All these varied interests of Mr. Piper's, public, semi-public, and other, as above described, were obviously serious in intent and exacting in their demands upon his time, thought, and energy. Three other organizations with which he became permanently identified were mainly social and recreative in character, and of these he availed himself in good measure. Midway in this respect stands his membership in the Cambridge Club, which began in 1892, and of which he became a director in 1905, vice-president in 1906, and president in 1907. He joined the Union Club, of Boston, in 1894, and the Oakley Country Club, of Belmont, in 1898, of the latter having been one of the original members.

With increase of years came increase of responsibilities. When, in 1910, there was formally organized of a board of trustees, in connection with the erection of a new building for the Young Women's Christian Association, of Cambridge, Mr. Piper was elected its chairman, having already been, since 1898, an auxiliary member of the institution. In his benevolent and philanthropic service he had already gone farther afield and out of the bounds of Cambridge, by accepting, in 1899, a trusteeship of the Boston Homœopathic Hospital, which culminated, early last year, in his election as president of its board. Shortly before, in 1910, he had received from Governor Draper an appointment, wholly unsought, as trustee of the Boston State Hospital. By these appointments was shown a wider recognition of Mr. Piper's long and valuable experience in connection with institutions of a similar kind. In the light of such development it is not too much to predict that, had his life been spared, he would have entered upon still another and a larger career of service to the State, and perhaps eventually to the nation.

With all his mental acquirements and scholarship on the one hand, and his active service for the public good on the other, it would seem as if Mr. Piper had shown no wish or inclination to write of his own experiences or investigations. In fact, he has left no written or published matter, except such as might be contained in annual and special reports for the schools, the public library, the Avon Home, and other institutions, but these were models of their kind for brevity, conciseness, and force.

A life like Mr. Piper's, of such extraordinary energy and accomplishment in behalf of others, and of such marked concentration and strength of purpose, would seem to have been singularly resourceful and self-sufficient. And yet it is fitting here to record that Mr. Piper owed much of his incentive to public service and his persistency of action to the encouragement and example of his devoted wife, Anne Palfrey Piper. Back in the eighties, soon after their marriage in 1879, Mrs. Piper joined heartily with her husband in all the beginnings of their charitable and benevolent work, and throughout their lives, the wife dying of the same disease as the husband only two months before, there was a perfect sympathy and oneness of purpose, born of mutual love and devotion, which made light of the many burdens and responsibilities which they had voluntarily taken upon themselves to bear for the benefit of others.

The mainspring of action, back of all else, was a beautiful and self-centred home life, which remained to the end unchanged in the mutual appreciation and helpfulness of husband and wife. To their Cambridge home there was added a summer home in Falmouth, called "The Uplands," which they built in 1892. Together they helped to organize, in 1904, the Cambridge District Nursing Association, of which Mrs. Piper became president, and to which Mr. Piper left $1,000, the smaller of two modest public bequests, the larger being mentioned above. In other charitable works they also co-operated, and their associated support was as charming and helpful as it was unusual.

Of tributes to Mr. Piper's character and personality the latest and most appreciative expression was given at a meeting of the Cambridge Club at Young's, on November 20, 1911, in a sketch* written and there read by one of its members, William M. Richardson, Esq., from which the following paragraph is quoted :

"No one could be brought into contact with him, whether socially, officially, or in business matters, without being impressed with his fairness, justice, candor and fearlessness. He was modest, retiring even to shyness, slow in forming convictions, free from prejudices, charitable towards all, benevolent in giving and in acts, interested in all attempts to better society and individuals, expecting no reward and receiving none, except the consciousness of the well intentioned performance of duty."

A just estimate of the character and personality of Mr. Piper must take also into consideration a combination of apparently opposite traits. Side by side with his manifest sympathy and broadmindedness in dealing with institutions and their work, may be noted a certain reserve and aloofness of manner in dealing with individuals. This latter trait, as being shown in much the same way towards all whom he met, must be thought, for the most part, innate and unconscious in its operation; and yet it is this trait which at times led to a misconception of his character as a whole, and which also interfered with his personal popularity. Of intimate friends he had very few, and the successes of his remarkable public career were won rather by his sterling qualities of mind and heart, by sheer force of character and circumstance, than by the slightest appeal to any of the ingratiations of the politician. An aristocrat in thought and feeling for himself, alone considered, he was a democrat in his interest and concern for others. His home, like the Englishman's, was his castle, and to it no stranger from the outside world was welcome; and yet to that larger world beyond the pale of his home, he gave of his best, in act and substance, and that, too, a form of giving which was rather the devotion and sacrifice of himself than merely the turning over of money which by some might have been easily gotten, and which might accordingly have meant no real sacrifice whatever. His was indeed a noble stewardship of wealth, and in his death the community has suffered an irreparable loss.

During the hour of the funeral, which took place on the afternoon of Friday, July 28th, the Public Library and its branches were closed by order of the trustees, as contained in the "Resolutions" befitting his memory and Library service which had been by them adopted and spread on the records.

DUTCH JOHNSONS IN CONNECTICUT

By DONALD LINES JACOBUS, M.A., of New Haven, Conn.

AMONG the numerous Johnson families of old Connecticut we have reason to suppose that two, at least, were of Dutch origin. There has been much speculation concerning the antecedents of William Johnson of New Haven and Wallingford, Conn., whose family is given in the REGISTER, vol. 55, p. 369. Mr. James Shepard surmises that he might have been a son of Thomas Johnson, one of the three brothers from Yorkshire, Eng., who was drowned in New Haven harbor in 1640 (REGISTER, vol. 56, p. 133). This poor Thomas has been of inestimable value to the genealogists, who have bestowed on him as offspring a large number of stray Johnsons. In strict fact, he left two sons, Thomas of Newark, N. J., and Jeremiah of Derby, Conn. (New Haven Proprietors' Records, vol. 2, pp. 329-330); and there is not a shadow of evidence to prove that William was his son.

Then, who was William Johnson? Perhaps the following facts will throw some light on the question. The death of a certain "Old Richard" Johnson is recorded in New Haven on 25 March 1679. His estate was administered 1 April 1679, when we find him called, not Richard, but "Dericke" Johnson (Probate Records, vol. 1, p. 182), and after the payment of debts, the court granted the remainder of his estate to William Johnson (County Court Records, vol. 1, p. 115; and Deeds, vol. 1, p. 73). No mention is made of the relationship between them, but it is evident that they were not father and son. If, however, we remember that Richard is called Derrick, and that William himself frequently appears on record as Wingle, it is pretty safe to assume that they were of Dutch descent, and very likely stood in the relation of uncle and nephew to each other.

Much more perplexing is the origin of Walter Johnson of Wallingford, Conn., whose immediate family has been carefully compiled by Mr. James Shepard and published in the REGISTER, vol. 56, p. 139. Up to the present time nothing has been known concerning him, except that he appeared in Wallingford before 1692, married a nameless daughter of Nehemiah and Hannah (Morgan) Royce, and died in 1731, leaving two sons, John and Lambert. The following record from the Dutch church of Flatbush, L. I., adds considerably to our meagre information: "1689, July 5. Wouter Jansen widv. of Johana Rys of N. Eng. at Wallinford, to Tryntie Henerig, wid. of Wm. Edwards, liv. Pennu (?)." Two facts are made clear by this record of our Walter Johnson's second marriage. In the first place it discloses the full name of his first wife, Joanna Royce. In the second place, taken in connection with his signing his name Janson in Wallingford deeds, it indicates Dutch blood. Moreover, it leads to the surmise that John was Walter's only child by the Royce alliance, and that Lambert was the offspring of this second marriage. At any rate, John is named in his grandfather Royce's will, while Lambert is not; and John deeds away Royce land, while Lambert does not. Moreover, late in life, Walter Johnson deeds a piece of land to his son Lambert, in consideration of which the latter is to maintain his father and mother for the rest of their lives. It looks very much as if this widow Tryntie was Lambert's mother.

Yet, interesting as these discoveries are, they do not go very far toward lifting the veil that obscures the early life of Walter Johnson. The problem is made more complex by a power of attorney (Wallingford Deeds, vol. 5, p. 454), granted in 1728 by John Benham of Kings Co., N. Y., Lambert Johnson and wife Anna of Richmond, N.Y., Jacob Johnson and wife Sara of Richmond, and Evert Van Namen and wife Winefrut. John, Anna, Sarah, and Winifred were four of the children of Joseph Benham of Wallingford by his wife Winifred King of Boston. Lambert and Jacob Johnson and Evert Van Namen, husbands of the three Benham girls, lived on Staten Island, where they belonged to the Dutch Reformed Church. This document is surprising, as it proves that two Dutch Johnsons, of the same generation as Walter, married Wallingford girls; and one of them bore the name of Lambert, which was also the name of one of Walter's sons. A natural supposition is that they were brothers of his, and met the Benham girls while visiting his home.

As is well known, the Dutch rarely bore a permanent surname, but went by a patronymic derived from the father's Christian name. Thus, Lambert Johnson and Jacob Johnson were simply Lambert and Jacob, sons of John or Jan; but before 1700 the Dutch in America had begun to retain the father's patronymic after the English fashion, so it need not surprise us to find in the Staten Island records that Lambert and Jacob Johnson were sometimes known as Lambert and Jacob Wouters. This implies that they were sons of a certain Jan Wouters (John son of Walter), and that they sometimes retained the Wouters and sometimes called themselves Jansen after their father's Christian name. This makes it all the more likely that Walter Johnson was their brother, for, as the son of Jan Wouters, he would be named after his grandfather Walter or Wouter.

Consequently, it is necessary to locate a Jan Wouters who could have been father of Walter, Lambert, and Jacob. And what is our amazement to learn that Jacob Johnson, son of John Wooters, was born in Branford, Conn., 31 December 1672 (Branford Records, vol. 1, p. 174). Here is a Dutch Jacob Johnson who, learning the English tongue in his infancy, would be most eligible to marry an English girl. That he is identical with the Jacob of Staten Island is proved by the father's name; and his wife, Sarah Benham, was born four years later, 6 September 1676. According to Savage, Jan Wouters lived at Branford from 1667 to 1673; and, when we come to search for his antecedents we find that in 1667 he owned salt meadows in Flatbush, L. I., the very place where Walter Johnson, undoubtedly his son, married his second wife. From Branford he returned to Flatbush, where in 1678 he hired out his son Ruth (Rutger) to his brother-in-law Laurens Juriense. He was living in 1695, when he calls himself of New York.

Jan Wouters is by no means an uncommon name, and it will therefore require some evidence to prove that our man of that name, who was a master-shoemaker by trade, was identical with Jan Wouters Van der Bosch, whose name appears in the Flatbush Church Records of this period. On 12 May 1678 were baptized Jacobus, aged $5\frac{1}{2}$, Judith, aged $2\frac{5}{8}$, and Jan, aged $1\frac{1}{2}$, children of Jan Wouters Van der Bosch and Weintie Peters, who came from Stamford, New England. It is probable that the original record reads "Branford," and that "Stamford" is an error of the copyist who prepared these records for the press; for a limited search in Stamford, Conn., has failed to reveal the presence there of any Jan Wouters or Van der Bosches. Moreover, the age of Jacobus (the Latinized form of Jacob or James) exactly corresponds with the age of Jacob Johnson, son of Jan Wouters, who was born at Branford in December 1672. On the whole, it is extremely improbable that two Jan Wouters, one at Branford and the other at Stamford, each had a son Jacob born in the same month of the same year. Another proof of identity is the fact that Jan Wouters Van der Bosch married Weintie Peters, while Laurens Jurianse Haf married Kenira Peters; and we have already mentioned that Laurens Jurianse was brother-in-law of our Jan Wouters.

With these facts established, it is possible to sketch the earlier generations of Walter Johnson's family.

1. JAN¹ WOUTERS VAN DER BOSCH, son of Wouter Van der Bosch, born about 1638, resided at Flatbush, L. I., and Branford, Conn., and died after 1695. He married first ARENTJE ARENTS; and secondly WEINTIE PETERS, whose sister Kenira Peters married, 5 July 1676, Laurens Jurianse Haf. The Peters family came from Amersfoort.

Children by first wife:

2. i. LAMBERT² JANSEN, bapt. at New York 17 Nov. 1660.
- ii. HENDRICK JANSEN, bapt. at New York 30 Mar. 1663.
3. iii. WOUTER JANSEN, b. probably at Flatbush abt. 1666.

Children by second wife:

- iv. RUTGERT JANSEN, bapt. at New York 16 Nov. 1669; m. there ANNETJE GERRETS.
- v. BENJAMIN JANSEN, bapt. at New York 9 Apr. 1671.
4. vi. JACOB JANSEN, b. at Branford 31 Dec. 1672.
- vii. JUDITH JANSEN, b. abt. Dec. 1675; m. JOHN ANDERSON of New York.
- viii. JAN JANSEN, b. abt. Feb. 1677.
- ix. SARA JANSEN, bapt. at Flatbush 5 Dec. 1680.
- x. CORNELIS JANSEN, bapt. at Flatbush 20 Jan. 1682.
- xi. STINTIE JANSEN, bapt. at Flatbush 28 Sept. 1684.
5. xii. ANTJE JANSEN (?), b. abt. 1688.

2. LAMBERT² JANSEN or WOUTERS (*Jan*¹), baptized at New York 17 Nov. 1660, settled on Staten Island. He married ANNA BENHAM of Wallingford, who was born in 1669.

Children:

- i. WINNIFRET³ JANSEN, bapt. at Staten Island 5 May 1696. The witnesses of the christening were Jan Wauterzen (perhaps her uncle Jan Jansen) and Tryntie Hendricksen (perhaps Walter Johnson's wife Tryntie Henerig).
- ii. AAFYE, bapt. 7 Sept. 1698. The witness was Jacob Jansen.
- iii. LAMBERT, bapt. 22 Apr. 1707. The witness was Evert Van Namen.
- iv. SARA, dau. of Lambert "Wouters," bapt. 19 Apr. 1709. The witnesses were Evert Van Namen and Sarah Jans.

3. WOUTER² JANSEN (*Jan*¹), born, probably at Flatbush, about 1666, settled at Wallingford, Conn., where he was known as Walter Johnson, and died 6 Feb. 1731. He married first JOANNA ROYCE, who was born about 1670 and died about 1688; and secondly at Flatbush, 5 July 1689, TRYNTIE HENERIG, widow of William Edwards.

Child by first wife:

- i. JOHN,³ b. abt. 1688; m. 2 Nov. 1710, MARY CHATTERTON of New Haven; removed to Whippenny, N. J. (REGISTER, vol. 56, p. 140).

Child by second wife:

6. ii. LAMBERT, b. abt. 1691.

4. JACOB² JANSEN or WOUTERS (*Jan*¹), born at Branford 31 Dec. 1672, married SARAH BENHAM of Wallingford, who was born 6 Sept. 1676, and settled on Staten Island.

Children :

- i. JACOB,³ bapt. 25 Mar. 1701. The witnesses were Lambert and Reyne Jansen.
 7. ii. CORNELIS, son of Jacob "Wouters," bapt. 20 Apr. 1703. The witnesses were Thomas Sutton and Susanna Du Secoy.
 - iii. WYNTIE, bapt. 3 July 170-. The witnesses were Lambert Jansen and his wife.
 - iv. JOHANNA, bapt. 22 Apr. 1707.
 - v. BENJAMIN, son of Jacob "Wouters," bapt. 23 Oct. 1711. The witnesses were Hendrick Maarlin and Antie Wouters.
5. ANTJE² JANSEN or ANNA JOHNSON (*Jan*¹), born about 1688, died after 1752, seems to belong to this family. As Antie Wouters she witnessed the christening of Benjamin Jansen. She married JOHN JENNER or JENNES of Staten Island, and in accordance with Dutch custom appears on record under her maiden name of Wouters at the christening of her daughter Sara, and of Johnson at the christening of her daughter Elsje.

Children :

- i. SARAH JENNER, bapt. 5 June 1720. The witnesses were Evert Van Namen and Jenneken Van Naman.
 - ii. JOHN JENNER, m. AELTYE MARLIN, and had issue: Aentje, Jan, Willem, and Elsje.
 - iii. LAMBERT JENNER, m. ANNA MARLIN, and had issue: Sara, Antie, and Maria.
 - iv. ANTJE JENNER, m. JOACHIM STILLWELL, and had issue: Richard and Jan.
 - v. WILLEM JENNER, m. JANNETYE GARRETSE, and had issue: Antje.
 - vi. ELSJE JENNER, bapt. 1 Sept. 1734. The witnesses were Lambert Jenner and Wyntje Johnson.
6. LAMBERT³ JOHNSON (*Waller,*² *Jan*¹), born about 1691, died 27 Nov. 1726, lived at Wallingford. He married, 1 Mar. 1716, REBECCA CURTIS.

Children :

- i. BENJAMIN,⁴ b. 10 Dec. 1716; m. 11 Apr. 1751, MARY DOOLITTLE. His family lived at Bantam, Conn., where his sons *Benjamin*⁵ and Lambert are buried.
 8. ii. CORNELIUS, b. 13 Feb. 1719.
 - iii. MARY, b. 3 June 1720.
 - iv. ANNA, m. 12 Oct. 1743, AZARIAH PERKINS of Bethany, Conn.
 - v. REBECCA, m. (1) 3 Apr. 1745, BENJAMIN PERKINS; m. (2) 13 Mar. 1752, JOHN WILMOT; m. (3) 3 Aug. 1756, SAMUEL THOMAS. She lived at Woodbridge, Conn.
7. CORNELIS⁸ JANSEN (*Jacob,*² *Jan*¹), baptized in the Dutch Church on Staten Island 20 Apr. 1703. He married SARAH MAMBRUT, evidently of French stock.

Children :

- i. SARAH,⁴ bapt. 6 Apr. 1724. The witnesses were Antony Van Pelt and Lady Mambrut.
 - ii. MARIA, bapt. 20 Feb. 1726. The witnesses were Jaques Seguin and Lady Mambrut.
 - iii. RACHEL, bapt. 25 Dec. 1728. The witnesses were Estienne and Marie Mersereux.
8. CORNELIUS⁴ JOHNSON (*Lambert,*³ *Waller,*² *Jan*¹), born at Wallingford 13 Feb. 1719, removed to Waterbury, Conn., where he died about 1802. Administration was granted on his estate 3 May 1802

(Waterbury Probate Records, vol. 3, p. 317). He married ELIZABETH LEWIS.

Children :

- i. ELIZABETH,⁵ b. 2 Jan. 1750; d. 12 Sept. 1766.
- ii. ASA, b. abt. 1751; d. 13 Dec. 1751.
- iii. ASA, b. 24 June 1754; d. 8 Feb. 1758.
- iv. JESSE, b. 27 July 1756; m. 23 Aug. 1780, HANNAH BEACH, widow of John.
- v. CORNELIUS, b. 13 Nov. 1758; d. June, 1762.
- vi. LYMAN, b. 21 Jan. 1761; m. 6 Mar. 1780, MARY HOADLEY.
- vii. CORNELIUS.

ABSTRACTS FROM VOLUME I. OF THE PROBATE RECORDS OF ORLEANS COUNTY, VT.

Copied by FRANK MORTIMER HAWES of Winter Hill, Mass.

[148-149] The will of Philadelphus Mason, late of Craftsbury (see [336]), signed 17 June 1821, names his uncle, Hiram Mason, as executor, "who was to keep me till the age of 21, but as I was ill more than a year of that time, he is to be released from paying anything." The testator, now of age, gives one third of his estate to his honored mother, Thankful Mason, "if it is called for;" one third to sister Abigail Mason; one third to Lemuel Mason and Anne Janette Mason, children of my brother Lewis Mason. Witnesses, Samuel C. Crafts, Frances Shaw, Anna Jennings.

[150-151] The will of Micajah Dunham, late of Morristown (see [319]), dated 31 Dec. 1812, was probated 26 Jan. 1813; the widow, Dorothy Dunham, and Elisha Boardman, Esq., executors. It mentions land adjoining Isaac Warren's. Bequests made to wife Dorothy; eldest son, Harry Dunham; Marrell Pratt and to Sally Rawlings; "what will fall to them by the law." Witnesses: James Tucker Giles, H. Holding, Roswell Wells.

[152] The will of Ebenezer Dike, late of Morristown, signed 4 Jan. 1813, presented first Monday in March 1813, but one of the witnesses acknowledged the instrument 26 Jan. 1813. To son Reuben Dike; to son Linas Dike; to son Ebenezer Dike; to sons Elijah and Elisha Dike; to daughters, Loraina Dike, Anna Dike, Launda Dike, Irene Dike, Dinuaia Dike, Orinda Dike, and Elizabeth Dike; to wife, Anna Dike; the wife and son Reuben, the executors. Witnesses, Elisha Boardman, Eliakim Alexander, and Samuel Cook.

[153-158] Herman G. Elmore was made administrator of the estate of James Maxum, late of Elmore, 5 Apr. 1813. Inventory dated Oct. 1814. To the widow, Sally Maxum; residue to David Maxum and Belvia Maxum, children of the deceased, the former three years old. On 4 Apr. 1814 Jesse Elmore was made guardian of Belvia, and Hiram G. Elmore was made guardian of David.

[159-162] Samuel Barrows was appointed administrator of the estate of his father, Moses Barrows, late of Irasburg, 10 Feb. 1813. Inventory dated Apr. 1813. Power given to pay the widow and the guardian of Sally Barrows, a daughter, for support to the age of seven. A certificate, signed

4 Apr. 1814, states that Aaron Barrows, Deliver Barrows, and Mallora(?) Barrows, children of the deceased, chose Samuel Barrows for their guardian.

[163] Elizabeth Taylor received appointment as administratrix of her husband, Joshua Taylor, late of Irasburg, 19 June 1814. Inventory 4 June 1814. The widow was left with several small children.

[164-167] Administration was given 3 Aug. 1812 to Ira Colburn and Anna Gusha, widow, upon the estate of David Gusha, late of Glover. Inventory presented 28 Aug. To the widow, Anna Gusha, her thirds; the remainder to be divided between David Gusha and Anna Gusha, children of the deceased, not yet seven years of age. Account, with list of claims, dated 5 Aug. 1814.

[168-171] Administration upon the estate of Sylvanus Leach, late of Craftsbury, given to Hiram Mason on the request of the widow, 9 May 1812. Inventory taken 18 July; a list of debtors and creditors. "The administrator being detached to serve in the army of the U. S.," Capt. Ephraim Morse of Craftsbury was appointed administrator de bonis non. The widow states that she has to provide for several small children.

[172] Thomas Mallard of Warwick, Hampshire Co., Mass., made administrator of the estate of his father, John Mallard, late of Glover, 27 Sept. 1811. Inventory presented 1 Oct. Account mentions "my father and mother's gravestones at Warwick;" to bringing gravestone of the father to Glover; to amounts paid Aaron Garfield and Mary Mallard.

[253-256] The estate of Mary Mallard, late of Glover. By the consent of heirs, John Cass was appointed administrator 8 July 1815. Stephen Garfield also named. Appraisers, inventory, and list of claims recorded; account closed 5 May 1817.

[257-262] Administration granted, 4 Dec. 1809, on the estate of James Underhill, late of Greenboro, to Joseph Scott and the widow, Abelina Underhill. Appraisers and commissioners named; inventory given, and a list of claims. It appears that the deceased left no children. After the payment of debts, one half of the estate was assigned to the widow, and the rest to Stephen, Amos, Jeremiah, Jonathan, and Abigail Underhill, and Joanna Allen. Account closed Dec. 1810.

[263-266] Administration on the estate of John Goodell, late of Glover, was given to Sally Goodell, the widow, and John Corlis, 14 Mar. 1816. List of appraisers, claimants, and an inventory recorded; account ended 6 May 1817.

[267-274] On 16 Nov. 1815, administration on the estate of Calvin Eaton, late of Kelleyvale, was given, at the request of the widow, to Joseph Scott. Appraisers, inventory and claimants recorded; list of debts due the estate. The widow received her right of dower May 1816.

[275-284] John C. Ellsworth and Elnathan Strong were appointed to administer upon the estate of John Ellsworth, esq., late of Greensboro, 15 July 1816, at the request of the widow. Appraisers, commissioners, and inventory given. In the list of claimants the names of Fred. Ellsworth, Harriet Ellsworth, and Sally Ellsworth appear; a list of debts due the estate given. The administrators receive their discharge 1 Dec. 1817.

[285] Joseph Waterman, administrator of the estate of Elisha Hyde, late of Norwich, Conn., acknowledges cash payment by Veranes Lathrop of Hyde Park, for land in that town owned by said Hyde, 16 Jan. 1817; recorded 17 Feb. 1819.

[286-287] Joseph Waterman, etc., acknowledges the sale of land in Westmore, belonging to the estate of Elisha Hyde, to Varanes Lathrop; same dates as the above.

[288-290] The will of Joshua Stanton, late of Essex, presented to probate of Chittenden Co., 23 Feb. 1811, and copied at Orleans Co., 1 Oct. 1818; the wife, Abigail Stanton, the executrix. The will, besides making provision for wife Abigail, mentions grandchildren Abigail Eliza Lee, Chauncey Graham Lee, and Theodore Lee, all of Colebrook in Conn., and children of daughter Abigail Lee, deceased, and Rev. Chauncey Lee; daughters Elizabeth Camp, wife of Luke Camp of Westford, Chittenden Co., and Sally Peaslie, of Burlington, wife of Zacheus Peaslie. Witnesses, Samuel Hickock, Polly Pixley, Sally Converse, and Stephen Mix Mitchell.

[291-293] An agreement between Elisha Brigham and Lucy Brigham, of Morristown, whereby they relinquish to each other rights in the real estate of Enoch Brigham, late of Morristown; acknowledged 4 June 1818. An agreement between Enoch Brigham and Elisha Brigham in relation to the same estate. Said Enoch holds a deed from his mother for her maintenance, dated 19 Feb. 1816. Witnesses, Abner and Thomas Brigham; recorded 6 Nov. 1820.

[294-295] Joseph Scott, judge of probate of Orleans Co., for $300 paid by Elisha Brigham of Morristown, relinquishes all claim to land which Enoch Brigham had in Morristown, being part of the original grant of Nathan Hibbard.

[296-299] Cyrus Eaton of Brownington appointed administrator upon the estate of Jonathan Eaton, late of the same town, 14 Mar. 1820. Appraisers, inventory, and claimants recorded; also a list of debts due to the estate; a widow and two children under seven years, mentioned; also money paid C. Eaton of Danville.

[300-304] Administration on the estate of Calvin Cook, late of Glover, by the request of the widow, given to David Flint of the same town 5 Oct. 1818; appraisers, inventory, and claimants recorded. In the list of claims the names of Paul Cook, Jr., and Betsey Cook appear. Money is paid the widow for the support of the family.

[305-312] The will of Levi Grout, late of Morristown, signed 26 Oct. 1820, was presented 6 Nov. 1820. To wife Polly Grout; son Jason Grout; Mary Robinson, daughter Joanna Grout; William Nichols, "wife's father," the executor. The appraisers, inventory, and commissioners recorded. In the inventory three notes mentioned, signed by Z. (? Zac) Grout; a list of claimants.

[313-315] John Ide, by request of the widow and others, appointed to administer upon the estate of George Dorr, late of Coventry, 6 July 1818; appraisers and inventory given.

[316-317] The will of John Perkins of Unity, N. H., dated 17 July 1813, and proved at Charlestown, N. H., is received at Orleans Co. 27 Aug. 1823. It mentions wife Esther; son John A. Perkins; son Seth Perkins; son Daniel C. Perkins, who is named as executor; daughters, Esther Young, Ruth Way, Betsey Comstock, Lucy Perkins, Hannah Carlton. Witnesses, John Thurston, Whitefield Gilmore, John Gilmore.

[318] On 25 Mar. 1822 Horace Whitney of Craftsbury, son of Joseph Whitney late of Granville, N. Y., being of age to choose a guardian, made choice of Joseph Scott of Craftsbury.

On 4 June 1822, at the request of Chester Carpenter, the court appointed Samuel S. Kendall of Derby to be guardian of Caroline, under fourteen, daughter of the late Nathaniel Kendall of Derby.

On 1 Apr. 1823, at the request of Arnold Prouty, the court appointed Samuel Warner of Newport guardian to Alfred and Roswell Prouty, both under fourteen, sons of the late John Prouty, of Newport.

On 28 May 1823 George Nye was appointed guardian to Lewis Nye (who seems to have been of age).

[319-322] Appraisers of the estate of the late Micajah Dunham, of Morristown, appointed 26 Jan. 1813 (see [150]).

Received of Philip Wheeler all monies which passed into his hands during my minority. Signed, 1 Dec. 1833, Edwin W. Dunham.

An inventory of the estate of M. Dunham, Esq., of Morristown, deceased, Elisha Boardman, Esq., administrator, followed by inventory of personal property of the widow, Dorothy Dunham; next, a list of claims.

[323-325] A petition of the heirs of Micajah Dunham, namely Amasa Spaulding, Jr., and Davis B. Dunham, of Morristown, recites that Micajah Dunham died in 1812; that in Jan. 1813 the will was proved, and Elisha Boardman and Dorothy Dunham, the widow, were appointed the executors; that said Boardman hath deceased and said Dorothy married Jacob Mason in 1817; that said Jacob was made administrator de bonis non 25 Mar. 1826; that said Dorothy died more than two years ago; that an estate of over $6,000 hath come into the hands of said administrator; that Davis B.

Dunham and Amasa Spalding, Jr., in right of his wife Mariah, Harry Dunham, now living out of the state, Edwin W. Dunham, now a minor, Martha Pratt and Sally Rawlings, are entitled to said estate; that said Mason has never exhibited a settlement. Signed 29 Oct. 1829 (see [346]).

[326-329] The will of Sibbyl Temple, late of Glover, signed 28 Jan. 1822 and received for probate 30 Nov. 1822. To oldest brother, John Temple; Cynthia Page, "my third sister;" sister Content Sargent; sister Clarinda Woster; sister Elizabeth Brown; brother Isaac Adams Temple; Eliza, daughter of Levi and Elizabeth Brown (string of gold beads); Lew-issa Brown, daughter of Levi and Elizabeth; Fanny Kingsbury, daughter of my sister; Hannah White, daughter of my sister; Philinda Rounds, daughter of my sister; George Smith, son of my sister Matilda; mother Elizabeth Temple; sister Cynthia Page, the residue, to assist her in caring for their mother; Pritchard Page of Glover sole executor. Witnesses, Charles Hardy, James Clark, and Nancy Hardy.

[330-331] The will of John Perkins, late of Unity, N. H. (see p. 316), presented by the executor and received for probate, 27 Aug. 1823.

[332-335] Asa Kimball, on the petition of the widow and father of the deceased, appointed administrator upon the estate of James Horton, late of Barton, 3 July 1820; appraisers and inventory recorded.

[336-339] Philadelphus Mason's estate (see [148]); inventory dated 22 Apr. 1822. At a Court, held 25 Mar. 1822, Hiram Mason, the executor, was authorized to appoint two commissioners, and accordingly Joseph Scott and William Scott were appointed.

[340-345] Persis Meriam, widow, and Luther Meriam appointed, 4 Jan. 1816, to administer upon the estate of William Meriam, late of Barton. Appraisers, commissioners, and inventory recorded; a list of claims given; the widow receives a sum for the support of children under seven. Persis Meriam, mother of Albert and William Meriam, was made their guardian, 5 May 1817. On 30 Apr. 1823, Persis Sartwell, late widow of William Meriam, and John Sartwell, her present husband, after a committee of three have set off her thirds, accept a new trust to divide the remainder between Albert and William, heirs of the deceased.

[346 to end] Estate of Micajah Dunham (continued, see [323]). On 6 Jan. 1830 Edwin W. Dunham, son and heir of said Micajah, a minor over fourteen, chose Philip Wheeler, of Morristown, his guardian.

Jacob Mason, of Craftsbury, at a court held 6 Jan. 1830, claimed to be legal assignee of Harry P. Dunham, son and heir of Micajah Dunham; his claim allowed; said Mason filed an account.

On 25 Jan. 1830 Luther Bingham and Isaac Allen, of Morristown, and Martin Elmore, of Elmore, Washington Co., were appointed a committee of division on the estate of Micajah Dunham. Accordingly, Harry P. received two sevenths; Davis B. two sevenths; Edwin W. two sevenths; and Maria Spaulding one seventh. The heirs signed to this agreement 26 Jan. 1830. From the record it appears that Jacob Mason and Dorothy Dunham were married in 1821 and that she died in 1826.

On 9 Jan. 1829 Sally P. Bodfish, late Sally Rawlings, with the consent of Joseph Bodfish, her husband, of Elmore, Washington Co., for value received, gives to Davis B. Dunham her legacy received by the will of Micajah Dunham.

On 14 Apr. 1828 Maria Pratt acknowledges the receipt of her legacy by will of Micajah Dunham.

On 17 Jan. 1832 Philip Wheeler, as guardian of Edwin W. Dunham, renders an account. [End of Vol. I.]

DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZE MONEY TO THE OFFICERS AND CREW OF THE CHESAPEAKE FOR MER- CHANDISE CAPTURED FROM THE BRIG LIVERPOOL HERO

United States Frigate Chesapeake, Jan. 14, 1813.^a

Sir,

We this morning fell in with another of the Brazil convoy, the brig Liverpool Hero, of Liverpool. As she did not appear to be of sufficient consequence to man, I have taken from her the most valuable articles she had on board, and we are now employed in scuttling her.

There is another of them in sight, and I am in hopes we shall have her in the morning.

Respectfully, I have the honour to be, sir, your obedient servant,

Hon. Paul Hamilton, Secretary of the Navy.

SAML. EVANS.

A letter^b of the same date "at Sea" was forwarded "by the British ship Volunteer, which was captured this morning on her passage to the Brazils. She is one of a large convoy that sailed from Cork on the 19th ult. for the West Indies and South America; she parted with the West India convoy on the 3d instant, off Madeira, and on the 7th she parted with the Cherub sloop, having under her convoy 11 ships bound to South America and the Pacific ocean."

The amount of the proceeds from the marshal's sales amounted to $10,170.37 paid into the court, of which $333.22 were for costs, leaving $9,837.15, one moiety of which to distribute was $4,918.57. Of this amount Charles W. Greene gave a receipt, 1 October 1814, to William Shaw, Esq., Clerk of the District Court, for $2,186.02, which he was to distribute as agent. Capt. Samuel Evans receipted for $138.41 as agent. George Reed was agent for a smaller number of beneficiaries.

There were six classes of recipients. To the first class belonged the captain and the commodore, who received respectively $\frac{2}{20}$ and $\frac{1}{20}$, or \$491.84 and \$245.92; to the second were assigned $\frac{2}{20}$ to be divided among seven, or \$70.26 to each; to the third $\frac{2}{20}$ to be divided among nine, or \$54.65 to each; to the fourth $3\frac{1}{2}/20$ to be divided among thirty-nine, or \$22.07 to each; to the fifth $2\frac{1}{2}/20$ to be divided among thirty, or \$20.49 to each; and $\frac{7}{20}$ to be divided among three hundred and nine, or \$5.57 to each. Each class has a heading setting forth the proportion assigned to it, the amount to be received by each member of it, a form of receipt to the clerk of the court, and below this the list of names, with the name of agent added and columns for signatures and witnesses.

The letters A, E, G, or R, in brackets after a name signify respectively autograph, and Evans, Greene, or Reed acting as agents.

SOME DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM SCALES OF ROWLEY, MASS., 1640

Edited by JOHN SCALES, A.M., of Dover, N. H.

1. WILLIAM¹ SCALES, immigrant ancestor of the Scales family in New England, was born about 1612. The place of his birth is not known, though according to tradition he was born in London, and his parents may have been William and Margaret (Greene) Scales (she the daughter of Robert Greene), mentioned in the will of "Dame Bennett, widow of Sir William Webb, sometime alderman and mayor of London," dated 14 Jan. 1602, with a codicil bearing date of 30 June 1604, proved 9 July 1604, which makes numerous bequests, one of them being "to Uncl Robert Greene and William Scales his son-in-law, and to cousin Margaret, wife of William Scales" (REGISTER, vol. 48, p. 393).

He was one of the parishioners of Rev. Ezekiel Rogers, pastor of the church at Rowley, near Hull, England, came with his wife ANN to New England with that party which organized the settlement at Rowley, Mass., in 1639, and 13 May 1640 was made freeman with the rest of Mr. Rogers's party (REGISTER, vol. 3, p. 187). In Rowley he had an acre and a half of land in Whethersfield Street, on which he built his house and resided until his death. He received several grants of land, and was largely engaged in the lumber business, farming and stock raising. He was a staunch supporter of Parson Rogers, and prominent in town affairs. The record of his and his wife's deaths is as follows: "William Scales buried July ye tenth day, anno: 1682;" "Ann, widow of William Scales, buried ye 26 day September, anno: 1682."

Children:

- i. WILLIAM,² killed by the falling of a tree 26 Jan. 1670 (court record).
 - ii. MATTHEW, private in Capt. Thomas Lathrop's Company; killed by Indians at Hatfield, Mass., 24 Aug. 1675 (REGISTER, vol. 44, p. 355).
2. iii. JAMES.

JOHN¹ SCALES (supposed to be a brother of William) is on the tax list of Rowley before 25 Jan. 1664 (REGISTER, vol. 15, p. 253). His name is among the list of freeholders in Rowley in 1667; house and gates, two freeholds (REGISTER, vol. 27, p. 49). He married SUSANNAH JARRETT, widow of John. She was buried 13 June 1683, and he on 13 Jan. 1683/4. His will, dated 9 Jan. 1683/4, was proved 27 Mar. 1684. The inventory of his property amounted to £389-4-3. It is not known when he came to Rowley, but probably before 1650.

Children:

- i. JOHN,² bur. 12 Jan. 1663/4.
- ii. SUSANNAH, b. 15, 10 mo: 1650; m. 28 Dec. 1676, BENJAMIN SCOTT. They and the following children were mentioned in her father's will: 1. John. 2. Joseph. 3. Sarah.

2. JAMES² SCALES (*William*¹), born at Rowley, Mass., died there during the winter of 1685/6, married at Rowley, 7 Nov. 1677, SARAH CURTIS, baptized 15, 2 mo: 1654, daughter of Zacheus and Joanna of Boxford,* Mass. That she was dead before 1691 is shown by the following from Poor and Gray's Mss. (vol. 484) at Salem, Mass.: "April 23, 1691, John Harris of Ipswich prays to be appointed Admr. of Estate of William Scales of Rowley, dec'd, there being no other relative living to begg ye same . . . Granted."

Children, born at Rowley:

3. i. JAMES,³ b. 30 Mar. 1679.
 - ii. SARAH, b. 18 July 1681.
 4. iii. WILLIAM, b. 1 Mar. 1683.
 5. iv. MATTHEW, b. 29 Mar. 1685.
3. JAMES³ SCALES (James,² *William*¹), born at Rowley 30 Mar. 1679, died at Boxford in 1746. He married first at Rowley, 10 Mar. 1702, SARAH CURTIS, born at Boxford 27 Dec. 1675, died before 1736, daughter of Zacheus and Abigail Curtis of Boxford; married secondly MARY ———, and they signed the covenant of the Church at Boxford in Aug. 1636, as he had become a resident of that town previous to that date. Zacheus Curtis's will, dated 17 June 1710, codicil 18 Apr. 1712, proved 7 July 1712, mentions daughter Sarah Scales and son James Scales (Essex Co. Probate, vol. 10, pp. 244-45).

*This Zacheus Curtis embarked at Southampton in the ship James, 5 Apr. 1635. His granddaughter Sarah Curtis married his grandson James Scales. This marriage of cousins led to some confusion in tracing the Scales-Curtis ancestry.

Children :

- i. MARY,⁴ b. 21 Dec. 1704.
 6. ii. JAMES, b. 31 May 1707.

4. WILLIAM⁸ SCALES (James,² *William*¹), born at Rowley, Mass., 1 Mar. 1682/3, was killed by Indians at North Yarmouth, Me., 24 Apr. 1725. He married, 19 May 1707, SUSANNAH AYERS, daughter of Thomas and Hannah of Ipswich, Mass. They resided first at Rowley, next at Ipswich, as appears by land sales, and removed to Falmouth, Me., about 1715. According to Smith's Journal, he was chosen representative in 1719, being its first deputy to the General Court. In 1720 he and his brother Matthew removed to North Yarmouth to land that had been granted to their father. They built a house upon a point of land in the bay, where they resided until killed by the Indians. That the house was a garrison appears by an order of Col. Thomas Westbrook, dated 19 Nov. 1723, which says: "Sir. Put a corporal and four men of your company into Mr. Scales's Garrison at North Yarmouth to defend them, which you may draw off from any particular marching as you may find occasion." William Scales was one of the selectmen of Falmouth, and a staunch supporter of Mr. Smith in his pastoral work.

5. MATTHEW³ SCALES (James,² *William*¹), born at Rowley, Mass., 29 Mar. 1685, was killed by Indians at North Yarmouth, Me., 24 Apr. 1725. He married at Ipswich, Mass., SARAH ———, surname of wife and date unknown. She is supposed to have returned to Ipswich with her children after the death of her husband, and died there about 1750. Matthew Scales is thought to have come to Portsmouth, N. H., about 1713, and is known to have resided there until 1719, when he went to Falmouth and joined his brother William in business, both of them removing later to North Yarmouth, where they resided until killed by the Indians. By trade he was a carpenter, or "joiner." He was admitted to membership in the North Church, Portsmouth, N. H., 25 Apr. 1714, on which date "Matthew Scales owned ye Covenant and his son Matthew baptized" (Church record); and was also a member of the church at Falmouth. The widow Sarah Scales was appointed administratrix of his estate 5 Oct. 1725 (York Co., Me., Probate).

Children:

6. REV. JAMES⁴ SCALES (James,³ James,² *William*¹), born at Boxford, Mass., 31 May 1707, died at Hopkinton, N. H., 31 July 1776, married, Sept. 1736, SUSANNAH HOVEY of Topsfield, Mass. He was graduated from Harvard College in 1733; served as a school teacher at Boxford until 1737, when he removed to Rumford (Concord), N. H., and was admitted to the church there 3 July 1737; taught school at Rumford until 1742, studying law and theology in his leisure hours. In that year he removed to Canterbury, was licensed to preach in 1743, and pastor of the church there until 1754, town clerk, justice of the peace, and general counsellor for the people, as well as soldier in the Indian wars. He settled as first pastor of the church at Hopkinton, N. H., 1757, and held that position until 1770, from which date he practiced law until his death.
- Children, born at Rumford:

BATES ENTRIES IN THE REGISTERS OF ALL SAINTS CHURCH, BIDDENDEN, KENT

- 1624 John son of Clement Bates bapt. 18 October.
 1624 John son of Clement Bates buried 18 December.
 1626 Rachell daughter of Clement Bate bapt. 22 October.
 1628 Joseph son of Clement Bate bapt. 28 September.
 1631 A child of Clement Bat buried unbaptized 2 April.
 1632 Benjamin son of Clement Bate bapt. 24 June.

[These entries show the English home of Clement Bates or Bate, who came to New England in 1635 and settled at Hingham (REGISTER, vol. 14, p. 305), and give information about his children which supplements that given in Waters's Gleanings, vol. 2, p. 1303. The recently published Records of Lydd, where the Bates family originated, give many items regarding them for fully a century earlier than the earliest date given in Waters's Gleanings. The maiden name of Clement Bates's wife, the place of his marriage, and the birthplace of his sons James and Clement have not yet been found.—E. F.]

BIGGE

The Will of RICHARD BYGGE of the parish of Benynden, 12 May 1474. To be buried in the parish church of St. George of Benynden. To the fabric of said church, namely to the nave of it, 6s. 8d. To the high altar there 12d. I make my wife Agnes and Thomas Henley my executors to dispose of my goods for the health of my soul. Witnesses: John Bygge Senior, Richard Day, John Willarde Senior, and many others. [Translated from the Latin.]

This is my last will regarding my lands. My feofees to make an estate to Robert my son his heirs and assigns in my tenement called Bowmannys containing seven acres, my lands and woods called Strodes containing five acres, lying betwext Euvyndens Crosse and Hellynden on the north side of the street, a piece of land called Pettefeld containing five acres, two pieces of land called Southlands containing eight acres, and one acre lying in Maythammys marsh, he paying to my wife every year during her life four loads of wood and 26s. 8d., and to Thomas Bygge my son 20 marks. My feofees to make an estate to my son John in all my lands and tenements not before assigned, he to pay to my wife Agnes one hog, certain "pulleyne," and 26s. 8d. yearly during her life, and to my son Thomas £20. The Will of ROBERT BIGGE of Benenden, 13 January 1547/8. To be buried in the churchyard of the parish church of St. George the Martyr of Benenden. Alms to be distributed at the day of my burial. To wife Elizabeth, if she continue unmarried, all my stuff and household implements; if she marry again, half my stuff and household implements to my daughters, to be equally divided at age of eighteen or day of marriage. To my wife all my corn and sundry livestock. To my son Walter two steers. To my sons Richarde and Thomas a heifer each at eighteen, and to my son John two steers at that age. All my cattle, wheat growing, and other moveables unbequeathed to be sold by my executrix and the money employed to pay my debts. I give to my wife Elizabeth my lease of churchfield, and make her executrix and William Fowle of Benenden overseer. My wife to redeem two pieces of land at Walkhurst, mortgaged to John Moyse of Byddenden for £10, and also to pay to Elizabeth Vsborne £40 for which I stand bound.

My last will regarding the disposition of all my lands and tenements. I will to Elizabeth my wife for life my messuage and garden at Benenden forstall and four pieces of land at Walkhurst, she releasing all her right of dowry in all my lands. The messuage and garden at Benenden forstall to go to my son John and his heirs at my wife's decease. To my son Richard and his heirs at my wife's decease four pieces of land at Walkhurst. My executrix to take the profits of all my other lands and tenements until they amount to £40, to be paid to Elizabeth, Dorothe, Elionor, and Alyce, my daughters, to each £10 at day of marriage or age of twenty years. If any die before such day or age, reversion to the survivors, to be equally divided. After the said £40 be levied I give to my son Thomas and his heirs forever my messuage and lands at the lane of Rolvenden and my half of a meadow called dukes mede in Tentwarden [Tenterden], of which Lawrence Day holds the other half, and a piece of marsh land at Frencham containing ten acres, my executrix to have the said lands until son Thomas come to the age of twenty-two. After the said £40 be levied, to son Walter and his heirs forever seven pieces of land called the sixe acres, Wadyfeld, gardeyn of begtylte, the porteke, the upper shurfelde, the Longfelde, and the nether shurfelde, lying upon the den of Begtilte in Benenden, he to pay to my son Richard 20s. a year during the life of my wife and after he enter into the said land. After the said £40 be levied, I give to son John and his heirs a piece of land called the field about the house and another called Enevernden's felde, both upon the den of Bigtilte. Witnesses: Willm Fowle his mark, John Asten, Lawrence Davy, and Henry Asten. Proved 2 June 1548 by the executrix named in the will. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol. 26, fo. 2.)

Administration on the estate of WALTER BIGGE, late of Tenterden, co. Kent, was granted 17 August 1575 to Marion Bigge, relict, in the person of Thomas Wheler, notary public, her agent. (P. C. C., Administration Act Book, 1572-1580, fo. 81.)

In the Department of Manuscripts in the British Museum there is a copy of the folio edition of Hasted's History of Kent, copiously annotated and illustrated by the Rev. Thomas Streatfeild. It contains a drawing of the following arms: per pale ermine and azure, a lion passant gules crowned or, within a bordure engrailed gules charged with eight fleur-de-lis or. Below is this note: "I meet with this coat ascribed to Bigg, of Benenden, in a nameless MS. T. S." (Add. MS. 33,883, p. 402.)—E. F.]

[For pedigree of Bigg, of Haines Hill in Hurst, with the same arms as those given in Streatfeild's copy of Hasted's Kent, see Visitations of Berkshire, vol. i, p. 171 (Harleian Society Publications, vol. lvi), and also Genealogist, vol. v, p. 236. This pedigree gives the descendants of "William Bigg of Bennendon in Com: Kent: a° 1540."

For abstracts of the wills of Smalehope Bigg of Cranbrooke, of his widow Ellen, and of his brother John of Maidstone, see Waters's Gleanings, vol. 1, pp. 21 ff. Smalehope Bigg and John Bigg were brothers of Patience Foster and Elizabeth Stow.—HENRY EDWARDS SCOTT.]

HYLAND ENTRIES IN THE BISHOP'S TRANSCRIPTS OF BENENDEN, KENT
 1624 John Hyland and Mary Woodman married 1 June.
 1633 Thomas Wylmis and Elysabet Hyland married 14 January [1633/4].

[From the foregoing wills and entries the following Hyland pedigree has been constructed:

1. RICHARD HIGHLAND or HYLAND, of Waldron, County Sussex, the testator of 1591. There were two of this name in the parish at the same time, so that it is impossible to tell whether Jone, wife of Richard Hiland, who was buried 30 May 1567, and Christian Smith, who married Richard Heiland 7 Sept. 1567, were wives of the man who was buried in 1586 or of the man who was buried in 1591. Certainly the wife of Richard Heiland who was buried 5 Jan. 1588/9 was wife of the testator of 1591, or she would have been styled "widow." The church register does not give many details regarding this generation of the family.

Children:

- i-iv. FOUR DAUGHTERS, names unknown.
- v. JOHN, bur. at Waldron 5 Feb. 1627/8; m. JOAN ———, who was bur. there early in Dec. 1626; was the testator of 1626/7, and his will shows male relatives but no children.
2. vi. PETER.
2. PETER HYLAND, married before 1581. He and his children are mentioned in his father's will, but though he had more than one child, the only one whose name we know is
3. i. THOMAS, bapt. at Waldron 29 June 1581; probably identical with
3. THOMAS HEILLAND or HYLAND, of Waldron, the testator of 1629/30, was buried at Waldron 10 Feb. 1629/30. He married there, 17 May 1597, AGNES WOODMAN, who was probably daughter of John of Mayfield. She died before her husband. Early marriages were not uncommon in those days, and the name Peter in this man's family (a name not found in his wife's family), and the fact that he was kinsman to John Hyland, make it probable that he was son of the above-named Peter.

Children:

- i. MARY, bapt. at Waldron 11 June 1598; probably d. young.
- ii. JOHN, eldest son living in 1629/30.
4. iii. THOMAS, bapt. at Waldron 23 Apr. 1604.
- iv. SAMUEL, bapt. at Waldron 8 Nov. 1606; living in 1629/30.
- v. PETER, bapt. at Waldron 1 Mar. 1607/8; d. probably bef. 1626/7; not mentioned in his father's will, 1629/30.
- vi. NICHOLAS, bapt. at Waldron 3 July 1609; m. at Iden, Sussex, 1 Oct. 1632, SARAH HUNT, and had two sons named Thomas and a son John; executor of his father's will.
- vii. WILLIAM, bapt. at Waldron 26 July 1612; living in 1629/30.
- viii. JOSIAS, bapt. at Waldron 20 Sept. 1617; living in 1629/30.
- ix. ELIZABETH, b. after 1609; living in 1629/30.

- x. MARY, b. after 1609; living in 1629/30.
xi. ANN, bur. 2 Feb. 1629/30.

4. THOMAS HEILLAND, HILAND, or HYLAND, was baptized at Waldron 23 Apr. 1604, and died in New England between 14 Feb. 1682/3 and 3 May 1683. He married DEBORA ———, and lived in Tenterden from 1629 to 1636, emigrated to New England, where he was a proprietor of Scituate in 1637, took the oath of allegiance 1 Feb. 1638/9, and was later a juryman and town officer. He left to his son Thomas lands in Waldron and a house in Tenterden. There is a "Hyland's Farm" in Waldron to-day, and a Hyland keeps a small dry-goods shop in Tenterden.

Children:

- i. THOMAS, bapt. at Tenterden 15 Nov. 1629; m. in New England, 1 Jan. 1660/1, ELIZABETH STOCKBRIDGE, daughter of John, and had issue; living in 1683.
- ii. MARY, bapt. at Tenterden 27 Mar. 1631; m. in 1664, JOHN BRYANT, and had issue; living in 1683.
- iii. ELIZABETH, bapt. at Tenterden 23 Sept. 1632; m. FRANCIS JAMES of Hingham, and had issue; living in 1688.
- iv. SARAH, bapt. at Tenterden 9 Mar. 1633/4; d. in New England in Nov. 1688; m. there, 6 Jan. 1651/2, THOMAS TURNER of Scituate, who d. in Nov. 1688; had issue.
- v. ANNAH, bapt. at Tenterden 17 Jan. 1635/6; not mentioned in her father's will.
- vi. SAMUEL, d. in King Philip's war; m. ISABELL ———, who m. (2) Samuel Wetherell.
- vii. DEBORAH, m. in 1666 WILLIAM TICKNOR; living in 1683.
- viii. RUTH, not mentioned in her father's will. Was she the mother of Joseph Studson, who is named as a grandson by Thomas Hyland in his will?

George Hyland of Guilford, Conn., was probably descended from the Tiechurst branch of this family, but until further information from American sources has been secured, it is useless to try to identify him with any of the several Georges of that branch.—E. F].

[From the foregoing wills and entries the following Stedman pedigree has been drawn :

1. GILBERT STEDMAN of Biddenden, Kent, the testator of 1546, was buried there 18 May 1546 [sic]. He married TOMASYN ———, who survived him. He was a weaver, as is indicated by his legacy of a loom to his youngest son.

Children :

- i. JOHN, m. ELIZABETH ———, who was perhaps bur. at Biddenden 23 Mar. 1557/8. He was probably bur. there 28 Oct. 1557, and his brother Richard administered his estate.
 2. ii. RICHARD.
 3. iii. NICHOLAS.
 4. iv. THOMAS the elder.
 - v. THOMAS the younger, b. after 1526; probably m. (1) 14 Oct. 1548, ANNE BOTTYNDEN; m. (2) MARY, who was bur. 23 May 1561. He probably had children, but they have not been identified.
2. RICHARD STEDMAN of Biddenden was buried there 21 May 1559. He married MARGARET ———, who survived him and administered his estate. He was administrator of his brother Thomas's estate in 1558.

Children, baptized at Biddenden :

- i. JOHAN, bapt. 15 Jan. 1538/9; bur. in Biddenden 13 June 1562.
 - ii. ELIZABETH, bapt. 27 Feb. 1540/1.
 - iii. MARGARET, bapt. 21 July 1548.
 - iv. RICHARD, bapt. 12 Feb. 1550/1; m. 5 May 1577, BRIDGET HAMPER, and had issue.
 - v. MARY, bapt. 2 Aug. 1553; probably the Mary Stedman who m. JOHN SEELIS in 1578 and was mother of Richard Sealis of Scituate.
 - vi. GEORGE, bapt. 8 Nov. 1556.
3. NICHOLAS STEDMAN of Biddenden probably married, as his second wife, after Apr. 1558, ALICE (PEARCE) RICHARDS, widow of Thomas of Biddenden. Her daughter Eme married Isaac Stedman (see 6, below), grandfather of the emigrant to New England. The date of the death of Nicholas Stedman is unknown.

Children, by first wife (name unknown), baptized at Biddenden :

- i. THOMAS, bur. at Biddenden 24 Sept. 1538.
- ii. H. OMAS, bapt. 7 Oct. 1538; bur. at Biddenden 1 July 1551 (?).

- iii. WILLIAM, bapt. 27 Nov. 1546; m. 21 Nov. 1569, MARY PELLAN; had issue.
- iv. ABRAHAM, bapt. 5 Mar. 1548/9 or 13 Oct. 1550; bur. at Biddenden 1 Mar. 1552/3.
- v. ALICE, bapt. 5 May 1555; bur. at Biddenden 16 Oct. 1555.
[Probably other children, unidentified.]

4. THOMAS STEDMAN the elder of Biddenden was buried there either 5 Nov. 1557, or 4 Dec. 1564. He probably married twice. The name of his first wife is unknown, but his second wife was probably ELIZABETH FULLER, whom he married at Biddenden 7 May 1548. She probably married for her second husband ——— Morars, and is mentioned in her son Gilbert's will. Thomas Stedman's father and sons being weavers, it seems probable that he also was a weaver.

The tax lists show him to have been the most prosperous member of the family. It is very difficult to tell which entries in the parish registers refer to Thomas the elder and which to Thomas the younger, as only once, in the baptismal entry of Gilbert Stedman, son of Thomas the elder, is any distinction made between the two brothers.

Children, baptized at Biddenden :

- 5. i. JAMES, bapt. 10 Oct. 1538.
- ii. ISABELL, bapt. 19 Dec. 1540; bur. at Biddenden 17 May 1541.
- iii. JOHN, bapt. 8 Mar. 1541/2; bur. at Biddenden 20 July 1551.
- iv. JANE, bapt. 17 Feb. 1547/8; bur. 26 Feb. 1547/8.
- 6. v. ISAAC, bapt. 24 May 1550.
- vi. JOSEPH, bapt. 13 Sept. 1553; bur. at Biddenden 2 May 1561.
- 7. vii. GILBERT, bapt. 15 Jan. 1554/5.

[Probably several other children, whose identity is uncertain, among them probably a daughter who married JOHN JOHNSON.]

5. JAMES STEDMAN of Biddenden was baptized there 10 Oct. 1538, and buried there 10 Oct. 1579. He married at Biddenden, 20 May 1565, AGNES ASSHENDEN. Was she the widow Anne (that name and Agnes being interchangeable) Stedman who married, 6 June 1580, Thomas Sedweeke?

Children, baptized at Biddenden :

- i. THOMAS, mentioned in his uncle Gilbert's will.
- ii. ANNE, bapt. 2 Aug. 1567.
- iii. JOANE (JEANE in register), bapt. 13 Mar. 1568/9.
- iv. MARY, bapt. 18 June 1570.
- v. MARGARET, bapt. 18 July 1574.
- vi. ELIZABETH, bapt. 23 Dec. 1576.
- vii. JAMES, bapt. 14 Feb. 1579/80; bur. 3 June 1580.

6. ISAAC STEDMAN of Biddenden, weaver, was baptized at Biddenden 24 May 1550, and was buried there 16 Jan. 1601/2. He married there, 1 Feb. 1574/5, EME RICHARDS, the testator of 1604, who survived him, administered his estate, and was buried at Biddenden 10 May 1604. She was baptized at Biddenden 11 Feb. 1547/8, daughter of Thomas and Alice (Pearce) of Biddenden, who were married there 10 May 1547. Thomas Richards was buried at Biddenden 30 Apr. 1558. Alice Pearce was probably a sister of Richard Piers of Tenterden, the testator of 1543. She married secondly a Stedman, probably Nicholas, a son of Gilbert Stedman the elder. She was buried at Biddenden 11 Dec. 1574, and administration of her estate was granted 11 Jan. 1574/5 to her daughter Eme Richards, whose betrothed husband, Isaac Stedman, was one of the bondsmen. The Richards or Ricard family was a prosperous one in Biddenden.

Children, baptized at Biddenden :

- i. ALICE, bapt. 20 Feb. 1575/6; m. 7 May 1599, LAWRENCE CHAPLEN; had issue.
8. ii. THOMAS, bapt. 21 Dec. 1578.
- iii. JOHN, bapt. 19 Feb. 1580/1; bur. 11 Sept. 1596.
- iv. GILBERT, bapt. 26 Dec. 1586; probably d. bef. 1588.
- v. MARGARET, bapt. 9 Nov. 1589; bur. 27 Mar. 1590.
- vi. } TWO DAUGHTERS, bur. unbapt. 9 July 1592.
- vii. }
- viii. THOMAS (illegitimate), bapt. 9 June 1583.
- ix. THOMAS (illegitimate), bapt. 17 May 1584; bur. at Biddenden 25 Dec. 1590.

7. GILBERT STEDMAN of Biddenden, the testator of 1588, was baptized at Biddenden 15 Jan. 1554/5, and was buried there 13 June 1588. He married KATHARINE ———, who survived him and proved his will. It is to his will, uncalendared and unregistered, that we owe our knowledge of his brothers and sisters. From his bequests he was evidently a weaver.

Child :

- i. An infant bur. unbapt. 16 Sept. 1582.
8. THOMAS STEDMAN of Biddenden, clothier and weaver, was baptized at Biddenden 21 Dec. 1578. The date of his death and the name of his wife are unknown. There is the same confusion here regarding Thomases as in the earlier generations.

Children, baptized at Biddenden :

9. i. ISAAC, bapt. 21 Apr. 1605.
- ii. THOMAS, bapt. 5 Apr. or 24 May 1607.
- iii. GEORGE, bapt. 9 Apr. or 3 Sept. 1609; perhaps bur. at Biddenden 4 Feb. 1616/7.
- iv. JOHN (son of Thomas Stedman ye weaver) bapt. 13 June 1612.
- v. ROBERT (son of Thomas Stedman Jun.), bapt. 26 Apr. 1618.
9. ISAAC STEDMAN of Biddenden and London, Scituate and Boston, was baptized at Biddenden 21 Apr. 1605, and died in New England between 2 Oct. and 19 Dec. 1678. He married ELIZABETH ———, who was born about 1609, and with her and his two sons sailed in the ship Elizabeth from London 8 Apr. 1635. As Isaac "Studman" he was certified by the clergyman of St. Alphege Cripplegate, and by two men from Blackwell Hall, which was the cloth market of London, to which all the cloth-weaving centres such as Biddenden sent their goods. It was in connection with this trade that Isaac Stedman probably went to London. He settled in Scituate, where he was admitted to the church 17 July 1636. He was constable and freeman 7 June 1648, removed to Boston in 1650, and later was of Muddy River, now Brookline. Savage says the name was anciently Studman, but the shipping entry is the only place in which it has been found so recorded. In the English records it is always Stedman, Steadman, Steedman, or Stedmond. Whether there was any connection between Isaac Stedman and the other Stedman emigrants to New England is not known.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

By JOHN ALBREE, Recording Secretary

Boston, Massachusetts, 3 May, 1911. A stated meeting of the Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 p.m., President Baxter presiding.

The records of the April meeting were read and approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted.

Two members were elected by ballot to corresponding membership, and forty-four to resident membership.

The paper of the afternoon was by Desmond FitzGerald of Brookline, a member of the Society, the subject being Three Months in the Philippines. The speaker told of what he saw in 1904 while he was in the Islands as consulting engineer of the sewage and water systems of Manila. To illustrate the lecture, Mr. FitzGerald used colored stereopticon slides made from photographs that he had taken.

On motion of Vice-President Cunningham a vote of thanks was given to the speaker.

At 3.50 p.m. the formal part of the meeting terminated, and opportunity was afforded for social entertainment.

4 October. A stated meeting of the Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 p.m., President Baxter presiding.

The records of the May meeting were read and approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted.

Thirty-seven members were elected by ballot to resident membership.

Miss Helen Burnham Merchant, B.A., of Gloucester, told the story of The Old Days in Gloucester, touching on the early navigators and their glowing accounts of the country, the founding of the churches and the growth of the shipping and fishing industries, interspersing the recital with many incidents of the men and women of former days, when personal peculiarities could be developed unhampered by covention.

This was followed by discussion by Vice-President Cunningham, Mr. Charles E. Mann, Rev. J. L. R. Trask, and Rev. Anson Titus, after which the thanks of the Society were voted to the speaker.

At 3.45 it was voted to dissolve the meeting, after which refreshments were served.

1 November. A stated meeting of the Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding.

The records of the October meeting were read and approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted.

By ballot the following were elected members of the nominating committee, Wilford Jacob Litchfield and Charles Newcomb Baxter serving as tellers: Lawrence Brainerd, Mrs. Mary Lovering Holman, Henry Alonzo Silver, Mrs. Susan Cotton Tufts, Walter Kendall Watkins.

A paper entitled Colonial and Revolutionary Music in New England, by Miss Alice Warren Pope of Newton Highlands, was read by Mrs. Margaret Crandall Miller. The vocal music illustrating the paper was sung by a quartet, with piano and violoncello accompaniment, Miss Pope being the pianist. At the close of the paper Mrs. Miller gave the steps of the minuet.

After adjournment at 4.10 refreshments were served.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 18 Somerset Street, Boston.

The Committee on English Research desires to state, however, that although the Society has no official representative in England the Committee is employing Miss French as a record searcher there along special lines for the benefit of the REGISTER.

DAME.—In the REGISTER, vol. 65, p. 217, it is stated that Hunking⁵ Dame married Abigail Huckins. According to his granddaughter, Mrs. John Q. Pike of Dover, N. H., he married Hannah Boody⁶ Huckins, daughter of Robert⁵ and Hannah (Boody). The husband of Hunking⁶ Dame's daughter Anna⁷ (Nancy), Moses Huckins of Lee, farmer, born 9 Nov. 1774, died 10 Oct. 1811, married 2 Feb. 1803, was the son of Robert⁶ and Mary⁷ (Dame, 14, vi).

Mary⁷ Dame (14, vi) married Robert⁶ Huckins of Lee, yeoman, son of Robert⁵ and Hannah (Boody), born at Madbury 25 Apr. 1750, died before 1824, his widow surviving. Her sister Ruth⁷ (14, ix) married Robert⁶ Huckins's brother Israel,⁶ of Strafford, inn keeper, born at Madbury 15 Sept. 1760, died 20 May 1873. She died 6 Apr. 1841.

HENRY W. HARDON.

60 Wall Street, New York City.

HAYES.—In the Wentworth Genealogy the Rev. Alonzo H. Quint stated that tradition attributed the origin of the John Hayes who appeared in Dover, N. H., about 1680, to Scotland. The following comments seem to point to a different conclusion. John Hayes settled in that part of Oyster River known as "Barbadoes," presumably because he had friends or relations there. It is well known that there were close trade relations between Portsmouth and Dover and the Island of Barbadoes; that some early settlers of that region migrated from Barbadoes; and that others went to this island and remained several years, returning later to New Hampshire. A family by the name of Hayes was among the prominent Barbadoan planters, and like the Youngs—a name likewise common in both localities—had trade relations with New England. Moreover, Waters's Genealogical Gleanings proved that the Hayes family in Barbadoes sprang from a family living on the Surrey side of London. These statements are based on scattered entries in early colonial papers, already in print.

A. E. H. S.

JACKSON.—The ancestry of the first two settlers of Cambridge and Newton, John and Edward Jackson, has been courteously supplied by a lineal descendant, Mr. Edward G. Jackson of St. Louis, Mo.

Christopher Jackson of Mile End, London, married Susan Johnson of Mile End, 5 Oct. 1602 (London Marriages). He was bur. 5 Dec. 1633. Children: I. John, bapt. 6 June 1603; m. (1) Abigail; m. (2) Margaret; d. 30 Jan. 1675. II. Edward, bapt. 3 Feb. 1605; m. (1) Frances; m. (2) Elizabeth Oliver, 14 Jan. 1649; d. 17 June 1681. III. Miles, bapt. 28 June 1607. This list of Christopher's sons is copied from the "Register of St. Dunstan's Church, Stepney." His residence is first given as Mile End, afterwards as Bednall Green, and his occupation as merchant tailor. The date of John's baptism is evidently 1603, instead of 1602 as recorded in the "Register." There is a good account of St. Dunstan's, Stepney, in Hare's "Walks in London."

VIRGINIA HALL.

SALISBURY, MASS., GRAVEYARD.—It is important that somebody should transcribe the gravestones in the ancient Salisbury burying ground before more of them become illegible. Only a five-minute trolley ride from Newburyport, somebody could certainly be found to do this. In a short visit recently I copied a few stones, either of interest to myself or in a perishing condition. Five stones in a row, near the east corner of the yard, are as follows, reading from left to right:

Sar. Benjamin Stevens died March 13, 1690, in the 40th year of his age.

Lieut. John Stevens died Nov. 26, 1691, in the 50th year of his age.

A stone crumbling and mossgrown, but appears to show NS at right end of second line—presumably Stevens. The verse, however, is legible, and identical with the fifth stone, as given below.

Cornet Richard Hubbud Died June y^e 16 1719 aged 88 years Faith & Love Are laid in y^e dust waighing for y^e resorection of y^e just.

Mrs. Martha Hubbud late wife of Cornet Richard Hubbud died October y^e 1, 1718 Aged 73 years.

A tender mother

At God's command

Resind her life.

Another stone back from these was to Benj. Stevens, Jun^r, died Feb. 22, 1709/10, in the 33d year of his age. Other stones nearby are to the Pikes. Still other names in the yard are True, Bradbury, French, Allen, Gill, Hooke, etc. Other stones which will soon be past reading are:

Sar. Samuel Gi [ll] died Nov. 19, 1709, in the 58th year of his age.

Here lies Buried y^e Body of Mr. Thoomas French who [dep]arted this life March y^e 30 1742 in y^e 39th year of his age.

Come morta[l] [m]an & cas[t] an [cy]e

Prepare to Die.

HUBBARD.—The finding of Richard Hubbard's gravestone, which carries his birth back to 1631, disposes of the account of two Richards, father and son, as given in the Hubbard book. By that account Cornet Richard Hubbard was born 1640 and his father died in Salisbury 1690 (a manuscript letter from the late Mr. Douglas S. Hubbard says 1685), and identifies the latter with the Richard of Hotten's Lists, aged 18 in 1635. Manifestly he could not have been father of a son born in 1631. It may be added that, aside from the birth and death of an infant son Richard, there are no indications of two Richards Hubbard in Salisbury, although the one is mentioned scores of times in the town records, first in 1661, which I copied—a grant of 8 acres to Richard Hubbard, 29-11 mo. 1661, "provided he stays in the town 3 years and improve himself in his trade for y^e goode of the towne." He was in later years commonly called "Mr.," was rep-representative and quartermaster, besides being "Cornet" (cavalry color bearer), which he chose for his title on his wife's gravestone. His wife was Martha Allen, granddaughter of Richard Goodale, the age on her gravestone agreeing with the record of her birth. As their first child was not born until 1667, it seems not improbable that Mr. Hubbard had an earlier wife, and that Hannah Hubbard, married to Thomas Eaton 14 Nov. 1679, whom the Hubbard book makes his sister, may have been his daughter. The Hubbard book makes the earliest birth to John and Jane Hubbard twins, Richard and John, but the record reads, not Richard & John, but "Richard y^e Sone."

"COLLENSBY."—I would like to put an end to this name for all time, as in thirty years lookout I have never met it, and do not believe it ever existed. It should be noted that the "Coll" in Salisbury records is in a later hand and different ink, as those four letters are the only unfaded ink on the page. The town's copy, made by Asa Webster in 1854, makes one of the diary items read, "John Hubbard married to Jane *—ensby." An account of Salisbury families by Asa W. Brown, printed in the REGISTER the same year (vol. 8, p. 158), makes it read "Coll—[torn]." The original has now been restored by the Emery process. The tear, which is hardly perceptible, was not near "Coll" but on the opposite edge of the page, the name dividing, "Colle" ending one line and "nfy" beginning the next. Leastwise I am prepared to admit that this is how it read when Mr. Webster made his copy. The old fashioned "e" following the bright and clear "Coll" is now an almost imperceptible shadow, while the "nfy" is so nearly vanished that President Waters, of the Ipswich Historical Society, in a recent inspection, did not make out the "n" or the lower loop of the very large "f" which Capt. Bradbury used before a loop letter. To show how badly faded the page must have been even in 1854, the third entry above this Hubbard marriage was in the town copy passed over as a blank space. In the exceptional light which I was fortunate enough to enjoy, bright sunshine outdoors with the thin window shades drawn, I was able to make out an unmistakable shadow "Jn^o Quenby," and I later found John Quinby's birth in exactly the same formation of letters, 7:7:1665. In this favorable light I could clearly perceive the shadowy "e" and the "fby" and before the "f" a shadow the right size for the "n." But while admitting that Mr. Webster in 1854 copied what he found, I do not admit the name "Collensby," for several reasons:

- (1) No such name ever existed.
- (2) It never was a record, but mere report of the bride's name which reached the aged clerk's ear. Collins, Colby, and Fellows were common Salisbury names, and would lead the way to a transfusion of initials, "Collensby" from Follensby.
- (3) The original entry is gone—only a later super-entry remains.
- (4) Several slight circumstances render it likely that Jane "Coll" ensby was sister of Mary Follensby who was married two years before to Robert Pike, Jr., of Salisbury, their mother dead and their father remarried.

Mrs. Jane Hubbard was grandmother to the beloved Parson Tompson of South Berwick and great-great-grandmother to the famous Governor John Hubbard of Maine, and to New Hampshire's war governor, Ichabod Goodwin.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

MERRILL.—A Merrill Pedigree, embracing known lineages from the families of Batchelor, Coffin, Cotton, Cox, Carrier, Dole, Fifield, Greenleaf, Heard, Hull, Samborn, Tobie, Tuck, and others, is being compiled by Dr. Wm. Louis Merrill, Portland, Me.

POMEROY.—Copy for the "Illustrated History of the Pomeroy Family" is being sent to the printers, and the work will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible. The Secretary of the Pomeroy Family Association, A. A. Pomeroy, South Columbus Avenue, Sandusky, Ohio, is desirous of hearing from those likely to subscribe to the work mentioned above in order that he may know how large an edition to have printed.

SMALL, MITCHELL.—A second edition of the "Descendants of Edward Small of New England and allied families," practically limited to the number of subscribers, will be issued shortly. One of the chapters, "The Mitchells from Kittery," will be reprinted in book form. For particulars address Mrs. L. A. W. Underhill, 324 Faneuil Street, Brighton Station, Boston, Mass.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Cleaghorne (Claghorn).—James, who died at Yarmouth, Mass., about 1683, by William C. Claghorn, 1218 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa., and Dr. Charles E. Banks, U. S. Marine Hospital, Portland, Me.

Eldred (Eldridge).—Samuel, who died in 1697, by William Henry Eldridge, Twin Falls, Idaho.

Everts (Everts).—John, who died at Guilford, Conn., 9 May 1669, by John M. W. Everts, Salisbury, Vt.

Foulsham (Folsom).—John, who died at Exeter, N. H., in 1681, by Mrs. Elizabeth K. Folsom, 129 High Street, Exeter, N. H.

Galusha.—Daniel, who died, probably at Chelmsford, Mass., in 1696, by Eugene D. Preston, 1728 North Nevada Avenue, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Goodridge (Goodrich).—William, who died at Watertown, Mass., about 1644-7, by Merton T. Goodrich, Bingham, Me.

Gove.—John, who died at Charlestown, Mass., 28 Feb. 1648, by William H. Gove, 254 Lafayette Street, Salem, Mass.

Holden.—Richard, who died at Groton, Mass., 1 March 1696; and Justinian, who died at Cambridge, Mass., in 1691; by Raleigh W. Holden, 190 Wellington Avenue, Rochester, N. Y.

Huntress.—Andrew, who was born at Shapleigh, Me., in 1787, by A. Clinton Crowell, 345 Hope Street, Providence, R. I.

Norton.—Nicholas, who died at Edgartown, Mass., in 1690, by Miss Lillian Adelaide Norton, 1949 Biltmore Street, Washington, D. C.

Rider.—Samuel, who died at Yarmouth, Mass., in 1679, by Miss Azalea Clizbee, 5605 Fourth Avenue, Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Sherman.—Philip, who died at Portsmouth, R. I., in 1687; Rev. John, who was born at Dedham, co. Essex, England, 4 Jan. 1614; Samuel, who died at Fairfield, Conn., in 1700; and Capt. John, who was born at Dedham, co. Essex, England (no date); by Prof. Frank Dempster Sherman, 158 West 105th Street, New York City.

JOHN COFFIN JONES BROWN

By GEORGIANA MYRICK BROWN

JOHN COFFIN JONES BROWN of Boston, who was elected a resident member of this Society in 1868 and became a life member in 1876, was born at Boston, April 27, 1829, the son of Capt. Nathan and Mary (Myrick) Brown of Newburyport and Boston, and died at South Weymouth, Mass., December 28, 1911, while visiting his son Henderson Otis, a resident there.

His line of descent from Nicholas¹ Browne and his wife Elizabeth, who came to New England about 1635 from Inkberrow, near Droitwich, in Worcestershire, England, and settled first in that part of Lynn, Mass., which is now Saugus, afterwards removing to Lynn Village, the part now Wakefield, was through Edward² and Sarah (Dix), Edward³ and Sarah (Ingalls), Edward⁴ and Dorothy (Pike), Nicholas⁵ and Lucy (Lamprey), Capt. Nathan⁶ and Mary (Myrick).

Mr. Brown received his early education at the Eliot School in Boston, and soon after graduating he began a mercantile career, first with the firm of Frothingham and Company, and afterwards with their successors, Joy, Langdon and Company, devoting his entire life with them, in the dry goods commission business.

In 1861-2 he represented old Ward 9 in the Common Council of Boston, was a trustee of the Boston Public Library in 1861, and a member of the Cochituate Water Board in 1862. In the early days of the Civil War he was on the committee that coöperated with Mrs. Harrison Gray Otis in the relief bureau which had its headquarters in the old Evans House; and for twelve years, from 1866 to 1878, he served on the School Committee of Boston.

Mr. Brown was a member of the Committee on Heraldry of this Society in 1881, becoming its chairman in 1888, and serving many years; and he was one of the Society's Board of Directors in 1888-1889. Among his contributions to the REGISTER were many valuable notes to "Waters's Genealogical Gleanings in England," besides articles on the Youngman family, the Atherton family in England, the Coffin name and armorial bearings, Newbury and the Bartlett family, notes on the Bacons of Virginia, and numerous book reviews and shorter notes on the subjects in which he was an expert. He was also at one time a constant contributor of historical and genealogical material to the Boston Transcript, and at his death possessed a large library of works in that line. A founder and life member of the Bostonian Society, he was the designer of its seal, and he also was a member of the Boston Art Club and the Veteran Association of the Independent Corps of Cadets.

Actively interested in the Hollis Street Church and its Sunday School, he was at one time treasurer of the Church, and on its standing committee; and was a life member of the Young Men's Christian Union.

Mr. Brown was married on May 22, 1850, to Mary Elizabeth, who died February 16, 1900, daughter of Aaron and Mary (Pecker) Coffin of Boston, by whom he had the following children, all born at Boston with the exception of Henderson Otis, who was born at Cambridge, Mass.: John Coffin Jones, died in infancy; John Coffin Jones, M.D., Harvard College 1873, and Medical School 1876, who died October 3, 1876; Mary Elizabeth, died in infancy; Georgiana Myrick, surviving; Lucy Lamprey, died August 6, 1911; Lawrence, died in infancy; Laura, died in infancy; Henderson Otis, surviving; Nellie Bazin, wife of Homer Fiske Livermore, surviving; and Bessie, died in infancy.

RECORDS OF THE DRESDEN, ME., CONGREGATIONALIST CHURCH

Communicated by WILLIAM DAVIS PATTERSON of Wiscasset, Me.

THE Rev. Freeman Parker, by whom these records were begun and under whose direction they were continued, was born at Barnstable, Mass., 13 July, 1776. He was fitted by the Rev. Oakes Shaw of Barnstable for Harvard College, which he entered in 1793. After his graduation in 1797, he studied theology, and upon being licensed by the Andover Association he, after preaching three months in Dresden, Me., became the first ordained and settled minister of the Congregationalist Church in that town, at a salary of $500 per year, under a contract which continued from his settlement in September, 1801, until his release of the town therefrom in 1816.

Mr. Parker continued to reside in Dresden until 1829, and to preach occasionally for a society organized there, after the dissolution of his contract with the town, until 1835. He married Rebecca, a daughter of Hon. Thomas Rice of Wiscasset, 6 November, 1804. Upon leaving his home in Dresden he took up his residence in Wiscasset, where he lived until his death, 24 April, 1854, in the house which his wife's father had built and lived in.

Mr. Parker's sight began to fail about the time of his ordination, and in a few years he became totally blind, and was afterwards known as the "blind preacher of Dresden." Having no successor in Dresden, and the organization of his church apparently lapsing at his removal from that town, his book of records remained in his possession, and in it certain entries were made during his residence in Wiscasset, where he at times preached in the First Parish Church. The book is now in the possession of Mrs. S. D. Brewster of New York City, who is a great-granddaughter of Mr. Parker, and who has kindly allowed a copy to be made for the use of this Society.

Covenant

We the sub. desirous of promoting rel. in our own hearts & lives, & in the community, by a regular enjoyment of gospel ord., do hereby covenant & agree together as the first congregational chh in Dresden, upon the following principles, viz. We profess to believe the Holy Scrip. to be the word of God, containing a perfect rule of faith & practice, & pointing out the way to eternal life, thro the Red. of the world. We profess ourselves to be the dis. of J. C. & firmly resolve, with a humble reliance on the grace of God, to conform our temper & practice to the spirit, laws & institutions of Christianity. And esteeming it our duty as ch. brethren, we do hereby promise to love, watch over, counsel, encourage & assist one another, as far as we are able, in our ch. course. And we do likewise hereby agree that in regard to _____, & all difficulties & differences wch may arise in the chh., we will be governed by the rules prescribed in the gospel, partic. in the 18th ch. of St. Matth. & by the common usage of congregational chhs in New England. And to prevent future difficulties, we do hereby agree y^t our minister shall be allowed to baptize no children, unless at least one of the parents or guardians be a baptized person, & a professor of christianity. And we do also hereby agree to receive into communion, & equal chh. priviledges with us, all persons, who have suitable religious qualifications, & will assent to the principles asserted in y^s covenant. And now it is our most earnest prayer that God wd pour out his spirit upon us, & bless us, and from time to time add to our number such as shall be saved, & y^t the glorious period may at length arrive, when the whole family of man shall become one christian chh.

August 1, 1817. Voted that persons on their admittance into the church in future shall not be required as heretofore to subscribe the covenant but shall publicly give their assent to the following

Church confession

You do now in the presence of Almighty God and before this Christian assembly profess your sincere belief in the existence providence and government of one God, who is infinitely wise just and good, the searcher of hearts and the judge of all the earth. You believe in the truth, inspiration and sufficiency of the holy Scriptures. You believe that God spake to the fathers by the prophets, and now in the Gospel speaketh unto us by his only begotten Son, who is the brightness of the fathers glory and the express image of his person, and the one mediator between God and man. You believe in mans primeval innocence, voluntary transgression and unhappy apostacy. You believe in the universal sinfulness of mankind, and in the necessity of a renovation of heart and life by the Spirit of God. You believe in a future state of righteous retribution, in the resurrection of the body and a final Judgment. You believe that the terms of salvation are repentance for sin, faith in the Saviour, and a life devoted to God in holy obedience. You humbly and penitently confess your sins of every name and nature, and sincerely implore the forgiveness of them through the merits of Jesus Christ in whom we have redemption through his blood according to the riches of his grace. You truly desire to dedicate yourself to God in newness of life and sincerely resolve to deny all ungodliness and conform your temper and practice to the Spirit, laws and institutions of Christianity. You commit yourself to the care and discipline of this Christian Church and promise to comply with its internal rules and regulations, so far as they are agreeable to the Gospel, and to walk in communion with it so long as God shall give you opportunity.

Thus you believe, confess, resolve and promise.

You are now under the sacred bonds of the covenant. The vows of God are upon you. And in the name of this Church I declare you to be a member of it in full communion, and promise that we will watch over you in the spirit of meekness and charity, and endeavour to promote your present and everlasting welfare. And now it is our most earnest prayer that God would pour out his spirit upon us and bless us and from time to time add to our number such as shall be saved, and that the glorious and blessed day may at length arrive when all the families of the earth shall be united into one christian society under Jesus Christ who is made head over all things to the church. Amen

JOURNAL OF OUR VOYAGE TO CAPE BRITON

Beverly March 6, 1744 Embarked.

7 Day arived at Boston about 4 in the after noon. Pleasent weather

* Son of Lieut. Benjamin Cleaves and wife Rebecca Conant, was born at Beverly, Mass., 4 Jan. 1721/2, and died from the infirmities of old age, being buried 16 Aug. 1808, aged 86 yrs. Called deacon on his gravestone.

For an account of the expedition, etc., see Winsor, Narrative and Critical History of America, vol. 5, ch. vii, especially Critical Essay on the Sources of Information. Cf. Journal of Captain William Pote, Jr., New York, 1896; also Emerson's Louisburg Journal in Mass. Historical Society Proceedings, vol. 44, pp. 65-84.

† In copying this journal the Editor has endeavored to make a faithful transcription, though in the interest of clearness it has seemed advisable to him to furnish the punctuation which is almost wholly lacking in the original. Any additions by way of explanation, or due to worn margins, have been placed in brackets.

‡ Hudson, "Louisbourg Soldiers" (REGISTER, vol. 24, p. 373), mentions Benjamin Ives as captain of the 10th Company, 5th Mass. Regiment, of which Robert Hale was colonel; but subsequently (vol. 25, p. 259), speaking of this company, says: "I have found no list of officers or men. Benjamin White was Adjutant, and Ebenezer Prout Commissary of this regiment." The gap is now filled by the list of men preceding the journal.

SOME DESCENDANTS OF DANIEL KING, GENTLEMAN, OF LYNN, MASS.

By LAWRENCE BRAINERD of Forest Hills, Mass.

1. DANIEL¹ KING, styled "Mr." and "Gentleman," was born in England in 1602, and was the son of Ralphe Kinge of Watford, Hertfordshire. He came to America about 1637 and settled at Lynn, where he became a leading citizen, a merchant of enterprise, and a large land owner. He is referred to in Aspinwall's Notarial Records as "Daniell King of Linne Woollen Draper" in 1645 (p. 20); and as "mercier" in 1648, when he is mentioned as brother of "M^r Samuel King woollen drap. at the upper End of Cheapeside neere Saint Martins in London" (p. 150; see also pp. 68, 89, 182, 197). He married in England, 4 Oct. 1624, ELIZABETH GUY, who died in Lynn 26 Feb. 1677. He died there 27 May 1672.

Children:

- i. DANIEL,² JR., b. abt. 1625 (Pope); d. in 1695; m. 11 Mar. 1662, TABITHA WALKER, dau. of Capt. Richard and Jane (Talmage) of Lynn.
 - ii. HANNAH, d. abt. 1677; m. 11 July 1660, JOHN BLANEY of Lynn.
 2. iii. RALPH, b. abt. 1639.
 - iv. ELIZABETH, m. THADDEUS REDDING.
 - v. SARAH, m. 27 Oct. 1669, EZEKIEL NEEDHAM.
2. CAPT. RALPH² KING (Daniel¹) was born about 1639. He was a large land owner in Lynn, holding 1200 acres in what is now Swampscott; selectman in 1678; first lieutenant in the Lynn Military Company in 1680, of which his father-in-law was captain, and later captain of the same himself. He married, 2 Mar. 1663, ELIZABETH WALKER, daughter of Captain Richard of Lynn, Reading, and Boston, and in 1670 Deputy-Governor of Nova Scotia and Acadia (under Sir Thomas Temple, Bart.), and wife Jane (Talmage). Captain King died in January, 1688/9, and was buried on the 17th of that month. The History of Lynn for the year states: "Captain Ralph King died this year. He was a man of prominence and usefulness. He left an estate quite considerable for the time, the appraisal showing in amount £2,365. 4s." His widow married Lieut. John Lewis and was the administratrix of the estate, and it is evident that she died before 1715, when, in the final settlement of the same, Capt. John Charnock of Boston, a son-in-law, acted as administrator.
- Children, all born at Lynn:
- i. ELIZABETH,³ b. 23 Nov. 1664.
 - ii. A CHILD, b. 18 Aug. 1666; d. 19 Aug. 1666.

 - ix. TABITHA, b. 23 Mar. 1682; m. (int. rec. 17 Apr. 1702) WILLIAM STACEY of Marblehead.
3. RICHARD³ KING (Ralph,² Daniel¹) was born at Lynn 3 May 1677. He came in early manhood to Boston, where he became a merchant, probably associated with his brothers-in-law, Captain Charnock and Mr. Pitt. A deposition of Richard King is to be found in the records of the Massachusetts Supreme Court in 1696, in which he states that he came to Boston that year by boat from Lynn, and that his age was 19 years. He married, 18 April 1699, ABIGAIL ROGERS, then of Concord. She was born at Ipswich 5 July 1681, the daughter of Samuel Rogers, Esq., town clerk of Ipswich, and wife Sarah (Wade), and granddaughter of the Rev. Nathaniel Rogers, A.M., and of Lieut. Jonathan Wade (styled "Colonel"), both prominent men in Ipswich.* Richard King died at Boston in 1702, at the early age of 25.†

Child:

4. RICHARD⁴ KING (Richard,³ Ralph,² *Daniel*¹) was born at Boston 11 Aug. 1701, and lived with his mother at Concord till he was 13, when he removed with his step-father to Littleton, which place became his permanent home. He was a man of independent means, and much employed in local offices. He married, in 1724, ELIZABETH ———. Shortly after 1730 he and his wife were admitted to full communion in the Littleton church. Richard King died 27 Feb. 1771. His epitaph in the old Littleton cemetery reads: "Memento Mori | Here lie the remains of | Mr. Richard King, | who departed this life Feb. ye 27, 1771 | aged 69 yrs., 6 mos. and 20 days." His widow died at the home of her son, James King, 14 Jan. 1799, aged 99 years.

RECORDS OF THE CHURCH IN SOUTH KILLINGLY, CONN.

FROM A COPY IN THE POSSESSION OF THE CONNECTICUT SOCIETY OF COLONIAL DAMES

Communicated by Miss MARY K. TALCOTT of Hartford, Conn.

THE Third Church in Killingly, known as the South Church in Killingly, organized in 1746, sprang out of a prolonged controversy in the First Church (Killingly Hill), concerning the location of a new meeting-house. The bleakest eminence in town, Breakneck Hill, was the spot selected for the site of the new church, but the new organization did not prosper, and became extinct about 1771. The same year in which the Third Church was instituted a "Separate" Church was organized in the southeastern quarter of the town, then, as now, known as South Killingly, and April 23, 1747, the Rev. Samuel Wadsworth was elected pastor. The records of this Church are given below, and also a copy of a fragment of the record of the Breakneck Hill Church, now in the possession of the South Killingly Church, is appended. It is evident that a number of the same families who lived in that section of the old town of Killingly went from that church to the other, and took this fragment with them. The Rev. Nehemiah Barker (Yale, 1742), who kept this record, the pastor from 1746 to 1755, removed to Mattituck, Long Island, where, in 1756, he became pastor of a Presbyterian Church.

A copy of the articles of faith & a church couin[ant] agreed upon by a number of christian brethren belonging to several towns at a meting at mansfield october y^o 9 1745 which are as followeth viz

The above is all that remains of this list, and all of the foregoing is written on both sides of the paper and evidently the first five pages of an eight page signature which has been torn from the original binding. In the original record are a few fragments of leaves badly torn and some of the names are legible and correspond with more or less accuracy to the list of members printed in the Manual of the Church of 1888, pages 20-26. This list was probably taken from a copy of the original record.

CHURCH MEMBERSHIP, MARRIAGES, AND BAPTISMS ON THE ISLES OF SHOALS IN THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY*

Contributed by JOSEPH W. WARREN, M.D., of Bryn Mawr, Pa.

IN the book of "The Records of the Church of Gosport" the Rev. John Tucke, pastor of that church from July 1732 to August 1773, or longer, has noted the church membership together with detailed lists of the persons baptized or married by him during his service of forty-one years. It seems desirable to preserve these lists in a more permanent form. At another time I hope to extend this partial enumeration of the inhabitants of the Isles of Shoals and to determine the various families so far as the existing documents permit. The lists here printed include residents on Hog Island (the Appledore of to-day) and Smutty Nose, as well as dwellers in the town of Gosport, but it must not be supposed that all the inhabitants are given, for many of them had no close relations to this church. Unfortunately, the book contains no lists of deaths or burials.

This particular church was the most conspicuous and also the best known of the numerous congregations which from time to time have existed on the Shoals; its origin is given in a memorandum prepared by the Rev. Nathaniel Morrill, pastor of the church in Rye. This is copied by Mr. Tucke on page 4 of the Records, and reads in its essential part as follows:

"Anno Domini 1729. Sometime in the Spring of this year, at an Association of Ministers at Hampton, the Case of the People of the Isle of Shoales with respect to their being without an Ordain'd Minister was consider'd, & it was tho't expedient to send over a Minister or Two to see how the People Stood affected towards the Settlement of a Minister among them, & accordingly somet [? sic] Ministers were chosen to go over, but they not going, this Affair for the Present came to nothing. After this the People themselves sent over to an Association at Portsmouth desiring their Advice & Direction & they chose y^e Rev^d M^r Morrill of Rye to go over & see if he could gather a Church among them. Accordingly M^r Morrill came over & the People readily agreed to have a Church Gather'd amongst them & that the 29th of June be observed as a Day of Fasting & Prayer. And accordingly y^e 29th of June 1729 was kept & the persons mentioned over Leaf in the Morning met at M^r Joshua Moodys Lodging & the afore mentioned Confession being Read unto them they then Signd the afore mentioned Covenant & then they went to Meeting where was made known what was done in Private & those Persons did in Publick

* At its conclusion this article will be followed by the Town Records of Gosport.

Enter into Covenant with God & with one another."

The document "over Leaf" is entitled "The Covenant of y^e C^h of Gosport, June 26th 1729," that being the day of the agreement, although the formal acceptance and signing took place three days later. The names signed to this Covenant (the marks being explained below) are then those of the original members of the Church of Gosport, as follows:

July 6 th 1766. Mary Walton.

The marks against some of the names above are explained on a slip of paper, in the handwriting of Mr. Tucke, which is pinned to the first page of the book, and reads as follows :

“Those of y^e C^{hh}, wth This Mark × before Their Names, are dead :

Those, wth This Mark +, have Removed from Hence :

Those, wth This Mark × After Their Names, are Dead, After They Removed.

Wrote Jan^y 7th 1771 ”

The only recorded admission by letter occurred Sept. 3, 1738 (p. 13), when “M^{rs} Joanna Muchamore y^e [second] Wife of Deacⁿ Muchamore” was received by virtue of a letter from “y^e Reverend M^r Caleb Cushing Pastour of y^e first C^{hh} of Christ in Salisbury ”

Few Dismissions from the Church of Gosport are noted. The list (p. 91) is this :

July 3^d 1743. “Andrew Mace & Deborah His Wife ” to the First Church in Hampton.

Sept^r 13th 1761. “The Rev^d M^r John Tucke of Epsom, going to be Ordain’d there,” dismissed to the Church in Epsom.

Augst 13th 1769. “Sarah Muchmore, Now y^e Wife of Thomas Fellows ” to the Church in Hampstead.

Augst 27th 1769. “Susanna Currier, Widow of Caleb Currier, Deceased, having Since Her Husbands Death Removed to Portsmouth,” to the South Church in Portsmouth.

Oct^r 15th 1769. Elizabeth Talpey to the First Church in York.

The Marriages at Gosport occupy a little more than four pages of the Church book, beginning at page 183.† The entries are marked as “A Record of Marriages by ———,” the words “y^e Rev^d M^r John Tucke ” having been erased. The record is entirely in the hand of Mr. Tucke, as follows :

* In a letter of 4 July, 1743 Mr. Tucke writes: “We have a revival of religion among us.” He does not say when it began.

† It must be remembered the marriages of Shoalers were often celebrated on shore, and such marriages are consequently not recorded here.

NOTES ON THE PITKIN ANCESTRY IN ENGLAND

Communicated by Miss MARY KINGSBURY TALCOTT of Hartford, Conn.

THESE Pitkin notes were gathered by the compiler in England during the past summer, and, while not giving a complete family record, they furnish interesting particulars regarding the English origin of a family which has been a prominent one in Connecticut, having furnished a Governor, a United States Senator, several Judges of the Superior Court and other eminent lawyers, a number of military officers who served in the French and Indian Wars and in the Revolution, and also several clergymen.

William Pitkin, who came to Hartford in 1659, and was, at once, engaged to fill the position of Master of the Grammar School, had received an excellent legal education, and, judging from the contents of a number of note-books in his handwriting which have been preserved, he was well taught in theological lore. About two years later he was appointed King's Attorney for the Colony, and he was considered one of the ablest lawyers in Connecticut. He was Deputy from Hartford to the General Court from 1675 to 1684, 1689, 1690, Treasurer of the Colony, 1676-1678, Assistant, 1690-1694, holding this office at the time of his death, Commissioner of the United Colonies, for Connecticut, in 1678, Commissioner in 1683 to treat with Governor Dongan about the New York Boundary, and in 1693 one of the Commissioners to adjust the New York Boundary Line. He died Dec. 16, 1694, aged 58, according to his gravestone in the Centre Church burying-ground in Hartford. He married, about 1661, Hannah, daughter of Ozias Goodwin of Hartford. In his will, dated Sept. 27, 1694, he mentions his "dear Brother Roger," and his "Sister Woolcott." The latter was the brilliant and attractive Martha Pitkin, who came to New England in 1661 to visit her brother, hoping, according to tradition, to take him back to England with her. So great was the admiration aroused by her talents and brilliancy it was decided by some of the elders of the Colony that such a desirable personality should not be allowed to leave the Colony, and that she should be induced to remain. It is also said that some of the younger men drew lots to decide which of them should be fortunate enough to pay his addresses to her. Simon Wolcott, of Windsor, was the lucky man, and she married him and became the ancestress of a distinguished race—governors, judges, etc. After Mr. Wolcott's death she married a second husband, Hon. Daniel Clark. She died in East Windsor, Oct. 13, 1719, "in her 80th year," which corresponds exactly to the date of her baptism in Berkhamsted, Co. Herts, in 1639.

It will be seen that all the particulars the compiler has found in England agree with such traditional knowledge as we had of the early history of the Pitkins, and it is interesting to know that the father of William, Roger, and Martha was an Oxford graduate, and Master of the famous old school at Berkhamstead, originally founded by King Henry VIII, but re-organized and endowed by Edward VI, and known as the Free School of King Edward VI. Some Pitkin wills of an earlier date were found, and as the testators lived in the vicinity of Berkhamstead they were probably related to William, the burgess of Berkhamstead. The will of Robert Pytkyne of Ivinghoe, Co. Bucks, dated Feb. 27, 1579, mentions two sons named William, William the elder, and William the younger, and a further search may reveal a relationship.

In Vol. 34, pp. 194-5, of the REGISTER is printed a letter from Walter Barnesley, of London, to William Pitkin in Hartford, written in 1667, which confirms the foregoing statements. See also the Pitkin Genealogy, by A. P. Pitkin, Hartford, 1887, and Mrs. Salisbury's Family Histories, 1892, Vol. 2.

RAYNER*

The Will of ROBERT RAYNERE of Wickham Market [co. Suffolk], Diocese of Norwich, 4 October 1571. To be buried in the churchyard of Wickham Market. To the poor men's box 4d. To my son Edward all my goods and my cattle, as neat horse, hogs and fowls, all my corn in the ground and growing, and all my said years of my farm to come, he paying to his brother John Rayner £5 at the rate of 5 nobles a year, and to his sisters Dorathie and Rose £10 each at the rate of 40s. a year, after John's legacy be paid. If my son Edward die before the years of my farm be out, my other children to have it for the remainder of my term therein. If my son Edward do marry and die before his wife, she to have £10. To my two daughters various household goods and their mother's linen. If my son Edward die unmarried, my goods to be parted between his brother and sisters. If Dorothe or Rose die without lawful issue, their legacies to go to my son Edward. If my son John die, his part to remain to his children. All the residue of my goods I leave to my executors, who shall be my son Edward and my daughter Dorathie. Witnesses: John Fyncham, Henrye Huggen, Thomas Dawson. Proved 5 December 1571 by Edward Rayner one of the executors named, power being reserved to Dorathy Rayner the other executor. (Archdeaconry of Suffolk [at Ipswich], Bk. 23, fo. 462.)

The Will of EDWARD REYNER of Elmesett in the County of Suffolk, yeoman, 22 March 18 James I [1620/1]. Whereas my son Thurston Reyner according to an article of agreement, among other articles of agreement set down in writing and made 13 April last past between me the said Edward of the one part and the said Thurston and Elizabeth his wife of the other part, by covenant is to pay in the south porch of the parish church of Elmesett, within two years after my death, £100 to such persons as I shall direct by my last will, I do give to my said son Thurston £18 of the said £100 because he hath already paid so much at my direction. I give to my son John Reyner of Flowton, co. Suffolk, £20 thereof. To my son Samuel £10. To my daughter Anna, wife of Robert Lewes of Great Bricet, £10. To Henry Pynson my son-in-law, of Westerfeild, £20. To my son Richard Reyner, of Sowthwark next London, 40s. To Anna, Marie, John, Edward, and Robert, sons and daughters of my late son Edward Reyner deceased, 20s. each, to be paid to the said Henry Pinson to their uses until their several ages of eighteen. To Elizabeth, Anna, Marie, Martha, Robert, and Sara, children of the aforesaid Robert Lewes my son-in law, 20s. each, to be paid to the said Robert Lewes to their uses until their several ages of eighteen. To Samuell, John, Edward, and Marie, children of my son Richard Reyner, 20s. each, to be paid to the said Richard to their use until their several ages of eighteen. To Sara, daughter of

* Rainer, Raynor, Reiner, and Reyner are other forms of this name. The form Raynor has finally prevailed on Long Island.—HENRY EDWARDS SCOTT.

my son John Reyner, 20s., to be paid to the said John to her use until her age of eighteen years. To Marie, daughter of my son Samuel, 20s., to be paid to the said Samuel to her use until her age of eighteen years. To Thurston, the son of my said son Thurston Reyner, 20s., to be kept by his father to his use until his age of eighteen years. To Robert Reyner, my sonn sonne [sic], 40s. and £9 he oweth me. All the residue of my goods, implements, and household stuff to my son Thurston Reyner toward my funeral charges and other duties and charges, whom I make sole executor. "And soe I end gyve laude to Almighty God." [Signed] The marke of the said Edward Rayner. Witnesses: Thomas Bull and Isaac Gillyā. Proved at Elmsett 7 July 1621 by the executor named in the will. (Archdeaconry of Sudbury [at Bury St. Edmunds], Register Harrold, fo. 252.)

The early church registers of Elmsett, down to 1684, are missing, but in the Transcripts of the Archdeaconry of Sudbury are the following Rayner records:

- 1593 Vicesimo primo Septembris Baptisatus fuit Thurston Rayner filius Edwardi Rayn' et Margeria vxor eius.
 1598 Joseph Reyner Edward Reyners son bapt. 23 April.
 1609 Henry Pinsweyne and Margery Reyner married 2 July.
 1620 Thurston Reyner sonne of Thurston Reyner bapt. 19 September.

[From the foregoing wills and records, and from other sources referred to below, the following Rayner pedigree has been prepared:

1. ROBERT RAYNERE, of Wickham Market, co. Suffolk, the testator of 1571, died between 4 Oct. and 5 Dec. 1571. Roberte Rayner of Wickham was assessed 10s. on £12 "in goodes" in 1568.*

Children:

2. i. EDWARD.
- ii. JOHN, m. and was the father of children in 1571.
- iii. DOROTHY, unm. in 1571.
- iv. ROSE, unm. in 1571.

2. EDWARD REYNER, of Elmsett, co. Suffolk, the testator of 1620/21, married, after 4 Oct. 1571, MARGERY ———, who died before him.

Children:

- i. EDWARD, d. bef. 22 Mar. 1620/1. His children, Anna, Marie, John, Edward, and Robert, all under eighteen, are mentioned in their grandfather's will.
- ii. ANNA, m. ROBERT LEWES of Great Bricet, co. Suffolk. She and her children, Elizabeth, Anna, Marie, Martha, Robert, and Sara, all under eighteen, are mentioned in her father's will.
- iii. MARGERY, m. 2 July, 1609, at Elmsett, HENRY PINSWEYNE or PINSON; probably dead bef. 1621, as she is not mentioned in her father's will, although her husband, of Westerfield, co. Suffolk, is there mentioned.
- iv. RICHARD, living at Southwark next London in 1621; mentioned with his children, Samuel, John, Edward, and Marie, all under eighteen, in his father's will.
- v. JOHN, living at Flowton, co. Suffolk, in 1621; mentioned with his daughter Sarah, under eighteen, in his father's will.
- vi. SAMUEL, mentioned with his daughter Marie, under eighteen, in his father's will.
3. vii. THURSTON, bapt. at Elmsett 21 Sept. 1593.
- viii. ROBERT, living 22 Mar. 1620/1.
- ix. JOSEPH, bapt. at Elmsett 23 Apr. 1598; d. probably before 1621, since he is not mentioned in his father's will.

* Suffolk Green Books, No. XII, p. 276.

3. THURSTON RAYNER of Elmsett, co. Suffolk, was baptized at Elmsett 21 Sept. 1593, and married, not later than 13 Apr. 1620, ELIZABETH ———, who was born about 1598. With his wife Elizabeth and his children, Thurston, aged 13, Joseph, aged 11, Elizabeth, aged 9, Sarah, aged 7, and Lidia, aged 1, he sailed for New England the last of April, 1634, in the Ship Elizabeth of Ipswich. With him came also to America Edward Raynor, aged 10, whose name on the shipping list follows immediately that of Lidia Raynor, and Elizabeth Kemball, aged 13.*

Thurston Rayner resided first at Watertown, Mass., later at Wethersfield and Stamford, Conn., and finally at Southampton, Long Island. He was a prominent man in these settlements, was elected several times to public office, and is mentioned often in the colonial and town records. He died in 1667, his will being dated 6 July and proved 4 Nov. of that year. The will mentions wife MARTHA (showing that he had married again), sons Joseph and Jonathan, "my other five children" (not named), "my brother Samuell Cleark," and "my Cozen m^r. John Howell." The widow Martha was admitted as executrix 5 Nov. 1667.†

- i. THURSTON, bapt. at Elmsett 19 Sept. 1620; embarked with his father for New England; nothing further known about him.
- ii. JOSEPH, b. in England about 1623; came with his father to New England; resided at Southampton, L. I.; will, dated 8 May 1678 and presented for probate 6-8 June 1682, mentions wife MARY and several children, administration being committed to his widow, Mary Raynor, 28 Oct. 1682.¶
- iii. ELIZABETH, b. in England about 1625; embarked with her father for New England; nothing further known about her.
- iv. SARAH, b. in England about 1627; embarked with her father for New England; nothing further known about her.
- v. LYDIA, b. in England about 1633; embarked with her father for New England; nothing further known about her.
- vi. § DEBORAH, b. in New England; m. (1) not later than 2 May 1660,

* These names and ages are from the shipping list published in Drake's Founders of New England, pp. 51-53, and in Hotten's Original Lists, pp. 280-282. This Edward Raynor is probably the Edward Raynor of Hempstead, Long Island, whose will, dated 27 Mar. 1681 but not recorded, mentions wife (not named), eldest son Samuel, "her [wife's] five children" (not named), and "my brother Thomas Patrigh." Simon Searing, Thomas Patrigh, Jonathan Seaman, and Nathaniel Pearsall are to be "overseers over my wife and children . . . and they may dispose of the estate for their benefit, till they come to age." (New York Historical Society's Abstracts of Wills, vol. 1, p. 469.) This Edward, both from the position of his name in the shipping list and from the fact that he is not mentioned in Thurston Rayner's will, could hardly have been Thurston's son. Savage (Genealogical Dict., vol. 3, p. 514) suggests that he may have been a nephew of Thurston. He was too young to be the Edward, son of Thurston's brother Edward, or the Edward, son of Thurston's brother Richard, both of whom were mentioned in the will of Thurston's father in 1620/21; but he may have been a son of Thurston's brother Samuel, his own eldest son being named Samuel.—HENRY EDWARDS SCOTT.

† The original will of "Thirstan Rainer" is in the Surrogate's Office, Hall of Records, New York City, where also the recorded copy may be found (lib. 1-2, pp. 22-23). The statements given above have been taken from the original will. There is an abstract of this will in the New York Historical Society's Abstracts of Wills, vol. 1, pp. 6-7.—HENRY EDWARDS SCOTT.

‡ The statements which follow about Thurston Rayner's children in America have been communicated by Henry Edwards Scott.

¶ New York Historical Society's Abstracts of Wills, vol. 1, p. 120, and recorded copy of will in Surrogate's Office, New York City, lib. 1-2, pp. 441-443.

§ The order of the births of the children born in New England is uncertain, and it is not known how many, if any, of them were the children of Thurston Rayner by his second wife.

- JOHN SCOTT of Southampton; m. (2) CHARLES STURMY of Southampton, who d. 24 Dec. 1691, administration on his estate being granted, 31 Dec. 1691, to his widow Deborah; had issue by her first husband.*
- vii. HANNAH, b. in New England; m. (1) not later than 1661, as his second wife, ARTHUR HOWELL of Southampton, who d. 29 Mar. 1683; m. (2) 18 June 1685, as his second wife, JOB SAYRE of Southampton, who d. 1 Apr. 1694. She had issue by her first husband.†
- viii. MARY, b. in New England; m. THOMAS COOPER of Southampton, and had issue.‡
- ix. ABIGAIL, b. in New England; m. JOHN ROSE of Southampton; had issue.§
- x. JONATHAN, b. in New England, and probably a child of Thurston Rayner's second wife; under age 6 July 1667; m. 2 June 1680 SARAH PIERSON, and had issue.§

There were two distinct Suffolk families of Rayners, one living in the extreme western part of the county, on the border of Cambridgeshire (many of this family are found in Soham, co. Cambridge), and the other in the eastern part of Suffolk, the early members of this family having lived in the region of Kettleburgh. Elmsett, the English home of Thurston Rayner, is about seven miles from Ipswich in a northwesterly direction, and Wickham Market, where Robert Raynere, the grandfather of Thurston, lived, is about twelve and one half miles from Ipswich in a northeasterly direction, and about ten miles due west from the North Sea. Kettleburgh lies about four miles northwest from Wickham Market.—E. F.]

PARMENTER

The Will of JOHN PARMITER of Sudbury in the County of Suffolk, given, 1 September 1626. I give to John Parmiter my eldest son £40 at

* John Scott and Deborah his wife convey land to Thomas Hutchinson 2 May 1660 (Records of the Colony of Connecticut, MSS., vol 1, p. 315, at Hartford); Deborah Scott signs receipt for ten pounds from the estate of her father, Mr. Thurston Rayner, 12 Nov. 1667 (Southampton Town Records, vol. 2, p. 274); Charles Sturmy conveys land to his "Son in Law John Scott" (known to be a son of John and Deborah Scott) 18 Aug. 1680 (Southampton Red Book of Deeds, MSS., pp. 225-226); administration on Charles Sturmy's estate in Pelletreau's Early Long Island Wills, pp. 58-60.

† Southampton Records, vol. 2, pp. 225, 249, 282; Howell, Hist. of Southampton, 2d ed., pp. 317, 357; Banta, Sayre Family, p. 33.

‡ Southampton Records, vol. 2, p. 274; Howell, History of Southampton, pp. 222, 357.

§ It is proved by the receipt published in Southampton Records, vol. 2, p. 274, that Thomas Cooper, Christopher Lupton, and John Rose were sons-in-law of Thurston Rayner. The wives of these three men, together with Deborah Scott and Hannah Howell, must be the "other five children" of Thurston Rayner's will. Howell, Hist. of Southampton, p. 357, states that Abigail Rayner married Christopher Lupton, referring (p. 341) to the will of the latter, 1686, as authority, and that another daughter, whose name is unknown, married John Rose. But the will of John Rose, dated 4 May 1696, mentions his wife Abigail (Early Long Island Wills, pp. 150-153). The daughter who became the wife of Christopher Lupton may have been one of the three daughters who were born in England. She had issue.

§ Southampton Records, vol. 2, pp. 243, 294. Howell, Hist. of Southampton, pp. 357, 358, represents a Joseph, Mary Cooper, Abigail Lupton, Deborah Scott, Jonathan, and the wife of John Rose as children of Thurston Rayner the younger (who, as has been shown above, was baptized at Elmsett in 1620). He thinks that there were two Thurston Rayners, both with wives named Martha and both dying in 1667, and states that, improbable as that may seem, "the evidence all points to that conclusion." On the contrary, a careful study of the printed records of Southampton shows that, with the exception of a Thurston who was son of Joseph and who removed to Cape May, N. J., there was only one Thurston Rayner at Southampton from 1649 on. Moreover, the will of only one Thurston Rayner, 1667, is extant, who describes himself in his will as "stricken in age and not knowing how long my dayes shall continue in this world"; and it would be very difficult to reconcile Howell's theory about two Thurston Rayners with the facts that are established about the Rayners and the families connected with them by marriage.

the age of one and twenty years, and after the death of Anne my wife, my message and tenement wherein Robert Golding now dwelleth, in All Saints parish, Sudbury, to him and his heirs forever; and for want of such heirs, to Robert Parmiter my second son and his heirs; and for want of such heirs, to my daughter Ann and her heirs. To my second son Robert Parmiter and his heirs my message wherein I now dwell in All Saints Parish. To Ann my daughter and her heirs my message wherein Robert my brother lately dwelt in All Saints parish, which the said Robert gave to me and my heirs as in his last will more at large appeareth. To Mr. Wilson,* preacher of God's Word, 10s. To Mr. Allen, Vicar of All Saints, 6s. 8d. To the poor of All Saints on this side of the bridge 6s. 8d. To Ann my well beloved wife all that part or portion of goods which were given me by the last will of the said Robert my brother, and I give to her also all the residue of my goods toward her maintenance and the bringing up of my children, the payment of my debts, legacies, funeral and probate expenses. I appoint my wife sole executrix, and Joseph Parmiter afore-said [sic] and Daniel Parmiter, my brothers, supervisors, and each to have 10s. [Signed] John Parmiter. Witnesses: John Lord, Edward Alden, Mathew Alden als Briame, and Philip Clerke. Proved at Norwich 16 Jan. 1626/7 by Anne Parmiter the executrix named in the will. (Consistory Court of Norwich, original will, 1626.)

The Will of ROBERT PARMITER of Sudbury in the County of Suffolk and Diocese of Norwich, mercer, 18 July 1626. I give to Daniell Parmiter my eldest son £40 at the age of 21, certain furniture, and my message or tenement wherein I now dwell, after the decease of my wife Ann. To my second son Samuell my message or tenement wherein Edward Killingworth now dwelleth and which Robert Parmiter my late father purchased of John French now deceased. To Hanna Parmiter my daughter £100 at the age of 21. To the four youngest children of my brother-in-law Robert Page, now deceased, £5 towards placing them in some good service. To Mr. Willson† and Mr. Alline of All Saints in Sudbury 10s. each. To the poor people of All Saints parish 13s. 4d., that is 10s. to the poor in Sudbury and 3s. 4d. to the poor in Ballindon. The residue of all my goods to my wife Anne toward the payment of my debts and legacies, and I make her my executrix. I make my brothers John Parmiter and Daniell Parmiter supervisors, and give to them each 20s. To Elizabeth Wynne, my brother-in-law Richard Wynne's daughter, 40s. If all my children die without issue before their legacies are due, then my tenement wherein I now dwell shall go to my brother John Parmiter and his heirs, and my message wherein Edward Killingworth now dwelleth to my brother Daniell Parmiter and his heirs. If my said wife die, my children being dead without issue, reversion to my brothers and sisters and the brothers and sisters of my wife equally divided. [Signed] The marke of Robert Parmiter. Witnesses: Phillippe Clarke and John Lord [mark]. Proved 16 October 1626 and administration granted to Daniel Parmiter, brother of the testator, and also to Robert Eliston, brother of Anne Parmiter, deceased, relict and executrix. (P. C. C., Hele, fo. 138.)

The Will of DANIEL PARMENTER of ye Borrough Towne of Sudbury in ye County of Suffolke, seymaker, 1 October 1638. I give to my son

* Rev. John Wilson, later pastor of the First Church of Boston, lecturer in Sudbury at the date of this will.

† See note under preceding will.

Daniell the dwelling house wherein I dwell, with appurtenances, excepting the tenement now in the occupation of Francis Tanner and about seven acres of land lying in Ballingdon now in the occupation of Thomas Gilson, which I give to my son John, reserving to my son Daniell the liberty of the gateway and the loopway into the backside of my now dwelling house. I give to my third son Robert all the dwellings and edifices that are mine in the parish of St. Gregory, with the grounds, situated over against the friars wall, in the occupation of William Woodham. I give to my sons Daniel and John £600 each to be paid at the age of two and twenty years, and to my son Robert £550 to be paid at the age of two and twenty years. To my daughters Mary and Hannah all my linen and £500 each to be paid at the age of one and twenty years or day or marriage. The money for these portions to be kept in a strong chest with three good locks and well barred with iron and three keys, one in the possession of my executrix and the others in that of my two supervisors, so that the money can only be put in and taken out by the three jointly. The money for the maintenance of my children to be taken from their portions. If any child die, reversion to the supervisors. To Mr. Timothy Rogers minister of All Saints, Sudbury, £5. To Mr. John Harrison sen. dwelling in St. Peter's Parish, anciently the minister thereof, Mr. Daniell Rogers,* minister, dwelling in Wethersfield, Mr. Blackby, minister, Mr. Peachie, dwelling in Stoak-Clarke [sic, i. e. Stoke-Clare], and to Mr. Tille, minister, keeping sometimes with Goodman Warner in Sudbury, to each 30s. To all my weavers "maisterwornen" [masterworkmen] 2s. each. To my kinsman Joseph Parmenter 40s. To kinswoman Martha Frend 40s. toward the maintenance of her two children. To Richard Hayfield, an old workman of mine, wheresoever he lives, 20s. To Nurse Webb in All Saints parish and to my servant Katherine Hitchcocke 10s. each. To the poor of All Saints parish 40s., 30s. thereof to the poor on this side ye bridge and 10s. in Ballingdon. To the poor of St. Peter's parish 30s. and to the poor of St. Gregory's parish 30s. Executrix, my daughter Mary. My loving friends Timothy Rogers, minister of the parish, and Thomas Gunton jun. to be supervisors and friends in trust and guardians of my children during their minority, and my executrix to do nothing in the performance of this my will without their council and consent, and I give to them each £6. 13s. 4d. The yearly rent of the house wherein Robert Evered dwells to be disposed by my executrix and supervisors to the use of the children of Sarah Evered, his first wife. Any overplus of my estate to be equally divided among my children. Proved 24 January 1638/9 by Mary Parmitter daughter and executrix. (P. C. C., Harvey, fo. 14.)

The Will of JOHN PARMITER of Sudbury in the County of Suffolk, gent., 2 June 1648. I give my two messuages in the occupations of Edward Thompson and of ——— Lea, weaver, to my brother Robert Parmitter and his lawful issue, and for want of such issue then to my two sisters, Mary wife of John Harrison, clerk, and Hannah wife of Thomas Berry, and to their lawful issue. To my brother Robert a close containing seven acres lying in Ballingdon in the occupation of Thomas Gilson, on condition that he pay to Joseph Parmiter son of my cousin Joseph Parmiter £10, and to Daniel another son of the said Joseph Parmiter £20, and to Hester one of the daughters of the said Joseph Parmiter my cousin £10, and to the child his wife now goeth withall if it be a son £20, and if it be a daughter £10 and the other £10 to Joseph the son of my cousin Joseph Parmitor. These sums to be paid to my cousin Joseph Parmitor the father of these children to their uses. If my brother Robert die without lawful issue, then the close to my sisters Mary and Hannah, and if he have already paid the abovesaid legacies, then my sisters shall pay to their lawful issue £60 as my brother by his will shall direct. To John Harrison and Isaac Harrison, sons of my sister, £20 each, and to her son Daniell Harrison £40. To her daughters Dorothy and Mary Harrison £20 each. To my sister Hannah £80, and if she die before the receipt of the legacy, reversion to her children. My cousin Joseph Parminter owes me £40 whereof I give him £20, and he shall pay the other £20 to his brother Daniell. To Elizab. Gunton, widow, with whom I sojourn, £5. To Mr. Tille, preacher of God's Word, £3. To the poor of All Saints parish, Gregory parish, and Peter parish, 40s. to each parish. To Edward Bonham 20s. All the residue to my brother-in-law John Harrison, clerk, whom I make executor. I give to my loving friend his mother, £3. Supervisor, my friend Thomas Burr, clerk. [Signed] John Parmenter. Witnesses: John Mannering his mark, and Thomas Burr. Proved 11 May 1653 by the executor John Harrison. (P. C. C., Brent, fo. 376.)

[From the foregoing records the following Parmenter pedigree has been compiled:

1. ROBERT PARMITER, OR PARMINTER, of Bildeston and Sudbury, glover, was born probably about 1550, and married BARBARA ———, who was buried at Sudbury 14 Nov. 1622. He was living at Bildeston in 1581 and 1582, and first appears in the Sudbury records when his daughter Sara was baptized in 1585. He was made a free tenant of the borough in 1591, and became freeman in 1593, held various public offices, and was elected one of the chief burgesses in 1605, in which year he is also mentioned as a tenant of the Manor of Woodhall in Sudbury. He was buried at Sudbury 3 Oct. 1623.

Children, all but the first three baptized in All Saints, Sudbury:

2. i. JOHN, b. about 1579.
 3. ii. ROBERT, bapt. at Bildeston 16 Apr. 1581.
 4. iii. JOSEPH, bapt. at Bildeston 2 Sept. 1582.
 - iv. SARA, bapt. 26 Sept. 1585; bur. 23 Sept. 1588.
 - v. MARY, bapt. 14 Apr. 1588; m. 20 Oct. 1611, RICHARD BERIF.
 5. vi. DANIEL, bapt. 6 Jan. 1593/4.
 - vii. PETER, bapt. 12 June 1597; probably d. young; no further mention of him found.
 - viii. WILLIAM, bapt. 29 Apr. 1599; bur. 4 July 1599.
 - ix. ALICE, bapt. 3 Aug. 1601; bur. 1 Oct. 1622.
2. JOHN PARMITER, OR PARMINTER, of Sudbury, glover, the testator of 1626, was probably born in 1579. His first wife, by whom he had no children, was buried at Sudbury 1 Oct. 1617, and he married secondly in All Saints, Sudbury, 10 Nov. 1618, ANNE ALDEN, who survived him. He died at Sudbury, probably of the small-pox, and was buried 13 Oct. 1626.

Children, baptized in All Saints, Sudbury :

- i. JOHN, bapt. 16 Aug. 1621; history untraced.
- ii. ROBERT, bapt. 26 Jan. 1622/3; bur. 26 Oct. 1629.
- iii. ANN, bur. 22 Oct. 1626.

3. ROBERT PARMITER, OR PARMINTER, the testator of 1626, was baptized at Bildeston 16 Apr. 1581, and was buried at Sudbury 1 Aug. 1626, probably dying of the small-pox then fatally raging there. He married at Sudbury, 2 June 1605, ANNE, OR AGNES, ELISTONE, who was buried there 24 Aug. 1626. In the borough records he is called "grocer," though in his will he calls himself "mercier." He is first mentioned in the borough records in 1617, and in 1622 he was a free tenant.

Children, baptized and buried in All Saints, Sudbury :

- i. AME, bur. 3 Apr. 1625.
- ii. DANIEL, bapt. 17 Mar. 1614/15; bur. 25 July 1626.
- iii. SAMUEL, bapt. 24 Mar. 1616/17; bur. 21 July 1626.
- iv. SARAH, bapt. 30 May 1619; bur. 9 July 1626.
- v. HANNAH, bapt. 2 Feb. 1623/4; bur. 19 July 1626.

4. JOSEPH PARMITER, OR PARMINTER, was baptized at Bildeston 2 Sept. 1582. He does not appear in the borough records of Sudbury, although records of some of his children are given in the registers of All Saints, so probably he did not reside permanently in Sudbury. The name of his wife and time and place of his death are as yet unknown, and as no will of his has yet been found, the account of his family is incomplete.

Children :

- i. MARY (probably), bapt. at Hitcham 12 Oct. 1609; m. in All Saints, Sudbury, 15 Jan. 1633/4, JOHN MARSHALL.
 - ii. MARTHA, bapt. in all Saints, Sudbury, 28 Jan. 1611/12; m. there, 29 July 1635, WILLIAM FRIEND; had two children.
 - iii. JOSEPH, b. probably about 1615; m. in All Saints, Sudbury, 30 Jan. 1639/40, ESTHER SMITH; children, Joseph, Daniel, Hester, and perhaps others.
 - iv. ANNA, date of birth unknown; bur. at All Saints, Sudbury, 14 Oct. 1629.
 - v. PRISCILLA, date of birth unknown; bur. at All Saints, Sudbury, 18 Oct. 1629.
 6. vi. ROBERT (perhaps), b. in 1622 (?).
 - vii. JOHN, bapt. in All Saints, Sudbury, 7 Mar. 1623/4.
 - viii. DANIEL, bapt. in All Saints, Sudbury, 7 Mar. 1623/4; bur. there 8 June 1630.
 - ix. DANIEL, bapt. in All Saints, Sudbury, 9 Jan. 1630/1; living in 1648, and mentioned in the will of John Parmenter.
5. DANIEL PARMINTER, saymaker of Sudbury, the testator of 1638, baptized there in All Saints 6 Jan. 1593/4, is first mentioned in the borough records in 1622. He held various town offices, and on 12 Mar. 1626/7 was elected a chief burgess, holding this position until his decease. He was buried at All Saints 2 Dec. 1638. He married HANNAH ———.

Children, all but two baptized in All Saints :

- i. MARY, bapt. 30 Sept. 1618; m. JOHN HARRISON, clerk; had John, Isaac, Daniel, Dorothy, and Mary.
- ii. PRISCILLA, bapt. 29 Nov. 1620; bur. 23 June 1621.

- iii. DANIEL, bapt. 24 June 1622; living in 1638.
- iv. HANNAH, bapt. 6 Feb. 1624/5; m. THOMAS BERRY.
- v. JOHN, b. probably in 1627; d. unm.; the testator of 1648.
- 7. vi. ROBERT, b. probably in 1629; living in 1648.
- vii. MARTIN, bapt. 6 Sept. 1631; probably d. young.
- viii. REBECCA, bapt. 27 Oct. 1634; probably d. young.
- ix. JOSEPH, bapt. 26 Mar. 1637; bur. 17 May 1638.

6 OR 7. ROBERT PARMENTER, born in England, was in Braintree, Mass., before 1648, his associations indicating that he was of the foregoing family in England; but it is yet uncertain whether he was a son of Joseph or Daniel. Inasmuch as his age stated at death indicates that he was born in 1622, it is most probable he was son of Joseph, a point which further research may establish. He was admitted freeman of the Colony 22 May 1650, was chosen a deacon of the Braintree church 7 Dec. 1677, and died at Braintree 27 June 1696, aged 74 years, according to the records.

He married at Braintree, 3 Apr. 1648, LEAH (SANDERS) WHEATLEY, baptized in All Saints, Sudbury, 10 Oct. 1623, daughter of Martin Sanders (of whom an account is appended) and widow of John Wheatley. She died at Braintree 24 Mar. 1706/7.

Children, born at Braintree:

- i. JOHN, b. 23 Oct., d. 4 Nov. 1653.
- ii. JOSEPH, b. 20 Dec. 1655; d. 20 Feb. 1736/7; m. 17 Nov. 1675, MARY MARSH, and had six children; was town clerk of Braintree for thirty years.
- iii. ELIZABETH, b. 29 Oct. 1657; m. 11 Aug 1673, SAMUEL PENNIMAN.
- iv. HANNAH, b. 17 Jan. 1658/9; m. 25 Dec. 1684, SAMUEL TOMPSON.

John Parmenter of Sudbury, Mass., in 1639, did not belong to this immediate branch of the Parmenter family. Data on his ancestry will appear in a future issue of the REGISTER.—E. F.]

SANDERS

MARTIN SANDERS, currier, aged 40, came to New England from London in the spring of 1635 in the ship Planter, bringing his wife Rachel, aged 40, and children Mary, aged 15, Leah, aged 10, Judith, aged 8, and Martin, aged 4 (see Hotten's Original Lists, pp. 47, 48). He settled at Braintree, Mass., where he died 4 Aug. 1658, leaving a will dated 5 July 1658, which was disallowed, and his estate divided by agreement between his eldest son John Sanders, Francis Eliot (husband of Mary Sanders), Martin Sanders (youngest son), and Robert Parmenter (husband of Leah Sanders), the latter also receiving £15 for his "daughter-in-law Rachel" [i. e. step-daughter Rachel Wheatley]. (REGISTER, vol. 10, p. 87.)

He married first, about 1618, RACHEL ———, born about 1595, who was the mother of all his children, and who died at Braintree, Mass., 15 Sept. 1651; and secondly, 23 May 1654, ELIZABETH BANCROFT, widow of Roger.

That Martin Sanders lived at Sudbury, England, before emigrating to America in 1635, is made evident by these records of all his

Children, baptized in All Saints, Sudbury:

- i. MARY, bapt. 26 Aug. 1619; m. in New England, about 1640, FRANCIS ELIOT.
- ii. MARTIN, bapt. in 1621; d. young.
- iii. LEAH, bapt. 10 Oct. 1623; m. (1) at Braintree, about 1643, JOHN WHEATLEY, who d. about 1646, and by whom she had one child, Rachel, b. about 1644; m. (2) at Braintree, 3 Apr. 1648, ROBERT PARMENTER, as previously stated.

- iv. JUDITH, bapt. 27 Dec. 1625; d. unm. at Braintree, Mass., 7 July 1651.
 v. JOHN, bapt. 5 Mar. 1627/8; m. 9 Oct. 1650, MARY MUNJOY, and had issue.
 vi. MARTIN, bapt. 28 Aug. 1630; m. 1 Apr. 1651, LYDIA HARDIER, and had issue.
 vii. DANIEL, bapt. 25 Mar. 1632; bur. at All Saints, Sudbury, 1 Aug. 1634.

FROM THE CHURCH REGISTER OF NEDGING

1572 John Myxter son of Edmund bapt. 30 Aug.

[The will of Isaac Mixar, Sr., in 1641, naming "my sonne Isaak Mixar in new England," will be found in the REGISTER, vol. 63, p. 277. From this will and the foregoing material the following Mixar pedigree has been compiled :

1. ISAAC MIXER of Capel, co. Suffolk, weaver, the testator of 1641, was buried there 25 Mar. 1642. He married first FRANCES ———, who was buried 24 Feb. 1620/1; secondly SUSAN ———, who died 26 Apr. 1628; and thirdly the widow ANNA BLOSSE, 12 Feb. 1628/9.

Children by first wife, all but two baptized at Capel :

- i. GEORGE, m. at Capel, 26 Oct. 1620, DOROTHY CHISNALL; executor of his father's will; had children Mary and Lidia.
- ii. JANE, bapt. 7 May 1597; m. 11 June 1618, JOSEPH BRIDEN; named in her father's will.
- iii. ELIZABETH, bapt. 11 May 1600; probably m. ——— LODGE.
2. iv. ISAAC, bapt. 3 Oct. 1602.
- v. FRANCES, named in her father's will.
- vi. SARA, bapt. 14 Aug. 1608; named in her father's will.
- vii. DOROTHY, bapt. 2 July 1611; named in her father's will.
- viii. ABIGAIL, bapt. 1 Nov. 1613. Is this the daughter mentioned as Amy in her father's will?

Children by second wife, baptized at Capel :

- ix. JOHN, bapt. 26 Oct. 1623; named in his father's will.
 - x. MARY, bapt. 20 Apr. 1628; bur. at Capel 26 Apr. 1628.
2. ISAAC MIXER of Capel, England, and Watertown, Mass., was baptized at Capel 3 Oct. 1602, and died, probably in Watertown, between 8 May and 19 June 1655. He married at Capel, 11 May 1629, SARAH THURSTON, born about 1599 or 1600, and with her and their son Isaac sailed for New England from Ipswich, 10 Apr. 1634. He settled at Watertown, where he was a proprietor in 1636 and free-man 2 May 1638. His widow died 24 Nov. 1681.

Children :

- i. ISAAC, b. in England about 1630; m. (1) MARY COOLIDGE, daughter of John; m. (2) REBECCA GARFIELD, daughter of Edward; m. (3) MARY (LOTHROP) FRENCH, widow of William of Billerica, previously widow of John Stearns of Billerica, and daughter of Thomas Lothrop; had fifteen children by his first two wives.
- ii. SARAH, b. in New England; d. in 1656; m. JOHN STEARNS of Billerica, son of Isaac of Watertown; had two sons.

No further light on the ancestry of the elder Isaac Mixar has been found. The early wills show the family to have been located at Shotley. It may be suggested, however, that the John Mixar, whose numerous family is recorded at Capel, may be identical with the John, son of Edmund, baptized at Medging, nine miles from Capel, and that he may also be a brother of Isaac. The name is variously spelled Mixer and Mixter.—E. F.]

POULTER.

The Will of JOHN POULTER of Rayleigh, co. Essex, yeoman, 18 March 1638/9. To be buried in the parish church or churchyard of Rayleigh. To my son John Poulter £50 to be paid him at the age of one and twenty years. To my daughter Mary £100 to be paid her at the age of one and twenty years or day of marriage. To my daughter Elizabeth £100 to be paid her at the age of one and twenty years or day of marriage. If any child die before said age, reversion to the survivors at legal age or marriage. If all die before legal age, reversion to my wife Mary Poulter. My overseers to put forth my childrens portion for their use during their minority. To my mother Marie Poulter 40s. to buy her a ring for remembrance. To my aunt Anne Hayward 20s. To Anne Hudson 20s. To Richard Abrahams, son of Richard Abrahams, 20s. To Wiff Brewster 20s. To Jane Broadwater and Elizabeth Broadwater 5 sh. each. To William Clements 10s. All the residue of my goods unbequeathed I give to my wife Mary Poulter, whom I make executrix and guardian of my children during their minority. Thomas Purchas, clerke, and John Sharpe, yeoman, overseers, and to each for remembrance 20s. To my mother-in-law Marie Pope an annuity of 20s. for five years. [Signed] John Poulter. Witnesses: John Horsnaye, Wiffm Brewster, John Offen his mark. Proved at Bad-dow 30 May 1639 by Marie Poulter relict and executrix. (Archdeaconry of Essex, 1638-53, fo. 49.)

[The foregoing will confirms the statement made by Savage that John Poulter of Billerica, Mass., 1658, was from Rayleigh. He died 20 May 1676, aged 41, according to his gravestone as given by Harris. His sister Elizabeth married, 22 Nov. 1655, Jonathau Danforth. John Poulter married in 1662 Rachel Eliot of Braintree, daughter of Francis and Mary (Sanders)*; and she married secondly, in 1677, John Whitmore.—E. F.]

THE ENGLISH ANCESTRY OF ROBERT PAGE OF HAMPTON, N. H.

By GEORGE WALTER CHAMBERLAIN, M.S., of Malden, Mass.

IN 1860 Samuel Gardner Drake, one of the founders of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, published his The Founders of New England, and on pages 44 to 48 of that volume he reproduced "a Register of persons" who desired "to passe into forraigne partes . . . by vertu of a commission granted to M^r Thomas Mayhew, gentleman."

One of the entries which was published reads as follows:

"Aprill the 11th 1637. The examinacion of Robertt Page of Ormsby in Norff. husbandman, ageed 33 yeares and Lucea his wife, aged 30 yeares, with 3 children, Frances, Margrett, and Susanna, and 2 Saruants, William Moulton and Anne Wadd; the one aged 20 yeares the other 15 yeares, and are all desirous to passe for New England to inhabitt and Remaine."

* See under Sanders, ante.

In the REGISTER for 1872 (vol 26, p. 75) Dr. William Prescott of Concord, N. H., communicated the results of his investigations concerning the parentage of Robert Page in his introduction to his descendants. From the fact that what Dr. Prescott published corresponds with the English Notes of the late Horatio G. Somerby, it is inferred that they were the result of the latter's English gleanings. As the parish registers of Ormsby St. Margaret do not begin until 1675 and the register of Acle till 1664, the establishment of the Page pedigree was regarded as difficult. Recent researches enable me to carry it back to a period as early as 1550 with certainty. The pedigree is based upon the following English wills :

Will of ROBERT PAGE of Acle made May 8, 1450. I Robert Page desire my body to be buried in the churchyard of St. Edmund King and Martyr at Acle. To the high altar 12 pence. To the emendation of the sd church 8s. To the light of the Blessed Virgin Mary in sd church 6d. To the Brotherhood of St. Edmund King and Martyr 2s. The residue of my goods I give to my executors. I appoint Nicholas Hardy and Margaret my wife my executors. Proved at Norwich May 16, 1450, by Nicholas Hardy with power reserved to Margaret wife of the deceased. (Consistory Court of Norwich, 1448-1455, Alleyn 41.)

Will of JAMES PAGE of Acle made December 2, 1534. To be buried in the churchyard of St. Edmund King and Martyr in Acle. To the Church of St. Mary burgh within Flegge [Fleggborough] 6s. 8d. To the reparation of the Church at Ridlington a quarter of malt. The residue of my goods and chattells whatsoever, I bequeath to my executors and I ordain Henry Page of Acle and James Hall, mariner, of Burgh in Flegge executors. Witnesses: William Corbet, Thomas Calne, with others. Proved at Acle, January 16, 1535, by the executors. (Archdeaconry Court of Norwich, 1529-1536, fo. 152.)

Will of ROBERT PAGE of Acle in Norfolk, husbandman, made April 20, 1587. My body shall be buried in the church-yard at Acle. I bequeath to Edmund Page my son my houses, tenements and lands in Acle with all pertaining thereto, to him and his heirs forever. To Robert Page my son £10, to be paid 20s. yearly for ten years. To Cicely Page my daughter £5, 20s. to be paid each year until £5 is paid. To Margaret Page my daughter £5 to be paid in like manner. I will that Martha my wife shall have for life the house where John Taylor now dwelleth, and 10s. yearly, to be paid 5s. half yearly or as she may need. Also the "hole" furniture, one table now in the house where Gosling dwelleth, etc. All the rest of my goods, cattells, implements and stuff of household I bequeath to the disposition of my executor, and I appoint Edmund Page my son my sole executor. Witnesses: Peter Downhill, Ralph Cootes, John Plum, William Smith, William Johnson, and John Downing. Proved in Acle, May 15, 1587, by the executor. (Archdeaconry Court of Norwich, Barnes, 1587.)

Will of ROBERT PAGE of Ormesby, Co. of Norfolk, husbandman, made July 1, 1617. My body shall be buried in the churchyard of the parish of Ormesby St. Margaret's. To the sd church of St. Margaret's 12d. To Margaret Page my wife my house and land with all appurtenances thereto belonging, situate and being in Acle in the Co. of Norfolk for the term of her life.

After her decease the sd house and land and all appurtenances thereto belonging to Robert Page my son, he paying all such legacies in such manner as is hereafter mentioned. To Thomas Page my son £5, to be paid by the said Robert Page two years after the decease of Margaret my wife. To Rebecca my daughter £5, to be paid by the sd Robert Page four years after the decease of Margaret my wife. To Henry Page my son £5, to be paid by the sd Robert Page six years after the decease of Margaret my wife. If it happen the said Robert Page my son does not pay the aforesaid legacies in manner and form aforesaid, my will and mind is that he or she who shall be unpaid their legacy shall reenter and possess the aforesaid house and land with all belonging until the "fearme" of the aforesaid house and land in Acle shall satisfy and pay their aforesaid legacy of £5. To Francis my son £7, Margaret my wife to pay it in manner following, viz. 40s. when the sd Francis attain the age of 21 years, and £5 when he shall attain the age of 24 years. My will is that my wife Margaret shall enter into two several bonds unto the sd Francis for the payment of the said seven pounds within five days after my death. The rest of my goods and chattels, movables and immovables, unbequeathed, I give to Margaret my wife whom I make sole executrix, to pay my debts and funeral charges and prove my will within one month of my death. If she shall refuse, then I ordain Francis my son to be my sole executor and Margaret my wife to be void. Any of my children departing this life before their legacy is due, their legacy shall be divided among the survivors. If Robert my son depart this life before Margaret my wife, then I will my son Thomas have the house and land in Acle and pay the aforesaid legacies that Robert should have paid. Witnesses: Ralph Smith, William Larwood, and Edward Boughton. Proved July 23, 1617, by the executrix. (Archdeaconry Court of Norwich, 1617.)

Will of FRANCIS PAGE of Ormesby St. Margaret in Norfolk, husbandman, February 4, 1666. To Rebekah Rix my sister my piece of ground lying in Ormesby on the north of the tenement where I now dwell, with all the rights and appurtenances thereto belonging, which I purchased of Clement Harcocke, deceased, estimated to be about five roods, to her and her heirs forever. To my said sister all my goods whatsoever, and I appoint her sole executrix. The mark of Francis Page. Witnesses: William Worde, and William Bryspoole. Proved at Norwich, April 5, 1667, by the executrix. (Archdeaconry Court of Norwich, 1666-7.)

From the foregoing wills the line of descent appears to be as follows:

1. ROBERT¹ PAGE of Acle, co. Norfolk, husbandman, born before 1550, died between 20 Apr. and 15 May 1587. He married MARTHA ———, who was living 20 Apr. 1587, at the date of her husband's will, as were the following children:

- i. EDMUND², inherited the homestead in Acle, and was appointed executor 15 May 1587.
2. ii. ROBERT.
- iii. CICELY.
- iv. MARGARET.

2. ROBERT² PAGE (*Robert*¹) of Acle and of Ormsby St. Margaret, co. Norfolk, husbandman, was born as early as 1577. He died at Orms. by between 1 and 23 July 1617, and was probably buried in the churchyard of Ormsby St. Margaret.

"Robert Page & Margrett Goodwyng" [Goodwin] were married in the parish of Hemblington, 16 July 1598 (Norfolk Parish Register Marriages, vol. 1 p. 22). As Hemblington is only four miles from Acle, and as this Page was the only person of the name there married, he is probably the Robert Page of Acle. Margaret Goodwin was perhaps the daughter or sister of Francis Goodwin of Hemblington in 1585.

Children :

3. i. ROBERT³ PAGE, b. abt. 1604.
 - ii. THOMAS, probably not the Thomas Page, a "gentleman," who was at Saco in the Province of Maine from 1637 to 1641.
 - iii. REBECCA, bapt. at Ormsby St. Michael, 16 May 1608; m. ——— RIX, and was living 5 Apr. 1667, probably in the vicinity of Ormsby.
 - iv. HENRY, living 1 July, 1617.
 - v. FRANCIS, under age 1 July 1617; husbandman; d. in Ormsby St. Margaret betw. 4 Feb. 1666 and 5 Apr. 1667, probably leaving no descendants.
3. ROBERT³ PAGE (Robert², Robert¹), born about 1604, who was to inherit the Page homestead in Acle after his mother's death, emigrated to New England in 1637. He married, about 1628, LUCY ———, who died at Hampton 12 Nov. 1665, aged 58 years; and he died there 26 Sept. 1679, aged 75 years. The family lived at Salem, Mass., from 1637 to 1639, after which year they lived at Hampton.

Children :

- i. MARGARET⁴, b. abt. 1630; lived at Hampton; d. 13 July 1699.
- ii. FRANCIS, b. abt. 1633; d. at Hampton, 15 Nov. 1706.
- iii. SUSANNA, b. abt. 1635.
- iv. REBECCA, bapt. at Salem 1 Sept. 1639; d. 27 May 1673.
- v. THOMAS, bapt. at Salem 1 Sept. 1639; d. 8 Sept. 1686.
- vi. HANNAH, b. abt. 1642; d. 6 Aug. 1704.
- vii. MARY, b. abt. 1644; d. 8 Mar. 1700.

On 24 June 1673, Robert Page of Hampton conveyed land by a deed in which he called Edward Colcord of Hampton his brother and Colcord's wife Ann his sister. The author of the Colcord Genealogy published in 1910, p. 7, states that Edward Colcord married Ann Page. The foregoing pedigree shows that there was no Ann Page for him to marry. According to the Genealogy, Ann Colcord was the mother of ten children born between 1641 and 23 July 1667. From this fact she must have been born between 1621 and 1626. As the father of Robert Page of Hampton died before 23 July 1617, she could not have been his posthumous daughter. She may have been a half sister to Robert Page, or a sister or half sister to his wife Lucy, or Lucy may have been a sister or half sister to Edward Colcord. It is clear that Colcord's wife Ann was not Ann Page. She may have been Ann Wadd, aged 15 years in 1637.

The fact that Robert Page of Ormsby, 1617, was the son of Robert Page of Acle, 1587, appears to be clear from the fact that the Ormsby man owned a home in Acle in 1617. The inquisitiones post mortem, if preserved, would probably give more light on this point.

The foregoing and other data seem to indicate that the Acle family is not recently descended from the Saxthorpe family of this surname.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

By JOHN ALBREE, Recording Secretary

Boston, Massachusetts, 6 December, 1911. A stated meeting of the Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding.

The minutes of the last meeting were approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were ordered filed.

Seven resident members were elected by ballot.

The report of the Nominating Committee was read and accepted.

The President appointed as auditors Charles Irving Thayer and Charles Sidney Ensign.

Rev. James De Normandie, S.T.D., minister of the First Church of Roxbury, read a paper, The Story of an Old Church in New Hampshire, in which he related the experiences of the church which had its beginnings in 1623, when the first settlements were made in Portsmouth.

President Baxter spoke of Church of England services having been held August 19, 1607, by Rev. Richard Seymour in the short-lived Popham Colony in Maine, the first colony on the shores of New England.

It was Voted,—That the Society express to Dr. De Normandie its appreciation of the enjoyment derived from his paper, which involved so much research and in which he has reproduced so vividly the personality of the ancient worthies.

After adjournment, refreshments were served.

3 January, 1912. A stated meeting of the Society was held in Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding.

The minutes of the December meeting were approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted.

Fifteen resident members were elected by ballot.

The Nominating Committee submitted the name of John Carroll Chase for Vice-President for New Hampshire, in place of that of Jonathan Eastman Pecker.

Rev. George Hodges, D.D., D.C.L., LL.D., read a paper, The Forefathers of Jamestown, which was illustrated with stereopticon. After commenting on the fact that the adjectives Puritan and Cavalier do not adequately explain the difference between Virginia and Massachusetts, he related the story of Jamestown, the work of Captain John Smith, and the beginnings of representative government and of local control over the levying of taxes.

On motion of Hon. Henry Nichols Blake, it was Voted,—That the Society formally express its pleasure in hearing Dean Hodges's scholarly and interesting presentation of the significant story of Jamestown.

31 January. The annual meeting of the Society was held this day, agreeable to article 1, chapter III, of the By-laws; for a report of which see the Supplement to the present number of the REGISTER.

7 February. A stated meeting of the Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding.

The minutes of the annual meeting were read and approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted for the files.

The Society's copy of Memoirs of Captain Roger Clap was shown, as it contains, as an appendix, the earliest genealogy thus far known, which was published in the United States.

William Milligan Sloane, Ph.D., L.H.D., LL.D., Seth Low Professor of History, Columbia College, spoke upon The Beginnings of Party Government in America, in which, after establishing the difference in the European and American points of view—the former, that man exists for the state, and the latter, that the state exists for man—and that parties as such did not exist until after the Revolution, he traced the gradual growth of parties from the formation of the Constitution through the administrations of the early Presidents.

On motion of Charles Sidney Ensign, a formal expression was made of the appreciation of the Society for the interesting paper of Dr. Sloane, in which he carefully delineated the rise and development of party politics.

At 3.30 P.M., it was voted to adjourn.

NOTES

HAWES: ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS.—Mr. James W. Hawes, 27 West 44th Street, New York City, calls attention to the following changes bearing upon his article, "The English Ancestors of Edmond Hawes of Yarmouth, Mass.," in the REGISTER, vol. 65, pp. 160-4. A full copy of the will of Thomas Hawes (Thomas, Thomas), shows that on p. 162, l. 22, "Doctor Brainton" should be stricken out and "Walter Chamber" substituted; also, among the list of children, "v. A DAUGHTER, m. DR. — BRAINTON," should be stricken out, and the next entry should read "v. MARGARET, m. WALTER CHAMBER." On p. 163, l. 29, add "m. before 1619, GEORGE DALBY." In Errata, on p. 386, "Greswalde corrected to read Greswalde should be Greswolde.

WATERTOWN TRAIN-BAND, 1652.—In the REGISTER for October, 1849, vol. 3, p. 401, is a "List of Names of those who took the Oath of Fidelity," from the Records of the Middlesex County Court. The list is correct, and the original document from which it was made has been found among the files of the court. It contains these words, which should have been embodied in the Records:

"Let this honord Court know that the traine band of Watertown have chosen Lieutenant Mason to be our Captain, and Sergent Peerce to be our Lieutenant; here is also the names of certaine men whom upon this occasion have taken the Oath of Fidelity."

In the Middlesex County Court Records, vol. 1, p. 302, are the words: "The Names of Such Persons as have Taken the Oath of Fidelity, 1652," but said nothing of their military service. Captain Hugh Mason was given his commission May 5, 1652, and the following names are a part, at least, of his "Train Band":

Sam ^l Stratton Sen.	Richard Bloice
Sam ^l Stratton Junior	John Coller
John Stratton	Anthony Beerz [Beurs?]
John Knapp	Francis Bowman
W ^m Perse	Sam ^l Benjamin

ENGLISH ANCESTRY OF HENRY ADAMS.—In the REGISTER, vol. 59, pp. 320-22, data was given suggesting that Henry Adams of Braintree, Mass., came from Kingweston, co. Somerset, the transcripts of the registers of that parish showing the baptism of a John Adams, son of Henry, on 4 Dec. 1622. The theory is much strengthened by the fact that the transcripts of the registers of that parish also have the baptism of Edward, son of Henry Adams, on 19 Apr. 1629, an entry evidently overlooked in the original research. This record applies well to Edward Adams,* son of Henry of Braintree, who was married about 1652.

An examination of a few of the transcripts of Compton Dundon (the parish adjoining Kingweston on the west) gave the following Adams items, so it may be that a complete examination of them would be profitable:

- Margery dau. of William Adams, bap. 10 May 1629
- James son of John Addams and Mary, bap. 9 Sept. 1635
- William son of Henry Addams and Joane, bap. 28 Feb. 1635-6
- William son of Henry Addams, bur. 26 Mar. 1636
- John son of Henry Addams, bur. 30 Aug. 1636
- Richard son of William Adams and Joane, bap. 20 Jan. 1636/7.
- Mary dau. of Henry Addams and Joane, bap. 20 Aug. 1637
- Richard son of John Addams and Mary, bap. 19 Nov. 1637
- Richard son of William Addams, bur. 20 Mar. 1637/8
- James son of John Addams, bur. 16 Dec. 1639

HUGH JONES, ELIZABETH JONES, JAMES ABBOT, JOHN VINING.—The registers of Wincanton, co. Somerset (which begin in 1636), show the baptisms of these emigrants, who came together to New England about 1651 (see REGISTER, vol. 61, p. 150):

* On 28 Oct. 1663, Edward Adams, aged 35, deposed in the case of Stedman vs. Adams (Suff. Co. Court Files, No. 606).—VIRGINIA HALL, Cambridge, Mass.

Hugo son of Robert Jones bapt. 3 Jan. 1636-7

Elizabeth the daughter of Robte Jones, husbandman, was baptized the 2 of Septemb. 1627 [Transcripts of Wincanton]

James son of James Abbot, bapt. 29 Dec. 1636

John son of Robert Vining, bapt. 17 Apr. 1636

Besides Robert Jones, "husbandman," there was another Robert Jones in Wincanton about 1630 who was curate of that parish, signing the transcripts as such in 1628 and 1630.

J. GARDNER BARTLETT.

CANNEY-WINGATE-PAINE.—A 1619 Norton and Bill bible, which has come down through five Joshuas Wingate, having come to the first Wingate with his second wife, the widow Canney, contains three records of her Canney children, disagreeing in dates, of which one, entered by a good penman after all the children were born, is as follows:

Sarah Cenny was bor 3 of Augst 1667

Martha Cenny [Mathew Canny in earlier record] was bor 5 Febr 1669

Mary Cenny ber January 17 1672

Lydia Cenny 26 August 1673

Thomas Cenny 1 November 1675

Samuel Cenny 24 May 1677

Earlier entries read:

"Thomas Canny his Book god Giu him grace therein to Looke"

"Thomas Channy his bibell"

"Thomas Canny mared in octo . . . one the thirth [third] day 1666"

The name "Sarah Pain" entered in an ancient hand at the top of one of the record pages indicates how the name Paine got into the Wingate family. Richard Paine of Newichewanock, shipwright, was one of the bondsmen of the widow Sarah Wingate, 1688. Earlier, 1678, Mr. Richard Paine was of Great Island. He died in Charlestown 29 Mar. 1708, aged 72. She had died in Boston 23 Dec. 1707. Wyman's Charlestown gives his will in which he remembers his "son-in-law" J. Wingate and "daughter in law Abigail wife of Samuel Kenny, trunkmaker of Boston," and makes his heir his nephew Thomas Paine, ropemaker, of Rotherdale, co. Surry, England. This shows what became of John Wingate's youngest daughter; the Boston records give the marriage of Samuel Kenny and Abigail Winget 16 Nov. 1704, and the births of eight children, 1705-1721.

An unsuccessful attempt has been made to verify the statement in Dow's Hampton that Sarah Canney-Wingate-Paine was daughter of Anthony Taylor. But as two of her grandchildren were living in Mr. Dow's youth, and as Mr. Dow was himself sprung from the marriage of John Moulton and Lydia Taylor, 23 Mar. 1666, we may accredit his circumstantial statements to reliable tradition. Mr. Dow's material consisted in part of early tradition of the very highest value, in part of guessed-together vital records of Hampton uncorrected by reference to the county records, and in part of contributed matter of mixed value. It is important that his original papers should be placed in a safe depository. For instance, his flat statement that the name of the wife of the famous Edward Gove was Hannah Titcomb has been challenged. If this was one of his early recorded traditions it is of high authority, for circumstantial traditions must have come down regarding this man's sensational career and what his wife did during his imprisonment. On the other hand, if Mr. Dow accepted the statement on the authority of a correspondent it may be worthless.

One of the Canney daughters, presumably the eldest, was married before 12 Mar. 1683/4, when John Wingate made his will, and the others may afterwards have been married: Martha to Benjamin Nason, 30 June 1687; Mary to John Twombly, 18 Apr. 1687; Lydia to Tobias Hanson [REGISTER, vol. 6, p. 330].

The name "Channey Smith" is scribbled in the margin of one of the record pages, and one might suppose him to be a descendant of Thomas Cenny, Canny or Channy; but better judgment is that the youth was the same who afterwards as Dr. Cheney Smith of Dover practiced there as early as 1735. He seems to have been the Cheney Smith born at Ipswich 21 Mar. 1712, grandson of Hannah (Cheney) Smith of Newbury. The suggestion that the Chenneys of Newbury and the Canneys of Dover were of the same family leads into the deep swamp of early orthoepy. The general substitution of "a" for "e" interfered with the rule for the aspiration of "c" before certain vowels. Cheney on Martha's Vineyard is spoken Chain-ny to this day, and a Dover deed as late as 1736, when it seems certain that "ch" had settled down to its modern sound, spelt the first Thomas Caune^y's name Chaney. On the other hand, several contemporary entries of Canney read Kenny. Probably the sound as well as the spelling wobbled.

Later records are: Joshua Wing^{tt} born 7 Sept 17[10?]; Joshua Winget Junr married 19 day . . .; Ann Winget born 21 May 1736; Joshua Winget 3d born 14 Oct 1737 [on another page 1738]. The bible evidently came down through John¹ Wingate, Col. Joshua,² Joshua,³ Joshua.⁴ The latter dying childless it must have gone to his cousin Joshua Wingate of Hallowell, then to his son Gen. Joshua Wingate of Portland, who probably saved it from destruction by having it finely rebound in calf.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

NORFOLK FAMILIES.—Mr. Walter Rye has prepared for publication by subscription in five parts "Norfolk Families: Past and Present, their Origin and Arms (if any)." This work will contain a condensed account of the origin and history of every name of note in the County, in all about 2,300, and will comprise critical remarks on all doubtful pedigrees and arms, and notes (many unpublished) on all noteworthy Norfolk families and persons. Parts 1 and 2 (now ready) contain A to H, and refer to about 1030 families, their pedigrees, and arms. For further particulars address Messrs. Goose & Son, 2 The Haymarket, Norwich, England.

BRITISH RECORD SOCIETY.—In a letter received from Mr. Thomas M. Blagg, the General Editor of the Society, he states that "in Mr. G. E. Cokayne, whose recent death you will have heard of, the Society has lost its strongest support, for the late Clarendon King of Arms subsidised some of its most useful work. . . . If, therefore, the utility and output of the Society are to be maintained, it is essential that we should have a considerable accession of subscribers in 1912." Mr. Blagg asks for the support of the Society's work by individuals and libraries, mentioning that subscribers receive an abundant return in printed matter, and that the more subscribers the more material each will receive, as the entire income is expended each year on the Society's work. Attention is called to the advertisement in this number.

THE SOCIETY OF GENEALOGISTS OF LONDON.—The Second Quarterly Report, December 1911, has been received and shows the Society to have made rapid strides since its organization. The Society is collecting printed and manuscript volumes, and documents, for safe keeping. Various committees have been formed to extend the useful work of the Society, such as forming a consolidated index of names in the shape of a card index, an index of pedigrees in print or mss., of monumental inscriptions, of parish registers and marriage licences, of fly-leaf inscriptions in family bibles, of records of migration and change of residence, of local records and family associations. Committees to deal with Irish, Scottish, and Welsh records are in course of formation. The Society, among other gifts, has recently received transcripts of 27 unprinted Cornish registers on index slips.

For further particulars in regard to the scope of the Society's work and terms of membership, address the Hon. Secretary, 227 Strand, London, W.C., England.

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Bussell (Buzzell).—John of Dover, N. H., who died in Jan. 1738, by Rev. Herbert L. Buzzell, Barre, Mass.

Foss.—Johan (John), who died at Dover, N. H., between 17 Dec. 1699 and 8 Jan. 1699/1700, by Guy Scooby Rix, 8 Elm Street, Concord, N. H.

Homer.—John, who died at Boston 6 Nov. 1717, by Morgan H. Stafford, 32 Richardson Street, Newton, Mass.

RECENT BOOKS

[THE editor particularly requests persons sending books for listing in the REGISTER to state, for the information of readers, the price of each book, with the amount to be added for postage when sent by mail, and from whom it may be ordered. For the January issue, books should be received by Nov. 1; for April, by Feb. 1; for July, by May 1; and for October, by July 1.]

HON. JOHN TAGGARD BLODGETT, A.M.

By AMASA MASON EATON, A.M., LL.B.

JOHN TAGGARD BLODGETT, a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society from 1906, and elected its Vice-President for Rhode Island at the annual meeting preceding his death, was born in Belmont, Massachusetts, May 16, 1859, the son of William Alfred and Anna Maria (Taggard) Blodgett, his line of descent from Thomas¹ Blodgett, born in England in 1605, who came from London, England, to Boston, Massachusetts, in the Increase in 1635, and settled at Cambridge, being through David,² Thomas,³ Joseph,⁴ Jonathan,⁵ Jabez,⁶ Alfred,⁷ to William Alfred,⁸ his father. His great-great-grandfather Jonathan Blodgett of Hudson, New Hampshire, answered the "Lexington Alarm," April 19, 1775, and served later as a private in a New Hampshire regiment. He was a great-grandson of William Taggard of Hillsborough, New Hampshire, ensign and lieutenant in the Second New Hampshire Regiment, 1776-1780; and also the great-grandson of Bartholomew Trow of Charlestown, Massachusetts, a member of "The Boston Tea Party," a minute man at Lexington April 19, 1775, lieutenant in Colonel Thomas Gardiner's regiment at Bunker Hill June 17, 1775, and captain in the 25th Massachusetts Regiment at the siege of Quebec in 1776. He was a great-great-grandson of Hezekiah Welch of Boston, second lieutenant of the frigate Boston in 1778; and he was the great-grandson of Ebenezer Welch of Boston, midshipman in the Revolution.

He received his early education in the public schools of Belmont and of Watertown, Massachusetts, and was graduated from the Watertown High School in 1875, and from Worcester Academy in 1876. He then entered Brown University, and was graduated with his class in 1880, being a member of the Society of Phi Beta Kappa, and receiving three years later from the college the degree of A.M.

Upon graduation he entered upon the study of law in the office of Benjamin N. Lapham in Providence. There he completed the regular course of three years' study, and passing with brilliancy the bar examinations, he was admitted to practice. He was admitted to practice in the United States District Court in 1885, and in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in 1895, his law practice relating principally to corporation and banking business. He was United States Commissioner for the District of Rhode Island from 1890 to 1897; and he became supervisor of Federal elections in Rhode Island in 1891, remaining in that office until the repeal of the Federal election law, the duties of the office being to inspect the list of voters and to see that no fraud was practiced in Federal elections. The familiarity with election laws thus acquired led him to prepare and to carry through a state law relating to the appointment and defining the powers and duties of the Board of Canvassers and Registration. Upon its passage in 1895 he was appointed a member and became its chairman, remaining so until he became a member of the Supreme Court of the state.

He was a member of the House of Representatives from the city of Providence from 1898 to 1900, and took a leading part while a member in drafting and securing the adoption of important legislation relating to the city. His experience upon the board of canvassers led to his appointment in 1900 as chairman of a commission to revise the ward lines of the city of Providence.

He was chairman of the Rhode Island Commission to the Jamestown Exposition of 1907.

In 1900 he was elected by the General Assembly Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Rhode Island, remaining in that office until his death, at Providence March 4, 1912.

An examination of his opinions in the Rhode Island Reports illustrates his thoroughness of research, his scholarship, capacity for work, and independence of judgment, especially in some of the dissenting opinions he delivered.

Besides his association with this Society, Judge Blodgett was a member of the Rhode Island Historical Society, the Rhode Island Society of Colonial Wars, and the Rhode Island Society of Sons of the American Revolution. He was also a corresponding member of The Colonial Society of Massachusetts, and contributed a paper upon "The Political Theory of the Mayflower Compact" to its Transactions in 1909.

He married first, March 28, 1883, Amelia Wilson Torrey, daughter of Moses Eddy and Amelia (Wilson) Torrey of Providence, by whom he had a son, Moses Torrey, who died soon after his birth, and a daughter, Gwendolen. On August 15, 1900, he married his second wife, Amy de Lacy Bemiss, daughter of Dr. Samuel Merrifield and Frances (Lockert) Bemiss of New Orleans, Louisiana, who survives him, with the daughter by his first wife, Gwendolen Blodgett.

NOTES ON THOMPSON FAMILIES OF CONNECTICUT

By DONALD LINES JACOBUS, M.A., of New Haven, Conn.

THE earlier generations of the Thompson families of East Haven and of New Haven have been confused, and the published accounts are inaccurate without exception. The principal reason for this is that three John Thompsons in succession flourished in each family. Furthermore, considerable confusion has arisen with regard to their wives, due to the fact that John, Sr., of New Haven married Ellen Harrison, while the widow of the first John of East Haven married Thomas Harrison for her second husband. Consequently, Ellen has been assigned indiscriminately to three separate Johns. The following account of the two families may help to straighten matters.

THE THOMPSON FAMILY OF EAST HAVEN

1. JOHN¹ THOMPSON, "farmer," of East Haven, apparently was not related to the three brothers who founded the New Haven family. According to Dod's East Haven Register, the name of his wife was Ellen, and this has been followed by every succeeding account, including that in the Tuttle Genealogy (1883). She is referred to merely as "the widow" in the County Court Records, where many of the early Probate entries are to be found; but in the unindexed second volume of Proprietors' Records is a passage (p. 185) which distinctly calls her DOROTHY. There is no reason for disputing the correctness of this record, especially as two of her children, Rebecca (Thompson) Thomas and Nathaniel Harrison, named a daughter Dorothy. John Thompson's estate was inventoried in 1655 (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 1, p. 58), and he probably died in that year. His widow was unmarried in February 1656 (Proprietors' Records, vol. 2, p. 185), but shortly thereafter married Thomas Harrison of Branford, as his first wife. By him she had two sons, Thomas Harrison, born 1 Mar. 1657, and Nathaniel Harrison, born 13 Dec. 1658. It would seem that she did not long survive, for on 29 Mar. 1666, Thomas Harrison married his second wife, Elizabeth Stent. On 27 Jan. 1671, the children of John Thompson, farmer, deceased, made application for the distribution of their father's estate, mentioning their "father-in-law" Thomas Harrison as its custodian. Their names are given as John the eldest son, Joseph, Hannah, Mary, Rebeckah, Abigaile and Sarah; and Mathew Moulthrop and John Cooper, Jr., acknowledge the receipt of their wives' portions (New Haven County Court Records, vol. 1, p. 36).

Children:

- i. HANNAH,² m. 26 June 1662, MATTHEW MOULTHROP, who d. 1691; d. 1681.
2. ii. JOHN.
- iii. MARY, m. 27 Dec. 1666, JOHN COOPER, bapt. 28 May 1642; d. Nov. 1714.

- vii. SARAH, b. 30 Apr. 1654; m. 24 Nov. 1678, ALLING BALL, b. 27 June 1656, d. 1710; d. 1716.

2. JOHN² THOMPSON (*John*¹), "farmer," of East Haven, married, 22 May 1666, PRISCILLA POWELL, daughter of Thomas, who died 18 Apr. 1726. He died 13 Feb. 1693. In his will of 13 Feb. 1693, probated June 1693, he mentions his wife, eldest son John, son Samuel, daughter Chidsey, and daughter Abigail (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 2, p. 136).

Children :

- i. JOHN,³ b. 6 Aug. 1667; called "farmer" and sergeant; m. MERCY MANSFIELD, dau. of Moses and Mercy (Glover), b. 2 Apr. 1667, d. 9 Jan. 1745, who m. - vi. ABIGAIL, b. 24 Feb. 1680; m. 8 Sept. 1698, DANIEL COLLINS, b. 28 May 1677.

3. JOSEPH² THOMPSON (*John*¹) removed to Wallingford, Conn., where he married first, about 1683, MRS. ELIZABETH (LATHROP) ROYCE, widow of Isaac, who was born in 1648, and in 1669 married Isaac Royce, who died in 1682. She died before 1690, when Joseph Thompson is referred to as father-in-law of the Royce children (County Court Records, vol. 1, p. 178). He married secondly, 22 Nov. 1694, MERCY JACOB. In Feb. 1704, administration on the estate of Joseph Thomson of Wallingford, deceased, was granted to Mr. John Moss and to Joseph Thomson, son of the deceased; and the estate was distributed to the widow Mercy, and to Joseph, John, and Hannah (County Court Records, vol. 2, p. 151).

Children :

- i. JOSEPH,³ b. abt. 1683; called Captain; m. 9 Feb. 1710, HANNAH CLARK, who d. 17 Aug. 1763; d. 7 Nov. 1756. This line was continued through his only son, Samuel.⁴
- ii. JOHN, b. 1 Feb. 1685; m. 23 June 1710, SARAH CULVER, who d. 26 July 1751; d. 1763. He left descendants, who lived at Wallingford and Goshen, through his sons, Abel,⁴ John, and Joseph.
- iii. HANNAH, b. 16 Apr. 1687; m. 1 Mar. 1706, SAMUEL THORPE of Wallingford, b. 13 Feb. 1682; d. after 1742.

THE THOMPSON FAMILY OF NEW HAVEN.

The New Haven family of Thompson was founded by three brothers, William, Anthony, and John. An attempt has been made to connect them with the Thompson family of Lenham, co. Kent, England. This Lenham myth has been set forth as a certainty in the History of Goshen (by A. G. Hibbard, 1897), in the Marks-Platt Ancestry (by E. J. Lines, 1902, pp. 46-50), and in several other accounts, and so far as known has never been refuted. Henry Thompson of Royton in Lenham married Dorothy Hony wood, and died 20 Oct. 1648, leaving, with other issue, sons John, William, and Anthony. The coincidence of names would seem promising, and it is not strange that somebody hastily conjectured their identity with the emigrants, but investigation overthrows the theory. According to William Berry's Pedigrees of the Families in the County of Kent (published in 1830, pp. 15-17), Anthony Thompson of Lenham was baptized 30 Aug. 1612, and died in England 13 Feb. 1682, leaving as heiress an only daughter. Moreover, John Thompson of Lenham was born in 1604, too early for John of New Haven, who was probably the youngest of the emigrant brothers. The Lenham brothers had three cousins, sons of Thomas Thompson of Pethem, co. Kent, likewise named John, William, and Anthony; but this John was a knight, and died in 1645 without issue. Furthermore, the evidence of chronology tends to show that the emigrants could not descend from Henry of Lenham or Thomas of Pethem in the following generation. At all events, the accepted pedigree must be abandoned.

1. WILLIAM¹ THOMPSON died unmarried in New Haven 24 Apr. 1683. In his will of 6 Oct. 1682 he calls himself "far stricken in years," and mentions his nephews Benjamin Broadly and brother Abraham Broadly; nephew John Thompson, son of brother Anthony; cousin John Thompson, Jr., son of nephew John abovesaid; cousin William Thompson, son of nephew John abovesaid; cousin Mary Lynes; sister Ellen Thompson; cousins Mary Lynes, Anna Broadlye, and Elizabeth Broadlye, daughters of sister Ellen Thompson; Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Benjamin Broadlye; and cousins Bridgett Bowers, Ama Stanton, and Lydia Cruttenden (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 1, p. 192).

2. ANTHONY¹ THOMPSON died Sept. 1648. In his will of 23 Mar. 1647 he mentions his eldest son; second son, Anthony; daughter Bridget which he had by former wife; other daughters; wife; and brothers William and John (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 1, p. 33). He married first _____; and secondly KATHARINE _____, who married for her second husband, 14 July 1652, Nicholas Camp of Milford. The Proprietors' records contain several references to payment of portions to Anthony's children, by "Kattern Camp," the children mentioned being John, Hannah, Liddia, Ebenezer, Anthony, and Bridget (Proprietors' Records, vol. 2, pp. 91, 98, 114, 229).

Children by first wife:

4. i. JOHN.²
- ii. ANTHONY, b. Dec. 1634; d. at Milford 29 Dec. 1654. In his will of 26 Dec. 1654 he names his brother John Thompson; his eldest sister, his father's daughter by his own mother; and his sisters, daughters of his father by his mother-in-law, goodwife Camp (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 1, p. 55).
- iii. BRIDGET, m. REV. JOHN BOWERS of Derby, who d. 14 June 1687; d. 19 May 1720.

Children by second wife:

- iv. HANNAH, bapt. 8 June 1645; m. _____ STANTON.
 - v. LYDIA, bapt. 24 July 1647; m. (1) 20 Sept. 1665, ISAAC CRUTTENDEN of Guilford; m. (2) Dea. JOHN MEIGS; d. Dec. 1729.
 5. vi. EBENEZER (posthumous), b. 15 Oct. 1648.
3. JOHN¹ THOMPSON, called "Senior" to distinguish him from his nephew the "Mariner," married, 25 Feb. 1650, ELLEN HARRISON, probably a sister of the Thomas Harrison who married the widow of John Thompson of East Haven. He died 14 Dec. 1674, and on 9 June 1675 "Ellin ye relict" presented the inventory of his estate, which was distributed to herself, to Samuel Lines in right of Mary his wife, to Abraham Bradlye in right of Hanna his wife, to Elizabeth, and to "the younger daughter" (County Court Records, vol. 1, p. 86). His widow died 8 Apr. 1690, and in her will of Oct. 1689 she mentions her daughters Mary, Hannah, and Elizabeth, her sons-in-law Abraham and Benjamin Bradlye, and her grandchild Sarah daughter of her daughter Elizabeth (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 2, p. 41).

Children :

- i. MARY,² b. 24 Apr. 1652; m. (1) Nov. 1674, SAMUEL LINES, b. Apr. 1649, d. 1692; m. (2) JOHN HITCHCOCK of Wallingford, who d. 6 July 1716; m. (3) 18 Apr. 1717, SAMUEL CLARK.
 - ii. ANNE, or HANNAH, b. 22 Sept. 1654; m. 25 Dec. 1673, ABRAHAM BRADLEY, b. 24 Oct. 1650, d. 19 Oct. 1718; d. 26 Oct. 1718.
 - iii. ELIZABETH, b. 3 June 1657; m. 29 Oct. 1677, BENJAMIN BRADLEY, b. 8 Apr. 1657, d. 1728; d. 3 Nov. 1718.
 - iv. LYDIA, b. 13 Mar. 1664; evidently "the younger daughter" referred to in 1675; d. before 1689 and probably before 1682, as she is not mentioned in her uncle William's will.
 - v. SARAH, b. 25 Mar. 1667; d. 1669.
4. JOHN² THOMPSON (2. *Anthony*¹), called "Mariner," has usually been assigned a wife Ellen or Hellena (cf. History of Goshen, and Genealogical History of Connecticut, 1911, p. 1000). This is an error, and the only wife of John who appears on record was ANNE VICARS, or VICARIS. On 25 Feb. 1657, John Tompson entered an action against the estate of John Roberts, part of which was then in the hands of Mr. Wakeman, on the ground that there had been a treaty of marriage betwixt the said John Roberts and Ann Vicars (now wife to the said John Tompson), and that her former betrothed had by word of mouth left his estate to Ann (Hoadley, Records of the Jurisdiction of New Haven, vol. 2, p. 198). It should be noted that John Wakeman's wife, Elizabeth Hopkins, had a first cousin Ann, daughter of Walter Vicaris (see the will of William Hopkins of Bewdley, Worcestershire, given in the Wakeman Genealogy, p. 30). John Tompson died 2 June 1707, and the inventory of "Mr. John Tompson, Marriner, late decd," was presented 28 Oct. 1707 (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 3, p. 116). In the absence of any distribution of the estate, it is difficult to place his daughters with certainty. Most of his land had been deeded in the later years of his life to his sons John, Joseph, Samuel, and William (New Haven Deeds, vols. 2 and 3). There is no difficulty in identifying the first three, but there seems to have been considerable misapprehension as to the identity of William. This problem is considered below under William Tompson (no. 9). There is no proof that Ann Vicars was mother of all the children, but no other wife has been found.

Children :

6. i. JOHN,³ b. 12 May 1657.
- ii. ANNE, m. 10 May 1688, CALEB CHIDSEY of East Haven, b. 20 Nov. 1661, d. 1713; she d. before 6 July 1693, when Caleb m. his second wife, Hannah Dickerman. She left no children; and there is no reason for assuming that she was daughter of "John the mariner," except that it is difficult to place her anywhere else, and it seems natural that he should have a daughter named for her mother. Perhaps she is identical with the unnamed child (iv.) below.

7. iii. JOSEPH, b. 4 Apr. 1664.
 - iv. A CHILD, b. Sept. 1667.
 8. v. SAMUEL, b. 12 May 1669.
 - vi. SARAH, b. 16 Jan. 1672; m. 25 Nov. 1702, JOHN MIX, b. 25 Aug. 1676, d. 10 Dec. 1721; d. 21 Nov. 1711.
 9. vii. WILLIAM, b. 17 Jan. 1674.
 - viii. MARY, b. 16 May 1678.
5. EBENEZER² THOMPSON (2. *Anthony*¹), born 15 Oct. 1648, settled at Guilford, Conn., where he died in 1676. He married, June 1671, DEBORAH DUDLEY, born 20 Sept. 1647, died before 1682, who married secondly Thomas Scranton of Guilford. In his will of 16 Aug. 1676 (inventory taken 6 Nov. 1676) he called himself about 28 years old, and named his wife Deborah, son John, and two brethren, John Tompson and Isaac Cruttenden (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 1, pt. 2, p. 65). On 14 June 1682 is the following record of the estate of Ebenezer Thompson: "the relict (afterwards married to Thomas Scranton, but since deceased) leaving a child of her first husband's (called John Thompson) in his minority, now about eight years old, the court appoints skipper John Thompson of New Haven, Isaac Cruttenden and Joseph Dudley of Guilford, guardians" (New Haven County Court Records, vol. 1, p. 135).

Children:

- i. JABEZ,³ b. 16 Oct. 1672; d. young.
 10. ii. JOHN, b. Nov. 1674.
6. LIEUT. JOHN⁸ THOMPSON (John,² *Anthony*¹), born 12 May 1657, married, 9 May 1682, REBECCA DANIEL, daughter of Stephen and Anna (Gregson), who was born 30 Jan. 1657, and appears to have been living as late as 1749. According to his gravestone, he died 15 Nov. 1711. Administration on his estate was granted 18 Dec. 1711, to the widow Rebecah and to Daniell Thomson, son of the deceased (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 3, p. 301). The estate was divided to the widow, Daniel the eldest son, Anne, Rebeckah, Elisabeth, John, and Anthony (Ibid., vol. 4, p. 55).

Children:

- i. ANN,⁴ b. 20 Mar. 1683; m. 4 May 1711, THOMAS IVES of North Haven, b. 22 Aug. 1683, d. 5 May 1767. Their descendants removed to Great Barrington, Mass.
11. ii. DANIEL, b. 31 Oct. 1685.
- iii. REBECCA, bapt. 24 Apr. 1689; m. 20 Dec. 1716, CALEB MIX, b. 27 Sept. 1687, d. 30 Jan. 1765; d. 3 Dec. 1760.
- iv. ELIZABETH, bapt. 26 Apr. 1693; m. 31 Jan. 1716, JOHN BASSETT; d. 3 Sept. 1756.
- v. JOHN, b. 15 Oct. 1696; d. after 1712, without issue. On 22 July 1733, Thomas and Ann Ives, Caleb and Rebeckah Mix, John and Elizabeth Bassett, and Anthony Thompson deeded to their brother Daniel Thompson all right in their father Thompson's and brother John Thompson's estates (New Haven Deeds, vol. 29, p. 520).
- vi. ANTHONY, b. 22 Sept. 1700; resided at Mt. Carmel; m. (1) 20 Apr. 1727, SARAH PECK, b. 21 Mar. 1705; m. (2) SARAH PARDEE, b. 5 Nov. 1719; d. abt. 1786. On 27 Apr. 1763, Anthony and Sarah Thompson deeded land that their two brothers, Ebenezer and Benjamin Pardee, quitclaimed to Sarah (New Haven Deeds, vol. 26, p. 232). In his will of 23 Feb. 1769 he named his present wife, and his kinsman Anthony son of John Thompson (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 15, p. 83). He evidently left no issue, and during his lifetime deeded much of his property to his grandnephew Anthony (New Haven and Hamden Deeds).

7. JOSEPH³ THOMPSON (John,² *Anthony*¹) of West Haven, born 4 Apr. 1664, died 14 Dec. 1711 (gravestone record). He was a sergeant, and received by deed his father's West Haven property. He married, 2 Feb. 1697, ELIZABETH SMITH, daughter of John and Grace (Winston), who was born 1 Aug. 1675, and died 14 Nov. 1743 (gravestone record, West Haven). Administration on the estate of "Clark" Joseph Thompson was granted to his widow 6 May 1712 (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 4, p. 36). The children's names are given as Anna, aged 14, Joseph, aged 9, Stephen, aged 5, and Jonathan, aged 3. An interesting deed granting a right of way, dated 1 Feb. 1770, names grantors Daniel Thomas, Asa Smith, Jonathan Thompson, Ebenezer Humphrevile and wife Esther, John Johnson, Jr., and wife Mabel, Moses Pardee and wife Mary, Titus Beecher and wife Elizabeth, Bethia and Jeduthan Thompson, and Benajah Thomas (New Haven Deeds, vol. 30, p. 434). All of these, except the two Thomases, were heirs of Joseph Thompson through his sons Joseph and Stephen.

Children :

- i. ANNA,⁴ b. 17 Feb. 1697; m. 3 Feb. 1726, EBENEZER CLARK, b. 5 Aug. 1695; d. before 1761.
 12. ii. JOSEPH, b. 5 Mar. 1703.
 13. iii. STEPHEN, b. 3 Dec. 1705.
 - iv. JONATHAN, b. 3 Apr. 1709; d. 31 Jan. 1725 (gravestone, West Haven).
 - v. EBENEZER (posthumous), b. 21 June 1712; m. 20 Mar. 1734, ESTHER STEVENS, dau. of Thomas and Amy (Smith), b. 17 May 1715. The births of three children are recorded to them at New Haven: Ebenezer,⁵ 15 Jan. 1735; John, 18 Feb. 1737; Amy, 23 July 1739. The family removed to Scituate, Mass. On 20 Oct. 1756, Ebenezer Thompson, clerk, of Scituate, Mass., deeded land in West Haven (New Haven Deeds, vol. 20, p. 203).
8. SAMUEL³ THOMPSON (John,² *Anthony*¹), born 12 May 1669, died 26 Mar. 1749. He was a captain, and lived at Westville, but purchased property at Goshen, Conn., where several of his sons settled. He married, 14 Nov. 1695, REBECCA BISHOP, daughter of James and Elizabeth (Tompkins), who was born 10 Dec. 1673, and died 5 Apr. 1734 (gravestone record).

Children :

- i. SAMUEL,⁴ b. 2 Dec. 1696; m. 20 Jan. 1719, ESTHER ALLING, dau. of Samuel and Sarah (Chidsey), b. 10 Jan. 1699; removed to Goshen, and later to Stanford, N. Y. Children, recorded at New Haven: Elizabeth,⁵ b. 17 Oct. 1719; Samuel, b. 15 Dec. 1722; Sarah, b. 22 Apr. 1725; Esther, b. 3 May 1728.
14. ii. JAMES, b. 5 June 1699.
- iii. AMOS, b. 3 Mar. 1702; m. 7 Sept. 1726, SARAH ALLING, dau. of Samuel and Sarah (Sackett), b. 25 Apr. 1702; removed to Stanford, N. Y., and lines of descent from him are given in American Ancestry (vol. 2, pp. 51, 126). Children, recorded at New Haven: Alling,⁵ b. 2 June 1727; Rebecca, b. 28 Apr. 1729; Amos, b. 7 Aug. 1731.
- iv. DEA. GIDEON, b. 25 Dec. 1704; m. 9 Jan. 1729, LYDIA PUNDERSON, dau. of Thomas and Lydia (Bradley), b. 1 Mar. 1708. He removed to Goshen, and d. at Hartford, Mar. 1759, while a Representative there. Children recorded at New Haven: Elisha,⁵ b. 23 Oct. 1729;

David, b. 1 Dec. 1731; Stephen, b. 20 Apr. 1734; Lydia, b. 16 Oct. 1736; Gideon, b. 5 Apr. 1739. His descendants are given in the History of Goshen.

- v. REBECCA, b. 23 Feb. 1708; m. 11 Feb. 1731, DAVID AUSTIN, b. 25 Oct. 1703, d. 28 Aug. 1759; d. 26 Feb. 1739.
- vi. JUDAH, b. 10 June 1711; d. 1 Aug. 1712.
- vii. JUDAH, b. 5 Oct. 1713. On 16 Aug. 1745, Samuel³ Thompson deeded land to his son Judah, of New Haven (New Haven Deeds, vol. 12, p. 440), but what became of him afterwards has not been ascertained. In the Second Congregational Church Records the marriage is recorded, 14 Feb. 1759, of a Judah Thompson to Sarah Morris, who was b. 15 Mar. 1737, the town records giving the birth of a daughter Rebecca in 1760, and the church records a son Judah, bapt. in 1764.
- viii. ENOS, b. 18 Aug. 1717; m. 2 Apr. 1741, SARAH HITCHCOCK. On 20 May 1752, Enos Thompson "of Smithfield in the great nine partners in Dutchis County in ye province of New York" deeded land to Hannah Thompson of New Haven (New Haven Deeds, vol. 17, p. 57). Children, recorded at New Haven: Israel,⁵ b. 7 Mar. 1742; Rebecca, b. 30 June 1744; Enos, b. 26 July 1746; Jesse, b. 14 Nov. 1749. A grandson, according to the Tuttle Genealogy (p. 704), was Enos Thompson Throop, governor of New York.

9. WILLIAM⁹ THOMPSON (John,² *Anthony*¹) was born 17 Jan. 1674. That "John the mariner" had a son William is proved by two deeds to the latter, and by mention of him in the will of William¹ Thompson (no. 1) in 1682; but there has been considerable doubt as to his identity, as there were two Williams who could be eligible. One, called William, Sr., was a man of some importance, is called "joiner" and "surveyor" in deeds, and frequently had "Mr." prefixed to his name; he married in 1682 Joanna Daniel, widow of John Glover, and died in 1741. The other, called William, Jr., married before 1708 Martha ———, and died in 1717. The obvious theory is that William, "Sr.," was one of the oldest sons of John, and that William, "Jr.," was son of William "Sr.," but this hypothesis, which is generally accepted, proves untenable. The chronology of William, Sr.'s, recorded family leaves no room for the birth of a son William. Moreover, William, Sr., deeded no land to William, Jr., nor did he mention him or his heirs in his will, wherein he made careful provision for his sons. Nor do the heirs of William, Jr., appear in deeds in which all the heirs of William, Sr., appear; but there is positive evidence to prove that William, Jr., was son of John the mariner. First: William, son of John Thompson, was born 17 Jan. 1674, which is much too late for the birth of William, Sr.; secondly: John the mariner deeded to his son William, along with other land, one-third part of his whole division and tract of land (1702), which property was afterwards (1707) deeded away by William Thompson, husbandman (New Haven Deeds, vol. 3, pp. 21, 34), showing that John's son William was a farmer, whereas William, Sr., always appears as joiner or surveyor; thirdly: the other land deeded by John the mariner to his son William (New Haven Deeds, vol. 3, pp. 21, 22) is to be found mentioned in the inventory of William, Jr. (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 6, p. 1); and finally: Caleb Thompson, who is known to be a son of William, Jr., deeded land that was laid out to his father William Thompson, deceased, and other land that was laid out to his grandfather John Thompson, deceased (New Haven Deeds, vol. 8, p. 331). The only question that could remain is whether, as sometimes happened, John could have had two sons named William, but the evidence is against it, for in John's deed to William he is referred to as his "son William." Also, the will of William¹ Thompson (no. 1), wherein he mentioned his "cousin William, son of nephew John," would have distinguished between them if there had been two sons named William.

William, Jr., who died 13 Mar. 1717, married MARTHA _____, who died after 1755. His estate was not settled until 1730 (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 6, p. 1).

Children :

- i. CALEB,⁴ b. 15 Sept. 1708. On 7 Nov. 1726, he chose Capt. Samuel Thomson his guardian (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 5, p. 320). He removed to Waterbury, where he m. 16 Aug. 1731, RERECCA HICKOX. Children: 1. Sibyl,⁵ b. 8 Apr. 1732; m. Bartholomew Williams. 2. William, b. 5 Feb. 1735; d. 1760. 3. Rachel, b. 22 Dec. 1737; m. 5 Apr. 1760, Jediah Turner.
 - ii. MARTHA, b. Feb. 1710; m. 19 Apr. 1732, STEPHEN AUSTIN, b. 1 Jan. 1706, d. 29 Sept. 1787; d. 22 Dec. 1769.
 - iii. LIEUT. ABRAHAM, b. June 1711; m. 9 Nov. 1732, MARY ALLING, daughter of Samuel and Sarah (Sackett), b. 6 Feb. 1707, d. 8 Feb. 1788 (gravestone record); d. 2 Sept. 1774 (gravestone record). He had, probably with other issue, children: 1. Abraham,⁵ bapt. 13 June 1738; d. 12 Dec. 1739 (gravestone record). 2. Abraham, b. 28 Aug. 1740; m. (1) 13 June 1758, Rachel Warner; m. (2) 8 Nov. 1770, Hannah Brown; left issue. 3. Isaac, b. 19 Aug. 1743; m. (1) 14 Nov. 1765, Elizabeth Thompson (no. 15, i), b. 5 July 1742, d. 8 Jan. 1788; m. (2) Sarah Thompson; left female issue; d. 13 Sept. 1824. 4. Jacob, b. 7 Oct. 1745; m. 30 Aug. 1772, Esther Mansfield, b. 2 Nov. 1746, d. 25 July 1828 (Columbian Register); left issue. 5. Mary, b. 3 May 1748; m. 26 Apr. 1770, Nathaniel Fitch. 6. (perhaps) Martha, bapt. 5 Nov. 1733.
 - iv. SARAH, b. 1 Oct. 1717 (posthumous); m. 12 June 1755, MATTHEW GILBERT, b. 21 Feb. 1722, d. 2 July 1795.
10. JOHN⁸ THOMPSON (Ebenezer,² *Anthony*¹), born at Guilford Nov. 1674, removed to Branford, where he married, 23 Apr. 1702, HANNAH WHEDON, daughter of Thomas of Branford, who was born 21 July 1674. Several accounts, including the History of Goshen, state that after the death of Hannah he went to Wallingford, and married Sarah Culver in 1710, but the John who married Sarah Culver belonged to the East Haven family (no. 3, ii), and there is ample evidence that John of Branford was still living there as late as 1726 (County Court Records, vol. 3, p. 206). Whether he had another wife is not known, but by Hannah he had
- Children :
- i. DEBORAH,⁴ b. 9 Mar. 1703.
 - ii. THANKFUL, b. 7 July 1705; m. WILLIAM FANCHER of Waterbury, who d. 20 Aug. 1759; d. 19 Aug. 1759. William and Thankful Fancher of Waterbury deeded right to land from grandfather Thomas Whedon of Branford, dec'd, by mother Hannah Thomson, dec'd, daughter to said Whedon (Branford Deeds, vol. 7, p. 516).
11. ENS. DANIEL⁴ THOMPSON (John,⁸ John,² *Anthony*¹), born 31 Oct. 1685, lived in the parish of Amity, now the town of Woodbridge, Conn. He married, 16 Jan. 1717, MARY BALL, daughter of John and Sarah (Glover), born 22 Oct. 1694, died 11 May 1776, aged 82 (gravestone record, Woodbridge). He died 26 Nov. 1766 (gravestone record, New Haven), and his will of 10 Apr. 1758, proved

Mar. 1767, referred to his father John Thompson, deceased, and named his wife Mary, eldest son John, sons James, Jabez, Daniel, and Eliphalet, daughter Ann, and granddaughter Mabel the daughter of his son John. His wife, and sons James and Daniel, are named as executors; but Mary and Daniel appeared and refused the trust (James seems to have died), so administration was granted to the son Jabez of Derby (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 10, p. 283).

Children :

- i. ANN,⁵ b. 4 Nov. 1717; d. at Woodbridge abt. 1790. In her will of 27 July 1790, proved 16 Aug. 1790, she mentioned her father Daniel Thompson, deceased, and left her property to her nephew Thaddeus Thompson (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 16, p. 647).
 15. ii. JOHN, b. 16 May 1719.
 - iii. JAMES, b. 20 June 1721; living in 1758, but apparently d. before 1767.
 - iv. MABEL, b. 6 Dec. 1723; not named in her father's will.
 - v. DANIEL, b. 27 Oct. 1725; d. 11 Dec. 1727.
 16. vi. JABEZ, b. 3 July 1727.
 - vii. EUNICE, b. 21 Oct. 1729; not named in her father's will.
 - viii. DANIEL, b. 30 Dec. 1731; m. 17 Sept. 1761, MARY CARRINGTON (Woodbridge Church Records), who was bapt. 11 May 1740 (First Congregational Church Records). On 5 Apr. 1768, Daniel Thompson of Farmington deeded to his brother John and sister Ann of New Haven, and brother Jabez of Derby, all right in Amity from his father (New Haven Deeds, vol. 29, p. 402). He appears to have returned to Woodbridge from Farmington, for in 1785 he deeded land to his son Thaddeus (Woodbridge Deeds, vol. 1, p. 77).
 - ix. ELIPHALET, b. 25 Mar. 1734; d. before Dec. 1760, when administration on his estate was granted to his brother Daniel, Jr. (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 9, p. 438).
 - x. LOIS, b. 22 Apr. 1736; not named in her father's will.
 - xi. JOEL, b. 23 Nov. 1737; not named in his father's will.
12. JOSEPH⁴ THOMPSON (Joseph,³ John,² *Anthony*¹), born 5 Mar. 1703, lived at West Haven. He married, 15 May 1728, HANNAH SMITH, daughter of Nathan and Hannah (Brown), a first cousin of his mother's. He died 5 July 1745 (gravestone record, West Haven), and on 16 July 1745 administration on his estate was granted to the widow, Hannah (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 6, p. 629). In 1759, the estate of Ens. Joseph Thompson was divided to the widow, and surviving children (the eldest son being dead without issue) Jeduthan and Mabel Thompson, Esther Humphreville, and Mary Thompson (Ibid., vol. 9, pp. 227, 256). In Feb. 1770, administration on the estate of Hannah, late widow of Joseph Thompson, was granted to her son Jeduthan (Ibid., vol. 11, pp. 52, 67).

Children :

- i. A SON,⁵ d. shortly after his father, without issue.
- ii. MABEL, m. JOHN JOHNSON, b. 17 May 1732, d. after 1792. They appear in the deed mentioned under Joseph³ (no. 7). In another deed, dated 26 Dec. 1767, Hannah Thompson deeded to her son Jeduthan land bounded east on land of dau. Mabel Johnson (New Haven Deeds, vol. 30, p. 390).
- iii. ESTHER, b. abt. 1732; m. 25 July 1754, EBENEZER HUMPHREVILLE, b. 29 July 1726, d. 6 Feb. 1802; d. 24 Sept. 1710. Their descendants lived at Orange and Woodbridge, and changed their name to Umberfield.
- iv. MARY, m. MOSES PARDEE. On 17 June 1768, Moses Pardee and wife Mary deeded land in West Haven to their brother Jeduthan Thompson (New Haven Deeds, vol. 30, p. 327).

- v. JEDUTHAN, m. THANKFUL BEARDSLEY; killed 5 July 1779, by the British. Children: 1. Desire,⁶ b. 18 Feb. 1771. 2. Thankful, b. 25 July 1772; m. - x. MARY, bapt. 26 July 1772; m. 12 Dec. 1795, WILLIAM HOTCHKISS.

THE WILLIAM THOMPSON FAMILY

1. WILLIAM¹ THOMPSON of New Haven, called "Sr.," has generally been considered a son of "John the mariner," of the foregoing family. Under William³ Thompson (no. 9, preceding), I have stated the facts that invalidate that claim. Since three of his daughters married Stratford men, it might be conjectured that he sprang from the Thompson family of that town, but there seems to be no place for him there. His early appearance in New Haven, the name William, and the fact that his wife's sister married a son of John the mariner, all tend to connect him with the New Haven family, though there seems to be no place for him there, and for the present he is left unplaced.

He is called joiner and surveyor in deeds, and the County Court Records show that he was frequently called on for jury duty and for surveying. He was styled "Mr.," and was appointed Master of the Excise for New Haven County (County Court Records, vol. 2, p. 394; p. 486 in the modern copy). On 28 Dec. 1682, he married Mrs. JOANNA (DANIEL) GLOVER, daughter of Stephen and Anna (Gregson), and widow of John, born 1 Sept. 1652. She married first, 7 Dec. 1671, John Glover, who was baptized 8 Oct. 1648, and died 29 Jan. 1679, by whom she had four children, two of whom also married in Stratford.

William¹ died before 6 Apr. 1741, when (the person nominated in the will being dead) administration on his estate was granted to Josiah Thompson. In his will of 2 July 1728 he named his wife Joanna, and daughters Jane, Abigail, and Sarah; his son Josiah was to be provided for by deed, and Stephen had been given his portion, so Benjamin was to receive the residue. His wife and son Benjamin were named executors (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 6, p. 329).

Children:

- i. JANE,² b. 29 Oct. 1683; m. 22 Dec. 1707, JOHN MOSS of Stratford, b. 7 Jan. 1677, d. 1724; d. 28 Sept. 1743.
- ii. ABIGAIL, b. 18 Oct. 1685; m. 11 Dec. 1707, RICHARD HUBBELL of Stratford, b. 25 Jan. 1684.
- iii. MARY, b. 13 Sept. 1687; m. 4 Mar. 1708, JOHN HITCHCOCK, b. 28 Jan. 1685, d. 14 Oct. 1753; d. 27 Feb. 1709.
2. iv. JOSIAH, b. 31 Dec. 1689.
- v. SARAH, bapt. 19 Jan. 1692; m. (1) 15 Nov. 1715, TIMOTHY FAIRCHILD of Stratford, b. 9 Dec. 1687, d. 23 Nov. 1726; m. (2) 12 July 1729, ENS. WILLIAM PEAT, b. 1 May 1694, d. 1761.

- vi. STEPHEN, b. 12 July 1695; d. unm. 6 Aug. 1732 (gravestone record). On 6 Apr. 1733, administration on the estate was granted to Josiah Thompson, brother of the deceased (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 6, p. 107). On 29 May 1739, Richard and Abigail Hubbell, William and Sarah Peat, and Jane Moss of Stratford, and John Hitchcock, Jr., of New Haven, coheirs of the estate of Stephen Thompson, deceased, deeded to John Umphrevile their right in land where their aforesaid deceased brother lived, and since his death conveyed by their brother Josiah Thompson to said John Umphrevile (New Haven Deeds, vol. ii, p. 45).
- vii. BENJAMIN, b. 12 July 1698; d. unm. 20 Sept. 1734 (gravestone record).
2. JOSIAH² THOMPSON (*William*¹), born 31 Dec. 1689, died 5 May 1774 (First Congregational Church Records). He married (not recorded) ELIZABETH MILES, daughter of Lieut. Richard and Hannah (Easton), who was born 10 Sept. 1695. She is called Elizabeth Thompson in her father's will, dated 24 Jan. 1756 (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 8, p. 560). The death of Elizabeth, wife of Josiah Thompson, aged 75, is recorded in the First Congregational Church Records, 1 Mar. 1771. It is difficult to trace his children.
- Children:
- i. MARY,^a m. 24 Aug. 1738, DANIEL TALMADGE. Her place in the family seems likely from the names of her children: William, Josiah, and Elizabeth.
- ii. ELIZABETH, m. 23 Nov. 1740, TIMOTHY ANDREWS, b. 1 Apr. 1713, d. 1742. Timothy Thompson was guardian to her son Elijah (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 9, p. 165).
- iii. TIMOTHY. On 12 June 1762, Josiah Thompson deeded land to his son Timothy (New Haven Deeds, vol. 26, p. 391).
- iv. SARAH, m. Aug. 1760, RICHARD HOOD. On 23 Feb. 1771, Josiah Thompson deeded land to his son-in-law Richard Hood (New Haven Deeds, vol. 31, p. 377).

THE SOLOMON JOHNSON FAMILY

By MRS. ELLWOOD D. KIMBALL of Wichita, Kans.

1. SOLOMON¹ JOHNSON, whose parentage and ancestry have not been found, was in Sudbury, Mass., 3 Feb. 1639, when his twin sons, Joseph and Nathaniel, were born. His wife, Elinor, whose parentage and ancestry are unknown, was certainly the mother of an older son, John (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 20, p. 697, wherein Elinor calls John her son), born 1629 or "thereabout," and probably the mother of the oldest son, Solomon, born 1627 or "thereabout" (deposition, Middlesex Co. Court Files, Apl. Session, 1686, Stone vs Bemis). He was an original proprietor of Sudbury, having received twenty-eight acres in the first, second, and third divisions of land (Sudbury Town Records, Bk. 1, pp. 21 and 52). He was made freeman after his son Solomon took the oath in 1645.* Having bought land in the Great River Meadow, West Sudbury, in 1651, he is called "Taylor of Watertown" at the date of sale of that land (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 2, p. 45) in 1653, he then living at the "Watertown Farm or Cowpen" which he had leased on 1 Dec. 1651 for seven years, afterward extended two years. In 1658 he received a grant of one hundred thirty acres in the "two mile strip" of Sudbury, and later was voted ten acres more on account of the highway running through (Sudbury Records, p. 52). This "new grant" he deeded before it was laid out, 25 Apr. 1658, to Solomon, Jr., in consideration of his full and free surrender of three hundred acres bought of Mr. Stephen Day of Cambridge (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 3, p. 139).

* On Sudbury Town Records the name of "Solomon Johnson" appears in the list of "Names of those that take ye oath July 9, 1643 or 5." Under this list is the list of those who "took ye oath of fidelity since." "Solomon Johnson Senr" is second on this latter list, then in the same hand and ink "Junr" is written after "Solomon Johnson" of the first list.

He was an original proprietor of Marlborough, Mass., receiving a home lot of twenty-three acres, 1660 (REGISTER, vol. LXII, p. 227). Later he received one-seventh undivided part of eleven meadows, his share in these meadows being indicated in his will, except such as were alienated by deeds, viz., in 1683 about five acres, in which he is described as "Solomon Johnson Sr. Tailor," and in 1684 seven acres to his son John Johnson, in which Elinor relinquished her dower (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 14, p. 328; and vol. 20, p. 697). He was one of the selectmen of Marlborough 1661-65 (REGISTER LXII, pp. 336-39-41; and LXIII, 65, 118), and constable in 1663-4 (Ibid., pp. 59, 65, and 118). In 1663 his rate for the ministry in Marlborough was ten shillings, and that of his son John eleven shillings. In this connection note that in 1663 Solomon and John Johnson of "Mall-bury" were sued for rate due to the ministry in Watertown (Watertown Records, p. 80).

His death is entered briefly on the Marlborough Records, "Deacon Johnson died June 1687." His will (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. 10, p. 127), dated 28 Mar. 1685, and probated 12 Oct. 1687, provides for wife "Elenor" and son Nathaniel; and Nathaniel's three sons Joseph, Samuel, and John; mentions son Solomon, and recites giving him "long since" his portion; also son John, having already a portion; bequeaths the remainder of his estate to his "Sonne-in-law John Barnes"; and makes his "sonn's John Johnson, John Barnes Senr and Nathaniel Johnson Executors." The inventory of his estate totaled in land £100, and the dearth of personal estate, amounting only to £5, 16s., seems to indicate that at the time of his decease he was living with one of his children.

Children:

2. i. SOLOMON,² b. abt. 1627.
 3. ii. JOHN, b. abt. 1629.
 - iii. JOSEPH (twin), b. 3 Feb. 1639; m. 19 Nov. 1667, SUSANNAH ———; bur. Apr. 1668.
 4. iv. NATHANIEL (twin), b. 3 Feb. 1639.
 - v. JOHANNAH, b. 16 Feb. 1641; m. JOHN BARNES; d. 29 Oct. 1712.
 - vi. MARY, b. 23 Feb. 1643; m. WILLIAM TAYLOR; not mentioned in her father's will, though she d. 28 July 1697.
 - vii. CALEB, b. 1 Feb. 1645; "accidentally shot" near his father's house "in the liberties of Watertown, 4th 3, 1654," according to the coroner's jury.
2. SOLOMON² JOHNSON (*Solomon*¹), born about 1627, died at Sudbury 26 Aug. 1690. He was an early proprietor of Lancaster, Mass., for in 1652 he deeded his forty acres in "Nashaway Plantation" (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 1, p. 41) to Stephen Day for the three hundred acres (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 1, p. 42) exchanged in 1658 (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 13, p. 590) for his father's New Sudbury grant of one hundred forty acres, upon which last he probably lived. In 1664 he alienated a moiety of this one hundred forty acres (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 3, p. 325), but in 1685 possessed the seventy acres remaining, as a deed from Benjamin Crowe of Stowe to Joseph Rice of Marlborough recites that the land sold (originally that of John Wood, Sr., and John Rutter, Sr.) is bounded southward with land of Solomon Johnson, Junr. He married twice: first HANNAH ———, who died 4 June 1685; and secondly, 1 Feb. 1686-7, "HANNAH CREFTS of Natomy" (Watertown Records, p. 96), perhaps the Hannah Johnson who married Thomas Frost 9 July 1691. He died intestate, and his widow Hannah and son Caleb administered his estate (Middlesex Co. Probate, no. 12671).

Children, all born at Sudbury :

- i. SAMUEL,³ b. 6 Mar. 1654.
 - ii. HANNAH, b. 27 Apr. 1656; m. (1) GERSHOM EAMES, who d. at Watertown 25 Nov. 1676; m. (2) 4 Sept. 1679, WILLIAM WARD. (For children see Ward Family, 1851, p. 14.)
 5. iii. CALEB, b. 31 Oct. 1658.
3. JOHN² JOHNSON (*Solomon*¹), born about 1629, undoubtedly was with his parents in Sudbury as early as 1639. He removed to Lancaster in 1654 (Sudbury Records, Book B). He married, 19 Nov. 1657, DEBORAH WARD, daughter of William of Sudbury and Marlborough. On 27 Apr. 1658, his father deeded him one-half the three hundred acres bought of Mr. Stephen Day. He was an original proprietor of Marlborough, receiving sixty-eight acres in 1660, and swamp and meadow land in 1663 and '65. Deborah, his wife, died 9 Aug. 1697, aged 60; and he died at Marlborough 4 May 1713, intestate. No administration of his estate is found in Middlesex Co. Probate, but a deed dated 11 Feb. 1714 (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 17, p. 301) recites that Daniel Johnson of Marlborough is one of the children and heirs of John Johnson late of Marlborough, deceased, who was a son of Solomon Johnson, deceased, late of Marlborough but formerly of Sudbury and one of the primitive grantees of said Sudbury, and proceeds to quit claim "any remaining rights" of his father, John Johnson, in said Solomon's Sudbury real estate. Daniel signed the above also in behalf of his brother, John Johnson, and sister Elizabeth wife of Joseph Witherby. No record appears of any children born the first fifteen years of his marriage.

Children, recorded at Marlborough :

- i. JOHN,³ b. 21 Jan. 1672; d. 23 Dec. 1676, "scalded to death."
 6. ii. DANIEL, b. 5 Apr. 1675.
 - iii. ELIZABETH, b. 20 July 1677; m. 9 Feb. 1699, JOSEPH WITHERBY.
 - iv. DEBORAH, b. 22 Aug. 1678.
 - v. JOHN, b. 16 Feb. 1680; m. MARY ———.
4. NATHANIEL² JOHNSON (*Solomon*¹), born at Sudbury 3 Feb. 1639, died at Marlborough 24 July 1718. He married, 16 Nov. 1671, MARY PLIMPTON, daughter of John and Jane (Demant), born at Dedham 19 Apr. 1648, died at Marlborough 27 Nov. 1736. He received by will the major portion of his father's land, but could not alienate it since it was devised to his three sons, Joseph, Samuel, and John, who in Jan. 1704/5 joined in an instrument of partition of the same (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 20, p. 516).
- Children :
- i. JOSEPH,³ b. 5 (18, county rec.) Oct. 1672.
 - ii. SAMUEL, b. 28 Aug. 1674.
 - iii. MARY, b. 1675.

 - vii. JANE, b. 22 May 1687; d. 1688.
 - viii. ABIGAIL, b. 8 Nov. 1691; d. 1693.

5. CALEB⁸ JOHNSON (Solomon,² *Solomon*¹), born at Sudbury 31 Oct. 1658, died there 1 Dec. 1715. He married, 9 July 1684, AGNES BENT, daughter of Peter and Elizabeth of Sudbury and Marlborough, who died 4 June 1729. He with wife Agnes and sister Patience Bent conveyed in 1697 to Peter Bent their brother "any and all estate" of their late father Peter Bent of Marlborough (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 13, p. 578). Caleb Johnson with Thomas Brown and Thomas Drury bought the "Glover Farm" 17 June 1697. Caleb's estate was administered by the widow Agnes and sons Caleb and Solomon (Middlesex Co. Probate, no. 8938), and inventoried £567. Land which had belonged to the widow Agnes, on 6 Apr. 1730/1, was conveyed by Caleb Johnson of Framingham, Solomon Johnson of Sudbury, widow Hannah Burk of Stowe, Daniel Howe of Framingham, and Ebenezer Gleason of Framingham, all in the County of Middlesex, to their brother Charles Johnson, wheelwright of Sudbury, in consideration of £300. Caleb and Solomon Johnson's acknowledgment is dated Feb. 1756, in Worcester Co., Mass. (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 65, p. 64).

Children :

- i. HANNAH,⁴ b. at Sudbury 5 (25, county rec.) May 1685; m. 23 Dec. 1709, JONAS BURK.
 7. ii. CALEB, b. 18 Sept. 1687.
 8. iii. SOLOMON, b. 2 Nov. 1690.

 - v. ELIZABETH, m. 17 Dec. 1716, DANIEL HOWE.
 - vi. THANKFUL, b. at Sudbury 7 Feb. 1705/6; m. EBENEZER GLEASON.
6. DANIEL⁸ JOHNSON (John,² *Solomon*¹), born at Marlborough 5 Apr. 1675, married, 22 Dec. 1697, DOROTHY LAMB. He died 1721/2, and his widow Dorothy was appointed executrix, 27 Apr. 1722, his will being dated 11 Dec. 1721 (Middlesex Co. Probate, no. 12635).
- Children :
9. i. SOLOMON,⁴ b. 13 Oct. 1698.
 - ii. DEBORAH, b. 8 Mar. 1701; not named in her father's will.
 - iii. MARTHA, b. 6 Oct. 1702; m. at Shrewsbury, 30 Apr. 1728, ELISHA HEDGE; willed by her father £200.
 10. iv. ZEBEDIAH, b. 28 Apr. 1704.
 11. v. DANIEL, b. 23 Aug. 1709.
7. CALEB⁴ JOHNSON (Caleb,⁸ Solomon,² *Solomon*¹), born 18 Sept. 1687, received from his father's estate seventy-four acres of Framingham land. He with wife Dorothy joined the Sudbury church 8 Apr. 1722 (Sudbury Church Records). On 18 Mar. 1729 he and his brother Solomon sold their lands to Thomas Kendall. In 1732 he bought one hundred fifty acres in Worcester (Worcester Co. Deeds, vol. 3, p. 147, in which he is called "housewright of Framingham"), and in 1733 he was seated in the Worcester meeting house. After 1738 he bought several tracts of land in Shrewsbury, also "privilege of room for a pew in Shrewsbury meetinghouse" (Worcester Co. Deeds, vol. 20, p. 294; vol. 27, p. 398; and vol. 50, p. 527). In 1741 he was representative to the General Court. He married twice: first DOROTHY ———, who died at Shrewsbury 25 Jan. 1741⁵; and secondly, in 1743, ELIZABETH BRYANT of Sudbury. His will, made at Shrewsbury in 1766 (Worcester Co. Probate, no.

33290), names only his wife Elizabeth, daughter Martha Stone, and children of daughters Dorothy Wyman and Abigail Eager.

8. SOLOMON⁴ JOHNSON (Caleb,³ Solomon,² *Solomon*¹), born 2 Nov. 1690 (Middlesex Co. Probate, no. 8938), received as his share of his father's estate fifty-six acres south of his brother Caleb's, also land at "Beaver hole," "pod meadow," and "pine neck." He married at Sudbury, 6 June 1716, ABIGAIL GOODENOW, daughter of John, and 11 Feb. 1736/7 Solomon and Abigail Johnson of Worcester deeded all their interest in the estate of "our hon'd Father Mr. John Goodenow late of Sudbury" (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 49, p. 558). He was still "of Sudbury" when he deeded six acres in Framingham 4 May 1720 (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 25, p. 384). The brothers, Caleb⁴ and Solomon, appear to have been living side by side in Framingham when they sold to Thomas Kendall in 1729, for the deed recites the messuage contained two mansion houses, etc. (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 44, p. 450), but Solomon is styled "of Sudbury" when he joined in conveying his interest in his mother's estate, 6 Apr. 1730/1, and "of Sudbury, Yeoman," when he bought of Moses Rice, 20 Feb. 1731, one hundred acres in Worcester "near to a place Mt. Stearnes," known as Tatnick or Tatnuck (Worcester Co. Deeds, vol. 4, p. 571). In 1744 he bought of Samuel Waldo sixty acres lying west and adjoining the above (Worcester Co. Deeds, vol. 20, p. 83); and in 1754, 1755, 1765, and 1768 "Solomon Johnson, Yeoman of Worcester," deeded his sons Solomon, John, Joshua, and Samuel, respectively, one hundred forty acres of the above lands (Worcester Co. Deeds, vol. 36, pp. 37, 379; vol. 52, p. 44; and vol. 121, p. 341). In 1773 he was adjudged non compos upon the petition of his sons Daniel and Solomon, and the Court appointed Peter and Micah guardians. He died 9 Jan. 1782, and Abigail his wife died in Feb. 1784. Peter administered his estate (Worcester Co. Probate, no. 33687).

9. SOLOMON⁴ JOHNSON (Daniel,³ John,² *Solomon*¹), born at Marlborough 13 Oct. 1698, received by his father's will (1722) a lot of land in Shrewsbury, Mass., which was purchased of Samuel and Jotham Brigham. He was "of Shrewsbury, Gent," when he purchased fifty-five acres there 4 Apr. 1726 (Worcester Co. Deeds, vol. 28, p. 163), but was "of Leicester, Gent," in June 1730, when he bought of Jonathan Lamb and William Ward one hundred fifty-one acres in Leicester (Worcester Co. Deeds, vol. 3, p. 109). In 1733, '34, '36/7, and '39 he sold in all two hundred six acres of Shrewsbury land, and in each deed is styled "of Leicester, Gent," except in the deed dated 25 Dec. 1733, which adds "resident now in Worcester" (Worcester Co. Deeds, vol. 4, pp. 378, 702; vol. 7, p. 204; vol. 8, p. 281; and vol. 11, p. 498). The last deed of record was executed 5 Oct. 1739, and acknowledged in Medford, Middlesex Co. Neither marriage, birth of children, nor death appears to be of record in Worcester Co., but in 1733/4 he is mentioned in Worcester town records (vol. V).

of Benjamin. He served in the Revolution in Capt. Gates's Co., Col. Bigelow's Regt. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the Revolution, p. 820); and was a miller, and lived on that portion of the paternal estate formerly owned by his brother Joshua, on the corner of Pleasant and Mill Sts., Tatnuck village, where his son Clark, and afterward his grandson Clark, Jr., lived (the house still standing, 1910). His wife Abigail owned land in Princeton, dower from her first husband (Worcester Co. Deeds, vol. 71, p. 53). He suffered reverses (family tradition says through undersigning), and in 1784 "40 Acres with dwelling house, barn and grist mill thereon," with personal effects, were attached to satisfy a judgment issued to his brother Micah (Court of Common Pleas, June Term, 1784). His brother Peter and others also recovered judgments against him (Worcester Co. Deeds, vol. 83, p. 573; and vol. 91, pp. 592-5). In 1798 he was living with his son Benjamin, who administered his personal estate in 1802 (Worcester Co. Probate, no. 33321).

[The Rolfe family is of great antiquity in Wiltshire. At a manor-court at Urechfont, held 7 May 10 Richard II [1387], in a list of twenty-five tenants that delivered oaks from Coukwod, appears William Rolfe, credited with one trunk. (Wilts. Notes and Queries, vol. 4, p. 450.) Downton, Whiteparish, Plaitford, Landford, Redlinche, Wellow, etc., are close together in the extreme southeastern corner of Wiltshire, and about eight to ten miles southeast of Salisbury.

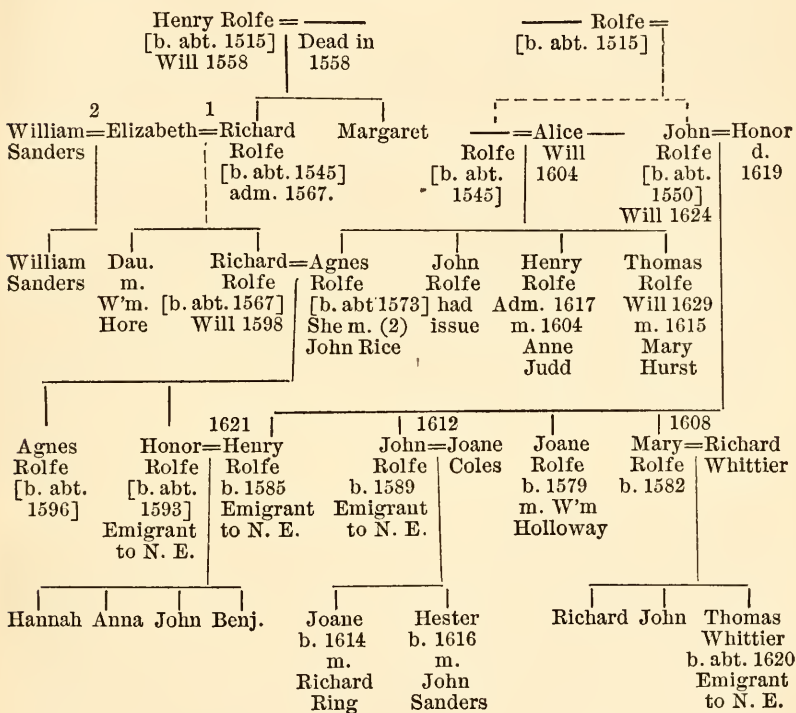

With only the data now at hand, all the persons in the foregoing wills and register entries cannot be grouped together; but it is certain that Henry Rolfe, baptized in 1585, and John Rolfe, baptized in 1589, sons of John Rolfe of Whiteparish, the testator of 1624/5, were the brothers who settled in New England about 1638; and it is also certain that their sister Mary Rolfe, wife of Richard Whittier of Sarum or Salisbury, England, was the mother of Thomas Whittier, who was born about 1620, came to New England in 1638 with his uncle John Rolfe, and became the progenitor of the Whittiers of America.

It is evident that it was Henry Rolfe, born in 1585 (and not John Rolfe, as erroneously recorded in the Whiteparish registers), who married in 1621 a kinswoman, Honor Rolfe; the latter was apparently the daughter of † Missing, most of the burials for 1634.

Richard Rolfe of Downton, the testator of 1598, by his wife Agnes Rolfe (daughter of the widow Alice Rolfe, the testator of 1604). This Agnes Rolfe married (secondly) John Rice. Thomas Rolfe, the testator of 1629, and Henry Rolfe, whose estate was administered in 1617, were probably brothers of this Agnes Rolfe. It is clear that the mother of Richard Rolfe, the testator of 1598, married (secondly) William Sanders; perhaps this Richard Rolfe was son of the Richard Rolfe whose estate was administered in 1567, the latter being son of Henry Rolfe, the testator of 1558. The following tentative pedigree shows the connections as suggested above:

[On pages 252-255 abstracts have been given of all the Whittier wills, administration acts, and administration bonds that are to be found in the Sarum (Salisbury) courts down to the time of the Commonwealth. There are no Whittier wills for this period in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury. The Whittier families in Downton, Landford, and Whiteparish, co. Wilts, were doubtless all closely connected with one another. Research among the wills at Winchester and an examination of the parish registers at Salisbury and of the transcripts for Landford (where the original registers do not extend farther back than 1671) would probably disclose the parentage of the Richard Whittier of Sarum (Salisbury) who married, 23 Jan. 1608/9, Mary, daughter of John Rolfe of Whiteparish, and was the father of Thomas Whittier, who came to New England in the Confidence in 1638, aged 18, as servant to his uncle John Rolfe. It is possible that Richard, father of the emigrant Thomas Whittier, was born about 1585 and was a son of that Richard who was a son of Henry Whittier of Landford, the testator of 1583/4.—E. F.]

PIKE ENTRY IN THE MARRIAGE REGISTERS OF SALISBURY CATHEDRAL
1611 Henry Pike and Elioner Sanders 20 May.

[Great Bedwin, Wilcot, Pewsey, Tidcomb, and Wooton Rivers are in eastern Wilts near Marlborough and about twenty-five to thirty miles north of Whiteparish and Landford; Tisbury and Chilmark are about twenty miles west of the latter.

The John Pike who married Dorothy Day at Whiteparish, 17 Jan. 1612/13, and had a son John baptized there 8 Nov. 1613, was certainly the emigrant of that name who came to New England in 1635 and settled at Newbury, Mass. His other children were baptized probably at Landford, where the registers before 1671 are lost. The Pike wills in the P. C. C. and in the Sarum courts fail to show his parentage; perhaps he was from the adjoining county of Hants, for which there are wills at Winchester.—E. F.]

SIMON STONE THE SOLDIER AT EXETER

By Hon. EZRA SCOLLAY STEARNS, A.M., of Fitchburg, Mass.

THE statement has appeared in print that the Simon Stone who was severely wounded in the attack upon Exeter, N. H., on July 5, 1690, was he of the name who settled at Groton, Mass., but the following from a document in the Massachusetts Archives, vol. 72, pages 468-469, establishes the identity of the man :

Province of the } Massachusetts Bay }

To His Excellency Jonathan Belcher Esqr
Cap^t Gen^l & Gov^r in chiefe The Hon^{ble}
Councill & House of Rep^{tives} in Generall
Court Assembled at Boston Nov^r 29th 1738

The petition of Simon Stone of Shrewsbury In the County of Worcester Most humbly Shews

That on y^e 4th of July AD; 16 your Petitioner being a Soldier in the Service of this province in the Eastern parts thereof was drawn of in a Detachment Comanded by Lieu^t Bancroft to Relieve Cap^t Hiltons Garrison Then Invested by the Indian Enemy and After a very Smart engagement the Garrison was Relieved, and the enemy beat of

That dureing the fight your petitioner had the misfortune to Receive Nine of the enemys Shot in Severall parts of body and was given up for Dead for a Considerable time

That after s^d fight was over a party of Indians making a discovery of what persons were Slain happened up on your Petitioner and perceiving Life in him as he has been Informed Gave him Two very Greivous wounds in his head with a Hatchett, but y^e English being near had not time to Scalp your Petitioner.

That Notwithstanding all his wounds through the good providence of God your Petitioner after great Smart & pain was Cured of his wounds To y^e admiration of all the beholders, for the Truth of which your petitioner would Referr him self To y^e History of Those times wrote by the Rev^d M^r Cotton Mather herewith humbly presented

That, for all his Services & Sufferings Loss of time & Smart he has never Rec^d one peny to which he is ready to make oath

That by reason of the wounds he then Rec^d accompanied with the Infirmitys of old Age your petitioner is Almost wholly uncapable of Laboring for his Support, And being poor & needy humbly approaches your Excellency & Hon^{rs} and Intreats your Just & Compassionate Consideration of his most peculiar Case & of your Abundant goodness Grant him Relief either by making him a Grant of land or Otherwise as may be Consistent with your Excellencys & Hon^{rs} wisdom, and as in Duty bound shall Ever Pray, &c

SIMON STONE

P. S. your Petitioner has | four Sons, neither himself | or any of them have ever | had any Grant of Land on | any Acco^t

The "History of Those times wrote by the Rev^d M^r Cotton Mather herewith humbly presented," as mentioned in the preceding petition, was the Magnalia, in the 1820 edition of which, in vol. 2, pages 525-526, appears the following :

"But the day following [July 5, 1690] the enemy set upon Capt. Hilton's garrison in Exeter, which Lieutenant Bancroft then posted at Exeter, with the loss of a few of his men relieved. At this time there happened a remarkable thing. . . . one Simon Stone being here wounded with shot in nine several places, lay for dead (as it was time!) among the dead. The Indians coming to strip him, attempted with two several blows of an hatchet at his neck to cut off his head, which blows added, you may be sure, more enormous wounds unto those port-holes of death, at which the life of the poor man was already running out as fast as it could. Being charged hard by Lieut. Bancroft, they left the man without scalping him; and the English now coming to bury the dead, one of the soldiers perceived this poor man to fetch a gasp; whereupon an Irish fellow then present, advised 'em to give him another dab with an hatchet, and so bury him with the rest. The English detesting this barbarous advice, lifted up the wounded man, and poured a little fair water into his mouth, at which he coughed; then they poured a little strong water after it, at which he opened his eyes. . . . But Simon Stone was thoroughly cured, and is at this day a very lusty man; and as he was born with two thumbs on one hand, his neighbors have thought him to have at least as many hearts as thumbs! . . . that nothing may be despaired of, remember Simon Stone.

Simon Stone, son of Hugh and Hannah (Foster) Stone, was born at Andover Oct. 8, 1671. His youth was grievous in sorrow and grewsome in the tragedy of bereavement. His father murdered his mother Apr. 20, 1689, and was executed. His grandmother Ann, wife of Andrew Foster, senior, was accused of witchcraft and escaped execution by death in jail. In 1690 he was a soldier in the company commanded by Lieut. Bancroft which was engaged with the Indians at Exeter.

In 1716 he married at Andover his cousin Esther Foster, born at Andover Jan. 14, 1680, daughter of Andrew, Jr., and Mary (Russ) Foster. Five children were born at Andover :

- i. Daniel, b. Feb. 14, 1717/8.
- ii. Abiel, b. June 28, 1719.
- iii. Sarah, b. Mar. 16, 1720/21.
- iv. John, bapt. May 5, 1723.
- v. A son.

Immediately preceding 1730, he purchased and removed to house-lot No. 39 in Shrewsbury. Subsequently this lot was found to be partly in Lancaster as the towns then existed. This accounts for the fact that the family is sometimes called of Shrewsbury and sometimes of Lancaster.

On his petition, the General Court granted to Simon Stone of Shrewsbury two hundred acres of unappropriated land, "on account of service in the Indian wars and the dangerous wounds received from the enemy." The date of the grant is Dec. 9, 1738, and the survey was returned and the grant confirmed Jan. 4, 1739/40. (Acts and Resolves of Mass., vol. xii, pp. 516 and 636.)

Simon Stone died in 1747. The widow, Esther, was appointed administratrix, and the sons Daniel and Abiel were sureties on her bond. The homestead, appraised at £250, is described as about one hundred acres part in Shrewsbury and part in Lancaster. (Worcester Probate Records, Case 56,933 A.)

After the death of Simon Stone, it was alleged that the grant of two hundred acres was located by error partly in Leominster. The General Court vacated the grant, and Jan. 17, 1750/51, made a grant of the same area to "Esther Stone of Lancaster, widow and administratrix of the estate of Simon Stone deceased." This grant was located in a tract of unappropriated land bounded by Leominster, Princeton, Westminster, and Fitchburg, and distinguished as Notown. The grant was confirmed May 30, 1752.

The thrilling narrative of the wounds of Simon Stone and his escape from death, as told by Mather, has been quoted in several publications, but without it the briefest narrative of the wounded soldier would be incomplete. The petition of Simon Stone is in harmony with Mather's statement, and it affords proof that it was Simon Stone of Andover and Shrewsbury who was at Exeter in 1690.

SOME DESCENDANTS OF JOEL JENKINS OF BRAINTREE AND MALDEN, MASS.

By C. HAROLD FLOYD, S.B., LL.B., A.M., of New York, N. Y.

1. JOEL¹ JENKINS was one of several early emigrants of that surname who settled in different parts of New England. The records, however, have failed to show any connection between him and the others. Neither can he be connected with any place or family in Great Britain. He was living at Braintree, Mass., as early as 1640, when his eldest child was born. That same year he was before the General Court (Mass. Colony Records, vol. 1, p. 298, and vol. 2, p. 294), and on 6 May 1646 he was made a freeman. He appears to have been living in Boston in 1649, when his son Ezekiel was baptized there as being from the church of Braintree; but he soon removed to Malden, where records concerning the family are found as early as 1657, and where he settled permanently. In 1675 he was the owner of a grant of one hundred acres which had been confirmed and registered, and in 1680 he was one of the seven Malden tithingmen. He is called "planter" in deeds recorded at Cambridge, and from the same source we learn that his wife's name was SARAH, but nothing more is known about her.

In his will, dated 4 July and proved 2 Nov. 1688 (Suffolk Co. Probate, vol. 10, p. 395), he bequeathed to his son Lemuel the dwelling house and land which Lemuel was then occupying; to his son Ezekiel his own dwelling house and all his remaining land in Malden; to his son Obadiah a dwelling house and one hundred acres in Reading, for life, with remainder to the latter's son Joel; to his daughter Lydia, wife of John Paul, one hundred acres in Reading; to his grandchildren Lemuel and Ezekiel, sons of Lemuel, twenty-five acres in Reading; and to his daughters Hannah, wife of Joseph Parker, and Sarah, wife of Joseph Merriam, twenty shillings each "besides what they have already had." His son Ezekiel was the sole executor, and the executor's account, dated 12 June 1705, mentions a legacy paid to Robert Blood (Middlesex Co. Probate, vol. 11, p. 12).*

2. LEMUEL² JENKINS (*Joel*¹), born about 1643, died at Malden 20 Dec. 1713, aged 70. He married first, 12 July 1670, ELIZABETH OAKES, born 26 May 1650, daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth of Cambridge, and first cousin of Urian Oakes, President of Harvard College; and married secondly, 11 June 1694, Mrs. MERCY (TUFTS) WAITE, who died 19 July 1736, daughter of Peter and Mary (Pierce) of Charlestown, and widow of Joseph, Jr. He was a farmer, and resided all his life at Malden, where he was one of the proprietors in the sixth division of land, and was made a freeman 15 Dec. 1674. On 14 June 1714, the widow Mercy and "two of his Sons by a former venter," Ezekiel and Lemuel, were made administrators of his estate. Two thirds of the real estate were "set over" to Lemuel Jenkins, eldest son, he to make certain payments to the other children, viz.: Ezekiel, Nathaniel, Joseph, and Sarah.

3. EZEKIEL JENKINS (*Joel*¹), baptized at Boston 16 Sept. 1649, from the church of Braintree, died 30 July 1705, aged 57. He married SARAH ———, and resided at Malden, where he was the earliest schoolmaster named on the records, holding that position in 1691 and again from 1703 until his death. His gravestone at Sandy

4. OBADIAH² JENKINS (*Joel*¹), baptized 13 Aug. 1650, a resident of Malden, married, 11 Jan. 1676/7, Mrs. MARY (JONES) LEWIS, daughter of Robert and Anne (Bibble) of Hull, and widow of Joseph, who was killed by Indians 24 June 1675 in the Swansea massacre. Her grandmother was Sibyl ———, who married first John Bibble, secondly Miles Nutt, and thirdly John Doolittle of Rumney Marsh. The latter, who died 24 Sept. 1681, left a legacy to his wife's descendants, the children of Mary wife of Obadiah Jenkins. Sibyl Doolittle in her will, dated 1683, proved 1690, also mentions Obadiah and Mary Jenkins, and makes her grandson Obadiah Jenkins executor. Both Obadiah and Mary his wife were dead 1 Apr. 1720, when their eldest son Joel was appointed administrator of the father's estate. The heirs, who drew up an agreement, allowed by the Court 24 May 1721, for the division of the estate and of the legacy from John Doolittle, were Joel Jenkins, Obadiah Jenkins who received the homestead, and their sisters, Mary wife of Zachariah Howard, Anna wife of Benjamin Teel, Lydia wife of Noah Upham, Sarah Jenkins single woman, and Sibella wife of Samuel Howard. The last named was a half sister, the daughter of Joseph and Mary (Jones) Lewis, born 18 Mar. 1674, who shared in the Doolittle bequest (see Lewis Genealogy, Essex Inst. Coll., vol. 43).

9. JOEL³ JENKINS (Obadiah,² *Joel*¹), whose birth is not recorded, married, in 1704, MARY CHADWICK, born 2 Nov. 1685, daughter of Samuel and Mary (Stocker) of Reading. He inherited from his grandfather Joel¹ Jenkins a dwelling house and one hundred acres in Reading, to which town he moved from Malden. The greater part of his farm was in that section of Reading which was included in the new town of Wilmington, and he is generally called of the latter place after its incorporation in 1730. By deed, dated 4 May 1750, he transferred to his son Joseph half the homestead and much of his other real estate in Wilmington. Administration on his estate was granted 21 Feb. 1754 to Chadwallader Ford, the widow refusing to serve. A deed dated 22 Sept. 1756 (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 63, p. 195) names the following as his children: Samuel Jenkins of Andover, Obadiah Jenkins of Groton, Joseph Jenkins of Wilmington, Chadwallador and Mary Ford, Samuel and Sarah Killim, Ebenezer and Hepzibah Temple, Ezra and Lydia Carter, and William and Rebecca Jones. The widow married secondly Samuel Graves of Reading.

* Previous to the incorporation of Wilmington, the family attended the Reading Church, now in Wakefield. The early baptisms are therefore from the Wakefield Church records.

GROVER, who died 10 Dec. 1767. In his will, dated 3 Feb. and proved 8 Feb. 1762, he left his whole estate, real and personal, to his wife Mary for life, with certain bequests to friends and kinsmen to be paid after her death. There was no provision, however, for the descent of the real property when the widow's life estate had terminated, and it was therefore decreed by the Court, 12 Apr. 1768, that Joseph⁴ Jenkins of Wilmington, son of Joel³ the brother of the deceased, should receive all the real property, he to make certain payments to the other heirs, viz.: Samuel, Obadiah, Mary, Sarah, "Hephziath," Lydia, and Rebecca, children of the deceased's brother Joel; Zachariah, Mary, and Lydia, children of the deceased's sister Mary; John, Benjamin, Samuel, Aaron, Anna, Mary, Sarah, and Rachel, children of the deceased's sister Anna; Sarah, child of the deceased's sister Sarah; Benjamin and Lydia, children of the deceased's sister Lydia; Benjamin, Joseph, and Abigail, children of the deceased's brother Joseph; and Samuel and Sibella, children of the deceased's sister Sibella. Of these, Joseph and Sibella were brother and sister of the half blood, the children of Joseph Lewis by his wife Mary who later married Obadiah Jenkins, Sr.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

By JOHN ALBREE, Recording Secretary

Boston, Massachusetts, 6 March, 1912. A stated meeting of the Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 p.m., President Baxter presiding.

The minutes of the February meeting were read and approved, and the reports of the Librarian and Historian were accepted for the files.

The death was announced of Hon. John Taggard Blodgett, Vice-President of the Society for Rhode Island, and the following were appointed a committee to prepare a minute for the records: Mrs. T. A. Lawton, Newport, R. I., Miss Caroline Hazard, Santa Barbara, Cal., George C. Nightingale, Providence, R. I., and Miss Edith M. Tilley, Providence, R. I.

The Council reported a recommendation that chapter III, article 1, of the By-laws be amended, by substituting for the "last Wednesday in January" the words "first Wednesday in February," so that the article as amended will read: "The Annual Meeting of the Corporation shall be held on the first Wednesday in February of each year in Boston, notice of which shall be sent to Resident and Life Members by the Recording Secretary one week in advance."

The President appointed the following as a special committee to report thereon: Messrs. Charles Francis Dorr Belden, Robert Dickson Weston, and William Sumner Appleton.

Nineteen resident members were elected by ballot.

Rev. William Harman van Allen, S.T.D., Rector of the Church of the Advent, Boston, spoke on Walcheren: the Land of the Swimming Lion, using as illustrations slides that he had taken. Dr. van Allen has frequently visited the home of his ancestors in Holland, particularly Walcheren in Zeeland, and of this place, its history and its people, and especially of the child life, he told many incidents.

It was Voted,—That the Society express its appreciation of the pleasure Dr. van Allen has given in the address of the afternoon, and its thanks to him for the time that he has so cordially spared from his busy life.

For the Committee on Finance Mr. Charles Irving Thayer gave notice that at the meeting in April a vote would be submitted authorizing the placing of a mortgage on the property of the Society.

After adjournment refreshments were served.

As a matter of record it is here stated that this was the largest meeting in the history of the Society, three hundred and forty being present.

3 April, 1912. A stated meeting of the Society was held at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 P.M., President Baxter presiding.

The minutes of the March meeting were approved, and the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, Librarian, Historian, and Council were accepted.

Twenty-six resident members were elected by ballot.

The paper of the afternoon was by Frederick Jackson Turner, Professor of History, Harvard University, on The New England Frontier about 1700, in which were given in detail the experiences of certain "out towns and frontiers" such as Amesbury, Groton, Deerfield, and others, which by an act of the General Court in 1694 could not be "broken up or voluntarily deserted" without "allowance had and obtained" from the Governor and Council. It was shown that the frontier was a step in the process of development, and that the qualities of independence and freedom from restraint, which in later years were characteristic of the western frontier, appeared in this eastern frontier two centuries before.

It was Voted,—That the Society express to Professor Turner its enjoyment of the paper and its appreciation of the store of original material that he has so ably and interestingly presented in illustrating the theme.

The report of the Committee to Amend the By-Laws, "approving both the substance and form of the amendment" proposed, was accepted.

It was unanimously

Voted,—That the Society authorize the President and the Treasurer to borrow on behalf of the Society a sum not exceeding $85,000, and to give the note of the Society therefor, payable in not more than ten (10) years, with interest thereon at a rate not exceeding 5 per cent. per annum, and to execute, acknowledge and deliver in the name and behalf of the Society a power-of-sale mortgage, with such special provisions, if any, as they may deem expedient, of the real estate of the Society now numbered 9 on Ashburton Place, and 3, 5, and 7 Allston Place in said Boston.

At 4.45 it was voted to adjourn, after which refreshments were served.

NOTES

It having come to the attention of this Society that certain genealogists and publishers have used the name of the Society in connection with their own enterprises, the Society again desires to state that it has NO genealogical representatives in this country or in England, nor is it in any way connected with any publications other than those that it issues over its own name at 18 Somerset Street, Boston.

The Committee on English Research desires to state, however, that although the Society has no official representative in England the Committee is employing Miss French for a part of her time as a record searcher there along special lines for the benefit of the REGISTER.

ALLEN.—In the REGISTER for January 1893, there appeared a short article upon Hope Allen of Boston, by Orrin P. Allen, Esq., of Palmer, Mass., followed by several queries about his family. Had Mr. Allen examined the REGISTER, vol. xxix, p. 47, he would have seen a note by Mr. Waters showing that Hannah, the third wife of Hope Allen, was the widow of Thomas Hull of Boston and the daughter of William and Hannah (Penn) Townsend of Boston.

Hope Allen resided in Wing's Lane, now Elm Street, near Dock Square.

As regards the other queries of Mr. Allen, concerning the subsequent history of his sons Jacob and Benjamin, Mr. Waters informed me several years ago that he had discovered in the Salem Court, among the papers in a case of Jacob Allen vs John Conney in 1676, the apprenticeship indenture of Jacob Allen to Conney, in which he is described as the son of Hope Allen. This Jacob Allen is of course the cooper and mariner of Salem, who married the daughter of John Clifford. He removed to South Carolina and died there, while his children remained in Salem. One of his daughters, Elizabeth, was the wife of Dr. Johan von Kroninschelt and the ancestress of all the Crowninshelds; another, Rachel, was the wife of Joseph Hilliard of Salem and mother of Martha Hilliard who married her first cousin, Clifford Crowninsheld.

Benjamin Allen, brother of Jacob Allen, the other missing son of Hope Allen, was also a mariner of Salem, and from an entry in the Notarial Book in the Essex Court we learn that he died abroad, and left two daughters to whom a guardian was appointed in Salem.

Now as regards the daughter of Hope Allen, I have found several interesting documents in the Suffolk deeds. I find that Rev. Deodat Lawson and Deborah his wife joined with two other children of Hope Allen in selling his property on Dec. 14, 1691. This is of course Deborah Allen, born 26 March 1674, bp. 29: 1 mo.: 1674.

I also find a Power of Attorney, dated 13 May 1671, among the Suffolk Deeds, from William Shute of the Island of Jamaica and Rachel, his wife, to their father, Hope Allen, currier, and their friend John Saffin, merchant, both of Boston. This is Rachel, bapt. 16: 7: 1666, evidently as an adult. She probably died before May 16, 1676, as Hope Allen had another daughter Rachel born May 16, 1676.

Thus we find Hope Allen was the progenitor of the Crowninsheld and Hilliard families of Salem through his son Jacob, and the father-in-law of the famous Deodat Lawson.

I am glad to be thus able to account for the two missing sons of Hope Allen, namely Jacob and Benjamin. I shall be very glad to learn who Rachel _____ the first wife of Hope Allen was, and where in England he came from.

HENRY W. HARDON.

HENRY SEWALL OF NEWBURY AND ROWLEY, MASS.—The career in England of this founder of a distinguished New England family has been obscure. From a letter written in 1720 by his grandson Judge Samuel Sewall (b. 1652, d. 1730), and from researches by the late Col. Chester and by Mr. Henry F. Waters, it has been known that he was baptized at Coventry, England, 8 Apr. 1576, the eldest son of Henry Sewall, a wealthy draper and Mayor of that city, by his wife Margaret Grazebrook; that he married Anne Hunt, by whom he had an only child, Henry Sewall, born about 1615; that he came to New England with a wife Ellen in 1635; and that he lived at Newbury and, finally, at Rowley, where he died in 1657. From the wills of his parents it is clear he had caused them much tribulation, and his conduct in New England indicates that he was subject to periodical insanity. (See 5 Mass. Hist. Soc. Colls., vol. 5, pp. xi-xviii; Waters's Gleanings, pp. 153-6, and 1415-16.) In Essex Co. Court Files is a deposition, made 10 Apr. 1679, by Robert Walker of Boston, aged about 72 years,* that about 56 years since [in 1623] he lived with his father in Manchester, England, and that one Henry Sewall then lived there on the same street, and said Sewall later came to New England, etc. (REGISTER, vol. 7, p. 46.)

The following records show that Henry¹ Sewall lived at Manchester probably all the time from his first marriage, about 1614, until his emigration to America in 1635, and also furnish the baptism of his only child, the burial of his first wife, his marriage to his second wife, and her baptism and former marriage, and the burial of her first husband:

MARRIAGE LICENSES, BISHOP OF CHESTER

Dec. 16, 1615. Henry Seawall and Ellen Nugent, widow, both of parish of Manchester. Bondsman, Ottiwell Weigham. To be married at Ashton-on-Mersey, Cheshire, or Didsbury, Lancashire.

In Chetham Soc. Collections, New Ser., vol. 47, is an excellent account of the Mosley family of Manchester, compiled by Ernest Axon, Esq., of Manchester. In this account, Mr. Axon gives the two marriages of Ellen Mosley and states that she is mentioned as the wife of Henry Shewell of Tetlow* in the will of Mrs. Margaret Nugent in 1630. He also states that in the "Family Memoirs" by Sir Oswald Mosley, the latter speaks of the unhappy marriage of his kinswoman Ellen Mosley; this doubtless refers to her second marriage with the erratic Henry Sewell, as Mr. Axon says he finds no evidence of such a condition with her first husband Walter Nugent.

In Chetham Soc. Collections, 1st Ser., vol. 42, pp. 140-5, is the will of Dame Elizabeth Mosley, widow of Sir Nicholas Mosley, Knt., dated 4 May 1617, in which she mentions children of Anthony Mosley, brother of her husband, as "my cousins Ellen Shewell, Alice Cudworth, Anne, Francis, Edward, Richard, and Rowland Mosley."

The Mosley family of Manchester were armorial, became wealthy as merchants, and were prominent in that city for several generations. Their arms were Sable, a chevron between 3 battle-axes argent.

J. GARDNER BARTLETT.

A "MAYFLOWER" LINE IN THE ELY FAMILY.—In the "Ely Ancestry" (New York, 1902), p. 51, it is stated that No. 14, Maj. Daniel Ely of Lyme, Ct., born 1693, by his fourth wife, Ruhama Turner, born 1704, died 1788, had five children, numbered 8 to 12 inclusive, whose descendants are traced through several generations.

Not long since, Mr. A. A. Aspinwall, Historian of the District of Columbia Society of Mayflower Descendants, told me that, according to some notes of his, Ruhama Arnold of New London married an Ely, and that possibly the name of the fourth wife of Maj. Daniel was Ruhama Arnold and not Turner, but that he was unable to tell where he obtained the information. I took up the matter at his suggestion, and submit the following, which conclusively proves the wife to have been Ruhama³ Arnold of New London (Mercy⁴ (Pickett) Fosdick Arnold, Ruth³ (Brewster) Pickett, Jonathan² Brewster, William¹).

Mercy⁴ Pickett's lineage is well known, the Brewster Genealogy, pp. 17-18, stating that she married first at New London, Nov. 1, 1682, Capt. Samuel Fosdick, who died Aug. 27, 1702, and married secondly, Dec. 6, 1703, John Arnold, who died at New London Aug., 1725, aged 73. It is also stated on page 18 that there were two Arnold children.

Caulkins's History of New London, pp. 343-344, confirms this, and on page 368 gives the children of John Arnold as "Ruhamah, who married an Ely, of Lyme, and Lucretia, who became the second wife of John Proctor, A.M.," evidently Mr. Aspinwall's authority which he could not recall. The index of the Ely Ancestry is very complete, but the name Ruhama Arnold does not appear therein although she married an Ely of Lyme. Per contra, although the New London Turner families have been the subject of considerable investigation, no Ruhama Turner of about that date can be found among them.

Savage, vol. i, p. 65, informs us that "in 1700" John Arnold "went to New London, there was an anchor smith, m. 6 Dec. 1703, Mercy, wid. of Samuel Fosdick, had Ruhamah, b. 7 Sept. 1704; and Lucretia, 26 Aug. 1706," etc., and names no other children. The year of birth given by Savage for Ruhama Arnold is therefore identical with that given for Ruhama Turner in the Ely Ancestry, and in itself is almost conclusive if considered with the preceding data. An examination of the Fosdick genealogy discloses nothing in any way inconsistent with the conclusion herein arrived at.

In Joshua Hempstead's Diary, in New London Co. Hist. Soc. Colls., vol. 1, p. 204, under date of Nov. 3, 1728, we read: "Elisha Turner and Aminthami Arnold published"; and in Bailey's Early Conn. Marriages, vol. 2, p. 14, from records of the First Congregational Church, New London: "Elisha Turner of Scituate and Ruhamah Arnold, [married] Dec. 19, 1728."

Caulkins's History of New London, p. 347, informs us that Elisha Turner, supposed to have come from the Scituate family, settled in the town after 1720, but makes no mention of posterity.

At least two children were born, as shown by the following from the Hempstead Diary: Sunday, Jan. 25, 1729/30, "3 Infants Babtized . . . Elisha Turner 1 Arnold" (p. 217); Sunday, Feb. 16, 1734/5, "RuAmah Turner a Child Babtized Elizabeth" (p. 285). (See also, Later Hist. of the First Church, New London, pp. 491-497.) The latter was just after the death of her husband Elisha, as shown by the following item (p. 284) under date of Jan. 20, 1734/5: "The Male[n]cholly News of the Death of Elisha Turner Jno Gove & Job Taber. the sd Turner was mt of a Small Scooner belonging to the Newlondon Society had been to North Carolina & Returned home to Road Island & disposed of her Pitch & Tarr he was coming home in the Storm & Run on the Rocks in fishers Island Sound near Masons Island & there perished with the Cold & wet. 2 men saved Hez Beebee & the Mate. Sd Beebee & Taber were passengers from Rhoad Island."

Again, the Hempstead Diary (p. 311), under date of Sunday, Oct. 31, 1736, says: "Abraham Morgan & Eliza Beckwith publish and Daniel Ely of Lyme unto Amy Turner of N. L. "; and from Bailey, vol. 2, p. 17, at the First Church, New London: "Daniel Ely of Lyme and Ruhamah Turner, [married] Nov. 10, 1736."

Now as to the daughter Lucretia, in Hempstead's Diary, under date of Sunday, Feb. 11, 1732/3, is the statement: "Nath Saltonstall & Lucretia Arnold publisht" (p. 256); and in Bailey, vol. 2, p. 16, at New London: "Nathaniel Saltonstall & Mrs. Lucretia Arnold, [married] March 1, 1733."

The Saltonstall Genealogy, p. 34, states that Nathaniel, son of Gov. Gurdon Saltonstall of New London, born July 1, 1707, married, in 1733, Lucretia Arnold, and removed to one of the Southern colonies, giving no information as to their descendants, and making no mention of John Proctor. Caulkins (p. 318) states that Lydia Richards married John Proctor of Boston. If he ever married Lucretia Arnold it was probably after the death of Nathaniel Saltonstall. Proctor was not a graduate of either Yale or Harvard, and thus far I find nothing concerning him, except the following from the Hempstead Diary (p. 218), under date of Feb. 4, 1729-30, which I assume relates to him: "A Child of John Proctors about a year old Died yesterday was buried."

In the Ely Ancestry, p. 52, we find this: "We make the following extracts from the 'Public Records of Connecticut' regarding Mr. Daniel Ely": "On petition to the General Assembly in May, 1740, of Thomas Fosdick, Nathaniel Saltonstall and Lucretia, his wife, in right of Lucretia, all of New London, and Daniel Ely of Lyme, and Ruhamah, his wife, in right of Ruhamah, all of the County of New London, against Ralph Stoddard, Junr., of Groton in said County, a certain judgment of the Superior Court held at New London in September, 1739, relative to two certain tracts of land, was declared null and void, and a new trial ordered. (1735-1743, page 313)." This identifies Ruhama, wife of Daniel Ely of Lyme, and Lucretia, wife of Nathaniel Saltonstall of New London, as the two daughters, Ruhama and Lucretia, of Mercy⁴ (Pickett), Fosdick Arnold by her second husband, John Arnold, and shows that Ruhama Arnold married first Elisha Turner, and secondly Daniel Ely of Lyme. Thomas Fosdick, who joined in the petition, was their half brother, Dea. Thomas² of New London, and the only one of Mercy Pickett's children by Samuel¹ Fosdick then living there. Samuel² had removed to Oyster Bay, L. I.; Mercy,² the widow of Thomas Jiggles of Boston, had married Thomas Morris in 1708; Ruth² was the wife of James Tilley of New York; Anna² was the wife of Thomas Latham of Groton; John² was living in Guilford; and Mary² was the wife of Richard Sutton of Charlestown. (See Caulkins, p. 344; and Fosdick Genealogy, pp. 43-44; also Bailey's Early Conn. Marriages, vol. 2, pp. 10, 14.)

The importance of the proof lies in the fact that it establishes a Brewster ancestry for a considerable number of Ely descendants in Connecticut, New York, and elsewhere, including the ancestors of the well-known Colt and Goodrich families of Hartford and Berlin, Ct.

GEORGE AUGUSTUS GORDON, A.M.

By SAMUEL MERRILL, A.B., LL.B., of Cambridge, Mass.

GEORGE AUGUSTUS GORDON, for seventeen years prior to 1910 recording secretary of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and chosen a member of the Council for 1910, 1911, and 1912, died May 3, 1912. His age was 84 years. In 1908 the infirmities of age became apparent. His visits to the Society's house, which had long been as regular as the calls of the letter carrier, became intermittent. His step was uncertain, as evidence of Parkinson's disease became manifest, and on May 21, 1909, he visited the house for the last time, though his thoughts were still of the Society, its work, and those with whom he had been associated in Somerset street for so many years.

Capt. Gordon was a genealogist from boyhood. In 1843, when still in his teens, he began collecting records of the New England Gordons, and as an octogenarian he was conscious, as so many others in similar circumstances have been, that his work was unfinished, though prosecuted through all the intervening years. His parents were Ebenezer⁵ Gordon, born Feb. 28, 1797, in Newbury, Mass., and Sophronia (Anderson) Gordon, born Feb. 28, 1807, in Freeport, Me. Their residence was in Dover, N. H., where George Augustus⁶ was born July 17, 1827. The ancestral line is through Timothy,⁴ born 1757 in Brentwood, N. H.; Timothy,³ born 1716 in Exeter, N. H.; Thomas,² born 1678 in Exeter, and Alexander.¹ Alexander¹ Gordon, a native of the Scotch Highlands, was a soldier in Gen. Monk's army, supporting the cause of Charles I. He fell into the hands of Cromwell, and was sent to New England as a prisoner of war in 1651. He settled in Exeter in 1654, married Mary Lysson there, and had six sons and two daughters.

In his marriage Capt. Gordon found a stimulus for further research in the family history. His wife, who survives him, and to whom he was married Oct. 16, 1857, was Miss Ann Farley⁶ Gordon. She was born in Mansfield, Mass., a daughter of Nathaniel Bachiler⁵ Gordon, who was a native of Exeter. Nathaniel Bachiler⁵ Gordon was descended through John⁴ and Nathaniel³ from Thomas,² the ancestor of Capt. Gordon. Of the eight children of Capt. Gordon five survive,—Agnes of Somerville, Lysson of Medford (bursar of Simmons College), Harry of New York, Margaret of Somerville, and Huntlie of Cambridge.

In a country school at the foot of Gordon Hill in Exeter the captain began his education. He continued it in public schools in Newbury, Mass., Farmington, Me., and Dover, N. H., and in August, 1843, entered Dartmouth College as a sophomore, receiving his A. B. in 1846, and his A. M. in 1849.

His first active employment was early in 1847, when he became engaged as a civil engineer in the construction of the cotton mills and boarding houses of the Atlantic Corporation in Lawrence. An interval of railroad survey work was followed by a brief season of theological study, and in April, 1850, he became a civil engineer employed on construction work by the Amoskeag Company at Manchester.

For more than three years following April, 1851, Capt. Gordon was resident civil engineer for the Lewiston Water Power Co. During this time, and under his direction, canals, locks, and three mills, besides many boarding houses, were built, and many streets laid out. His employment on the Androscoggin was terminated by reason of his strong political opinions. He successfully organized a bolt at the State election in 1853, which resulted in the defeat of the Whig candidate for representative, the candidate's abolitionism being the chief ground of the opposition to him. The agent of the water power company and the resident engineer were in different political camps, and the latter sought a new field.

After a year in the practice of his profession with the Detroit Locomotive Works, Capt. Gordon purchased the Lawrence, Mass., Sentinel. This was a Democratic newspaper, and those of us who ever knew the editor can easily imagine the vigor of the editorials in which he bore his part in the prosecution of the exciting and successful political campaign of 1856, which ended in the election of Buchanan.

From 1857 until July, 1860, Capt. Gordon was assistant editor of the Charleston, S. C., Mercury. The transfer of his interests and activities to the South involved no violence to his sympathies or to his principles. "I began life," he wrote in 1876, "as a Union-Saving Webster Whig. Since 1854 I have been, and still am, a hard-shell, hard money, free trade, pro-slavery, states rights Democrat." Capt. Gordon's opinions were his own, and they were the logical conclusion of facts as he understood them. He was upright and downright in his convictions. His positiveness was not that of inertia, blind and unreasoning; it was an active force, and had to be reckoned with, and whether one agreed with him or not, everyone knew that his opinions were sincere, and were not dictated by motives of expediency.

A subordinate position on a political newspaper would be likely to prove irksome to one of Capt. Gordon's temperament. At all events, in August, 1860, he abandoned journalism and accepted the superintendency of the Southern Gold Co., a Boston concern with mines in northern Georgia. The work was successful, but the outbreak of war soon attracted the miners into military service.

The mines were shut down, but in 1862 the captain resumed mining in North Carolina. In February, 1863, however, he too enlisted in a Georgia regiment in the Confederate army. The war was a political issue, and his enlistment was fully consistent with his political beliefs. His command went at once to the defence of Savannah, and thence to Charleston. Two months after his enlistment he was commissioned lieutenant in the quartermaster's department, and in September of the same year was assigned to the staff of Gen. Wayne, who was charged with the task of keeping the Atlantic & Western Railroad open for military traffic. In the summer of 1864 he was transferred to the Governor's general staff, and served in the transportation department. He was soon promoted captain, and served in north-western Georgia in the distribution of breadstuffs to the inhabitants made destitute by the presence of the contending armies of Sherman and Johnston. His military service was terminated by the seizure of his train equipage by United States army officers in June, 1865.

The war having ended, he returned to his home in Dahlonega, Ga., and then for two years was active again in mining engineering in the Southern states, his work being largely at the Gold Belt mine, on the Rappahannock and Rapidan rivers, in northern Virginia.

Returning north the Gordons took up their residence in Lawrence, and later in Lowell, where Capt. Gordon was in charge of the advertising department of the J. C. Ayer Company. The last twenty-eight years he lived in Somerville. A portion of the time he was connected with the Somerville Journal, but he was giving more and more of his time to genealogical work, and finally this was his only employment.

The results of his painstaking work are seen in many published genealogies. "The Ipswich Emersons, 1636-1900," is an example. His work was always conscientious and thorough. It was directed by intelligence of a high order, and aided by an unusual memory, which could quickly supply a required fact or a source of authority which had been met in the course of his wide study of genealogies, histories, and public records. The same care was devoted to the records of the Society, and at the time of his retirement as recording secretary, after seventeen years' service, this resolution was passed:

"While the records he has kept with such painstaking carefulness will in themselves ever bear full evidence of their accuracy, and hence of the value to the Society of Capt. Gordon's labors, still at this annual meeting, he first from which he has been absent in the long years of his services, we must especially acknowledge our debt to that clear mind, the strength and vigor of which even age has not abated."

Capt. Gordon became a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society in December, 1876. He was an active member of the South Carolina Historical Society, a corresponding member of the New Hampshire, Maine, and Wisconsin Historical Societies, and a member of similar local organizations in Lowell, Somerville, and Dover. He belonged also to the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Hampshire, and was for many years genealogist for that society as well as for the Colonial Dames of Massachusetts and New Hampshire. Capt. Gordon became a churchman shortly after leaving college. He was made a member of the corporation of Emmanuel Episcopal parish in Somerville in 1885, was chosen junior warden in 1889, and senior warden in 1897, retaining the latter office until 1911. He was active in Masonry for sixty years.

* To this point all the entries of baptisms appear to be in the handwriting of Mr. Tucke. The slight variations that occur are mostly such as may be explained by variations in the condition of quills or possibly of health. The last entry, of the daughters of John Robinson, is distinctly characteristic and has special interest because it makes it quite evident that Mr. Tucke did not die Aug. 12, 1773, as stated by Morse in his "Description of the Isles of Shoals," and also cut in the tombstone on Star Island, both of these being records made nearly thirty years after the event. The same date is also given in a random entry in the Records of the Town of Gosport, but this entry is out of place and much open to suspicion. The notice of his death appears in the New Hampshire Gazette (of Portsmouth, N. H.) of 3 Sept. 1773 as a recent event without an exact date. Mr. Tucke may have died as late as the day preceding this notice.

† At this place there is a scrawl much cramped and twisted. It certainly does not fit the name of either parent. This and the records down to and including Oct. 24 are in the same hand, and my guess is that it is the hand of the younger Tucke, who was at the Shoals as late as Oct. 21, when he signed a receipt as administrator of the estate of his father. I am inclined to read the scrawl "Pastor" or "Pater," i.e. the Sunday after the death of Mr. Tucke. "She" rewritten is a possible reading.

(End of the Record of Baptisms at Gosport.)

Mr. Tucke apparently tried to collect records from other churches where Shoalers had been baptized or married, etc., and entered them in the book of the Church of Gosport. These memoranda seem to include families living on the Shoals at about the time of his ordination, but no records of the churches in Portsmouth or Kittery are given. The entries fill three pages (149-151) as follows:

“A Record of Baptisms, Admissions, Dismissions, &c., by y^e Neighbouring Ministers.” †

P. 149. A Copy of y^e Baptisms &c. of those belonging to y^e Isle of Shoales as they stand in y^e C^h Records at New Castle.

Those with y^e Mark X against y^r Names, it is not known whether ever y^r were such Persons belonging to y^e Isle of Shoales.

* Probably Henry Walker Andross is meant. His son William was baptized in October 1761. The name Walker does not appear in the annals of the Shoals so far as I know them. I take it that, by a custom which was very common in the next century, Andross was ordinarily called “Henry Walker,” and the clergyman quite naturally supposed that to be his whole name.

† It is not unlikely that some of these baptisms were performed at the Shoals although entered in the church record of another place.

‡ Probably Mr. John Carter (d. 1726) is meant.

NOTES ON NEW HAVEN FAMILIES

By DONALD LINES JACOBUS, M.A., of New Haven, Conn.

MANSFIELD

1. RICHARD¹ MANSFIELD, of New Haven, married at St. Mary Archer, Exeter, England, 10 Aug. 1636, GILLIAN DRAKE, and died at New Haven 10 Jan. 1665. His widow married secondly Alexander Field, and died in 1669.

2. JOSEPH² MANSFIELD (*Richard*¹), the elder of his two sons, was born about 1638, and died 15 Nov. 1692. He married MARY POTTER, daughter of William and Frances (REGISTER, vol. 54, p. 24). In Mansfield's "Descendants of Richard and Gillian Mansfield," published in 1885, is a very incomplete account of Joseph's family, and it says of his daughters Mary and Elizabeth that they "probably died unmarried." An entry in the New Haven County Court Records (vol. 1, p. 210), dated 14 June, 1693, mentions Joseph's widow Mary and his children, Mary Tirhan, Martha Sperry, Marcy Bristow, Silence Wilcocks, Elizabeth Johnson, Comfort Benham, Joseph Mansfield, Ebenezer Mansfield, and Japhet Mansfield.

Children:

3. i. MARY,³ b. 6 Apr. 1658.
 - ii. MARTHA, b. 18 Apr. 1660; m. RICHARD SPERRY, b. 20 Jan. 1652, d. 1734.
 - iii. MERGY, b. 26 July 1662; d. after 1734; m. JOHN BRISTOL, b. 4 Sept. 1659, d. at Newtown, Conn., abt. 1735.
 4. iv. SILENCE, b. 24 Oct. 1664.
 - v. ELIZABETH, b. 20 Sept. 1666; m. Lieut. WILLIAM JOHNSON, son of William and Sarah (Hall), b. 5 Sept. 1665, d. 1742. William and Elizabeth Johnson of New Haven, she being daughter of Joseph Mansfield, dec., acknowledged receipt of their portion from their uncle, Nathaniel Potter, Sr., he being brother to their mother, Mary Mansfield, dec. (New Haven Deeds, vol. 5, p. 131, recorded 1718).
 - vi. COMFORT, b. 6 Dec. 1668; m. JOHN BENHAM, b. 15 Sept. 1664, d. 1744.
 - vii. JOHN, b. 8 Apr. 1671; d. 22 Dec. 1690.
 - viii. JOSEPH, b. 27 Dec. 1673; d. 8 Oct. 1739; m. ELIZABETH THOMAS, b. abt. 1677, d. 4 Mar. 1763.
 - ix. EBENEZER, b. 6 Feb. 1677; d. 3 Aug. 1745; m. 20 Apr. 1710, HANNAH BASSETT, who d. 22 Jan. 1766.
 - x. JAPHET, b. 8 July 1681; d. 1745; m. 16 Jan. 1703, HANNAH BRADLEY, who d. 27 Oct. 1768.
3. MARY³ MANSFIELD (*Joseph*² *Richard*¹) was born 6 Apr. 1658. In the County Court record referred to above, her married name is given as Tirhan, a variant for Turhand. The only man in the vicinity bearing this uncommon name, who could be her husband, was Thomas Tirhan of Guilford, Conn., who died in 1696, leaving a widow Mary and children Henry, Samuel, and Abigail (New Haven County Court Records, vol. 1, p. 241). But Mary had been married before, as administration on the estate of Henry Wise of Guilford, deceased, was granted, 11 June 1684, to his widow Mary (County Court Records, vol. 1, p. 147), and in June 1686, there is further record of this estate, mentioning the widow Mary, Thomas Terhan present husband to the relict, and two children, unnamed (County Court Records, vol. 1, p. 160). John Hill of New Haven, who was born 10 Jan. 1650, and died 1710, married for his second wife, Aug. 1703, Mary Turhan. Consequently Mary married first HENRY WISE of Guilford; secondly THOMAS TURHAND of Guilford; and thirdly JOHN HILL of New Haven. In 1712, administration on the estate of Mary Hill of New Haven, deceased, was granted to Henry Turhand of Wallingford; and the estate was distributed to her son Henry, daughter Mary wife of Israel Barnes, and the heirs of her daughter Sarah Wright, deceased (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 4, pp. 55, 89).

Children by first husband :

- i. SARAH⁴ WISE, m. ——— WRIGHT.
- ii. MARY WISE, d. after 1756; m. 31 Dec. 1707, ISRAEL BARNES of New Haven, b. 22 Apr. 1680, d. 1751.

Children by second husband :

- iii. HENRY TURHAND, of Wallingford; m. 7 Nov. 1712, ELIZABETH MERRIMAN, b. 4 May 1693.
 - iv. SAMUEL TURHAND, not named in the distribution of his mother's estate.
 - v. ABIGAIL TURHAND, not named in the distribution of her mother's estate.
4. SILENCE⁹ MANSFIELD (Joseph,² *Richard*¹) was born 24 Oct. 1664. The Mansfield Genealogy says she married a Chatfield, and there is plenty of evidence to prove that her second husband was a CHATFIELD; but the County Court record previously mentioned gives her name, in 1693, as Wilcocks. The Wilcox and Wilcoxson families of Connecticut descend from William Wilcoxson of Stratford, one of whose sons, Obadiah, settled in East Guilford, and died in 1714, leaving widow Silence. The comparative infrequency of the name Silence, together with the fact that Silence Mansfield's sister Mary married two Guilford men, make it probable that OBADIAH WILCOXSON was her husband; and furthermore, Obadiah's daughter Jemima married Rev. John Merriman of Southington, and had a grandson Norman Mansfield Merriman, whose name helps to substantiate the theory; but the following would seem absolute proof. In 1750, Samuel⁴ Mansfield (Ebenezer,⁸ Joseph,² Richard¹) died without issue, and his estate, excepting the widow's dower, reverted to his uncles and aunts (of whom Silence was one) or their representatives. On 22 May 1753, John Merriman and his wife Jemima of Farmington, and Mindwell Hill and Thankful Norton, widows, of Guilford, deeded to Joel Bradley of New Haven one-fifth part of land that was Samuel Mansfield's, deceased (New Haven Deeds, vol. 17, p. 358). As Jemima, Thankful, and Mindwell were daughters of Obadiah Wilcoxson by his wife Silence, and as this deed proves them to be heirs of Samuel Mansfield, their mother must have been this Silence Mansfield whose name in 1693 is given as Wilcocks. She was Obadiah's third wife, and considerably younger than he. By his first wife, Mary ———, he probably had Ephraim and Janna (cf. Savage's "Genealogical Dictionary," and Wilcox's "The Descendants of William Wilcoxson," published in 1893); and according to Savage, his second wife was Lydia ———. She was Lydia Alling of New Haven, daughter of John and Ellen (Bradley), born 2 Aug. 1656, an identification which is proved by the fact that John Alling, in his will of 6 May 1689, names his grandchildren Ebenezer and Mary Wilcocks (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 2, p. 80). By Lydia, Obadiah had: Mary, born 1676, married Thomas Munson of New Haven; Lydia, born 1678, died young; Obadiah, born 1679, died young; Ebenezer, born 1682. By Silence, Obadiah had Children:

- i. TIMOTHY⁴ WILCOXSON, b. 15 Nov. 1690; d. before his father, without issue (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 4, p. 295).
- ii. JOHN WILCOXSON, b. 9 Nov. 1692; d. 1 May 1753; m. 11 Jan. 1719, DEBORAH PARMELEE.
- iii. JOSEPH WILCOXSON, b. abt. 1694; d. 15 July 1770; m. 1722, HANNAH GOODALE.
- iv. MINDWELL WILCOXSON, m. 20 Apr. 1714, DANIEL HILL of Guilford.
- v. JEMIMA WILCOXSON, b. 30 Oct. 1699; m. at Wallingford, 24 Feb. 1726, Rev. JOHN MERRIMAN of Southington, b. 16 Oct. 1691, d. 17 Feb. 1784.
- vi. THANKFUL WILCOXSON, b. 4 Apr. 1702; m. 6 Sept. 1722, SAMUEL NORTON of Guilford.
- vii. SILENCE (?) WILCOXSON, for whose existence Savage is authority.

MUNSON-FERNS

SAMUEL³ MUNSON, son of Samuel² and Martha (Bradley), and grandson of Capt. Thomas¹ and Joanna, was born 28 Feb. 1669, resided in Wallingford, Conn., and died 23 Nov. 1741. According to Munson's "The Munson Record" (p. 90), his first wife was MARTHA ———, who died 7 Jan. 1707, leaving eight children. The following facts shed some light on this lady's identity, which has hitherto remained a mystery. In May 1704, administration on the estate of Samuel Ferns, Sr., of New Haven, deceased, was granted to Thomas Sperry. Later in the same year, an agreement was made by Thomas Sperry and Sam¹¹ Munson, sons-in-law to Samuel Ferns of New Haven, deceased, providing for the disposal of his estate and for the maintenance of Samuel Ferns [Jr.] (New Haven County Court Records, vol. 2, pp. 152, 173). Since Samuel Munson's first wife, Martha, was living at this time, it seems certain that she was a daughter of Samuel Ferns. Her birth and marriage are not recorded in the vital records, where we find the births of three of his children: Samuel, Elizabeth, and John. As Samuel, Jr., had to be maintained by his brother-in-law, it is likely that he was an invalid or an imbecile. Although he was heir to some property, he executed no deeds, and there is no probate of his estate. Probably it went to Thomas Sperry in return for maintenance. As for the son John, he seems to have died in his father's lifetime. In 1705, Widow Sackett and her son John were appointed guardians to John, son of John Ferns, deceased (New Haven County Court Records, vol. 2, p. 202). On 26 June 1712, James Ferns, minor child of John Ferns, late resident at Woodbury, deceased, chose Serj^t Samuel Mundson of Wallingford to be his guardian (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 4, p. 54). In 1724, on the death of James Ferns of Milford, some dispute arose as to whether his estate should go to his uncle, Samuel Ferns of New Haven, or to John Olmstead of Norwalk, whose wife was sister of the half blood to the deceased (New Haven Probate Records, vol. 5, pp. 200, 216). As the court decided in favor of the uncle, it is assumed that the estate came from the father's side, and that Olmstead's wife was half-sister on the mother's side; and this is substantiated by the Norwalk records, which show that John Olmstead's wife was Mary, daughter of Robert Small, "transient, sometime of Norwalk." From these facts and conjectures it is possible to construct this pedigree of the family:

1. SAMUEL¹ FERNS, of New Haven, died in 1704.

Children:

- i. SAMUEL,² b. 2 July 1663; living in 1724; probably d. unm.
 - ii. ELIZABETH, b. 7 Dec. 1665; d. 22 Apr. 1718; m. 18 Nov. 1684, THOMAS SPERRY, b. 13 July 1658, d. 1722.
 2. iii. JOHN, b. 3 Mar. 1668.
 - iv. MARTHA, b. abt. 1670; d. 7 Jan. 1707; m. abt. 1688, SAMUEL MUNSON of Wallingford, b. 28 Feb. 1669, d. 23 Nov. 1741.
2. JOHN² FERNS (*Samuel*¹), born 3 Mar. 1668, died before 1705, and probably before his father. He lived at Woodbury, Conn., and married the widow of Robert Small, who, by her former husband, had a daughter Mary Small, who married, 29 Feb. 1718, John Olmstead of Norwalk, Conn.

Children:

- i. JOHN,³ must have d. unm. before his brother, unless his name, which appears only in the modern copy of the court records, be a clerical error for James.
- ii. JAMES, of Milford, Conn., d. unm. 1724.

SOME DESCENDANTS OF JOEL JENKINS OF BRAINTREE AND MALDEN, MASS.

By C. HAROLD FLOYD, S.B., LL.B., A.M., of New York, N. Y.

12. NATHANIEL⁴ JENKINS (Nathaniel,³ Lemuel,² *Joel*¹), born at Malden 4 May 1721, died 19 Mar. 1776. He married, 1 May 1746, ABIGAIL BALDWIN, born about 1720, died 17 Nov. (gravestone, 17 Oct.) 1779, daughter of Joseph and Sarah of Malden. In early life he was a shoemaker, but being of feeble constitution and unable to stand the work, the selectmen induced him to become the Malden schoolmaster. After a year of study under the Rev. Mr. Emerson, in 1781 he reluctantly entered upon his new duties, and continued in the position until his death. He seems to have had a natural aptitude for this work, but his strict discipline and ready rod were remembered long after he had passed away. He also was town clerk. A sketch of his life is given in Corey's History of Malden, page 625. (See also Drake's Middlesex County, vol. 2, page 120.) Administration on his estate was granted 2 Sept. 1776, to Jonathan Porter, gent.; and on 1 Dec. 1784, Samuel Waite was appointed administrator de bonis non. His sons appear to have removed from Malden, and one, at least, went to New York State.

On one occasion he attracted the attention of Baron Steuben, who warmly commended him for his soldierly bearing. (For an interesting account of the episode, see Gen. La Fayette's Memoirs (Hartford, 1825), p. 164, quoted in Corey's Hist. of Malden, p. 819.)
13. THOMAS⁴ JENKINS (Nathaniel,³ Lemuel,² *Joel*¹), born at Malden 6 June 1727, married, 5 Apr. 1753, JEMIMA SMITH, born in 1726, daughter of Abraham and Elizabeth (Pierce) of Reading. He resided at Malden, and later at Reading, and was possibly the Thomas who was lost on the armed brigantine Massachusetts in 1778. It is difficult to distinguish him from another of the same name who came from Boston and appears at least once on the Malden records.
- Children :

He married, 20 Dec. 1757, SARAH WESSON of Reading, who died at Townsend 28 Feb. 1807, aged 79. He removed from Malden to Reading previous to his marriage. He was a joiner by occupation, and a soldier in Capt. Eaton's Troop in the French and Indian War. On 12 Dec. 1766, while a resident of Reading, he joined William Wesson of Billerica in the purchase of land at Townsend, where he afterwards resided. In his will, dated 1 June and proved 16 Oct. 1798, he mentions wife Sarah, sons Lemuel and Samuel, and daughters Sarah Knight, Ruth Walker, and Susanna Jenkins.

16. JOSEPH⁴ JENKINS (Joseph,³ Lemuel,² Joel¹), born at Malden 29 Mar. 1732, died there 18 Dec. (gravestone, 9 Dec.) 1797. He married, 28 Mar. 1779, PHEBE NEWHALL, born about 1748, died 19 Jan. 1814, who married secondly, 6 Mar. 1800, Jabez Lynde of Malden. He resided at Malden, and served in the Revolution on the Lexington Alarm in 1775, with Capt. Blaney at Point Shirley in 1776, and afterwards in the lines at Boston.

Child:

i. NANCY,⁵ b. 4 Nov. 1779; d. 29 June 1812; m. 30 Jan. 1798, JOHN LYNDE of Malden. Children: 1. John, b. 4 Mar. 1799. 2. Joseph, b. 27 Sept. 1800. 3. Nancy, b. 12 July 1802. 4. Jacob Perkins, b. 10 Sept. 1804. 5. Amos Porter, b. 26 Oct. 1806. 6. William, b. 13 Sept. 1808. 7. Mary, b. 15 Dec. 1811.

17. SAMUEL⁴ JENKINS (Joel,³ Obadiah,² Joel¹), born at Reading in 1709 (Eaton's History of Reading), was buried there 9 Mar. 1787, aged 78. He married REBECCA ———, who was buried 5 Dec. 1789, aged about 71. He was called of Andover in 1745, when he bought a part of Peter Osgood's farm in that town, and again in 1750 and 1756 when he joined with his brothers and sisters, "heirs to our hon'd Father Joel Jenkins" of Wilmington, in the sale of land at Wilmington and Chelsea. He was a husbandman or yeoman. In his will, dated 12 Oct. 1785, proved 2 Apr. 1787, he mentions his wife Rebekah, sons Joel and Benjamin, the children of his deceased son Samuel, daughter Lydia, the children of his daughter Mary Jones, and his grandson Samuel.

Children:

24. i. SAMUEL,⁵ b. 20 Sept. 1743.

ii. REBEKAH, b. 5 Jan. 1744/5.

iii. LYDIA, b. 9 Nov. 1746; m. 17 Oct. 1765, JOSIAH BLANCHARD, Jr.

iv. A DAUGHTER, b. 26 Mar. 1748.

v. MARY (possibly the above), m. ——— JONES.

vi. JOEL, b. 29 Apr. 1751; d. 24 Sept. 1753.

vii. BENJAMIN, b. 15 Aug. 1752 (recorded "Ginkins"); d. 26 Sept. 1753.

25. viii. JOEL, b. 4 June 1754.

26. ix. BENJAMIN, b. 7 Dec. 1756.

18. OBADIAH⁴ JENKINS (Joel,³ Obadiah,² Joel¹), baptized at Reading (Wakefield Church records) 8 June 1718, married LYDIA ———. In a deed dated 1754 he is called of Wilmington, but was living at Groton in 1756, when he joined with the other heirs of his father in the sale of land at Chelsea. On the day of the Battle of Lexington he turned out with four of his sons, in Capt. Farwell's Company of Col. Prescott's Regiment. He is styled yeoman in deeds.

Children, the first seven born at Wilmington, the others at Groton:

i. OBADIAH,⁵ b. 19 May 1739; d. young.

ii. LYDIA, b. 6 Sept. 1741; d. 5 July 1829; m. 26 May 1760, JOSEPH SAWTELLE of Groton, b. abt. 1738, d. Mar. 1822. Children: 1. Zachariah, b. 26 Feb. 1761. 2. Joseph, b. 8 May 1764. 3. Jesse, b. 29 Feb. 1767. 4. Lydia, b. 18 Feb. 1773.

- iii. ELIZABETH, b. 28 Mar. 1744.
 - iv. SUSANNA, b. 20 Aug. 1746; m. 6 Jan. 1767, JAMES ADAMS.
 - v. MARY, b. 15 July 1749.
 - vi. OBADIAH, b. 14 May 1751; m. 28 Jan. 1773, LUCY PARKER; a soldier in the Revolution, serving in Capt. Farwell's Company on the Lexington Alarm, at Bunker Hill, and in other companies elsewhere; removed to Stoddard, N. H.
 - vii. JONATHAN, b. 5 July 1753; served in Capt. Farwell's Company from the Lexington Alarm until the Battle of Bunker Hill, where he was killed 17 June 1775; recorded on one of the bronze tablets in Winthrop Square, Charlestown, erected in memory of those killed in the battle.
 - viii. JOEL, b. 12 Sept. 1756; served with his brothers in Capt. Farwell's Company, as fifer.
 - ix. DAVID, b. 4 Mar. 1758; served in the Revolution in Capt. Farwell's and other companies. The pension rolls give David Jenkins, aged 82 in 1840, of Stoddard, N. H.
 - x. LEMUEL, b. 1 Aug. 1763; probably served in the Revolution; undoubtedly the Lemuel Jenkins taxed at Stoddard, N. H., in 1784, but apparently soon removed from that town. The pension rolls give Lemuel Jenkins, aged 76 in 1840, of Clinton, Kennebec County, Maine.
19. JOSEPH⁴ JENKINS (Joel,³ Obadiah,² *Joel*¹), born at Reading 17 Mar. 1725, died 8 Jan. 1808. He married, 16 Nov. 1749, SARAH BARRON, born in 1726, died 7 Mar. 1810, daughter of Timothy and Hannah of Westford. He inherited land in Malden from his uncle Obadiah Jenkins, which he sold to E. Willis by deed dated 12 Apr. 1768, is called yeoman in the many deeds in which he was a party, resided at Wilmington, and was a soldier in the Revolution. In his will, dated 3 Aug. 1805, proved 26 Apr. 1808, he mentions his wife Sarah; three sons Joel, Joseph, and Benjamin, who were to have all the real estate, except that Benjamin was to have only a life interest in his share, with remainder to "his legal heirs"; daughters Mary wife of William Hathorne, Sarah wife of Joel Carter, Lydia wife of Ebenezer Beard, Dorothea wife of John Foster, and Elizabeth wife of Joseph Peabody; and grandson Jesse Butters, son of his daughter Rebecca. To his son-in-law Caleb Eames he gave one dollar "as an acknowledgment of the connection that once subsisted between him & my family."
- Children:
- i. MARY,⁵ b. 29 Nov. 1751; m. 30 Mar. 1780, WILLIAM HATHORNE of Woolwich.
 - ii. SARAH, b. 10 Apr. 1753; m. 26 Dec. 1771, her cousin JOEL CARTER, b. 28 Apr. 1749, son of Joel and Lydia (Jenkins) Carter (no. 9, ix, 3). Children: 1. Joel, b. 7 Apr. 1774. 2. Sarah, b. 17 May 1776. 3. Lydia, b. 5 July 1778. 4. Dolly, b. 9 Jan. 1781. 5. Joseph, b. 25 Jan. 1783. 6. Hannah, b. 22 Apr. 1785. 7. William, b. 18 Apr. 1787. 8. Rebecca, b. 14 May 1789. 9. Amaziah, b. 15 Feb. 1792. 10. Mary, b. 20 Apr. 1796. 11. James, b. 15 Dec. 1797.
 - iii. LYDIA, b. 11 July 1754; m. 26 Sept. 1782, EBENEZER BEARD, Jr., of Wilmington, b. 12 Feb. 1752. Children: 1. Abigail, b. 16 Oct. 1783. 2. Ebenezer, b. 2 Mar. 1785.
 - iv. DOROTHY, b. 14 Dec. 1755; m. 15 June 1775, JOHN FOSTER of Reading.
 - 27. v. JOEL, b. 23 Sept. 1757.
 - vi. REBECCA, b. 12 Aug. 1759; d. 10 June 1762.
 - vii. JOSEPH, b. 5 Apr. 1761; a soldier in the Revolution.
 - viii. REBECCA, b. 28 Dec. 1762; d. 1784; m. 1782, Lieut. JESSE BUTTERS of Wilmington, b. 21 Nov. 1761. Child: Jesse, b. 9 Sept. 1783.

- ix. HANNAH, b. 20 May 1764; m. 22 Nov. 1792. CALEB EAMES, Jr., of Wilmington, and probably d. soon, as he appears to have m. again before 1797.
- x. ELIZABETH, b. 13 Dec. 1765; m. 17 Nov. 1796, JOSEPH PEABODY.
28. xi. BENJAMIN, b. 1 Nov. 1767.
20. EZEKIEL⁵ JENKINS (Ezekiel,⁴ Ezekiel,³ Lemuel,² *Joel*¹), born at Malden 17 Oct. 1736, married, 11 June 1762, MARGARET FLOYD, born 27 Apr. 1737, daughter of Daniel and Margaret (Jenkins) (no. 6, i, 4) of Malden. He lived at Malden, was a soldier in the Revolution, and died before 27 Sept. 1783, as he is mentioned as being deceased in his father's will of that date. His children, viz.: Margaret wife of Robert Oliver, Mary wife of Joseph Rand, Lois Jenkins, and Susanna Jenkins, claimed to be heirs of their aunt Margaret Jenkins, in 1792 (Middlesex Co. Deeds, vol. 115, p. 248). His widow, Margaret, was living as late as 12 July 1805.
- Children:
- i. MARGARET,⁶ b. 25 Apr. 1763; m. 28 Nov. 1783, ROBERT OLIVER.
 - ii. MARY, b. 25 July 1765; m. 11 Jan. 1787, JOSEPH RAND of Medford.
 - iii. LOIS, b. 2 Aug. 1767; m. 2 Aug. 1797, BENJAMIN HOVEY.
 - iv. EZRA, b. abt. 1770; d. 30 Oct. 1773.
 - v. SUSANNA, b. 31 May 1773.
 - vi. ELIZABETH, b. 2 July 1775; d. young.
21. LEMUEL⁵ JENKINS (Lemuel,⁴ Nathaniel,³ Lemuel,² *Joel*¹), born at Reading 19 Feb. 1767, married, Mar. 1798, REBECCA TAINTER of Leominster. He removed with his father to Townsend, where he was a yeoman.
- Children, born at Townsend:
- i. POLLY,⁶ b. Oct. 1800; probably d. 30 Nov. 1841.
 - ii. PALMER, b. 8. Dec. 1803.
22. SAMUEL⁵ JENKINS (Lemuel,⁴ Nathaniel,³ Lemuel,² *Joel*¹), born at Townsend 11 Aug. 1769, died there 1 Dec. 1852. He married, 14 Feb. 1792, ELIZABETH SANDERS of Townsend, who died 6 Apr. 1859, aged 86 years, 5 months. He resided all his life at Townsend, judging from the records.
- Children:
- i. ELIZABETH,⁶ b. 2 Sept. 1792.
 - ii. SAMUEL, b. 14 Oct. 1795.
 - iii. SALLY, b. 1 Aug. 1797; d. 6 Nov. 1800.
 - iv. JOHN, b. 10 Apr. 1799.
 - v. SALLY, b. 20 Mar. 1801.
 - vi. ASA, b. 23 Oct. 1803.
 - vii. JOEL, b. 24 Dec. 1807.
 - viii. MARY, b. 26 Nov. 1809.
23. JOHN⁵ JENKINS (John,⁴ Nathaniel,³ Lemuel,² *Joel*¹), born at Malden 13 Jan. 1766, married, 9 Apr. 1789, ELIZABETH SMITH. He sold land at Malden 30 May 1812, the deed describing him as son and sole heir of John Jenkins of Malden. His father's widow, Hannah, and his own wife, Elizabeth, released all rights in this property. He was possibly identical with Dea. John Jenkins of Malden, "a worthy and pious member of the Baptist church," who died 26 Dec. 1828, aged 53, leaving as his widow and sole heirs Elizabeth Jenkins, Elizabeth Waitt, and Ezra Waitt, 2nd. The age given, however, does not correspond with his birth record, but neither does it correspond with that of any other John Jenkins so far discovered, and is possibly a mistake.

Child:

- i. BETSEY,⁶ b. abt. 1792; d. 26 Mar. 1797, aged 5.
- ii. ELIZABETH (possibly), m. 27 Apr. 1815, EZRA WAIT, JR.

24. SAMUEL⁵ JENKINS (Samuel,⁴ Joel,³ Obadiah,² *Joel*¹), born 20 Sept. 1743, married, 3 Jan. 1766, ANNA UPTON, born 20 Apr. 1746, buried 14 May 1806 (age given as 62), daughter of Ebenezer and Sarah (Goodell) of North Reading (see Upton Genealogy, p. 73). He served in the Revolution as Sergeant and 2nd Lieutenant in an Andover Company, and was undoubtedly the "Lt. Jenkins" who, according to the Andover South Parish Church records,* was buried at Reading in 1777. He resided in Andover South Parish, and in his father's will, dated 12 Oct. 1785, was mentioned as deceased.

Children:

- i. ANNA,⁶ b. 17 Dec. 1766; m. 17 Dec. 1789, JOSEPH BATCHELDER of Reading.
- ii. MOLLY, b. 23 July 1768; d. 22 Jan. 1853; m. 29 May 1788, ABIEL UPTON of Andover, b. 20 Oct. 1755, d. 15 Aug. 1831.
- iii. SARAH, b. 21 Oct. 1770; d. 21 Apr. 1847.
- iv. REBECCA, b. 23 Feb. 1773.
- v. SAMUEL, b. 3 Jan. 1775.
- vi. ELIZABETH, b. 23 Jan. 1777; m. 14 Jan. 1802, AMOS BLANCHARD, JR.

25. JOEL⁵ JENKINS (Samuel,⁴ Joel,³ Obadiah,² *Joel*¹), born at Andover 4 June 1754, married, 12 Dec. 1776, MARTHA CARTER of Wilmington. He was a private in Capt. Henry Abbot's Company which marched on the Lexington Alarm in 1775, and saw other Revolutionary service later. He lived at Andover, near the Reading (now North Reading) line, and part of his homestead was in the latter town.

Children, recorded as of Joel and Patty:

- i. PATTY,⁶ b. 26 June 1777; d. 10 Dec. 1836; m. 29 Mar. 1798, JACOB BURT of Wilmington.
- ii. NABBY, b. 26 Nov. 1778; m. 29 Nov. 1798, WILLIAM LAMBERT KIDDER of Reading, who d. 8 Jan. 1824, aged 54.
- iii. JOEL, b. 23 Oct. 1780; m. 3 Jan. 1806, PHEBE GRAY.
- iv. JONATHAN, b. 4 June 1782; m. (int. rec. 9 Jan. 1808) REBECCA PRATT of Reading.
- v. LYDIA, b. 2 Nov. 1783; m. (int. rec. 24 May 1812) CORNELIUS GOULD of Boxford.
- vi. MICAH, b. 26 July 1786; m. BETSEY ———.
- vii. HANNAH, b. 3 ——— (bapt. 1 Oct.) 1787; m. 4 Oct. 1807, JACOB JONES, Jr.
- viii. NATHAN, b. 7 Oct. 1789.
- ix. POLLY, b. 24 Apr. 1791.
- x. ELIAB, b. 11 Jan. 1793.

26. BENJAMIN⁵ JENKINS (Samuel,⁴ Joel,³ Obadiah,² *Joel*¹), born at Andover 7 Dec. 1756, married first, 11 Feb. 1779, PEGGY FLINT, born about 1760, died 21 Mar. 1804, daughter of Lieut. Benjamin and Peggy (Sawyer) of North Reading; and married secondly, 19 Nov. 1805, widow SARAH THOMPSON of Charlestown. He is called

* The Andover branch of the Jenkins family appears to have lived close by the Reading (now North Reading) line. Several of the family were baptized in the North Reading church, and the burials recorded as at Reading probably took place in this parish.

Captain, Colonel, and gentleman in the records, resided at Andover, and died there (being found dead in his bed) 12 Sept. 1834. In his will, dated 25 Dec. 1818, proved 21 Oct. 1834, he mentions his wife Sally, and sons Benjamin, Samuel, and William.

Children by first wife :

- i. BENJAMIN,⁶ b. 4 Apr. 1786; d. 2 May 1835; m. (1) 1 Dec. 1808, NAOMI KENDALL CARTER of Wilmington, who d. 10 Feb. 1821, aged 32; m. (2) 27 Sept. 1821, ELIZABETH BERRY of Andover, who survived him.
- ii. SAMUEL, b. 4 June 1790.
- iii. WILLIAM, b. 30 June 1795; m. 21 May 1818, POLLY S. FARNUM of Andover.

27. JOEL⁵ JENKINS (Joseph,⁴ Joel,³ Obadiah,² *Joel*¹), born at Wilmington 23 Sept. 1757, married first, 13 June 1784, ELIZABETH WALKER, born 15 Feb. 1763, died 3 May 1813, daughter of Timothy and Eunice of Wilmington; and married secondly, 2 Aug. 1814, DOROTHY MORRILL of Wilmington. He was in Col. Thomas Poor's Regiment in the Revolution, from 7 July 1778 to 18 Feb. 1779, and is credited with several shorter terms of service. Administration on his estate was granted 22 Aug. 1821 to the widow Dorothy, and to Timothy W. Jenkins. On 23 Apr. 1822, Timothy Foster of Wilmington, gent., was appointed guardian of Joel Jenkins and Thomas Jefferson Jenkins, minors above the age of fourteen and children of Joel Jenkins, late of Wilmington, deceased, intestate. He resided at Wilmington near "the principal branch" of the Ipswich River.

Children by first wife :

- i. EUNICE,⁶ b. 30 Aug. 1784; d. 25 Oct. 1825; m. 14 Aug. 1806, TIMOTHY FOSTER of Wilmington, b. 1782, d. 25. Mar. 1827.
- ii. WILLIAM WILLIAMS, b. 22 June 1787; m. 12 Oct. 1813, SARAH BELL.
- iii. ELIZABETH, d. 13 Aug. 1796.
- iv. HANNAH, b. 14 July 1795.
- v. TIMOTHY WALKER, b. 2 Oct. 1797; of Wilmington, in a deed of 1839.
- vi. JOEL, a minor, aged above 14 in 1822; m. 30 June 1831, SARAH M. STEELE of Wilmington; of Lowell, in a deed of 1839.
- vii. THOMAS JEFFERSON, a minor, aged above 14 in 1822; of Concord, in a deed of 1839.

28 BENJAMIN⁵ JENKINS (Joseph,⁴ Joel,³ Obadiah,² *Joel*¹), born at Wilmington 1 Nov. 1767, married, 20 Feb. 1793, ELIZABETH PEARSON of Andover. He had a life interest in one third of his father's real estate at Wilmington, at the termination of which the property was to go to his legal heirs. The four children named below moved to Vermont, and in 1824 and 1825 sold all or part of their interest in this land, stating in the deeds that it was bequeathed by their grandfather Joseph Jenkins, of Wilmington, to the children of his son Benjamin.

Children :

- i. SAMUEL FLINT, bapt. 14 Feb. 1796; of Woodstock, Vt., in 1824.
- ii. SARAH BARNES, bapt. 25 Nov. 1798; m. HEZEKIAH S. ALEXANDER; they were of Hartland, Vt., in 1825.
- iii. MARIAH, of Hartland, Vt., in 1824.
- iv. JOSEPH, b. 10 Jan. 1802; of Hartland, Vt., in 1824.

THE EARLY ENGLISH SHERMANS

By THOMAS TOWNSEND SHERMAN of New York City

IN the REGISTER (July 1897), vol. 51, page 309, is an article on the "Ancestry of Rev. John Sherman and Capt. John Sherman, by a Descendant of Capt. John Sherman," with a tabular Sherman pedigree. The author, who has since died, was Charles A. White, Esq., of New Haven, Conn., an experienced and reliable genealogist. His article was mainly based upon the then recently published Gleanings of Mr. Waters. Mr. White, in the REGISTER for 1900 (vol. 54, pp. 62 and 152), published abstracts of many early English Sherman wills, and an interesting commentary thereon. Since these publications, I have been engaged, with the assistance of Messrs. J. Henry Lea and J. R. Hutchinson, in the examination of English records, and the preparation of a pedigree of the early Shermans which I hope to publish some day. In these investigations I have found, I think, the records of the baptisms of Capt. John Sherman and his brother Richard, and of the burial of John Sherman, their father, in the Parish Register of Great Horkesley, Essex, which place is about six miles west of Dedham, where so many of the Shermans lived and carried on the manufacture of woolen goods. I published in the REGISTER for 1905 (vol. 59, p. 397) an abstract of the will of Thomas Sherman of Diss, Norfolk (formerly of Yaxley, Suffolk), proved in 1493, and also Sherman extracts from the Parish Registers of Yaxley, Diss, and other neighboring places. The following will is probably that of a member of the same family:

Will of JOHN SHERMAN of Yaxle, dated 20 Aug. 1465. To be buried in Yaxle churchyard. To Margaret my wife 10s. yearly for life, and one acre of wheat and one of barley for a year. To the high altar (of Yaxley), for tithes forgotten, 12d. To Robert my son the tenement formerly Robert Sherman's, containing eight acres of land. To my godson Richard eight acres of land called Fyveacre and Ly Herne. To my wife Margaret a garden called Bukksyerde. A trental of St. Gregory to be said for my soul and the souls of my father and mother. A churchale to be held in Yaxley church. Executors: Robert Sherman my son, and his son William. Witnesses: None. Proved 2 Oct. 1466, by the executors. (Bury St. Edmunds Wills. Archdeaconry of Sudbury, Bk. II, fo. 384.)

A trental is thirty successive daily requiem masses, and a churchale is a festival at which ale is used.

The garden called "Bukksyerde," that is Bukks Yard, mentioned in this will, was doubtless the same or part of the same property mentioned in the will of Thomas Sherman of Yaxley, dated 20 Jan. 1551 (REGISTER, vol. 54, p. 153), as his messuages and closes called "Bukkys Lede," that is, Bukkys Tenement. The will of John Sherman of Yaxley, proved in 1504 (REGISTER, vol. 54, p. 152), mentions his son Thomas and his daughter Margery. The will of this son Thomas, proved in 1551 (REGISTER, vol. 54, p. 153), mentions his sister Lokwood. She was Margery Sherman who married Robert Lockwood of Eye in Suffolk, situated about two miles east of Yaxley, whose will is as follows :

Will of ROBERT LOCKWOOD of Eye, dated 25 May 1558. To be buried in the Churchyard of Eye. To the restoration of the Church of Eye 6s. 8d. To the poor of Eye 10s. Towards the making of the organs 2s. To my daughter Marie, now wife of John Ward, £6 13s. 4d. on condition that her husband do make her a jointure of a piece of land according to agreement betwixt him and me. To daughter Ann, now wife of Anthony Barker, 40s. and household stuff. To Margerie my wife all my plate for the term of her life, and after her death Thomas Sherman the younger shall have my silver goblet, and Marie my daughter my silver spoons. To Marie Wolman, Margerie Tuck, and William Wolman, 20s. each. To my daughter Mary's sister, dwelling beyond Donkaster, 40s. My meadow purchased of Robert Byrce of Eye, and my barn, yard and garden purchased of Morres, shall be sold, and yf my nevie Thomas Sherman have them I will be pay for them but £17 6s. 8d. To Thomas Sherman one of my coffers of Waynskott. To Ann Chappell a chair. To Fraunces Sherman 6s. 8d., James Sherman 6s. 8d., and Anthony Sherman 6s. 8d. To Robert Chappel a dublet of ruffells, friend Mr. Robert Bate a coffer, Robert Chappell my bay mare with ye fole by her side, my wife Margerie my gray mare, and William Hearing a coffer. Residuary legatee and executrix, my wife Margerie. Witnesses : Thomas Sherman, Thomas Rypps, Richard Thyrkettle, vicar. Proved 19 Jan. 1558/9. (Bury St. Edmunds Wills, 1558, fo. 461.)

Thomas Sherman, Fraunces Sherman, James Sherman, and Anthony Sherman, mentioned in this will, were sons of Thomas Sherman of Yaxley, and nephews of Margery, the wife of Robert Lockwood. Thomas Sherman, the younger, was the son of Thomas Sherman, the nephew of Mrs. Lockwood. Robert Lockwood, the testator, was perhaps the son of Robert Lockwood whose will, undated, was proved 30 Apr. 1540. He mentioned his wife Isabell, his sons Francis, John, Robert, Edward, Thomas, Richard, and George, his mother Parbrad, and property called Andrews and Stobbyng. Executors : John Lockwood of Wethersett, and Isabell, the testator's wife. (Bury St. Edmunds Wills, 1537/41, fo. 206.)

The Parish Register of Great Horkesley, Essex, has the following entries :

Baptisms

- 1612 John Sherman 3 Sept.
1614 Richard Sherman 7 Aug.

Burial

- 1615/16 John Sherman 24 Jan.

These are the baptisms of Capt. John Sherman and his brother Richard, and the burial of their father, John Sherman. In the Dedham Parish Register is the entry of the baptism, on 16 Nov. 1617, of Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Rogers. This is the half sister of Capt. John Sherman. Mr. White shows (REGISTER, vol. 51, p. 310) that John³ Sherman (Henry,² Henry¹), the father of Capt. John Sherman, married Grace Makin prior to 14 May 1610, the date of the will of her father Tobias Makin of Fingrinhoe, Essex (REGISTER, vol. 50, p. 286), who mentions Grace Sherman, his daughter; that she had two sons John and Richard Sherman; that prior to 2 Sept. 1625, the date of the will of her cousin Ann (Sherman) Anger (REGISTER, vol. 50, p. 402), Grace (Makin) Sherman had married Thomas Rogers; and that she had a daughter Elizabeth by Thomas Rogers. The Dedham Parish Register gives the baptism of Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Rogers, on 16 Nov. 1617. This shows that Grace (Makin) Sherman, whose first husband, John Sherman, was buried at Great Horkesley on 24 Jan. 1616, as shown above, must have married Thomas Rogers within about a year thereafter, and that they were probably living at or near Dedham when their daughter Elizabeth was baptized.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers came to Watertown, Mass., about 1630, with Capt. John Sherman and Elizabeth Rogers, who afterwards married Daniel Smith. Richard Sherman remained in England.

Many entries in the Dedham Parish Register are given by Mr. Waters in the REGISTER (vol. 50, p. 415). I have, however, recently had this parish register examined by Messrs. Lea and Hutchinson, and some of the entries therein found by them, and not mentioned by Mr. Waters, are given below. These show that the daughter of Henry Sherman of Colchester (will proved 1590, REGISTER, vol. 50, p. 281), who married Nicholas Fynce or Fince, was named Alice, that she died in 1580, and was buried at Dedham on 20 Oct. 1580. William Petfield married another daughter of Henry Sherman.

I have also many extracts from Manor Court Rolls, records of Proceedings in Chancery and other Courts, including Court of Star Chamber, Court of Augmentations, Court of Common Pleas, Court of Wards and Court of Kings Bench, and De Banco Plea Rolls, giving interesting facts about the Shermans brought out in their litigations among themselves and with others.

The following extract from the De Banco Plea Rolls just obtained shows that the Shermans were at Yaxley before 1395, and that Henry Sherman, who died in or prior to that year, owned land there in which, in May 1395, Johan his widow claimed dower against Thomas Sherman, who may have been a son, and others (Roll 538 : 182—Trinity, 18—19 Richard II. [May, 1395]) :

Suffolk Roger Glendale and Johan his wife, by William Bathe their attorney, proffer themselves the 4th day against John Wrenne of Yaxlee, John Dune, Thomas Sharman, Thomas Cokke and Thomas Attehowe of a plea of the third part of twelve acres of land with appurtenances in Yaxlee which they claim in dower, of the dowering of Henry Sharman, formerly her [i. e., Johan's] husband. The Sheriff is ordered to seize the aforesaid third part into the hands of the king.

THE HOTCHKISS FAMILY

By DONALD LINES JACOBUS, M.A., of New Haven, Conn.

1. SAMUEL¹ HOTCHKISS, who appeared very early in New Haven, Conn., is traditionally supposed to have been a native of County Essex, England, but no proof of this has been found. He married, 7 Sept. 1642, ELIZABETH CLEVERLY, and died 28 Dec. 1663.

THE MATERNAL ANCESTRY OF GOVERNOR THOMAS DUDLEY

By Miss MARY KINGSBURY TALCOTT of Hartford, Conn.

IN the REGISTER, vol. 65, p. 189, attention was called to the discovery of the record of the baptism of Governor Thomas Dudley, which had been announced in the Stokes Records, vol. 1, p. 93, privately printed in 1910. As this discovery was accompanied by the finding of evidence which established beyond any doubt the parentage of Thomas Dudley's mother, it seems advisable to tell the complete story of what has been found.*

Among the entries in the parish register of Yardley Hastings, co. Northampton, is that of the baptism of Thomas Dudley, 12 October 1576, the year in which his baptism would be likely to be recorded, if the statement that has been handed down about his age at death is correct. In the same register is found also the record of the baptism of "Mary Dudley daughter of M^r Dudley" 16 October 1580. The father's Christian name is not given in the baptismal record of either of the children, but the title "M^r" given in the record of Mary Dudley's baptism was bestowed at that period only on men of rank and position. Cotton Mather wrote that Thomas Dudley's father was "Capt. Roger Dudley, who was slain in the wars, when this, his son, and one only daughter were very young," and the Mary Dudley whose baptism is recorded in the register of Yardley Hastings was undoubtedly this "one only daughter" of Capt. Roger Dudley. As Yardley Hastings is only eight miles from Northampton, Cotton Mather's statement that Thomas Dudley "was born in the town of Northampton" is proved to be substantially true.

Another important discovery was that of the will of Thomas Dorne, or Thorne, of Yardley Hastings, an abstract of which follows.

The Will of THOMAS DORNE of Yardley Hastings, Gent., 29 October 1588. To the reparacions of the Church of Yardley 20s. Towards the

After all legacies are paid and all debts, all the remainder to Edward Dorne and Arthur Dorne, my sonnes, and they to be Executors. Paule Strelley and William Thorn, Gent., overseers. Proved 9 May 1589. (Northampton Registry of Wills, Book 5, pp. 328-330.)

Additional information about the Thorne, or Dorne, family is derived from the following entries in the parish register of Yardley Hastings:

- 1550 Anna filia Thomae Dorne bapt. ———.
- 1551 Katherina Dorne bapt. 11 September.
- 1552 Arthuris Dorne bapt. 15 May.
- 1558 Willm Dorne bapt. 6 December.
- 1559 Susanna Dorne bapt. 5 March [1559/60].
- 1560 Robt Dorne bapt. 3 May.
- 1561 Isabell Thorne bapt. 3 June.
- 1582 Basill Law and Isabell Thorne maryed 14 January [1582/3].
- 1588 Thomas Dorne gent buried 9 November.

Cotton Mather's statement, that Thomas Dudley was aided in obtaining his education by Mrs. Purefoy, "a gentlewoman famed in the parts about Northampton for wisdom, piety and works of charity," and also by Judge Nichols, "being his kinsman also, by the mother's side," together with the mention of a Thomas Dudley in the will of John Purefoy, 1579 (REGISTER, vol. 49, p. 507), had already been regarded as pointing to a connection between the Purefoys and the Dudleys.* It was known also that Mary Purefoy, sister of the above-mentioned John Purefoy, was the wife of Thomas Thorne of Yardley Hastings, and that Thomas and Mary (Purefoy) Thorne had four sons, Anthony [sic], Edward, Robert and Thorney, and two daughters, of whom Katherine married Francis Worsley and Susanna, according to the printed pedigrees of the Purefoy family, married a Rogers. (See note by Dean Dudley in REGISTER, vol. 49, pp. 507-508, where his account of the Purefoy family is based on Nicholls's History of Leicestershire, and on the Visitation of Leicestershire in the Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 2.) But an examination of the original Purefoy pedigree in the British Museum (Harleian MS. 1189, fols. 18, 19) shows that Susanna Thorne married Roger ———, a very different statement from that of the printed pedigree, which gives to her a husband surnamed Rogers and omits his Christian name. The will of Thomas Dorne, or Thorne, supplies the surname that is missing in the Harleian MS., and proves that the husband of Susanna Thorne was Roger Dudley. It is evident, therefore, that Thomas Dudley was descended from the Purefoys through his mother, Susanna Thorne, who was a daughter of Mary (Purefoy) Thorne, and was baptized at Yardley Hastings 5 March 1559/60.

Since Susanna (Thorne) Dudley was already a widow on 29 October 1588, the date of her father's will, her husband Roger Dudley could not have fallen in the battle of Ivry, 14 March 1590, as some writers have asserted. (Dean Dudley's Supplement to the History of the Dudley Family, p. 8; Stokes Records, vol. 1, p. 93.)

The arms of the family of Thorne, alias Dorne, "de Com. Northton, nuper de Brylowe," are inserted at the end of Harleian MS. 1467, fol. 69, in the British Museum. In Metcalfe's Visitations of Northamptonshire, p. 168, they are given, quartered with Brudenell of Deane, as Sable, three fusills in fess argent. A William Thorne was patron of the living of Yardley Hastings in 1531 (Bridges's Northamptonshire, vol. 1, p. 398), and Bridges says that this was probably during the minority of Peter Compton, son of Sir William Compton, who died 20 Hen. VIII. A William Thorne of Yardley Hastings, probably the man of that name mentioned by Bridges, made his will 8 March 1537, as follows:

To be buried in the church "before the rood." To wife Alys certain lands. To son Thomas all my other lands, my copyhold in Yardley, and also in Syersham and other places. To youngest son George £10. To daughter M[torn] 20s. My wife Alys to be executrix. "To my ghostly father, Thomas Smyth, 2s. to pray for me." Witnesses: brother Nicholas Thorne and Thomas Smyth, parson of Yardley.

* Judge Nicholls, or Nicolls (Sir Augustine Nicolls), a distinguished lawyer and one of the justices of the Court of Common Pleas in the reign of James I, was a son of Thomas Nicolls, a sergeant at law of the Middle Temple, by his wife Anne Pell, daughter of John Pell of Eltington, co. Northampton, Esq. She married for her second husband Richard Purefoy, brother of the testator of 1579, and was the Mrs. Purefoy mentioned by Cotton Mather. A pedigree of Nicholls of Hardwick is printed in Metcalfe's Visitations of Northamptonshire, p. 119.

The Purefoys were of gentle blood, their pedigree going back to William Purefoy of Misterton, co. Leicester, who was living in the reign of Henry III, and they intermarried with prominent families. (See Purefoy pedigrees in the Visitation of Leicestershire and in the Visitation of Buckinghamshire, Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 2, pp. 32 ff., and vol. 58, p. 199; and also Lipscomb's County History of Bucks.) Edward Purefoy of Shaldeston, father of Mary (Purefoy) Thorne, was born at Effield 13 January 1494, and died in 1558. Anne Phettiplace, or Fettiplace, his wife, daughter of Richard Phettiplace, or Fettiplace, of Besselsleigh, co. Berks, was born at Shelford Parva 16 July 1496, and died 3 August 1558. She belonged to an ancient family whose pedigrees may be found in vol. 1 of the Visitations of Berkshire. (Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 56.) Thomas Dudley was a page in the family of Lord Compton, afterwards Earl of Northampton, and only the sons of men of good family were accepted as pages in the households of noblemen. The gates of the beautiful park of Castle Ashby, the seat of Lord Compton, and now owned by his descendant, the Marquis of Northampton, open into the quaint little village of Yardley Hastings, and it was certainly most natural that a boy living in the immediate vicinity, the son of an officer who had fallen fighting for his country, should be received into the household at the Castle. Dudley was probably of good descent on his father's side, as well as on his mother's side. The fact that he used the arms of the barons of Dudley implies that he claimed descent from that family, and Adlard (The Sutton-Dudleys, Pedigree D) may be right in tracing his ancestry to Edward, second Baron Dudley.

Thomas Dudley lived in Northampton as a young man, and raised a company of soldiers to join the forces sent by Queen Elizabeth to aid King Henry IV of France and, more especially, to serve at the siege of Amiens. After his return he took up the practice of law and the cares of a family. He married at Hardingstone, near Northampton, 25 April 1603, Dorothy, daughter of Edmund Yorke* of Cotton End, co. Northampton, yeoman, a man of good family, who in his will, dated 18 November 1614, mentions his grandchildren Samuel and Anne Dudley, and appoints Thomas Dudley one of his overseers. (REGISTER, vol. 47, p. 120.)

It is to be hoped that light may yet be thrown on the paternal ancestry of Governor Thomas Dudley.

*For the marriage record of Thomas Dudley and Dorothy Yorke, which was found by Miss Talcott, together with other facts about the Yorke family, see REGISTER, vol. 56, p. 206.—EDITOR.

 - vi. WILLIAM, bapt. 2 Feb. 1578/9.
 - vii. KATHERINE, bapt. 23 Apr. 1581.
4. ROBERT BEALE was born probably about 1545, and lived at Biddenden and also at Frittenden, records of him being found in both of these parishes. As the testator of 1610/11 he calls himself of Frittenden, but he was buried at Biddenden 22 Jan. 1613/14. His first wife, name unknown, whom he married about 1568, was buried 21 Aug. 1569. He married secondly, 21 Jan. 1569/70, KATHERINE WILLIAMS, who was buried 5 July 1596, by whom he probably had no issue. He married thirdly, 6 Feb. 1596/7, AGNES or ANNE MUNCKE, a widow, who survived him; she was probably widow of Simon Muncke, of Biddenden, who married Anne Moone by license dated 29 Dec. 1590.

* Or perhaps John. See foot-note, p. 345.

Child by first wife :

8. i. THOMAS, bapt. at Biddenden 7 Aug. 1569.

Children by third wife :

- ii. MARY, bapt. at Biddenden 19 Feb. 1597/8; m., by license dated 5 Oct. 1619, WILLIAM LEVENDELL of Halden.
 iii. ELIAS, b. probably in 1600; bur. at Biddenden 4 Dec. 1602.
 iv. THOMASINE, bapt. at Frittenden 19 Sept. 1602.
 v. BENJAMIN (perhaps).
 vi. ANNE, b. about 1606. On 10 June 1626 a license for marriage at St. Margaret's, Canterbury, was issued to Daniel Everden, of Benenden, husbandman, a bachelor, aged about 24, and Ann Beale, of Smarden, virgin, aged about 21, whose mother Ann Beale consents, as is testified by her brother-in-law [half-brother] Thomas Moncke, of Smarden.
 vii. ROBERT, bapt. at Frittenden 19 Aug. 1610; bur. at Biddenden 6 May 1615.
5. RICHARD BEALE, of Biddenden, was born probably about 1550. The only records which we have of him are those of the baptisms and burials of his children.

Children, baptized at Biddenden :

9. i. JOHN, bapt. 17 Jan. 1579/80.
 ii. RICHARD, bapt. 11 Mar. 1581/2; bur. 6 June 1582.
 iii. DOROTHY, bapt. 4 Aug. 1583.
 iv. MARGARET, bapt. 26 Dec. 1586.
 v. HENRY, bapt. 23 Mar. 1589/90; m. at Biddenden 16 Dec. 1616 BRIDGET BRISSENDEN, and had Elizabeth, Francis, John, and Susan. According to his marriage license he was a clothier.
 vi. RICHARD, bapt. 13 May 1593; bur. 20 Jan. 1622/3, unm.
 vii. ROBERT, bapt. 29 Aug. 1596; bur. 26 Apr. 1599.
 viii. THOMAS, bapt. 22 Jan. 1598/9.

6. JOHN BEALE, of Biddenden, was born probably about 1555, and married about 1583 ALICE ———, who was buried at Biddenden 5 Feb. 1592/3.

Children, baptized at Biddenden :

- i. RACHEL, bapt. 4 Aug. 1584.
 ii. MOSES, bapt. 3 July 1586; bur. 18 Dec. 1586.
 iii. A CHILD, bapt. 14 Nov. 1587, probably the son JOHN who was bur. 27 Feb. 1592/3.

7. JEREMY BEALE, of Warhorne, co. Kent, died between 6 and 20 Oct. 1586. He married ELIZABETH ———, who survived him. It is doubtful if she was the mother of his child, as he stated in his will that his brother Richard and sister Joane Haselden were to have the bringing up of his daughter.

Child :

- i. JOANE.
8. THOMAS BEALE, of Biddenden, the testator of 1617, was baptized there 7 Aug. 1569, and was buried there 13 Jan. 1617/18. He married first at Biddenden, 27 Nov. 1592, his cousin JOANE BEALE, daughter of William (3) and Alice (Hasnode) Beale, who was baptized at Biddenden 3 July 1569, and died after Oct. 1603. He married secondly, before 1614, MARGARET ———, who married secondly, probably as his third wife, 19 Jan. 1618/19, John Beale (9), of Biddenden, her first husband's cousin.

Children by first wife, baptized at Biddenden :

- i. RICHARD, bapt. 8 Nov. 1593; probably d. young, as he is not mentioned in his father's will.
- ii. ELIZABETH, bapt. 26 Dec. 1594; m. RICHARD POST; among their children were Richard, b. not later than May 1617, who settled at Woburn, Mass., and Thomas, who settled at Cambridge, Mass.
- iii. ROBERT, bapt. 5 Dec. 1596; probably d. young, as he is not mentioned in his father's will.
10. iv. THOMAS, bapt. 25 Mar. 1599; emigrated to New England.
- v. SARAH, bapt. 15 Jan. 1603/4; emigrated to New England, being probably the Sarah Beale who came in the James in June 1635, aged 28, the lady being favored three years in the statement of age; m. at Woburn, Mass., 10 Aug. 1649, as his second wife, EDWARD WINN; d. at Woburn 15 Mar. 1679/80, without issue.

Child by second wife, born at Biddenden :

- vi. A DAUGHTER, bur. unbapt. 5 July 1614.
9. JOHN BEALE, of Biddenden, a clothier, was baptized 17 Jan. 1579/80, and was living there as late as 1629. He married first at Biddenden, 11 May 1601, JOAN FOSTER, daughter of Thomas and Dorothy (Austin) Foster of Biddenden. She was baptized there 1 Mar. 1584/5, was an aunt of Hopestill Foster, of Dorchester, Mass., and was buried at Biddenden 21 Jan. 1612/13. John Beale married secondly at St. Mary Bredman's, Canterbury, by license dated 1 Dec. 1615, ALICE TUCKER, both groom and bride being of Biddenden. He married thirdly at Biddenden, 19 Jan. 1618/19, MARGARET BEALE, widow of his cousin Thomas Beale (8).

Children by first wife, baptized at Biddenden :

- i. JOHN, bapt. 30 Oct. 1603. On 28 Sept. 1636 a license for marriage at Lenham was issued to John Beale, of Biddenden, clothier, a bachelor, aged about 33, and FRIDSWITH READER, of Bredgar, virgin, aged about 24. Bondsman, Henry Beale, of Biddenden, clothier [his uncle].
- ii. THOMAS, bapt. 15 Sept. 1606; bur. 16 Sept. 1606.
- iii. SARAH, bapt. 1 Oct. 1609; bur. 29 Oct. 1609.
- iv. RICHARD, bapt. 20 Jan. 1610/11; bur. 31 Jan. 1610/11.
- v. RICHARD, bapt. 17 Jan. 1612/13; bur. 6 Feb. 1612/13.

Child by second wife, baptized at Biddenden :

- vi. RICHARD, bapt. 6 Jan. 1618/19.

Children, by third wife, baptized at Biddenden :

- vii. WILLIAM, bapt. 26 Nov. 1620.
 - viii. FRANCIS, bapt. 5 Apr. 1623; bur. 2 Feb. 1623/4.
 - ix. THOMAS, bapt. 12 Dec. 1624.
 - x. EDWARD, bapt. 28 Oct. 1626.
 - xi. A CHILD, bur. unbapt. 18 Dec. 1628.
 - xii. ELIZABETH, bapt. 22 Nov. 1629.
10. THOMAS BEALE was baptized at Biddenden, co. Kent, 25 Mar. 1599, and emigrated to New England as early as 1634, when he appears as a proprietor of Cambridge, Mass. There he settled permanently, was admitted freeman 8 Dec. 1636, held several town offices, and died 7 Sept. 1661. In his will, dated 24 Aug. 1661, he states that he is about 63 years old, and mentions his wife Sarah, his sister

He married in England before 1634 SARAH ———, whose will, dated 29 June 1677, and proved 1 Apr. 1679, mentions kinsmen Henry and Richard Frencham [a Biddenden family name], cousin [husband's nephew] Thomas Post and his daughter Elizabeth, sister [in-law Sarah] Wing [Winn], and various friends.

The names of other Beale emigrants to New England are found in the Kentish branches of the family, Abraham, Benjamin, Robert, Edmund, John, and William being names of common occurrence in the Biddenden branch, and Roger, Nathaniel and Joshua in the Cranbrook branch. There was another branch at Graveney, and a very ancient armigerous one at Maidstone. Perhaps from the latter descended the Norfolk branch which furnished the emigrants to Hingham, Mass. The will of Richard Beale, of Cranbrook, mentions brothers living in Suffolk, a county adjoining Norfolk.—E. F.]

[The Court Files of Middlesex County, Mass., contain a document which affords additional confirmation to the connections between the Posts, Beales, and Winns, as set forth above. On 1 Apr. 1679 Thomas Post petitioned for an allowance from the estate of Mrs. Sarah Beale, of Cambridge, stating that his uncle Thomas Beale sent for him out of his native country, but on arriving at Cambridge he found that his uncle had died and that the latter's widow, his aunt, was a weak invalid; whereupon the petitioner and his wife and daughter cared for her for a long time, and at her request the petitioner went to Woburn to entreat his aunt Winn to come to her, the said Mrs. Beale, etc.

Information derived from various sources in regard to the brothers Richard and Thomas Post may be summarized as follows:

RICHARD¹ POST, son of Richard and Elizabeth (Beale) Post, appeared at Woburn, Mass., as early as 1645, when he was assessed on a rate list, and in 1648 he received a grant of a meadow lot there. In 1672 he was taxed in a rate for the second meeting-house of Woburn. Soon after this date he removed to Mendon, Mass., where he was killed by the Indians in an attack on that town 14 July 1675, during King Philip's War.

He married first at Woburn, 27 Feb. 1649/50, SUSANNA SUTTON, by whom it is not known that he had issue. He married secondly at Woburn, 18 Nov. 1662, MARY² TYLER, born about 1643, daughter of Job¹ and Mary Tyler of Andover, Roxbury, and Mendon, Mass. She married secondly, as his second wife, 1 Mar. 1677/8, John² Bridges of Andover, Mass.

Children by second wife, born at Woburn:

- i. MARY,² b. 29 Sept. 1664; living unmarried at Rowley, Mass., in 1692, when she was tried and condemned for witchcraft, but was later reprieved and released.
- ii. JOANNA, b. 13 Sept. 1666.
- iii. JOHN, b. 14 Apr. 1669; resided at Mendon, where he died, his will being proved in 1759.

THOMAS¹ POST, younger brother of Richard,¹ came to New England between 1661 and 1669 and settled at Cambridge, Mass., where he died between 28 Mar. and 7 Apr. 1691. In his will he names as his heirs at law: daughter Rebecca Post, dwelling near Gravesend [co. Kent], England,

* Not Penn, as given in Pope's Pioneers of Massachusetts.

grandson Thomas Post, and grandson John Sattle [Sawtell]. The name of his wife has not been discovered.

Children :

- i. A SON,² name unknown, b. in England about 1645-1650, father of Thomas Post who inherited his grandfather's house in Cambridge, Mass., part of which he sold to Thomas Moore in 1698.
- ii. REBECCA, living at Gravesend, England, in 1691.
- iii. ELIZABETH, named in her great-aunt's will; m. JOHN² SAWTELL (*Richard*¹), of Cambridge, Mass. They had a son John,³ named in the will of his grandfather Thomas¹ Post, who d. young. John² Sawtell m. (2) ANNA ———, who survived him.

As a result of the connection with the Beale family it seems evident that the ancestry of Richard Post, father of Richard Post, of Woburn, Mass., and of Thomas Post, of Cambridge, Mass., should be sought in the Weald of Kent.

NORTHEND

The Will of JEREMIAH NORTHEND of Little Weeton in the parish of Rowley, co. York, gent., being very aged, 12 April 1702. Whereas the greater part of my real estate was so settled at my marriage that it will descend upon my eldest son Robert Northend, I therefore do confirm the said settlement and leave the same to descend accordingly. Whereas the greater part of the estate of my late wife Elizabeth Northend is so settled that it will after my decease come to my second son Ralph Northend, I do therefore confirm the same. Whereas I have surrendered, according to the custom of the manor of Howden, one cottage with one croft adjoining, and three oxgangs and a half of arable land called Socklow, lying in the fields of Walkington in the said county, to the use of such persons as shall be decided by my last will, and have surrendered to the Manor of the Provest Fee in Walkington three oxgangs of arable land called Northfield, lying in the fields of Walkington, to the like use, I give the said several lands and tenements above mentioned to my son Ralph Northend, and also my close called Northgate close and three acres of arable land in Walkington to my son Ralph. All my goods and chattels, plate, rings, and other my personal estate to my dear and loving sons Robert Northend and Ralph Northend, whom I make sole executors. [Signed] Jeremiah Northend. [Seal bearing seven stars.] Witnesses: Francis Hawker, Mary Scaley [her mark], and Chr: Northend. Entered 15 May 1702, Robert Northend of Little Weighton, Ralph Northend of the same, yeoman, and Thomas Buntor of Cottingham being bound in £1000, 23 April 1702. (Exchequer and Prerogative Court of York, Original Will, 1702.)

The following is from the Registers of Rowley, co. York: "Mr. Jeremiah Northend dyed April 12, 1702; he went with Mr Rogers in to America when about twelve years old and staid there about nine years."

[Jeremiah Northend became an employee in New England of Mr. William Bellingham, who left him a bequest by will in 1650, after he had returned to England, if the entry in the Registers of Rowley, co. York, is correct. Ezekiel Northend, of Rowley, Mass., was probably a cousin of Jeremiah.—E. F.]

VEASIE

Bond dated 4 May 1633. Henry Newbon of Caldecott, co. Rutland, husbandman, and William Flamsted of Rothwell, co. Northampton, are bound in £100, the condition of the bond being that the said Henry Newbon, administrator of the goods and chattels of RICHARD VESEY of Gumley, co. Leicester, labourer, deceased, should well and truly administer the same and file an inventory before the feast of Pentecost next ensuing. (Archdeaconry of Leicester, Administrations, 1633, no. 13, filed bond.)

[“3 (11) 1649 W^m Veasie of braintre constituted Henry Newbar of Calcot in the Count of Rutland & Eliz. Veasie his Att^{rs}. to enter and take possession of certain house & land in Gumley in Count Leicester now in possession of Edward Wallis, & to sue implead &c as also to recover his household goods rent &c of the s^d Wallis. Dated 2 (11) 1649.” (Aspinwall Notarial Records, p. 274.) This William Veasie was in all probability a son of Richard Veasie, and his attorneys were the administrator of his father's estate and a relative, probably his mother or sister.

William Veasie was freeman of Braintree 10 May 1643, married Ellinor ———, and had children, Hannah, William, Solomon, Elizabeth, Samuel, Ellen, Abigail, Mehitabel, and Mercy. He died 16 June 1681, aged 65, and 8 July 1683 his widow married John French. She probably died before this second husband, as she is not mentioned in the division of his estate in 1692.—E. F.]

- vii. SARAH, bapt. 29 Nov. 1612; married at Tenterden 1 Mar. 1631/2, by license dated 21 Feb. 1631/2, JOHN LEWIS, a butcher of that place. They sailed for New England in March 1634/5, and settled at Scituate, Mass. He became freeman of Plymouth Colony 7 Feb. 1637/8, and later moved to Boston, where was bapt. "Sarah of — Lewis of Situate 5 day 11 mo. 1650," and where his wife died 12 July 1657. He married (2), 22 Nov. 1659, ALICE BISHOP, widow of Nathaniel, by whom he had Samuel, Joseph, and Benoni. No clue as to his parentage has been obtained. Deane in his History of Scituate says that he was a brother of George Lewis, who was of East Greenwich in Kent, a place on the Thames near London. He certainly was not a native of Tenterden, but probably came to live there for business reasons.

Child by second wife :

- viii. JAMES, bapt. at Tenterden 26 Dec. 1619; buried there 6 Jan. 1619/20.

- 1610 "Sam: son of John Howes bap y^e 10 June."
- 1612 Henrie son of John Howse bapt. 28 June.
- 1618 Priscilla daughter of John Howse buried 28 November.

1623 John Howse of Leneham and Marye Osborne of Ashforde was married here by license 18 September.

Canterbury Marriage License. John House, of Lenham, saddler, bachelor, about 21, at his own government, and Mary Osborne, of Ashford, maiden, about 20, daughter of Edward Osborne late of the same place, yeoman, deceased, and now under the government of her mother, ——— Osborne of the same place, widow, who consents. To be married at Eastwell by reason that Mr. John House [rector and] parson there, father of the said John House, intendeth to give them their wedding dinner. Dated 18 September 1623.

"20 (5) 1649 Samuel Howse of Scituat Shipwright did constitut &c: Tho: Tarte of the same Merch^t. his true and lawful Att^r, granting him full power &c: to aske &c: of the Exec &c of the last will & test of Thomas House late of Lond: Watchmaker, all such legacies as due unto the childr of the said appearr by vertue of the s^d last will, & of the receipt to give acquittance, also to compound & agree, & to appeare before all Lords &c: in any court &c: there to doe say sue &c: & generally to do &c: wth power to substitut &c: ratifying irrevocably &c:" (Aspinwall Notarial Records, pp. 224-5.) The will of this Thomas House has not been found in the probate courts having jurisdiction over London, and therefore his relationship to Samuel House the emigrant is uncertain; possibly he was his elder brother.

[It is evident that Rev. John Howse had older children, who were born before he settled at Eastwell, and among them was a daughter Hannah. On 10 Oct. 1610 a license was issued for the marriage at Eastwell of John Lothrop, M.A., curate of Egerton, and Hannah Howse, of Eastwell, virgin. Their eldest son, Thomas Lothrop, was baptized at Eastwell 21 Feb. 1612/13. This clergyman was Rev. John Lothrop later of Scituate and Barnstable in New England.

Samuel Howse, or House, brother of Hannah, was baptized 10 June 1610, and came to New England in 1634, probably with his brother-in-law, Rev. John Lothrop. He settled at Scituate, where he married late in 1635 Elizabeth Hammond, who was born in England about 1619, daughter of William and Elizabeth (Paine) Hammond of Watertown, Mass. Their eldest child, Elizabeth House, was baptized at Scituate 23 Oct. 1636. In Lothrop's Scituate Church Records appears this entry: "Elizabeth Hammon my Sister having a dismission from the church at Watertowne was joyned April 14, 1636." Although here mentioned by her maiden name, this Elizabeth Hammond had certainly been married before this date to Samuel House, and she was called "my sister" by Lothrop clearly because she was the wife of Samuel House, whose sister, Hannah House, had been Lothrop's first wife.

In October 1639 Rev. John Lothrop and part of his Scituate parishioners, including his brother-in-law Samuel House, or Howes, removed to Barnstable.

In 1639 a Thomas Howes, or House, appears as a proprietor of Yarmouth, settling in that part of the town now North Dennis, less than five miles from the old Barnstable meeting house. He was a man of good education and estate, served several years as deputy, and died in October 1665. He married in England about 1630 Mary ———, who survived him and became the fourth wife of Gov. Thomas Prence. (See REGISTER, vol. 59, p. 217.) His children, born in England, were: Joseph, born about 1631, Thomas, born about 1634, and Jeremiah, born about 1637. It seems possible that this Thomas Howes, of Yarmouth, may have been identical with the Thomas Howse who was baptized at Eastwell, co. Kent, 21 Aug. 1607, a son of Rev. John Howse, and therefore an elder brother of Samuel Howse of Scituate and Barnstable in New England.

MISCELLANEOUS WILLS

The following brief extracts from Kentish wills mention legatees who are beyond the seas or otherwise absent from home :

The Will of JOHN TOPLIFE of Hedcorne, co. Kent, 20 June 1639. My lands in Hedcorne to my cousin Stephen Toplife, son of my brother Henrie Toplife, "provided that whereas there is one John Toplife gone beyond the Seas for his preferment, if he return to England the said Stephen shall pay his said brother John Toplife 40s. per year for life." To godson John Toplife, son of Steven Toplife of Biddenden. Proved 7 September 1639. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol. 70, fo. 116.)

The Will of MATTHEW OWTRED of Tenterden, co. Kent, yeoman, 24 December 12 Charles I [1636]. "To William Outred my youngest sonne if he bee alive and shall come to receive and demand it within one yeare of my decease, the sum of £10." All residue to John Outred my eldest son, and he to be executor. Proved 8 February 1636/7. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol. 70, fo. 242.)

The Will of ROBERT ANDREWE of Chilham, co. Kent, miller, 30 November 1638. To my brother George Andrewe the £5 which I do now sue Anne Witham for, if it be recovered and if he return unto the kingdom of England within seven years; if he do not return, said £5 if recovered to be divided between my two sisters. Proved 4 March 1638/9. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol. 70, fo. 408.)

The Will of THOMAS KEMPE of Cranbrook, co. Kent, cordwainer, 30 December 1638. "To my brother John Kempe and my sister Joane Kempe, if they bee living, twelve pence apeece if they come to demande it of my executrix." All residue to my wife Ann, who is to be sole executrix. Proved 27 February 1638/9. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol. 70, fo. 607.)

The Will of EDWARD POSSE of Cranebrook, co. Kent, 19 November 1638. "Item I appoint my executor to pay unto James Holden the sum of fifty pounds wthin twelve monthes after my decease, to be conveyed by him to new England wth all convenient speede, to Mr. Thomas Ruck who formerly lived in Cranebrooke & to John Stow y^t formerly lived in Biddenden, to be given by them or by one of them if they bee not both living to the benefit of the plantation there." Proved ——— 1639. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol. 70, fo. 614.)

[Of the persons mentioned in the foregoing will, James Holden is doubtless the person of that name who, together with Thomas Lamb and Thomas Bigg, was addressed in a letter dated 11 Jan. 1648/9, which was sent to England by Thomas, Nathaniel, and Samuel Stow, of Roxbury, Mass., sons of the John Stow who is mentioned in the said will, in relation to legacies left to them by their uncles John and Smallhope Bigg, of Cranebrook. (Aspinwall Notarial Records, pp. 185-6.) Although Thomas

Ruck was a native of Cranbrook, where his ancestors had long resided, he had lived for some time at Maldon, co. Essex, immediately before his emigration to New England in 1638. (Lechford's Note Book, pp. 118 and 138.)

— J. GARDNER BARTLETT.]

The Nuncupative Will of JOHN JACKSON of Ashford, co. Kent, undated, left the residue of his estate to his two brothers if they come to demand it, but if they come not, then said residue to Thomas Ford of Lidd, his executor. Proved 9 January 1634/5. (Archdeaconry of Canterbury, vol. 69, fo. 294.)

NOTES

GREEN-FISKE.—In American Ancestry, vol. 3, p. 219, it is stated that John Fiske (Edmund Fiske Green) was the son of Edmund Brewster Green and his wife Mary Fiske Bound, born 30 Mar. 1842, died 4 July 1901; that his father, Edmund Brewster Green, was born in Smyrna, Delaware, 3 Jan. 1815, and died at Panama of the yellow fever, 11 July 1852, where he was employed as an engineer in the building of the trans-isthmian railroad; that his grandfather was Humphreys Green of Philadelphia, a Quaker, who married Jane Lore, sister of Eldad and Auley Lore, and that he died about 1857, aged about 100 years.

A correspondent writing to the genealogical department of the New York Mail and Express, over the initials "L. B. C.," says of Humphreys Green, that he was born in West New Jersey in 1770, and was believed to be of Quaker extraction; that he married first, in 1795, Ann Busby, and secondly, about 1807, Hannah Heaton; that he removed to Smyrna, Delaware, where Edmund Brewster Green was born, and that he lived to be 90 years old, and died in Philadelphia in 1860.

John Fiske's eminence as a man of letters makes more than this desirable, and I am able to add something to the meagre stock of knowledge of Humphrey Green, and to give an account of the Green family of Smyrna, Delaware, from which he may have descended.

An examination of the probate records at Philadelphia discloses that Humphrey Green died there intestate, and that his estate was administered by George J. Weaver, his principal creditor, to whom letters were granted 4 Jan. 1850. No distribution was made among heirs as his estate was not sufficient to pay his debts, the assets consisting of one-quarter of a schooner, charts, chronometers, etc., the property, evidently, of a sea-faring man.

The Green family of Smyrna descended from William and Mery Green. In 1713, William Green was the patentee of a tract of land of 1000 acres situated at the intersection of Green's Branch with Duck Creek, on the southwest side, and called "Gravesend"; and he died prior to 13th 3rd month, 1716. His sons were George, John, and Thomas. The last named died in 1776, and left sons Charles, Thomas, James, John, and William, besides daughters. This family is closely associated with the beginning of Smyrna (then called Duck Creek Cross Roads), inasmuch as they owned all the land on which the town is built. In the division of the estate, that part on which Smyrna is built fell to the share of James, who soon began to sell land to settlers. Thomas inherited Smyrna Landing on Duck Creek. On 16 Oct. 1765, Charles sold land (a part of "Gravesend"), at which date he was of Penn's Neck, Salem Co., West New Jersey. He married there (and in the marriage license is called of Kent Co., Delaware), 9 Apr. 1764, Sarah Sheer.

Nothing further of this family is known to the writer, but here is evidence that one branch of the Green family removed to West New Jersey, where Humphrey Green was born four years after the marriage of Charles Green to Sarah Sheer. The fact that Charles Green retained landed interest in Delaware after removing to West Jersey is sufficient reason for the return there of his descendants, and it seems not improbable that John Fiske was descended from this family.

The Lores, who, according to one account, intermarried with Humphrey Green, are also a family associated with both Delaware and West Jersey. Eldad Lore, born in 1797, died in 1850, was the father of Charles B. Lore, late Chief Justice of Delaware, who was born in West Jersey.

There was another Green family near Smyrna, in Appoquinimink hundred, New Castle Co. "Gravesend" was in Duck Creek hundred, Kent Co., Duck Creek separating the two hundreds. This family was of Maryland origin, being descended from Thomas Green, the second provincial governor of Maryland, succeeding Leonard Calvert. This family had large landed interests in Delaware and on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, in Cecil Co., in Middle Neck, between Little and Big Bohemia rivers. The only association found to exist between them and Humphrey Green is through the Lores. In the will of Dr. Cuthbert Sewell Green, of Appoquinimink hundred, dated 1843, mention is made of a "house on my Maryland farm erected by Eldad Lore."

RAMSDEN-SAVORY.—(Savery Genealogy, pp. 16, 18). I am now convinced that the Mary Savory who married Joseph Ramsden at Plymouth, in 1661, was the widow of Anthony who came to Plymouth with Thomas about 1633, and that her maiden name was Mary Sheppard. In the "Peculiar" of the Dean and Chapter of Sarum* there is recorded the marriage, 10 Dec. 1630, of Anthony Savory of Highworth, baker, twenty-four, and Mary Shepperd of the same, spinster, twenty-two. She would therefore have been fifty-three when she married Ramsden. Can any Ramsden genealogist verify or disprove this?

I am sure, also, that I wrote carelessly in my statement on p. 16 that Thomas was probably the elder of the two. He was probably not of age when Anthony was enrolled a freeman, in 1633, for his first child was not born till 1644. Highworth and Hannington are adjoining parishes in Wiltshire.

HISTORICAL INTELLIGENCE

GENEALOGIES IN PREPARATION.—Persons of the several names are advised to furnish the compilers of these genealogies with records of their own families and other information which they think may be useful. We would suggest that all facts of interest illustrating family history or character be communicated, especially service under the U. S. Government, the holding of other offices, graduation from college or professional schools, occupation, with places and dates of birth, marriage, residence, and death. All names should be given in full if possible. No initials should be used when the full name is known.

Moir.—James of Tarnes, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, who died previous to 1696; Robert of Aberdeenshire, Scotland, who died previous to 1730; Alexander of Forres, Elginshire, Scotland, who died late in the seventeenth century; and James of Doune, Perthshire, Scotland, who died early in the seventeenth century, by Alexander L. Moir, 77 Hampshire Street, Lowell, Mass.

Standish.—Myles, of the Mayflower, by Wesley Weyman, Shirley, Mass.

* Salisbury, Wiltshire, England.

ADDRESS OF THE PRESIDENT

MEMBERS OF THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY AND FRIENDS :

It has been the custom since the organization of this Society for the President to present an Annual Address. It has also been the custom for all the Committees to present reports, as well as the Council. The Council's Report of necessity had to repeat a great deal in the Committees' reports, and as there was nothing for the President to base an address upon but the reports of the Society, he always found himself somewhat embarrassed. The result was that he selected the salient points in the reports which had already been read twice to the Society, and to prevent his audience from yawning, or leaving the room, he was obliged to present them in as new and attractive form as possible. This, however, would not quite relieve his embarrassment, and he found it necessary to add a brief exposition of some popular subject. In process of time the custom of reading all the reports was found to be so burdensome to the patience of the Society that this was abolished and the reports printed; still, the President, if he followed in the old rut, would have to base his address upon these printed reports, and so his embarrassment was not wholly removed, nor the members of the Society who had read the reports already in their possession, from more or less unnecessary repetition.

We happen to have a Recording Secretary who is remarkably clever in solving problems, and he suggested that, instead of the old form of address, I give a talk on Books and Libraries. I concluded to accept his suggestion. If he made a mistake you must put the blame upon him. Suggestive people should always bear the penalty if they suggestively blunder, as we know from the Aple episode in our earliest literature.

This has been well denominated a literary age, though never before has so much work of a mediocre quality been thrown from the press. There is no doubt, however, that reading has become a passion with the masses, and a fine art with the cultivated few, so a little gossip concerning books and libraries, and other correlated matters, may not be considered untimely.

The art of printing is comparatively modern. It was not until the year 1454 that the first specimen of printing from movable types was produced. This was an indulgence of Pope Nicholas V to those who should contribute money to aid the king of Cyprus in conducting a war against the infidel Turk, and was printed by John Gutenberg. Previous to this time books in Europe were in manuscript, many of which were most beautifully executed. Collections of these books are to be found in the principal museums of the world, many of the finest specimens being worth a king's ransom.

But all books were not made in this way. Some of the people of antiquity inscribed their thoughts on tables of clay, tiles, and cylinders, which were hardened by exposure to heat.

The so called volumes in the great library at Alexandria were scrolls. This library is said to have contained at one time a hundred thousand volumes, one scroll often containing a number of volumes. For some time previous to the invention of movable types, a few books had been printed in Europe from carved blocks of wood, which were smeared with thin ink, after which sheets of paper were laid upon them and rubbed until an impression was obtained.

I have said that the first specimen of type printing known in Europe bears the date of 1454. It is known, however, that the art of block and type printing was practiced in China many centuries before this date, and the question is still unsettled, whether Gutenberg was an inventor of movable types, or, having heard of the invention of the Chinese, imitated it.

The public library, as now known, is of comparatively recent origin. When the first settlement was made at Jamestown by Newport, and at the mouth of the Kennebec by Popham, there was not a public library in all England. Norwich claims the honor of having established the earliest in 1608, and it is still flourishing.

As books multiplied, and the love for reading increased, subscription libraries began to be formed to meet the public demands. These were only established in the most populous places, the earliest being opened to the public in Edinburgh in 1725, more than a century after the landing of the Pilgrims upon our shores. These subscription libraries became extremely popular, and proved of great benefit to the communities where they existed, by creating a taste for good literature, and encouraging a demand for free public libraries, but few of which existed in England. It was not, however, until 1753 that the great library of the British Museum was founded, which has been declared to be the greatest literary event of the 18th century.

To George II the world is indebted, more than to any other man, for this greatest of libraries. Since its beginning it has been receiving vast acquisitions, and may well be called a "World of Books." Having spent in it many months, devoting especial attention to its department of history, I became quite familiar with its other departments and their working. The great reading room, in which hundreds of people are always at work at small desks, is circular in form, and surmounted by a dome 140 feet in diameter, and 106 feet in height. With its surrounding book departments it contains 2,000,000 cubic feet of space. It is the most magnificent reading room in the world, and, as one stands within it, surrounded by its seemingly numberless volumes, he is dull indeed who is not stirred to admiration at the sight. Under the dome is a great circular desk, around which, perhaps, fifty people can stand to consult the index volumes which occupy shelves beneath it, and, inside the circle are a number of attendants to receive the order-slips for books which bear the numbers of the applicants' desks, which are ranged around the circular desk filling the room. At these desks the books are in a very short space of time delivered. The Indexes—for the Museum had no card catalogue—when I was there comprised 1200 volumes, of course alphabetically arranged.

The Newspaper Department is a mine of historical interest. When one considers the fact that this great collection of newspapers comprises the leading journals of more than three centuries, he can form some idea of its extent. The date of the first newspaper is March 19, 1603, and I carefully examined the files to the end of the century to find references to America. For many years these papers had but four pages of the size of six or eight inches, and bore various stilted names, as the Mercurius-Civicus, London's Intelligencer, Mercurius-Britanicus, Mercurius-Pragmaticus, and others.

The publishers of books throughout the kingdom are obliged by law to donate to the Museum a copy of every book and pamphlet they publish; besides, books from all parts of the world are purchased. During the year that I was at the Museum over 30,000 numbers were added to the catalogue. Everything which can possibly be useful to students is gathered into this wonderful library. When one considers the ceaseless stream of books, newspapers, and other printed matter flowing into this vast reservoir of knowledge, he can but wonder how the problem of space sufficient to hold it is eventually to be solved.

The influence of this great public library has been felt the world over, especially, of course, in England. Long before its establishment, free libraries had been formed in a number of the principal towns, the owners of large private libraries frequently bequeathing their books to the towns in which they resided; but the fame of the British Museum extending through the empire gave an impetus to the formation of free libraries, and, aided by the Museum officials, they soon began to multiply rapidly.

Nothing exerts a greater educational influence upon a community than a public library. This fact has been recognized by many of the best writers. Before the formation of such libraries books were out of the reach of the laboring man, but, with the formation of a free library in a neighborhood, everybody began to read who could, and those who could not were stimulated to learn.

In our country the Public Library has found its most congenial home. At first the poverty of the people prevented their early establishment, but as wealth increased their growth was rapid, and now almost every community of any importance possesses its public library.

Education with us, more than with any other people in the world, is a dogma, the soundness of which no one is bold enough to question, and to education the Public Library ministers more than any other agency. This is the belief of Mr. Carnegie, who has devoted himself more than any other man has to founding such libraries. He has told us how the grain of mustard seed was sown, which has grown into this manificent tree. He says, "When I was a boy in Pittsburg, Colonel Anderson of Alleghany, a name I can never speak without feelings of devotional gratitude, opened his little library of 400 books to boys. Every Saturday afternoon he was in attendance himself to exchange books. No one but he who has felt it, can know the intense longing with which the arrival of Saturday was awaited, that a new book might be had. My brother, and Mr. Phipps, who have been my principal business partners through life, shared with me Colonel Anderson's precious generosity; and it was when revelling in these treasures that I resolved, if ever wealth came to me, that it should be used to establish free libraries, that other poor boys might receive opportunities similar to those for which we were indebted to that noble man"; and he further says, "The result of my study of the question, what is the best gift that can be given to a community? is, that a free library occupies the first place, provided the community will accept and maintain it as a public institution, as much a part of the city property as its public schools and, indeed, an adjunct to these."

A few words now about books and book collectors:

Some of the most valuable collections of books have been made by private individuals, and a class of book hunters has grown up, many of them eminent for their knowledge, not only of every rare book which has been printed, but of its condition and ownership; that is, of those extremely rare books of which there are but a few copies in existence. The late Henry Stevens of Vermont, as he styled himself, but whose residence was London, was one of the most noted book hunters in the world, and, although he received large sums from Mr. Lenox, who established the splendid collection of Americana in New York, he impoverished himself by his purchases for his own use, and especially by the costly bindings with which he adorned his favorites. In this department his taste was faultless, and many of his bindings, of which I possess a number, were works of art. Quaritch, also of London, was his rival, and his "Pocket Catalogue," as he facetiously called it, was much larger than Webster's Unabridged Dictionary. On this catalogue were books priced as high as $4,000. With both of these men I was acquainted, as well as with Benjamin Stevens, the brother of Henry, and his equal in the knowledge of Americana. When in London I often met them at Sotheby's sales. Sotheby's place was, and is, the great mart of rare books in London. When any especially rare collection of books comes into the hands of an administrator it is sent there, and collectors from all parts of the world assemble to pick up such nuggets as they want to complete their collections.

One would suppose that a place where so much valuable literary property is disposed of would be fairly comfortable for purchasers, but the Englishman seems to regard comfort as something to be wholly dissociated from business. Sotheby's salesroom is a bare, dim, and forbidding room, at the end of which is a long table of plain pine upon which sits, or stands, the auctioneer, to whom the books are passed by an attendant. All imperfections are frankly stated at the outset, and bids are asked for. On one occasion both Quaritch and Stevens were present. The day was cold and the room unheated. Quaritch had brought a rug, which was what we would call a horse blanket, and in this he swathed himself, and sitting upon a stool bid for such books as he wanted, and every book he wanted he bought, apparently regardless of price. A copy of Waymouth's voyage to the coast of Maine was offered, a book which originally cost a couple of shillings. His first bid for it was a hundred pounds. I was surprised, but the price continued to mount up ten pounds at a time until he bought it at 275 pounds. Afterwards he offered it to me for 300 guineas.

Sometimes, when a very rare book was offered, Sotheby would ask Stevens what he knew about it. Such an inquiry was made when a copy of Smith's Voyage to New England was placed upon the table. Stevens merely glancing at it stated where pages had been mended, letters or lines restored in facsimile, and various other restorations, which would puzzle anyone but an expert to detect. The book jockey is far more skilful than the horse jockey. He will make a perfect copy of a rare book from fragments of several copies, replace pages or engravings with facsimiles, wash and starch crumpled and soiled leaves, and even place them in old bindings, making them almost as good as new. They are all, however, genuinely old books. At Sotheby's I saw sold Keats's love letters, a small package of little yellow notes tied with a ribbon. They brought a pound each, and specimens are in collections in this country which were retailed for two pounds. Poor Keats would have been glad to have supplied such notes at six pence apiece.

An old book is sometimes found masquerading under different titles. Take the case of Johnson's Wonder Working Providence, now a very rare work. The publisher, failing to dispose of the entire edition, afterwards substituted a new title page; namely, "America Painted to the Life," and foisted it upon the public as a new work, written by Sir Ferdinando Gorges. The spurious book is now very rare and commands a high price. An excellent copy is in the John Carter Brown Library.

The fascination of book collecting is great, and one soon finds the reading of catalogues, issued from time to time by the houses which gather rare books for sale, among his most interesting occupations. As these catalogues are sent to me from all parts of Europe, especially England, Germany and France, I think I do not exaggerate when I say that I read, on an average, two a week through the year.

The possession of some books of extreme rarity is not always safe, as there are real bibliomaniacs who cannot resist the temptation to purloin them if opportunity offers.

I will relate an interesting case told me by Jones of Boston. One day a clergyman, and well known as a bibliomaniac, while looking over a rare book in Jones's shop remarked to him that he had been extremely lucky in picking up in a book-stall a copy of Roger Williams's Key for a quarter of a dollar. Jones told him that it seemed impossible for anyone to be so ignorant as to sell a book worth a couple of hundred dollars, or more, for such a price, and it made such an impression upon him that when Dr. Smith visited him the next day he called attention to the incident. Dr. Smith's reply was that the story was a fiction. A few days later Jones missed one of his rare books from the case in which it was kept locked, and asked his clerk about it. He was informed that he last showed it to the Rev. Mr. Stubbs. "O!" said Mr. Jones, "Mr. Stubbs could not have taken it, you must have shown it to some one else." He, however, told Dr. Smith, when he next called, of his loss, and the statement of his clerk. The Doctor at once said, "I believe Stubbs took it, if he is a clergyman, and if he has a Roger Williams Key he told you the story of having purchased it at a book-stall in order to account for his ownership of it. I'll wager if he has the Key he took it from the Somerset Library which has a copy, and to which he is a frequent visitor. I am going there tomorrow and you had better come along with me, and see if we cannot find your missing book." Jones consented to this, and arriving at the Somerset Library, Dr. Smith called for Roger Williams's Key. The Librarian was gone for some time, and then returned with a troubled expression, announcing that it had disappeared. "Has any one examined it lately?" "No," said the Librarian, "but quite a while ago I was showing it to Rev. Mr. Stubbs, who was much interested in it." "Where does he live?" asked the doctor, and being directed to his place of residence, he and Mr. Jones proceeded there, and found the reverend gentleman at home. After a little pleasant conversation the doctor asked to see the bargain which he had purchased, and was, as he noticed, somewhat reluctantly shown the book. The doctor examined it carefully, and although the library marks had been carefully removed he felt sure that it was the copy belonging to the Somerset Library, and without hesitation charged Stubbs with having stolen it, as well as the book from Jones. Stubbs, who had shown embarrassment from the first, became greatly confused but denied the theft; however, upon a threat to call in an officer, he broke down, and under pledge of secrecy acknowledged the charge and produced Jones's missing book, and also a copy of Lucy Crawford's History of the White Mountains, which he had also taken from Jones's shop. The sequel to the affair is painful. In some way the story leaked out, and one Sunday, when Mr. Stubbs was preaching in Brookline, it was printed in the Boston Herald, and as his audience came out of church, after listening to a most edifying discourse, they were shocked to hear the newsboys bruiting his shame to the world.

To prevent the loss of books in the early libraries they were chained to a rod passing across the front of the shelves, the chain being secured to the back of the book.

In the British Museum, one is only allowed to use the rarer books under the supervision of an attendant, and I have spent hours in the uncongenial company of men whom it was advisable to tip in order to receive polite service.

In the office of the Public Records, that great depository of historic treasures, where I passed some months in the study of documents relating to the Tudor and Stuart reigns and our Colonial period, having received a special permit to inspect the unindexed documents in the dim lofts of the jail-like building, I worked under the eye of a suspicious guardian, who, however, was of assistance, as he held a lantern when I required it as I often did. A large portion of the documents in this department, with dates attached in large figures to different groups, were parchments, stained and worn by age and unpleasant to handle, so I dispatched my work as expeditiously as possible, no doubt to the regret of my guardian, whose tips were so much extra gain. I have since thought with some regret how I missed a notable find. I allude to the discovery in the same place by Prof. Wallace of the Shakspeare documents which have awakened so much interest. It is quite likely that they passed through my hands unnoticed, as my mind at the time was on Colonial matters. I content myself, however, with the reflection that it was not for me to find all the interesting things, and it has done Wallace a lot of good.

In the office of the Public Records, exposed in a glass case, is the great Domesday Book, which bears the date 1086. It is in two large quarto volumes bound in vellum, and is as sacred to Englishmen as our Constitution is to us.

Many of the rarest and most costly books relate to the early history of America; Hakluyt and Purchas being not only rare and costly but the most useful ones, for these great works are the foundations of our earliest history. It is not easy to find perfection, and tall copies of the originals are rare, most of them being cut close to margins, or defective in some particular. A first-rate copy of Purchas is worth from $600 up. The late Charles Deane told me that his copy cost him $800 many years ago. The Hakluyt Society reprinted Hakluyt's Voyages some time since at a cost of about $75.

There are many rare bibles like the Breeches Bible, so called because the translator says that our first parents made for themselves breeches, instead of aprons of fig leaves. A good copy of Cranmer's, or Wyckliffe's, bible is excessively rare, and in sound condition is a treasure indeed.

Among the most notable recent literary productions are those of the Kelmescott Press, founded by the poet William Morris. They are printed in archaic, black-letter type, with specially designed borders, and a set was recently priced to me at $4000, a price which was considered low.

Perhaps the most valuable private collection of rare Americana in this country is that made by John Carter Brown. After Mr. Brown's death it came into the possession of his son, John Nicholas Brown, who kept up the traditional generosity of his father, and was ever ready to give to historical students and book-lovers free access to his treasures. When I was editing Gorges's Brief Relation he sent me his original copy by which to correct my proof, a privilege rarely granted by collectors of books of such rarity.

Among the rare things which he delighted to show were several copies of the letter of Columbus. It happened that a copy came into the market and was sold by Bangs of New York, and Mr. Brown paid something like $2000 for it. The publication of this excessive price called out another copy, and Mr. Brown not wanting any other collector to acquire it bought this. As he told me the story he brought out a third copy, and laughingly said, "I was rather surprised when a third copy came upon the market, but I had to buy it." This exhausted the supply, but Mr. Brown locked up a considerable sum of money in a rather trivial affair. For a rude but interesting sketch on a sheet about as large as a page of foolscap, made by Champlain, near Old Orchard, as I remember it, he told me he paid over a thousand dollars.

A word about the John Carter Brown Library. Nicholas Brown, the third of that name, was a born bibliomaniac, having inherited a love of books through several generations. In the library is the first book published by his maternal ancestor, John Carter, which bears upon its cover, "Bot at Doctr Gibb's vendue July 1, 1769." It is a copy, now very rare, of Samuel Sewall's "Apocalyptica," printed in 1767.

Nicholas Brown began his collection at an early age, and in his favorite pursuit embarrassed himself financially, and found it necessary to dispose of his precious library. His younger brother, John Carter Brown, came to his assistance, and for $10,000 purchased it. He also had inherited a passion for collecting, and at once began to add to his purchase, and later secured the services of Henry Stevens, of whom I have spoken. This eccentric book-hunter, who described himself as "Henry Stevens, G.M.B., otherwise Green Mountain Boy, or, of Vermont, Bibliographer and Lover of Books, Fellow of (various learned societies), Black Balled Athenæum Club of London, also Patriarch of Skull and Bones of Yale, and Member of (various historical societies), B.A. & M.A. of Yale College, as well as Citizen of Noviomagus, et cetera," was also the agent of James Lenox, and to these two collectors he forwarded all the rarest books, maps, prints and manuscripts which he was able to secure, giving by a mutual understanding "the first pick," as he said, to Brown, who, in book hunting, was also personally engaged. So determined was Mr. Brown to build up a complete library of rarest books that he said, near the close of his career, "After I had made up my mind to go on with the acquisition of books on American history, I should not think that I ever lost a book which I wanted; and I have met in competition Russian princes and collectors from all parts of the world." Many instances of Mr. Brown's experience in book hunting have been related, one of a little clash between him and Mr. Lenox in securing a copy of the Columbus letter, to which I have alluded, and of which there are now five copies in the library. Brown secured it from Stevens, who at the same time had received an order from Lenox to purchase it for him at Sotheby's, but, to avoid any feeling, he politely sent it to his rival. It was a long time before he could find another, and when he did he had to pay many times the price at which he had first purchased. Says Stevens, in relating his own experience in prosecuting his favorite pursuit, "The world outside of book hunting may smile at the eagerness for the first choice, but such a smile of pity will most likely vanish away in complaisance, on becoming acquainted with the fact, that after forty years in sighting and chasing book rarities, I found that a very large number of the choicest historical and bibliographical nuggets relating to the Age of Discovery, with the exploration and development of the New World, occurred but once in my time in the market for sale. Happy he who becomes the winner in such a chase."

Perhaps I may be permitted to say a few words about my own experiences in collecting. Thirty years ago, the Trelawny manuscripts having come into my hands, I became so interested in such historic material that I conceived the idea of especially devoting myself to its collection, and began by securing the services of the late David Pulsifer of Boston, an expert in deciphering old documents. Mr. Pulsifer was in my employ for several years, and transcribed everything that he could find in the Massachusetts Archives relating to early Maine affairs up to about 1783.

Shortly after undertaking this work, I determined to devote a year, or two years if necessary, to gathering supplemental material myself in England and France. With letters of introduction to persons who could give me, or procure for me, the entrée to the various depositories of the material I desired to study, I established myself in London, and began my work in the British Museum and Office of the Public Records, to which I was personally introduced by the Rev. Frederick Brown of Beckenham, Kent, to whom I had letters, and who smoothed my way to the inner sanctuaries of these two institutions, in which I worked through the autumn and winter, examining manuscripts relating to America from its earliest exploration by the English up to and including the Revolution, giving especial attention to New England, and still more especial attention to Maine. The months spent in these institutions hunting for documents I needed to complete my collection, and making indexes to them, which were passed weekly to copyists who transcribed what I had found, and the following summer which I spent in other private and public archives in England and the Bureau of Marine and Colonies in Paris, were, though I have pursued my researches ever since, among the happiest of my life, and I would like nothing better than to repeat them.

One who has not engaged in such research cannot well understand the keen enjoyment which the finding of a rare nugget occasions. One of my first joys was the discovery of the Waymouth Manuscript in a department of the Museum called the King's library, in which I scored a point on Henry Stevens. I had secured the especial services of one of the assistant librarians of the Museum, Mr. Kensington, whom I shall always remember for his friendly interest in my work, and in his hands I placed a list of names of men about whom I wanted to find particulars, as well as the titles of events which I wanted to study. My directions to him were to find me every document in the Museum which in any way related to them, a task by no means a light one. Of course my list comprised the names of persons about whom I had little hope of finding anything, and, indeed, did not; but, as I told Mr. Kensington, by throwing out a drag net I might get a pearl.

One morning when I sat down to the desk which had been assigned me in the Museum he came to me and said, "I have found the name of George Waymouth in a collection of papers of the time of Henry the Eighth, but, of course, this was long before your Waymouth's time; I thought, however, that I would speak to you about it." I replied that I had better look at it anyhow, and see what it was about, so I followed him into the Manuscript department and examined the document, which I found related to ships and was signed George Waymouth. The treatment of the subject reminded me of a document I had seen written by Sir Walter Raleigh, who was a contemporary of Waymouth. I was acquainted with Waymouth's writing, and after reading it remarked that the document was misplaced, not having been written in Henry Eighth's time, as could be seen by careful examination. This, of course, interested him, and after studying it he said, "You are right," and he had me write a few words calling attention to the misplacement of the document, which he placed with it. Of course I secured a copy of it, but I was puzzled, for Waymouth was supposed to be a rough and uneducated adventurer, and this document revealed an entirely different kind of man. Some days after, Mr. Kensington came to me and said, "Come into the Manuscript Department, possibly I have found something to interest you." I followed him, and he took down a large manuscript volume elegantly bound and laid it before me, entitled the "Jewell of Artes," by George Weymouth, which was a present by him to James First. "I do not know as this is of any interest to you," said Kensington, "but as you instructed me to call your attention to anything possibly relating to your subjects I thought I would show it to you." That day was an exciting one to me, for I found that it was not only written by the author of the former document which I had discovered, but that it was the work of my George Weymouth. I immediately procured an expert to copy and make facsimiles of the numerous drawings which the book contained, and the binder of the Museum had especial tools made that he might make for me a facsimile binding of the original.

The discovery of this book revolutionized opinions regarding Weymouth, and revealed him as a man of scientific attainments. Dr. Hill, former president of Harvard College, who devoted a considerable time to a critical study of the book, pronounced it to be a remarkable production. Some months after this find I was in Henry Stevens's place, and his son said to me, "My father is confined at home and wants me to ask you if you know anything about this," handing me a newspaper clipping from a New York paper. To my surprise, it was an account of "A discovery by an American of a remarkable manuscript written by George Weymouth, one of the first explorers of the Coast of Maine." "My father," said Stevens, "cannot credit this, for he says he does not believe there is such a manuscript in the Museum relating to Weymouth; if there had been, he would have found it; but as you are the only American working there on his lines, he desired me to ask you what it means." When I told him that it was true, and where his father could see the volume, as well as the other document which I had found, he remarked that he thought that his father would be much surprised, as he thought that he had gathered everything relating to Weymouth.

Of course I made other delightful finds, notably over a hundred original letters of Sir Ferdinando Gorges, since published by the Prince Society of Boston, which greatly aided in throwing light upon the life of the Father of American Colonization. I had learned from the Royal Manuscripts Commission, who for many years have been engaged in preparing calendars of State Papers in private collections, of the existence of letters of Gorges at Hatfield House, and procured a letter of introduction to its owner, who kindly gave me permission to inspect the manuscripts there, and ordered one of his private secretaries, Mr. Gunther, to make transcripts of any which I wanted. My experience at Hatfield House was most interesting, and I was enabled to inspect some of the most interesting historic material in existence, notably the celebrated casket letters of Mary Queen of Scots, which Queen Elizabeth's great Prime Minister, Lord Burghley, Salisbury's ancestor, has been accused of tampering with, to the undoing of the much misunderstood Queen of Scots.

While I am on this special subject it may not be amiss to allude to the finding of Sir Ferdinando Gorges's coat of arms. I had utterly failed to find his portrait, though I had visited Long Ashton, Ashton Phillipps, Charlton Manor, Bristol, and Plymouth, all his old-time haunts, inspected the Gorges portraits at Hampton Court, some one of a number of which, unidentified, may be his, and consulted some of the most noted portrait specialists in London, and having failed in this search, turned my attention to his coat of arms, which had been sought for many years by family connections and others, and often advertised for in the London Notes and Queries, which has a wide circulation among antiquarians. My first thought was to consult my friend Brown, so I went to the Beckenham Rectory and asked his advice. "There is but one place that I think offers any hope," he said, "and that is the Heralds' College, and the only man who can help you there is Mr. Tucker, Somerset Herald at Arms. I, and others, have failed to get him to make a search, but you are an American, and if you can get the right kind of an introduction you may get his ear where an Englishman, owing to official exclusiveness, might fail."

The next person I consulted was Mr. Noel Sainsbury of the Roll's Office, with whom I had formed a warm friendship. He knew John A. Poor, the pioneer in building the Grand Trunk Railroad as well as a student of history, and read to me some of his letters. To my delight he exclaimed, "Why, I know Tucker, and will give you a letter to him, but don't bother him until just after lunch, when he will be in the best of humor." I followed Sainsbury's instructions, which no doubt were wise, and was ushered into Mr. Tucker's august presence just as he had lighted his after-lunch cigar. Having read Mr. Sainsbury's note he invited me to sit down, and after some conversation he said, "I see you want to find the arms of Sir Ferdinando Gorges for historical purposes. I don't know where it is, but if anywhere it should be here. It will require a special and difficult search, and may not be found, but I will see what can be done," and he rang a bell. A young man presented himself whom he addressed in the curt English way, "Mr. Ebbblewhite, this is an American gentleman who wants the arms of Sir Ferdinando Gorges, early seventeenth century. I want you to find it for him"; and then to me, "If you call two weeks hence at this place I will report to you." When I next visited him he called Ebbblewhite, who informed him that he had found the arms, and presented a tricking of them, which Mr. Tucker passed to me with the words, "This is what you want," and bade me a good afternoon.

A portion of the summer was passed visiting various places to inspect church registers, and local collections. Thirlestane House at Cheltenham, which contained the literary and artistic treasures of Sir Thomas Phillipps, was visited, an inspection of which cost a guinea a day, and an affidavit that I was not a Roman Catholic, of whom Sir Thomas cherished a dislike. Here Catlin, the painter of American Indians, found a home while in England, and here was his collection of paintings. I was, however, especially interested in the manuscripts, and devoted myself to them. It was in this collection that President Woods made his valuable find of the original manuscript of Hakluyt's Western Planting. His attention was called to it by Halliwell-Phillipps, and it was subsequently published by the Maine Historical Society, forming volume 2 of its Documentary Series. I was not, however, as fortunate as President Woods, though I felt well repaid for the time I spent at Cheltenham.

In talking with the son-in-law of Phillipps, I alluded to Halliwell, who was familiar with the library of Thirlestane House, and the fame he had since acquired in literature. "Yes," was the reply, "he was a fine fellow and just such a man as Sir Thomas liked, but he and Henrietta Phillipps, the youngest daughter, fell in love, and he drove him out of the house; but Henrietta was a girl of spirit, and married Halliwell in spite of her father, and he never forgave her. When he was on his death bed we urged him to see and forgive her, and he muttered 'Never.' When the end approached we had his daughter come and stand near him, and I said, 'Sir Thomas, here is Henrietta, will you forgive her?' and with almost his last breath he whispered, 'No.'" Halliwell, after the death of his father-in-law, took the family name, after which all his works bore on the title page Halliwell-Phillipps.

Another place I visited was Stogumber. It will be remembered that George Cleeve named Portland Neck, Stogomor. No one had known the reason why. It had been supposed to be an Indian name, and the Rev. Father O'Brien, who was a student of the Abenakian tongue, had tried to find for me its meaning, but without success. It occurred to me to examine the oldest topographical work in the British Museum, and in it I found that the modern Stogumber was so spelled at an early day, so, having several places to visit in that part of England, I added Stogumber to my itinerary, for I had come to believe that either Cleeve or Tucker, his partner, whose English homes were unknown, were in some way associated with the town the name of which had been applied to Portland Neck. Mr. Browne had informed me that Vicar Jones of Stogumber had been found by him to be a very disagreeable man, as he had several times written him to get items from his church registers, and been curtly answered that he had no time to bother with such matters. It was about nine o'clock when I reached the vicarage, where I presented my letter of introduction to the vicar's wife, who informed me that her husband was not up, but would see me at ten o'clock, and that I would find the church and old burying ground very interesting, as I did. At the proper hour I again presented myself at the rectory and was asked into the presence of the vicar, a comparatively young man, helpless from rheumatism. His suffering was evident, and explained his curt letters to Mr. Browne. When I explained to him that I believed that a former member of his parish had honored it by bestowing its name upon a place in the New World, he sent for the register I desired to inspect. Sitting by this suffering man, who stared at me uncomfortably while I pursued my search for what to him must have seemed of very trivial importance, I did not enjoy my task as usual, but I was rewarded by having the truth of my theory confirmed, for I found the record of Richard Tucker's birth, which proved that Portland Neck was named for his birth place.*

Among other things, I was searching for materials respecting Christopher Levett, the pioneer settler of Portland, to which he gave the name of York, his native city, some years before Cleeve and Tucker named it Stogomor.

I had found among the Conway Papers an extraordinary proclamation by the King, ordering the churches of York to take up a contribution to aid Levett, his "well beloved subject," in erecting a fort to protect his proposed colony, and was keen on the scent for other items concerning the man about whom comparatively little was known, for after leaving the nucleus of his little colony on House Island in Portland Harbor he suddenly disappeared from sight. This disappearance was soon accounted for by finding that, failing to secure people bold enough to take part in his colonial project, he sought and obtained a commission under Lord Wimbledon in the unfortunate expedition against Cadiz. After this expedition he renewed his attempts, but again disappeared from sight. What became of him had been asked but the question never answered. An item in Winthrop's Journal recording the author's landing at Salem on June 12th, 1630, had occasioned much speculation. It was as follows: "Mr. Pierce came aboard us and returned to fetch Mr. Endicott, who came to us about two of the clock, and with him Mr. Skelton and Capt. Levett."

Was this Christopher Levett? was asked and negated, and it was acknowledged that those on the negative side had the best of the argument. There was another item in Winthrop's Journal in which he says that letters he had sent home just after his arrival had been "Intercepted by occasion of the death of Capt. Levett who carried them, and died at sea." Had Winthrop said Christopher instead of "Capt. Levett," we should have known what became of this interesting pioneer in Casco Bay, but the general verdict was that Winthrop's Levett was doubtless another man.

*In 1668/9 Mar. 24, he gave his age as "about 60," and he died in 1678. Did he understate his age? The question at present cannot be answered.

Imagine my feelings when I found that seven months after Winthrop met Capt. Levett in Salem Harbor, and who, he says, had died at sea, this was recorded of him in the Probate Records of Bristol: "Frances, the widow of Christopher Levett, administered on his effects, January 23rd, 1630."* His effects were his sea chest and other things brought to Bristol on the ship which he commanded. So it was proved that Winthrop's Capt. Levett dropped out of sight by death before Cleeve and Tucker took possession of the territory upon which the dream of his life had been to found a colony which would forever perpetuate his name. So fail man's airy dreams of power and fame.

Of course, when it becomes known that a man is a collector of anything his attention is being constantly called to valuable material. One day I received a letter from Dr. Green of the Massachusetts Historical Society, enclosing a letter from Justin Winsor, informing me that he had seen a manuscript Journal of Capt. Mowat, who destroyed Portland, which I might want. I immediately ordered it; perhaps, I thought, it was the manuscript that Mr. Willis tried so hard to find in 1843. He had seen it on Rodd's catalogue and ordered it, but received the reply that it was sold to an unknown person. Every effort to trace it by Mr. Willis failed. One afternoon the manuscript I had ordered came in the mail just as I was leaving to attend a meeting of the Maine Historical Society. It was indeed the long lost manuscript, but I left it at home to read at leisure. Judge Williamson had the paper upon a Revolutionary subject, and, as he closed, called attention to the manuscript which Willis had failed to find, and stated that he himself had advertized in the London Times offering a reward for any information respecting its whereabouts. When he had finished, and was informed that he should see the manuscript after the meeting, his surprise and excitement could hardly be suppressed.

But I must not continue these experiences of success, which must appear trivial to many who do not realize that it is only by combining such items of knowledge that correct history can be written. It may perhaps be well to say that the hunter for such items has many failures. Three only will I record. I had found that Waymouth, whose Jewell of Artes I have spoken of, was, before his voyage to Maine, in the employ of the East India Company, and provided with a letter by Mr. Sainsbury to Mr. Danvers, of the India House, I went there hoping to find Waymouth's log book, which would have afforded invaluable historical material. Mr. Danvers in response to my request to show anything relating to Waymouth, brought me the Court Records of the Company, which contained a number of items of interest since published, and, after farther search, informed me that there was no other reference to him. "But," I said, "you must have the log book of the Archangel, Waymouth's ship." "That log book," he said, "I am sorry to inform you is lost. Sometimes such offices as this are given the younger sons of the nobility, who are totally unfit for such places. One of my predecessors was such a man, and, having charge of this department, thought it best to have a house-cleaning, so he turned over to a junk dealer all the valuable manuscripts in his department. They were loaded upon drays, and, as they went through the Strand, many documents were blown off, and are among some of the most valuable manuscripts now in the British Museum."

On another occasion I was seeking material relating to Portland's founder, George Cleeve, and knew that he was charged by his enemies with having forged the names of several of our early settlers to a document which he presented to Parliament. A study of the question made me believe that he had appended these names to this document as witnesses to be cited for evidence. Of course I went over the Parliamentary calendars, and found the record of the presentation of this document by Cleeve, and felt that I almost had the original in my possession. I would have it photographed, of course. Imagine my disappointment when the custodian of the documents of that period informed me that they had all been destroyed a few years before by a fire in the department where they were kept. I would not believe it until I went to Mr. Sainsbury, who ascertained that the statement was true.

In my researches at Burlington House, the imposing home of the Society of Antiquaries, in looking over their publications I found an account of a letter of Queen Elizabeth to George Waymouth, which was found behind a wainscot in tearing down an old building, and, of course, wanted a facsimile or photograph of it, so I requested the custodian to get it for me. In a short time he came back much excited to inform me that it had disappeared. Some of the members of the Society came in, and it was amusing to see what a commotion the loss occasioned. Search was made everywhere for it, and it was advertised for, but, so far as I know, it has never been found.

I will not relate my experiences in other directions, but only say that among other places which I rumaged were Lambeth Palace, the two Societies for the Propagation of the Gospel, the Bodleian Library, and the archives of Merchant Adventurers at Bristol who sent out Cabot on the famous voyage which resulted in the discovery of the North American continent in 1497. The company still keeps up its organization.

I also instituted a search, through another, in the Vatican, and made a personal examination of Spanish archives, about which I could give reminiscences interesting to cranky hunters of literature material, but not to others. The want of indexes in the Spanish archives which I visited discouraged the careful search which I hoped to make. I am glad to say that good work is being done in these archives by Mr. Biggar, for the English government. Of course rare maps are always eagerly sought by collectors of historical material, and interesting finds are often made. I will call attention to one only of my maps, of especial interest to Maine people, a map of Maine which I believe to have once been the property of Governor Edward Godfrey, a well-known figure in our early history, who returned to England about 1655 to die in prison. As it had not been reproduced, I obtained a facsimile of it, which I highly prize. And here let me speak of the facsimilists. Their skill in reproducing missing title-pages and words, as well as illustrations of rare books, is marvellous. I was told by Mr. Burt, whom I employed, that he procured every scrap of old paper he could find, and could make facsimiles of letters on paper of almost any period in the seventeenth century.

In speaking of books I have omitted to allude to grangerizing. The extra illustration of books is a pursuit much indulged in, and possesses a dangerous fascination for those whose purses are not plethoric. It is a good fad, however, for some men, and I think that if Morse, that Napoleon of speculators, had possessed it, he would to-day have been a happier man. The grangerizer first makes a judiciously prepared list of names of persons, places, and events in the book which he proposes to illustrate, and then begins his hunt for portraits of the persons, as well as engravings of the places, and illustrations of the events recorded in his list. Many of the engravings he secures are too large or too small for his purposes, and these he has inlaid to meet the size required. The most skilful in-layer known in this country, and it is claimed in Europe, was Lucius M. Poole of Boston, who could split a sheet of paper three times, thereby producing four perfect sheets. His skill was marvellous. He told me of the works of Johnson which he was illustrating for a wealthy patron, which he said would cost at least $20,000, many of the plates being costly proofs, much too large for the work and having to be greatly reduced in size, a waste which he said caused him considerable distaste for his occupation.

There are houses in this country, and many in Europe, which carry large and valuable stocks of illustrations for grangerizing. In these one can find portraits of historic personages of different periods, some of which are extremely rare; but in most cases it takes long and patient search to properly illustrate a book. If time permitted, I would be glad to extend my reminiscences on this subject.

The collection of book plates is another fad which many people are interested in, and about which many books have been written; in fact, there are several periodicals wholly devoted to the subject. The British Museum has a large collection of such books.

As a rule, collectors are shy about disclosing their particular fads, as they are aware that the world at large does not comprehend their importance. I will relate one such experience. I had made a warm friend of a gentleman whom I had fished with at the Rangeley Lakes for several seasons. On a certain occasion he invited me to come to Providence, dine with him, and spend the night. After dinner, at which we talked of fishing and various subjects, he invited me into his library, and showed me several rare books, and then asked if I had ever heard of Müller's Sistine Madonna. "Yes," I replied, "I have seen the one Williams and Everett imported which I suppose to be the only one of the seven in existence; they priced it to me about a year ago for $2000." "Why!" he exclaimed, "are you interested in such things?" and his whole manner changed, for when collectors meet they generally gabble like boys. "I bought it," he continued, "the copy you allude to," and he showed it to me as well as the first proof showing the outlines, and the second the coarser lines, which he had secured after great pains. In the three engravings he had probably locked up $4000. He also owned proofs of all the great engravers of the Madonna, and he told me that he used his collection to illustrate lectures to his mill hands, as he was a manufacturer, and had, he believed, accomplished an excellent work by so doing. To those who may wonder how a man can interest himself in picking up little items about men who have played an important part in early history, let me say, that by such means history is made. Of many such men almost nothing is known, and yet, it is important that they should be fitted into history which they helped to make. The first items to find respecting such a man are birth, marriage and death, often impossible after years of search to discover; Cleeve's record in these respects is still blank. The search for other items follows, and in process of time one, if successful, has a skeleton biography of his subject by which he can rehabilitate him, and fit him into the historical events of his time; but I am exceeding reasonable limits and will close by a quotation from a work on American Book-Plates:

"A jolly goode booke,
On which to looke
Is better to me than golde."

[AUTHOR'S NOTE.—It seems proper to remark that this was not originally written for publication, but to entertain a literary club of friends.]

PROCEEDINGS

THE sixty-eighth annual meeting of the Society was held on Wednesday, January 31, 1912, at Pilgrim Hall, 14 Beacon Street, at 2.30 p.m., a quorum being present. President BAXTER presided.

The records of the meeting of January 3 were approved.

The reports of the officers and the committees had been distributed to the members, and it was Voted, That the reports of the Corresponding Secretary, the Treasurer, the Librarian, the Historian, the Council, including its Committees, and the Trustees of the Kidder Fund, being presented in print, and now in the hands of the meeting, be accepted and ordered on file with the originals.

Relative to the indenture which was laid before the meeting between the Boston University and this Society concerning restrictions and rights of drainage, etc., in the Ashburton Place estates, it was Voted, That the President, JAMES PHINNEY BAXTER, and the Treasurer, CHARLES KNOWLES BOLTON, be authorized to execute, acknowledge, and deliver in the name and on behalf of the New England Historic Genealogical Society the instrument which has just been read whereby the said Society and Boston University release to each other the restrictions and the right to drainage respectively set forth in a certain deed given by the Mount Vernon Congregational Society to Charles Bradbury by deed dated July 29, 1844, in Book 527, page 249, Suffolk Deeds, and whereby the said Society agrees to use yellow brick facing in its new construction on the premises No. 9 Ashburton Place adjoining the said University.

It was then

Voted, To proceed to the election of officers and councillors, agreeable to chapter IV of the By-laws, and that three tellers be appointed by the chair who shall receive and count the ballots and report to this meeting.

President BAXTER appointed as temporary chairman CHARLES SIDNEY ENSIGN, LL.B. Messrs. MARSHALL PUTNAM THOMPSON, LL.B., STANLEY WEBSTER SMITH, and CHARLES NEWCOMB BAXTER, A.B., being appointed tellers, received the ballots cast.

During the counting of the ballots, REV. THOMAS FRANKLIN WATERS, A.M., of Ipswich read a paper, Some Church Troubles of the Early Times, in which he related incident after incident illustrating the harsh, rough and, at times, grotesque character of the life that resulted from the peculiar relations between the churches and the community and the ministers and the people.

A formal expression of thanks was tendered to the Rev. Mr. Waters for the pleasure he had given in presenting the results of his wide research as historian into the life of the past.

The tellers reported the result of the balloting, 120 ballots having been cast :

President

JAMES PHINNEY BAXTER, A.M., Litt.D., of Portland, Me.

Vice-Presidents

NATHANIEL JOHNSON RUST, of Boston, Mass.

WILLIAM DAVIS PATTERSON, of Wiscasset, Me.

JOHN CARROLL CHASE, of Derry, N. H.

WILLIAM WALLACE STICKNEY, LL.D., of Ludlow, Vt.

JOHN TAGGARD BLODGETT, A.M., of Providence, R. I.

JAMES JUNIUS GOODWIN, LL.D., of Hartford, Conn.

Recording Secretary

JOHN ALBREE, of Swampscott, Mass.

Corresponding Secretary

HENRY EDWARDS SCOTT, A.B., of Medford, Mass.

Treasurer

CHARLES KNOWLES BOLTON, A.B., of Shirley, Mass.

Librarian

WILLIAM PRESCOTT GREENLAW, of Winthrop, Mass.

Councillor for the term of one year, 1912

GEORGE ANDREWS MORIARTY, JR., A.M., of Newport, R. I.

Councillors for the term of three years, 1912, 1913, 1914

DESMOND FITZGERALD, C.E., of Brookline, Mass.

ADELINÉ FRANCES FITZ, of Wakefield, Mass.

FRANK ERNEST WOODWARD, of Wellesley Hills, Mass.

The CHAIRMAN appointed Messrs. MARSHALL PUTNAM THOMPSON, LL.B., and CHARLES IRVING THAYER to escort the President to the chair.

The PRESIDENT then delivered the annual address, in which he told of his wide research both in record offices and private libraries here and abroad.

It was then

Voted, That the proceedings of this meeting, with the annual reports accepted, the address of the President, and the biographical notices of the deceased members, be printed as a supplement to the April, 1912, number of the NEW ENGLAND HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL REGISTER, that a copy of said supplement be mailed to every member of the Society not receiving the REGISTER, to the families of members deceased during the past year, to donors in 1911, and to exchanging societies, and that the Council be charged with the execution of this order.

On motion of the RECORDING SECRETARY it was Voted, That the New England Historic Genealogical Society enters on its records at this time its appreciation of the services rendered by the retiring officers, HENRY WINCHESTER CUNNINGHAM, Vice-President, WILLIAM RICHARD CUTTER, Corresponding Secretary, and MRS. KATE HASWELL WEAD, MISS MARY CUMMINGS SAWYER, HOSEA STARR BALLOU, and PRENTISS CUMMINGS, Councillors, who have during their terms of office given of their time, their thought, and their counsel that the broad purpose of the Society, the collection and preservation of genealogical records for the public benefit, might be attained.

At 4.30 p.m. it was voted to dissolve the meeting, after which the audience remained to enjoy the hospitality of the Society as expressed in coffee and Tunbridge Cakes (1807).

Attest :

JOHN ALBREE,
Recording Secretary.

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL

Prepared by JOHN ALBREE

THE Society in its By-laws prescribes that the Council "shall make a report which shall include a statement of its doings during the past year, and recommendations as to the future," and furthermore that the Council "shall fix all salaries, authorize all expenditures . . . and see that the By-Laws are complied with." The Council submits herewith its own report and the reports of the Committees.

As inquiries are frequently made by those interested in the welfare of the Society, it may be well at this time to enter somewhat into details.

Members

The membership December 31, 1911, is as follows :

Resident Members
Admitted prior to January 1, 1903, and paying $3.00 annually	.	.	186
Admitted under present By-law, paying $5.00 annually, and receiving the REGISTER	.	590	776
Life Members
Admitted prior to January 1, 1903, on one payment of $30.00	.	.	128
Admitted under present By-law, paying $50.00 and receiving the REGISTER	.	162	290
Corresponding Members	.	.	61
Honorary Members	.	.	6
			1133

It is a matter of congratulation that the members give such loyal support to the Society. The measure of this support is shown in the extremely small number of those whose membership ceased in 1911 because the annual assessment was not received within one year after it became due, there having been but four. There was some additional loss through those whose mail the post-office could not deliver. The fact first stated is most satisfactory to the Council, and it must be also pleasing to the Society, as it is an exceptional record for a large society having annual assessments.

As participation in the support of this Society is thus clearly shown to be appreciated, the Council recommends this fact to the members as a reason for inviting friends to become members also.

Finances

The financial condition of the Society and a summary of the transactions of the year are given in the Treasurer's report, concerning which some comment may be made. The cost of the large work the Society conducts is given in the report, including the maintenance of a free genealogical library with trained assistants, the publication of a large amount of genealogical material in the REGISTER and elsewhere, the conducting of monthly meetings with constantly increasing attendance, and the results attained in other avenues of opportunity, all of which call for the intelligent expenditure of money, nearly $11,000 being required.

The sources of this required income and the manner of its expenditures may be summarized if we condense the report somewhat by combining items and using round numbers as an aid to memory.

Receipts		Per cent.
Income from Invested Funds	$7,000	64
Admissions and membership assessments	3,600	33
Miscellaneous sources	300	3
	$10,900	100
Payments
Maintenance and all expenses	$8,800	81
Books for the Library	1,500	14
Cost of REGISTER (excess)	500	5
	$10,800	100

The results of the generous forethought of those now passed away who provided the permanent funds for the Society is clearly indicated in this summary. Two-thirds of the money required for the annual running expenses of the Society comes from the funds in Schedule B, in which are given the names of those whose memory is pleasant. Does not the motto on the Society's seal, In memoriam majorum, take a new meaning at the showing in this summary?

The special funds of the Society as given in Schedule B amount to $190,000, of which $131,000, as per Schedule A, are invested in securities as there shown, and the balance is represented by the cost of the real estate now being used for the new building. The income from this investment in real estate, now serving the purpose of its acquirement, will now cease and other sources must be found, if the work of the Society is not to be hampered. The danger of loss of the Library by fire, which must be definitely terminated, is in itself a sufficient warrant for a temporary decrease in income, for it is believed that the friends of the Society and of its work will come to its relief.

The Council is confident that the Society will approve this course.

New Building

The especial duty that has devolved upon the Council during the year has been that set forth in the vote of the Society, December 7, 1910, when the Council was "authorized and instructed to erect a suitable building for the present and probable future needs of the Society on the land now owned by the Society on Beacon Hill, with an entrance from Ashburton Place; and also to make all plans necessary for financing the same."

With the exception of the estate acquired in 1909, through which access is obtained to Ashburton Place, all the land was bought in 1903, and the account of the transaction is given in the report of the Council for that year, prepared by Edmund Dana Barbour (Proceedings, 1904, p. xix). Recent developments have shown the sagacity of these purchases, for the Society now has 8,553 square feet of land, a lot large enough for the new building and for the needed light areas adjacent.

The details incident to the accomplishment of the purpose of the Society's vote have been entrusted by the Council to a committee of nine, and the acts of this committee have been approved by the Council from time to time as the work has progressed. Printed appeals for subscriptions brought such a response that there could be no reason for any delay in the important undertaking.

In addition to the purpose on the part of the Council to carry out the wishes of the Society as expressed in the vote, there was another force at work, the sense of personal responsibility on the part of the members of the Council for the safeguarding of the Society's treasures. Plans were prepared after careful investigation, architects selected, contracts awarded, and the work of building has been begun. It is true that but $40,000 have been subscribed, while at least $115,000 are needed; but it is more judicious to enter upon the construction of the new building at once and rely upon the friends of the Society for the balance required, than it is to run the risk of the destruction of the books while waiting for the whole amount to be subscribed. The risk of loss is too great to excuse delay, and even though the users of the Library may be put to inconvenience during the transition period and until the new building is fitted, the assurance that the books will be safe will be ample compensation.

The best judgment and the practical experience of the Librarian and the staff, as well as of those who have built libraries elsewhere, have been embodied in the plans for the new building, and with the result the Society will feel content.

Publications

The amount of printed matter that the Society publishes in one year is large, and it is standard material printed on paper that will endure. During the year 1911 over three thousand pages were printed.

For nearly thirty years one matter of importance has been before the Council. It was an appreciation of the need of an index by which the vast store of material in the REGISTER might be made readily accessible to searchers who otherwise would have to consult the old-style incomplete index in each volume. During the year this undertaking, begun in 1896, has been completed for the first fifty volumes of the REGISTER. The amount of careful work and persistent effort which are represented in the four volumes of the Consolidated Index is enormous, and it is a credit to the Society that the work has been satisfactorily accomplished.

English Research

This work, conducted at the expense of subscribers, as is shown in the Committee's report, is resulting in an accumulation of valuable unpublished material on the difficult and baffling genealogical problem: How to establish the English origins of the emigrants.

Three of the members of the Committee visited England during the summer and worked with Miss French, who is searching for facts for the Committee, her contributions appearing regularly in the REGISTER.

The members of the Council congratulate the Society on the completion of a successful year, and at the same time ask the fullest co-operation in the great undertaking that has been committed to them, the financing and the erecting of the new building. There can be no more forceful or true expression of the spirit which must animate the members of the Society on this work than that of Marshall P. Wilder in 1870, when he said, referring to preserving in proper surroundings the 8,300 volumes in the Library at that time:

“To preserve these, to provide room for further acquisitions, and for the accommodation of our large and constantly increasing number of members, is the imperative duty of the society. Our attention has so often been called to this subject that it may seem superfluous to allude to it again. But the time has come when in my judgment no further delay can be sanctioned. The time has arrived when absolute necessity, public sentiment and personal obligations, demand that this work be done, and that it be done quickly.” (REGISTER, vol. 24, p. 165.)

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON FINANCE, prepared for the Committee.

The Committee on Finance begs to report as follows for the year 1911 :

Notice has been received of the bequest of $500 to the Society by Mehitable C. C. Wilson, late of Cambridge.

The following change of investment has been made during the year, the placing of $1,000 of the George Sumner Mann Fund in the Provident Institution for Savings where the interest is added semi-annually to the principal as the requirements of the will demand.

Donations and pledges to the amount of $40,005 have been received towards the proposed new building.

All bills paid during the year have as usual been personally examined and approved by a member of this Committee.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON THE LIBRARY, by Helen Frances Kimball, Chairman :

Continuing the policy of the last few years of completing those collections of books relating to localities most in demand by members of the Society and visitors, special attention has been given this year to the purchase of works on New York counties and towns, the most important item of which is a complete set of the "Index of the Public Records of Albany County from 1630 to 1894," consisting of 27 folio volumes.

Mention has been made in previous reports of the purpose of the Library Committee to undertake the making of a comprehensive card index of genealogical data relating to American families and their antecedents, similar in character to Munsell's Index but much more comprehensive in scope.

The Committee is pleased to report that this purpose has now developed into a consistent working plan and that the new index is well under way. Miss Josephine E. Rayne, of the Consolidated Index staff, has the matter in her immediate charge, but it is expected that other members of the Library staff will assist in the work so far as their regular duties will permit.

Fifty thousand index cards have been made especially for this work at one of the best mills in the country. They have been ruled and printed so that when filled out the genealogical searcher can see at a glance whether the information contained in the book is what is needed, without consulting the book itself.

The scope of this index will hardly be appreciated by those not familiar with its details, until it takes definite shape as a working plan in the proposed new Society building. It will be unique and of immense assistance to all workers in the genealogical field. The conception of this comprehensive guide is wholly due to our Librarian, and its proper title, when printed, should be "Greenlaw's Genealogical Index."

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON PUBLICATIONS, by Henry Edwards Scott, A.B., Secretary:

The Committee on Publications reports that during the year 1911, in addition to the REGISTER and the Proceedings at the Annual Meeting, which together make a volume of 518 pages, the Society published the Vital Records of Carver, Stow, Worthington, Hopkinton, Duxbury, Kingston, Brockton, and West Bridgewater, 8 volumes containing 2,505 pages — in all 3,023 pages for the year. Other volumes of Vital Records are in preparation.

In accordance with the recommendation of the Committee, the Council voted to increase the subscription price of the REGISTER from seventy-five cents per copy and three dollars per year to one dollar per copy and four dollars per year, and this increase in price takes effect with the first number of volume 66 (January 1912). This change has been made necessary by the increased cost of the material and labor employed in the production of the magazine.

Beginning with the number of the REGISTER for July, 1911, a change was made in the method of noticing books presented to the Society. Instead of the brief review formerly printed, only the full title of a work, with such descriptive remarks as are sometimes necessary to explain the scope of the contents, is now given, and it is believed that in this form the book notices are of greater use for reference.

The Committee wishes to express its appreciation of the valuable and faithful services of Mr. Henry Winchester Cunningham (for two years past the efficient Chairman of the Committee) and of Mr. Charles Knowles Bolton, whose recent resignations from the Committee are deeply regretted by their former colleagues.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON PAPERS AND ESSAYS, by Ethel Stanwood Bolton, A.B., Chairman:

The Committee on Papers and Essays submits herewith its annual report, including a list of papers and speakers for the stated meetings of the Society during the year 1911.

January 4.—"The History and Development of Conveyancing," by Hon. William T. A. Fitzgerald, LL.B., of Boston, Mass.

January 25.—"An Old Diary of a Young Man," by John Albree, of Swampscott, Mass.

February 1.—"Beautiful New Brunswick and Historic Quebec," by Minna Eliot Tenney, of Boston, Mass.

March 1.—"Over Southern Battlefields To-day," by Robert Lincoln O'Brien, A.B., of Brookline, Mass.

April 5.—"The Mohawk Trail in Massachusetts," by Hon. John Adams Aiken, LL.B., of Boston, Mass.

May 3.—"Three Months in the Philippines," by Desmond FitzGerald, of Brookline, Mass.

October 4.—"The Old Days in Gloucester," by Miss Helen Burnham Merchant, B.A., of Gloucester, Mass.

November 1.—"Colonial and Revolutionary Music in New England," by Miss Alice Warren Pope, of Newton Highlands, Mass.

December 6.—"The Story of an Old Church in New Hampshire," by Rev. James De Normandie, A.M., S.T.D., of Roxbury, Mass.

The stated meetings have been held this year, as they were last, in Pilgrim Hall. Even in this larger hall the seating capacity was taxed at our November meeting, a stormy day. The average attendance for 1910 was 114, and the average for this year shows a gain of 46 per cent., having increased to 167.

The papers "Beautiful New Brunswick and Historic Quebec," "Over Southern Battlefields To-day," and "Three Months in the Philippines," were illustrated with stereopticon views. The paper on "Colonial and Revolutionary Music in New England" was made more interesting by a quartet, in costume, accompanied by a piano and 'cello.

Last year an innovation was made at the annual meeting. A paper was read by a member, and proved a most successful addition.

The refreshments served at the meetings have induced our members and friends to linger after the meetings, and have greatly enhanced the social aspect of the occasion.

Another innovation this year has been the issuance of guest tickets. These have sometimes accompanied the notices of the meetings, and sometimes remained in the hands of the Librarian for distribution among those who ask for them. They have proved of greater usefulness in advertising the meetings and the Society than our former advertisements in the papers. In pursuance of the same plan, the Committee, at the beginning of the autumn, printed a small programme containing a list of the essays for the ensuing season. These have been very generally distributed and have been frequently in requisition since.

The expenses of the Committee have been somewhat large, but have come within the appropriation allowed to it. The time will soon come, however, when it will not always be possible to furnish a programme that will equal the last in interest, without paying something to our speakers. Your Committee believes that the increased attendance at the meetings, and the addition to our membership for which the meetings are responsible, is a sufficient justification for a judicious expenditure in this way.

The Report of the COMMITTEE TO ASSIST THE HISTORIAN, by Andrew Fiske, Ph.D., Chairman :

As Chairman of the Committee to assist the Historian, I beg to report that on February 23, 1911, I wrote the Historian, Mr. William R. Cutter, offering him the services of the Committee. He replied that he saw no immediate need of calling the Committee, but later might be glad to call for assistance.

Acting on this suggestion, I have not called the Committee together, and have been waiting for word from the Historian, but up to this time have received no request for assistance.

I, therefore, beg to report that your Committee has held no meetings and done no work.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON ENGLISH RESEARCH, by Charles Sherburne Penhallow, A.B., Chairman :

The Committee on English Research has the pleasure of reporting its income and expenses for the past year, ending December 30, 1911.

It has received, as the report shows, the sum of $296.00 as further additions to its Fund, which, with the amount on hand ($529.17) at the beginning of the year, has been sufficient to meet the expenses ($729.65) and leave a balance of $95.52.

Miss French has been doing excellent work, as her contributions to the REGISTER have shown; and her work is getting more and more valuable all the time as she becomes more familiar with it, and with our requirements. The Committee hopes that the Society, through its members, will give such assistance as will permit it to continue its work.

Report of the COMMITTEE ON HERALDRY, by Robert Dickson
Weston, A.B., Chairman:

The Committee on Heraldry begs leave to report that during the past year no questions have arisen of sufficient importance to require a meeting of the committee. The members of the committee individually have given advice and assistance to a number of persons who have either called upon them personally or written letters to the Society in respect to heraldic matters.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON EPITAPHS, by Charles Sidney Ensign, LL.B., Chairman:

The Society has received during the year 1911 as gifts the following records, namely: Records of Walnut Hill Cemetery, Brookline, from Mrs. William S. Heywood; Inscriptions from Grave-stones in Cemetery, Worth Pond, formerly a part of New Salem, Orange, Mass., from William C. Taylor; Gilmanton and Alton, N. H. Cemetery Inscriptions, from Mrs. Mary Lovering Holman; Cemetery Records, Westmoreland, N. H., from Mrs. Ella E. Patten Abbott; Cemetery Inscriptions, New York City, from James Minor Lincoln; The Cemetery Inscriptions, Hamden, Conn., by purchase; and from the Eddy Town-Record Fund the gravestone records of Duxbury, Evergreen Cemetery in Kingston, and Stow, all in Massachusetts.

Your Committee desires that the non-resident members of our Society should interest themselves in the collection of graveyard memorials for deposit in the Society's archives. It will co-operate with individuals and patriotic societies for its accomplishment, although it has no funds; for its wish is that in the near future there may be a record of every cemetery in New England in its safe.

It is gratifying to report the rapidly increasing feeling by towns and individuals of an obligation for the restoration and proper preservation of old cemeteries, and the severe punishment of vandalism that desecrates them.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON COLLECTION OF RECORDS, by Edward Chauncey Booth, M.D., Chairman:

The Committee on Collection of Records begs leave to report that during the year 1911 there have been added to the Society's library sixty-eight manuscripts. Thirty-eight of these manuscripts are genealogies and eleven are church and vital records.

The members and friends of the Society have shown much interest during the past year in securing manuscripts for our collection, and some have copied family and vital records when the original manuscripts could not be obtained for our library.

A limited use has been made during the year of the blanks for recording genealogical data in a dictionary of heads of families which this Committee had designed and printed and which were described in our report last year. These forms may be secured at the Library, and we urge members and others interested in genealogical research to use the blanks for filing with the Society any unprinted genealogical data that they may have in their possession.

Report of the COMMITTEE ON THE CONSOLIDATED INDEX, by F. Athorp Foster, Chairman:

The Committee on the Consolidated Index reports that, with the completion of the Index of Places, consisting of one part, 123 pages, the work on the Index to volumes 1-50 of the REGISTER has been finished. In the preparation of the Index of Places references were eliminated which had no value to the inquirer or which offered no information.

A binding jacket for volume 4 of the Consolidated Index has been made so that the Index of Subjects (3 parts) and the Index of Places (one part) can be bound together. The price of the case is fifty cents; for case and binding, one dollar.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON THE SALE OF PUBLICATIONS, prepared for the Committee.

The Committee on the Sale of Publications begs to submit the following report for the year 1911 :

Besides the regular publications of the Society, the following have been added to the stock of books for sale: Two hundred and ninety-two copies of the "History and Genealogy of Deacon Joseph Eastman of Hadley, Mass.," by M. Emily Eastman, 1908, 262 p. 8°, given by M. Emily Eastman; price $3.00.

During the year two complete sets of the NEW ENGLAND HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL REGISTER, with Consolidated Index, have been sold at a fair profit.

The receipts from sales of miscellaneous REGISTERS have been $922.07, a slight gain over last year. The sales of miscellaneous books have netted $159.35.

The Report of the COMMITTEE ON INCREASE OF MEMBERSHIP, by John Albert Holmes, C.E., Chairman :

The Committee on Increase of Membership begs to report as follows :

During the year the Committee held three meetings, at which plans for increasing the membership of the Society were discussed and outlined. One hundred new members have been added during the year. The Committee regrets that it was responsible for recommending only twenty-two candidates for election. It ought to have found five hundred desirable persons who are deeply interested in genealogy to recommend for the Society.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

Presented by WILLIAM PRESCOTT GREENLAW

AGAIN the Librarian is required by the flight of time and the organic law of the Society to present an annual statement of the condition and the wants of the Library and the Cabinet and report the names of all donors.

The Library has not changed materially during the year just past other than by the normal growth through accessions and by the wear consequent upon frequent consultation of books in certain classes. The collection is fairly complete in the publications which come fully within a very broad interpretation of its scope, and quite complete in those publications which fall within a more narrow interpretation. The phrase "not in the Library," formerly so much used in replying to the inquiries of visitors, has been gradually falling into disuse and is now rarely heard. Many of the genealogical books in the collection are showing the effect of hard usage, but thanks to more ample funds for the purchase of books, worn-out copies are now being replaced. The condition of the Cabinet remains practically the same as formerly.

The chief needs of the Library are space for expansion, the reduction to the minimum of the risk of loss by fire, and permanent funds to provide annual income for rebinding, cataloguing, indexing, and care of the books. The Cabinet needs space and cases for the display of articles of public interest, and funds for the restoration and the preservation of the portraits. Space and safety seem assured in the near future in the new building.

The total accessions for the year number 829 volumes, 437 pamphlets, and 143 miscellaneous articles. Of these, 349 volumes, 78 pamphlets, and 10 miscellaneous articles were purchased; 389 volumes, 346 pamphlets, and 133 miscellaneous articles were given; and 91 volumes and 13 pamphlets were received in exchange. These accessions added to the estimated number in the Library as reported last year, give 37,017 volumes and 36,490 pamphlets as the approximate number in the Library, December 31, 1911.

No large collections of genealogies have been dispersed through the auction rooms this year, and dealers in second-hand books have not quoted as many as usual, consequently the number added to the Library was less than the average of recent years. The following table shows the number of genealogies secured during the last ten years :

1902	625	1907	374
1903	362	1908	226
1904	362	1909	362
1905	253	1910	431
1906	177	1911	276
	Total	3448
	Average per year	345

Notwithstanding this remarkable record, the "want list" is increasing rather than diminishing. Many genealogies were privately printed in limited editions strictly for the use of the families, and copies of these are frequently not obtainable when information about them reaches the libraries. Occasionally the first knowledge obtained is from the appearance of the book itself. Recently a forty-page genealogy, totally unknown to bibliographers of the subject, printed in Massachusetts forty-four years ago, was brought in as a donation!

The visitors' register shows eight per cent. increase of use of the Library by non-members over the preceding year. It also indicates, by the greater number of states and foreign countries represented, a more general interest in family history. A study of the statistics of the use of this Library, together with the experience derived from personal contact in assisting visitors for many years, justifies the assertion that interest in genealogy is constantly growing, is gradually spreading, and what is equally important from the viewpoint of this Society, is becoming more stable in character. There is far less genealogical research now than formerly as a means to a social end, and more investigation for the actual information itself, or to obtain material for publication. The change in this respect in recent years has been quite marked. In addition to those who use the Library personally, many other non-members are served through the medium of professional genealogists, several of whom can usually be found in the Library industriously gathering data for distant clients. In 1911 the Society issued a directory of American and English genealogists, dealers in genealogical books, and printers and publishers who make a specialty of genealogical work, particularly for the benefit of those residing at a distance who wish information of this nature. Before 1911, the practice was to send out typewritten lists in answer to inquiries. The new method not only reduces expense in replying to inquirers, but also yields a substantial amount of revenue, and gives every one in the directory an equal chance. The visitors' register does not indicate the amount of the indirect use of the Library by non-members, because the professional genealogists are nearly all members of the Society, and consequently do not register.

Late in the year work was begun on the guide to genealogical data relating to American families, recommended in the last annual report of the Librarian. Miss Josephine E. Rayne, formerly of the Library staff, and later in charge of the Consolidated Index, is in charge of this new undertaking.

The selection of durable materials for whatever is subject to excessive use leads to ultimate economy. This is especially true of books, where the cost of repair and replacement of a volume in a reference library through a long term of years may be increased many fold by the use of inferior materials. The difference in cost per volume for manufacture, however, is slight. Some books, after repeated rebinding, have been discarded from this Library as worn out at the end of ten years, while others, equally as much in demand, have withstood the use and abuse of half a century, and still seem to be in good condition. In past years the Librarian has given some time to the study of book papers and binding materials in the hope that the expense of rebinding and replacing books might be lessened in the future by the adoption of durable grades of paper and cloth. Because of his investigations, standards of paper for books and of cloth for binding were chosen for this Society's use.

This year he has taken up the matter of catalogue cards and attempted to establish a high grade of stock to meet the peculiar needs of this Library, where written cards will receive excessive use in the new genealogical index. In the problem of cards, as in that of paper, the services of a chemical engineer and fibre expert were drawn upon to assist in securing the qualities desired; and they will be needed in the future to maintain the standard adopted. As a result of investigations and experiments, a card stock was produced having a maximum of first-class fibres (100% rag), a minimum of mineral ash (0.75%), great bursting strength (126 pounds, Mullen), high tensile strength (83 pounds machine direction, 57 pounds cross direction), very high folding test (3292, double folds, machine direction), excellent erasure quality (8), and freedom from injurious chemicals. The best cards found in stock and analyzed, while all rag fibre and free from loading, were much inferior in bursting strength, tensile strength (both directions), and erasure quality, and they were very much inferior in folding test (1112).

Certainly this Society, in having its book paper, binding cloth, and catalogue cards made to order at reliable mills on its own specifications, is lessening to some extent the burden for the future upkeep of the Library. It is gratifying to note not only that the Society's "Standard" paper is coming into general use for genealogies and local histories but also that the Society's policy is being followed by a kindred institution in the matter of having its book paper made to order and water-marked with its name. It is to be hoped that still others will do the same.

During the year the Librarian, as a member of the sub-committee on plans for the proposed new building, has devoted considerable time to the study in detail of some of the problems involved in planning a fireproof structure suited to the present and probable future needs of this Society and adapted to the particular site chosen for the edifice. To settle positively in his own mind a number of the problems pertaining to this undertaking, he has visited new library buildings in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and New York, and noted how other institutions have dealt with similar questions. Another officer of the Society accompanied him on most of the occasions. The library structures examined have ranged in cost from the comparatively inexpensive to the relatively extravagant per unit of shelving capacity, and they have furnished ample opportunity to study different methods of construction and various makes of library fixtures. Equipped with about twenty years' intimate knowledge of the Society, its work and its needs, he has tried to embody the conclusions derived from his studies and his long experience in the plans for the proposed building. With this end in view he drew crude, tentative sketches for the lay-out of the entire building, which served as a basis for the architects' preliminary plans. Then, with the preliminary plans in hand, he consulted the heads and clerical force of each department (as well as many members of the Society), asked for suggestions, and obtained the approval of all concerned in the administration of the various departments before the final scheme for the building was adopted. The plans approved follow the general scheme of the first sketches; and they provide adequate accommodations for the various departments, divided between them in proportion to their relative importance, conveniently located for their specific purposes, and planned to promote efficiency and economy of administration. Every foot of available space has been utilized, and it is believed that the comparative cost per volume of shelving capacity will be found low, notwithstanding that efficient and expensive safeguards against fire have been provided for the entire building.

The year 1911 has been an eventful one for the Library. The completion of the Consolidated Index to the REGISTER, furnishing one more guide for genealogical searchers, the beginning of the index to genealogical data relating to American families, the successful attempt to secure adequate and safe quarters for the Library in the future, the disposal of the old building to an institution which will be a highly desirable neighbor, are events of sufficient importance to make the year one to be remembered in the history of the Society.

MEMOIRS

Prepared by WILLIAM RICHARD CUTTER, A.M., Historian

THE following pages contain obituary notices of members who died during the year 1911, with the addition of thirteen deceased in preceding years. It is noticeable that many members of very long standing in the Society are included in this list. The notices are arranged in the order in which the deaths occurred.

ROBERT HOVENDEN, F.S.A., F.R.H.S., of Croydon, Surrey, England, a corresponding member since 1893, has been reported as deceased, date not given. He edited publications of the Harleian Society, and Allibone connects his name with two published works, both being parish registers; but all attempts have thus far failed to obtain any further account of his life.

HENRY MARTYN FIELD, A.M., D.D., a corresponding member from 1860, known as a minister, editor, and author, died January 26, 1907. He was born at Stockbridge April 3, 1822, the son of Rev. David Dudley Field.

He was graduated at Williams College in 1838, studied theology, became pastor of a Presbyterian church at St. Louis in 1842, and resigned in 1847 to go abroad. He visited Ireland in the year of the famine, spent a winter in Paris, and saw the revolution of 1848. Returning, he settled in West Springfield, Mass., and in 1854 removed to New York to become partner and, later, sole owner and editor of The Evangelist, with which he was connected for forty-four years. He made the circuit of the globe during 1875 and 1876, described by himself in a work of two volumes, entitled, "From the Lakes of Killarney to the Golden Horn," and "From Egypt to Japan"—a work which has passed through twenty editions. Later he journeyed extensively in the Orient, which he described in his three books, entitled, "On the Desert," "Among the Holy Hills," and "The Greek Islands." He also wrote on Spain, Gibraltar, and the Barbary Coast, as well as on home topics, the lives of his distinguished brothers, etc. His home address was Stockbridge, Mass.

AUGUSTUS WHITEMORE CORLISS, * Colonel, U. S. A., Retired, a corresponding member since 1875, was born at North Yarmouth, Me., March 25, 1837, the son of Robert Elwell and Asenath (Field) Corliss, and died at Denver, Col., September 4, 1908.

He served successively as second lieutenant, first lieutenant, and major of the 1st Rhode Island Cavalry from December 26, 1861, until mustered out October 2, 1862; as major of the 2d Rhode Island Cavalry from December 24, 1862; and as lieutenant-colonel of the same regiment from January 19 to July 11, 1863, when he resigned. Entering the regular army, he served as private and first sergeant of Company H, 2d Battalion, 15th Infantry, between March 14 and August 9, 1865; as second lieutenant and first lieutenant of the 15th Infantry from July 21, 1865; was transferred to the 33d Infantry September 21, 1866, and to the 8th Infantry May 3, 1869; became captain May 29, 1873; major of the 17th Infantry February 4, 1897; was transferred to the 7th Infantry February 23, 1897; and became lieutenant-colonel of the 2d Infantry February 6, 1899. He was retired in 1901.

During the Civil war he was engaged in the battles of Antietam, in the siege and capture of Port Hudson, and in other actions, while in later years he served in various Indian campaigns. During the period of his service he was engaged at different times as adjutant and regimental quartermaster.

After joining this Society he became active in the promotion of its objects, and his name appears often in the REGISTER. He issued a "Genealogical Record of the Corliss Family of America," in an edition of only sixty-two copies, executed under the unfavorable circumstances of camp and campaign, and printed on a small hand-press at Camp McDowell, Ariz. Georgia was the scene of its beginning; North Carolina, South Carolina, Dakota, Montana, Nebraska, and Arizona the places of its continuance. His next venture was a magazine devoted to the history of Yarmouth, Me., issued quarterly, under the title of Old Times. This publication was discontinued with its eighth volume. The story of its publication is told in the REGISTER for 1885. As this shows, Colonel Corliss is entitled to great credit for the prosecution of genealogical work under unusual difficulties.

He was four times married: first, January 1, 1861, to Eliza Lurena Twitchell; secondly to Mary Elizabeth Alvarez; thirdly to Eliza Crawford Cunningham; and fourthly, December 3, 1870, to Mrs. Frances (Thompson) Russell.

* According to the "Army Register" he was Brigadier General.

JOSEPH HARTWELL BARRETT, A.M., LL.D., of Loveland, Ohio, a corresponding member since 1864, died April 10, 1910. He was born at Ludlow, Vt., April 15, 1824, the son of Edward Barrett of Chelmsford, Mass., and his mother was a descendant of William Bassett of Plymouth Colony.

Mr. Barrett prepared for college at Black River Academy, Ludlow, and was graduated at Middlebury College in 1845. He taught in New York City, Walpole, N. H., and Chester, Vt.; was editor of the Middlebury Galaxy; studied law with Horatio Seymour, and was admitted to the bar in 1851. He represented Middlebury in the Vermont Legislature, 1851-2; was Secretary of the Vermont Senate, 1853-4; and a delegate from Ohio to the Republican National Convention in 1860. Mr. Barrett edited the Cincinnati Daily Gazette, the Cincinnati Daily Chronicle, and Times. He published a life of Abraham Lincoln, and wrote articles for reviews. In 1861 he was appointed Commissioner of Pensions at Washington.

He married, March 31, 1853, Harriet Whiting Lowell, and had a son, Arthur Lowell.

Abridged, in part, from "Catalogue of the Officers and Students of Middlebury College, 1800 to 1900," by Walter E. Howard and Charles E. Prentiss, 1901.

REV. JOHN PERKINS FORBES of Taunton, a resident member since 1895, died at Brooklyn, N. Y., April 16, 1910. He was the son of Laban Porter and Hannah Snow (Perkins) Forbes. His father was a native of Bridgewater, and his mother of Middleborough, Mass., where the subject of this sketch was born March 28, 1855.

He was graduated at Bridgewater Academy in 1871, but was unable to enter college because of delicate health, and studied with private tutors for three years in the classics and history. Later he studied law for two years, being a part of the time a student in the office of the Hon. Peter C. Bacon of Worcester. He then entered the Harvard Divinity School, where he was a special student in 1877 and 1878. In 1887 he was elected a trustee of Bristol Academy, Taunton, Mass., and in 1888 was made secretary of the corporation. In 1891 he was elected a trustee of the Taunton Public Library, and was also a member of the Old Colony Historical Society. He was ordained to the ministry and installed pastor of the First Congregational Society (Unitarian) of Westborough, Mass., September 11, 1878, and was installed pastor of the First Congregational Society in Arlington, Mass., October 10, 1882. He was next installed over the First Congregational Society in Taunton, March 30, 1887. He declined, in May, 1891, an invitation to the pastorate of the Second Church in Boston, and in April, 1894, an invitation to the pastorate of the First Parish in Dorchester.

He married, June 22, 1876, Maria Almy, daughter of Jonathan Marsh and Rebecca (Lund) Sawyer, by whom he had a son, Roger Sawyer, born October 24, 1878.

SETH HASTINGS GRANT, A.M., of Montclair, N. J., a corresponding member since 1858, died May, 1910. He was born June 6, 1828, at Marshall, Oneida County, N. Y., the son of Asahel and Electa Spafford (Loomis) Grant. His father, a native of Marshall, died April 24, 1844, at Mosul, Turkey; and his mother, a native of Torrington, Conn., died August 4, 1831, at Braintrim, Pa. He was descended from Matthew¹ Grant the emigrant, through John,² Josiah,³ Increase,⁴ Ambrose,⁵ William,⁶ and Asahel,⁷ his father.

He studied at the College of New York, 1843-5; received an honorary A.M. from Yale in 1856; was clerk with Wiley and Putnam and John Wiley, publishers and booksellers, 1846-9; librarian of the New York Mercantile Library, 1849-66; editor of Norton's Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular, 1850-5; associate editor of the American Publishers' Circular, 1863-71; in the brokerage and real estate business, 1866-73; superintendent of New York Produce Exchange, 1873-82; private secretary to Mayor Edson, 1882-3; comptroller of New York City, 1883-4; vice-president of the United States National Bank, 1884-5; secretary of the first Librarians' Convention, and of the Athenæum Club; compiler of "New York City during the American Revolution," a contributor to the Historical Magazine; recording and corresponding secretary and vice-president of the New York Bible Society; trustee of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society and one of the founders of its Record; chairman of the board of examiners for positions under the New York City Board of Excise for ten years; deacon of the Madison Square Presbyterian Church, 1860-85, and elder, 1886-90.

He married in New York, October 14, 1858, Margaret Van Antwerp, born there December 24, 1836, the daughter of Samuel Marvin Beckley and his wife Margaret Demilt Van Antwerp.

Abridged, in part, from "The Grant Family History," by Arthur Hastings Grant, 1898, p. 227.

JOHN AUSTIN STEVENS, A.B., of Newport, R. I., a corresponding member of this Society since 1863, died at Newport June 16, 1910, in his eighty-fourth year, having spent about fifteen years of his life there. He was born in New York January 21, 1827, the son of John Austin Stevens and grandson of Ebenezer Stevens of Boston, the latter an officer in the Revolution, and he could trace his descent from a notable New England ancestry.

In his boyhood he attended school in New York, and entered Harvard College at the age of fifteen, graduating in 1846. Being fortunate enough to have ample means, he still preferred industry to idleness, and worked for work's sake. With the outbreak of the Civil War he found a field for patriotic service, and while he fought not with the sword, he did so with the pen, acquiring the title of "first private citizen" from the usefulness of his writings to the country.

He began business life as a clerk in the large commercial house of Spofford, Tileston & Company, and rose rapidly to a position of trust. From 1852 to 1861 he was engaged in the importation of Cuban goods. The war having ended this business, he entered upon the effort to influence the public in favor of the election of President Lincoln. He was the organizer of the National War Committee, and a plan he suggested for depot camps received the approval of the War Department.

Mr. Stevens reorganized, in 1861, the 51st New York Regiment, sent it to the front, and maintained it to the end of the war by his own contributions and by subscriptions from among his friends. He was offered the positions of Commissioner of Internal Revenue and Register of the Treasury, as well as that of consul-general at Paris. He declined these, together with several important military positions, preferring to continue his work in New York.

He was instrumental in suggesting and in forming organizations of importance in connection with the United States Government, was with President Lincoln shortly before his assassination, in Paris at the downfall of Napoleon, in Germany during the siege of Paris, and in Paris throughout the days of the Commune. In 1876 he founded the first society of the Sons of the Revolution, and in 1883 became its president. He was a writer of great versatility, wrote a life of Gallatin, founded the Magazine of American History, and from 1876 to 1878 was librarian of the New York Historical Society.

He was married to Margaret Morris of New York, who, with two daughters, survive him. An only son, bearing the same name as his own, died about two years before him.

Abridged from communication by MISS AUSTIN STEVENS.

WILLIAM JACKSON, of Boston, a resident member since 1898, died at Brighton, Mass., June 30, 1910. He was born there March 13, 1848, the son of Samuel and Mary (Field) Jackson.

Mr. Jackson was educated at the public schools and at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, but did not graduate from the latter. In 1868 he became a rodman in the Boston City Engineer's office, and was City Engineer from 1885. He belonged to a number of societies and clubs, among them being the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Wars, the Bostonian Society, American Society of Civil Engineers, Boston City Club, and the Union Club.

He was married, April 27, 1886, to Mary Stuart, daughter of James Stuart and Julia (Hogan) MacCovey of Boston.

ALEXANDER JOHNSTON STONE, M.D., LL.D., a resident member since 1866, and a life member since 1870, was born at Wiscasset, Me., September 7, 1845, the son of Daniel and Elizabeth (Johnston) Stone, and died at Saint Paul, Minn., July 16, 1910.

Dr. Stone was an early attendant at the famous Abbott School, "Little Blue," Farmington, Me., and was graduated from the Berkshire Medical College in 1867. In 1870 he became a resident of Saint Paul, where he at once engaged in practice, combined with the teaching of medicine, the support of medical journalism, and the guardianship of the public health, features which to him were of the first importance.

While in Boston, and after his graduation, Dr. Stone was associated with the celebrated Dr. Horatio Storer, and later went abroad, where he studied for three months. After his return he married, removing to Stillwater, Minn., where he remained a year, and then became partner of Dr. Jacob Stewart of Saint Paul, where he made his home. For the last three years of his life his health had been poor, and his last illness was comparatively brief. His remains are interred at Augusta, Me., where a sister, Miss Louisa Stone, now lives. His widow's home is at Wiscasset, Me.

At the time he entered professional life, the old preceptorship in medicine was proving inadequate, hence he took an active part in organizing the Saint Paul Preparatory Medical School, which later was merged into the Saint Paul Medical College, of which at one time he was the head. He was also the editor of the Northwestern Lancet, the pioneer medical journal of Minnesota, and held many offices. He was widely known and popular. From a tribute to him in the Northwestern Lancet for August 1, 1910, it is said that he was the first and best of Minnesota's medical journalists, a physician of large and faithful following, a public officer of long and valuable service, and a speaker of rare eloquence, a scholar of broad culture, and a man of unswerving loyalty and tireless energy.

He was married, December 15, 1868, to Helen Sheppard, daughter of Dr. Stephen B. and Hannah Wood (Sheppard) Sewall. Mrs. Stone was a granddaughter of Hon. John Hannibal Sheppard, librarian for many years of this Society, and prominent in its councils and in the promotion of its interests.* Dr. Stone and his wife were the parents of three sons, two of whom died in infancy; the third, and eldest, John Sheppard Stone, now lives in Chicago, Ill.

JOHN HITCHCOCK of Falmouth, Mass., a resident member since 1890, died at West Falmouth August 15, 1910. He was the son of Sarah Frances and the late John Hitchcock.

To have known John Hitchcock is like having visited some genial island where the sun always shines, where manners are kindly and hearty, and where life is far from the haste and heat that so wear the modern world. He not only was spared from the care and toil of business but was kept by character and temperament from the evil and folly into which men of leisure so readily fall. He loved his home, his family, and his friends with a calm and steady affection that made no pretence and knew no change.

A pure, simple, bright and loving life that shone upon the world with gentle warmth and steady brightness, made him beloved by all who knew him and came into relations with him, and when at last the death that had quietly waited for him since a severe illness of several years ago was given permission to take him, he drifted so quickly away that he seems not to have died at all but to be waiting like the sunny island in some other sea, for us to visit him again and to find the same cheerful and kindly manners that from acquaintance of the earlier time lie so fair in the memory.

Indebtedness is expressed to Rev. Dr. Lyon of Chapaquoit, Mass., to Dr. Ephraim Cutter, and others, for the facts of this notice.

HEZEKIAH EUGENE BOLLES, a resident member from 1907, died at Dorchester October 28, 1910. He was born at Waterford, Conn., January 6, 1853, the son of William and Cornelia Congdon (Palmer) Bolles, and was descended from Joseph,¹ Thomas,² John,³ Joshua,⁴ Hezekiah,⁵ and William⁶ Bolles, his father. He was a graduate of the law school of Boston University, and practiced law in Boston.

He married, September 9, 1882, Elizabeth Clapp, daughter of James Theodore and Martha Neal (Jenkins) Howe, and had no children.

ALEXANDER CLINTON ADAMS of Barnstable, a resident member since 1893, died November, 1910. He was born at Osterville, Mass., April 9, 1847, the son of Urial and Annie (Dottridge) Adams, and was descended from Henry¹ Adams of Braintree through Edward,² Edward,³ Thomas,⁴ Edward,⁵ Ansel,⁶ and Urial,⁷ his father.

Mr. Adams was educated in the country school, and later entered the fire insurance business. He helped to organize the New England Insurance Exchange, and was one of its early officers; was the New England agent of one of the largest foreign companies doing fire insurance in America; and removed to Hartford, Conn., in 1897, to take charge of the Ætna Company of that city. He was unmarried.

Abridged in part from "A Genealogical History of Henry Adams of Braintree," by Andrew N. Adams.

MRS. CHLOE RICHMOND GURNEY of Brockton, a resident member since 1900, died December 14, 1910. She was born at Campello, Mass., April 5, 1845, the daughter of Vinal and Damaris Williams (Keith) Lyon. On her paternal side she was descended from William¹ Lyon of Roxbury, 1635, William,² Samuel,³ Jedidiah,⁴ Vinal,⁵ and Vinal,⁶ her father.

She was educated in the public schools of Campello (in Brockton), attended Hunt's Academy, North Bridgewater, and Monati-quot Female Seminary, East Braintree. Mrs. Gurney taught school for three years before her marriage, was deeply interested in local history, a life member of the Old Bridgewater Historical Society, president of different women's organizations, wrote more or less for the local press, and collected material to compile a family genealogy.

She married, June 3, 1866, Lysander Franklin Gurney. Their children were Frank Ellis, born July 22, 1867; Merton Studley, born April 14, 1869; and Sanford Keith, born October 30, 1875.

ISAAC NEWTON NUTTER of East Bridgewater, a resident member from 1891, died at East Bridgewater January 9, 1911. He was born there January 23, 1836, the son of Isaac and Margaret Orr (Keene) Nutter.

Mr. Nutter was educated in the public schools of his native town and at East Bridgewater Academy, and began business at the age of sixteen years in the store of Hector Orr at East Bridgewater, a business later purchased by his father, to which he succeeded in 1863. He carried it on until 1884, when he was placed in charge of the East Bridgewater Savings Bank. In 1871 he had become treasurer of the bank, and retained the office for a term of years. He was an active mover in forming the Plymouth County Safe Deposit and Trust Company at Brockton, of which he became treasurer in 1893, and retired from that office about a year before his death.

He was elected a member of the Massachusetts Legislature in 1875 and 1876, served his district as Senator in 1891 and 1892, and while a member of the Senate was chairman of the Committee on Banks and Banking.

When the new Washburn Library was given to the town of East Bridgewater, Mr. Nutter, with another, was chosen by the donor to have charge of the fund for the erection of the building, and he served as secretary and treasurer of the library board for several years. Mr. Nutter was president of the Howard Seminary at West Bridgewater from 1903; vice-president of the Plymouth County Agricultural Society; a member of the West Bridgewater Grange, of the order of Odd Fellows, the Masonic Order, and of several organizations of a business character.

He was married, July 5, 1865, to Anna Maria, daughter of Charles A. Latham, and was survived by three children: Maria Latham; Richard W., former assistant district attorney of Plymouth and Norfolk counties; and Charles Latham of East Bridgewater.

WILLIAM RICHARDSON DUPEE, a resident member since 1904, born at Brighton in 1841, died January 19, 1911, at his home in Brookline, Mass.

He was educated at Chauncy Hall School, Boston. Long prominently identified with the wool trade in Boston up to his retirement from active interest in it in 1905, he began business with the old time commission firm of J. C. Howe & Company before Civil War days, and remained with them until 1868, when he went into business on his own account as a wool broker. Later he became associated with John D. Parker in the wool business, and afterward with George B. Nichols; and the firm of Nichols, Parker & Dupee became widely known, as did that, afterwards, of Nichols, Dupee & Company. Mr. Nichols died several years ago, and when Mr. Dupee retired in 1905, the firm name was the oldest in the wool trade in Boston. The business has since been carried on by Dupee & Meadows, of which firm William Arthur Dupee, the son, is the senior member.

Mr. Dupee was at one time president of the American Rubber Company; and at the time of his death was a trustee and member, as he had been for many years, of the board of investment of the Boston Five Cent Savings Bank, which institution he had served also as vice-president. He also was a director of the Eliot National Bank, and of the Industrial Trust Company of Providence, R. I. Mr. Dupee belonged to the Somerset, Union, Country, and Eastern Yacht clubs.

He is survived by his son, William Arthur; two daughters, Mrs. Endicott P. Saltonstall, formerly Elizabeth B. Dupee, and Mrs. George D. Burrage, who before her marriage was Jeannie Ursula Dupee.

LEMUEL ABIJAH ABBOTT, U. S. A., Retired, a life member since 1895, died unmarried at Aberdeen, Wash., February 3, 1911, and was buried at Barre, Vt., where he was born Aug. 24, 1843, the son of Richard F. and Mary (Norris) Abbott. He traced his line to George¹ Abbott of Rowley through Richard Flagg,⁷ his father, Abijah,⁶ John,⁵ Samuel,⁴ Samuel,³ George.²

His early education was acquired in the district schools of his native town, at Barre Academy, and at Norwich (military) University, where he was a cadet in 1861 and a part of 1862. He entered the Union Army from Barre, July 28, 1862, as a member of Company B, 10th Vermont Volunteer Infantry, and in this organization he served as first sergeant, then as a second, and afterwards as a first, lieutenant, and later as captain, before being mustered out on June 22, 1865. In the Civil War he served for a great part of the time with the Sixth Corps. It was his fate to participate in many important battles, and to be twice slightly and twice severely wounded.

From November 6, 1865, to April 6, 1866, he served as first lieutenant and adjutant of the 97th United States Colored Infantry, and on July 2, 1867, he was commissioned as second lieutenant in the 6th United States (regular) Cavalry, after which period he rendered many various and important services, mostly against the Indians, in Texas, Kansas, and Arizona, of which the precise official record is much too long for insertion here. He was first lieutenant, September 10, 1869; regimental quartermaster, November 25, 1869, to May 17, 1873; and captain, June 3, 1880. He was breveted major February 27, 1890, for gallant services rendered in an action against the Indians at Big Dry Wash, Ariz., July 17, 1882. During the foregoing period he served on the staffs of Generals Sheridan, Oakes, Miles, and Biddle.

In 1864 he was awarded the degree of B.S. from Norwich University. After being retired from the service, January 3, 1885, on account of wounds and disability, he engaged himself in engineering enterprises and in the preparation of a genealogical work entitled "Descendants of George Abbott of Rowley, Mass., and other Abbott families," which was issued in two volumes.

It is rumored that a greater part of the large estate which he has left will be devoted to the erection of a home for aged persons, to be located on his own landed estate in Barre.

LAURAMAN HOWE RUSSELL of Winthrop, Mass., a resident member since 1909, died there February 15, 1911. He was born at Marlborough, Mass., November 19, 1820, the son of Otis and Lovina (Rice) Russell. He was descended from William¹ Russell, through John,² Jonathan,³ Eliezer,⁴ Oliver,⁵ and Otis,⁶ his father.

He was by trade a carpenter and builder, and continued actively in that occupation for more than fifty years. When an apprentice he took up the study of architecture, drawing, and land surveying. He was prominent in the Sons of Temperance organization, and became a Worthy Patriarch of the state. He was Deacon of the Second Parish Unitarian Church in Marlborough, held the office of Parish Clerk, assessor, collector, and treasurer, and was also the clerk and treasurer of the Ministerial Church Fund, as well as teacher and superintendent of the Sunday School.

Mr. Russell was enlisted, July 16, 1861, in Company I, 13th Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry, Moses P. Palmer's Company, and served with that regiment until December 3, 1863, when he was discharged for disability. While he was in the army he was engaged in a number of battles, had charge of wounded soldiers, and was detailed as assistant engineer and surveyor for the new Convalescent Camp near Alexandria, Va., where he was employed in laying out streets, grading camp, making plans for officers' quarters, library, hospital, church and other buildings, and in surveying for the purpose of laying water pipes and the building of a camp railroad.

SAM WALTER FOSS, A.M., of Somerville, Mass., a resident member from 1906, was born at Candia, N. H., June 19, 1858, the son of Dyer and Polly (Hardy) Foss, and died at Somerville February 26, 1911. He was graduated at Brown University in 1882, receiving later the honorary degree of A.M., entered the newspaper profession afterwards, was editor from 1883 to 1893, a general writer from 1893 to 1898, and was elected librarian of the Somerville Free Public Library in 1898, a position which he held until the time of his death.

Mr. Foss was author of "Back Country Poems," 1894; "Whiffs from Wild Meadows," 1895; "Dreams in Homespun," 1897; "Songs of War and Peace," 1898; "Songs of the Average Man," 1907; and other productions. As president of the Massachusetts Library Club he recited before that body various pieces of his own composition, relating in a humorous manner peculiar to himself the various foibles and trials incident to librarians and their work. His most famous piece is probably the one entitled "My House by the side of the Road." He was also a lecturer, and the reader, publicly, of his own poems. He took charge of a very important public library without previous experience, and managed it successfully. Mr. Foss was a most genial and popular man, and a useful factor in the community where he made his residence, which, with a large section of the world about it, shares his loss.

He was married, July 13, 1887, to Carrie M., daughter of Rev. Henry Conant of Providence, R. I., and is survived by her, a son, and a daughter.

CURTIS GUILD, Senior, of Boston, a life member since 1881, founder of the Commercial Bulletin, pioneer in business journalism, writer of travel sketches, and collector of rare books and autographs, died at Boston March 12, 1911, aged eighty-four years. He had been the victim of a street accident in 1897, and was obliged to retire permanently from active life. He was born at Boston January 13, 1827, the son of Curtis Guild of South Dedham and Charlotte Louisa, his wife, daughter of Ezra Hodges of Augusta, Me.

Owing to the death of his father and other misfortunes, Mr. Guild left the high school, and at sixteen entered the employ of Barnard, Adams & Company on Commercial Wharf. Having made the acquaintance of Charles O. Rogers, the chief clerk in the office of the Boston Journal, he became his assistant in 1847 and labored in company with him for two years. Gradually he worked his way into the editorial columns, introduced the now familiar bulletin board, became a regular contributor to the Knickerbocker Magazine and other periodicals, and continued his work on the regular staff of the Journal. He then accepted the offer of the chief clerkship in the counting room of the Evening Traveller, and was admitted about 1856 to a partnership in the firm. The Commercial Bulletin, a new journal of his own invention, appeared on January 1, 1859, with himself as editor and sole proprietor.

He visited Europe in 1867, and issued a book afterwards under the title "Over the Ocean." Other books followed, "Abroad Again," "Britons and Muscovites," and a book of verse, "From Sunrise to Sunset."

In 1875-76 he was a member of the Boston Common Council, and in 1878 an Alderman. He delivered the farewell address to Charlotte Cushman, and the address of welcome to Sir Henry Irving; was president of the Commercial Club; and from 1882 to 1907 was president of the Bostonian Society.

He was married to Sarah C. Cobb of Taunton, Mass., a granddaughter of General David Cobb, aide to General Washington in the Revolutionary War. She died in 1898. Their three children are Curtis Guild, ex-Governor of Massachusetts, Sarah Louisa Guild, and Courtenay Guild.

NATHANIEL THAYER, A.B., of Boston, a life member from 1885, a prominent business man and public spirited citizen, was born June 13, 1851, and died at Boston March 21, 1911. He was son of Nathaniel Thayer, a prominent capitalist and public benefactor, and his wife Cornelia Van Rensselaer, and grandson of Rev. Nathaniel Thayer.

He was graduated at Harvard University in 1871; was president of the Eastern Kentucky Railway Company, the Hamilton Woolen Company, and St. Mary's Mineral Land Company; vice-president and director of a large number of corporations, among them being the Chicago Junction Railways and Union Stock Yards Company, the American Bell Telephone Company, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Bay State Trust Company, City Trust Company, New England Trust Company, the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, and the Old Colony Railroad Company; besides being a trustee of the Suffolk Savings Bank, the McLearn Hospital, Massachusetts General Hospital, and others; and a member of the corporation of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Mr. Thayer was married, February 1, 1881, to Cornelia Street, daughter of Benjamin C. Barroll of Baltimore, and had Cornelia Van Rensselaer, born December 16, 1881, and Anna Morton, born May 29, 1883.

HENRY HINCKLEY STAFFORD, a resident member of the Society since 1903, died at Newton, Mass., April 26, 1911. He was born at Boston January 6, 1833, the son of Leander and Mehitable Hinckley (Lothrop) Stafford of Salem, Conn., and was probably a descendant of Thomas Stafford, one of the early settlers of Newport and Warwick, R. I. Through his mother, who was of Barnstable, Mass., he traced his ancestry to Rev. John Lothrop, and Samuel Hinckley.

His earliest years were passed in New London, and from his sixth to his seventeenth at Provincetown, Mass., where he completed the prescribed courses at the Academy. In 1850 he entered the employ of Joseph Kidder, druggist, of Court Street, Boston, with whom he remained until 1855, when illness, involving serious heart trouble, compelled a severance of the connection. In the face of a specialist's prediction that he had not more than three months more to live, he showed characteristic independence and grit by going West, there to seek health and business. Settling in Detroit he became associated with the St. Mary's Falls Ship Canal Company, in whose interests he went in 1856 to Marquette, Mich., on Lake Superior, then a small settlement on the edge of the wilderness. Completing his duties there in 1858, he returned to Boston, and for a short time was connected with the Berkshire Life Insurance Company, but in 1859 he retraced his steps to Marquette to enter upon a busy career. He established a drug and stationery store, still prosperous after more than half a century; opened china and crockery stores there and in Milwaukee; and embarked in the lubricating oil business, which met the fate of all other competitors of the great trust. He also became interested in numerous iron mining and timber enterprises. In public life he filled a number of offices, serving as township treasurer, and chairman of the County School Board, for years; became the first mayor of Marquette, and representative in the Michigan Legislature. He was appointed Receiver of the United States Land Office at Marquette by President Lincoln, and later held office as Register of the same office. But with prosperity came reverses, the great Marquette Fire of 1868 and the panic of 1873 causing him severe losses, from which, however, he recovered with undiminished courage.

Mr. Stafford lived in Milwaukee from 1886 to 1889, when he returned to Marquette, where he remained until 1895, when failing health obliged him to make his home in California, where he owned a lemon orchard at Santa Barbara. In 1898 he went to Mount Vernon, N. Y., where he lived until 1900, when he settled down in Newton, and there, close to the scenes of his youth and free from business cares, he remained until his death.

As a young man Mr. Stafford was a strong supporter of the Anti-Slavery cause and became a staunch Republican, casting his first presidential ballot for General Fremont in 1856.

In 1853 he was confirmed in Grace Episcopal Church, Boston, and was one of the organizers of St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Marquette in 1856, and one of its first wardens. Later he identified himself with the Presbyterian Church there.

He was the last surviving charter member of Marquette Lodge, No. 101, Free and Accepted Masons, and a charter member of Lake Superior Commandery, Knights Templars, both of these bodies taking part at his burial in Marquette. He was also a member of Wisconsin Commandery No. 1, and of the Mystic Shrine.

Mr. Stafford married at Detroit, June 2, 1856, Catherine Lewis, daughter of Joseph and Nancy Jenkins (Homer) Kidder of Boston. She died at Mount Vernon, N. Y., March 26, 1900.

They had six sons, of whom five survive the parents, as follows: Edward Orr, born at Boston, now of Marquette; Walter Kidder, of Newton; Charles Mason, of Minneapolis; Henry Lothrop, of Duluth, Minn.; Alfred Cochran, died in infancy; and Morgan Hewitt, of Newton—the last five born at Marquette.

THOMAS WENTWORTH HIGGINSON, A.M., LL.D., of Cambridge, Mass., a resident member since 1868, was born at Cambridge December 22, 1823, the son of Stephen and Louisa (Storrow) Higginson, and died at Cambridge May 9, 1911.

He was graduated from Harvard College in the class of 1841, and from the Harvard Divinity School in 1847.

During the Civil War he was a captain in the 51st Regiment Massachusetts Volunteers, and served later as colonel of the 1st South Carolina (Union) Volunteers, afterward the 33d United States Colored Troops. He was the author of more than thirty popular books, among the best-known of them being the following: "Army Life in a Black Regiment," 1869; "Old Port Days," 1873; "Young Folks' History of the U. S.," 1875; "Short Studies of American Authors," 1879; "Larger History of the U. S.," 1885; "Life of Francis Higginson," 1891; "English History for Americans," 1893; "Cheerful Yesterdays," 1898; "Old Cambridge," 1899; lives of Henry W. Longfellow (American Men of Letters Series), John G. Whittier (English Men of Letters Series), and Stephen Higginson. His collected works were reprinted in seven volumes about a dozen years ago, and he was a regular contributor to magazines and delivered many public addresses.

Colonel Higginson was a master of English composition, exemplified both in writing and in platform performances, and his career was an exemplar in many respects of the attitude towards public questions called in days now long since gone the New England conscience. Such a conscience espoused a cause from a sense of duty, however unpopular such action might be, or however great might be the unfavorable effect on the prosperity or personal interests of the individual. Therefore he was among those who were the most prominent in the advocacy of the anti-slavery agitation, in the advancement of the so-called woman question, and in the command of a regiment of black troops, when such a command was not particularly popular.

His long membership in this Society is deserving of especial notice. Colonel Higginson was a most genial companion, and those of his contemporaries who delighted to listen to his oratory most assuredly regret that his voice is now silenced forever.

He was married at West Newton, Mass, February 6, 1879, to Mary P. Thatcher.

ROBERT BRECK WILLIAMS, a life member since 1899, who was born at Newburyport, Mass., August 6, 1829, and moved to Boston in 1832 with his parents, died May 20, 1911. He was the son of Robert Breck Williams, born at Newburyport May 25, 1792, and his wife Hannah Stone, born at Newburyport October 30, 1801, the daughter of Samuel and Hannah (Stone) Brown. On his mother's side he was a descendant of Richard Brown of Newbury, who came in the Elizabeth and Dorcas in 1634, and of Richard Brown, who graduated from Harvard College in 1697. His ancestors on his paternal side were William¹ Williams, who came to Salem in 1637 from Great Yarmouth, England, and was a proprietor of Watertown in 1692, Abraham,² William,³ Col. Abraham,⁴ Abraham,⁵ Joseph,⁶ and Robert Breck,⁷ his father.

Mr. Williams received his education at the primary school, the Adams Grammar School, and the English High School, which he left in 1846 to go into the counting room of Crocker & Sturgis, importers of tea and East India goods. He obtained his mercantile education there, and in October, 1851, was sent by them as supercargo in the ship Tsai to the coast of Chile and to Canton, China. In the winter of 1852 he arrived home, and in May, 1853, went into partnership with Horace Dudley Hall of Medford, as importers of tea and East India goods. Mr. Hall retired from the firm in July, 1873, and Mr. Williams continued to carry on the business under the old firm name of Williams & Hall, with his son Stillman Pierce Williams.

On February 27, 1867, Mr. Williams was married to Mary Ellen, daughter of Samuel Stillman Pierce and his wife Ellen Maria Theresa Wallis. They had eight children: Robert Breck Williams, born December 11, 1867, died January 15, 1887; Hannah Brown, born June 23, 1869, died July 25, 1883; Mary Etta, born July 4, 1871; Ellen Maria, born July 4, 1871; Stillman Peirce, born May 27, 1874; Horace Dudley Hall, born August 2, 1876; Holden Peirce, born April, 1879; Susan, born July 18, 1881.

CHARLES FRANCIS CHOATE, A.M., LL.B., of Southborough, Mass., a resident member from 1896, was born at Salem, Mass.,

May 16, 1828, the son of Dr. George C. Choate of Salem, and died at Southborough May 23, 1811.

He was educated at the Salem Latin School, a graduate of Harvard College in 1849, and of the Harvard Law School; was admitted to the Suffolk bar in 1854, and remained in active practice in Boston until 1878.

Mr. Choate was the well-known president of the Old Colony Railroad Company from 1878 to April 1, 1907, president of the Massachusetts Hospital Life Insurance Company from January 28, 1901, and president of the Commercial Club of Boston from 1898 to 1900. His winter residence was at 205 Beacon Street, Boston, and his office at 50 State Street.

He was married at Utica, N. Y., to Elizabeth W. Carlile of Providence R. I.

ARTHUR JOHN CLARK SOWDON, A.M., LL.B., of Boston, a resident member from 1870, was born at Boston March 6, 1835, the son of John Sowdon, Jr., and his wife Charlotte Harrison Capen, and died there June 3, 1911.

He was educated at the Boston Latin School, graduated from Harvard College in 1857, and from the Dane Law School in 1861. He was a real estate and mortgage broker in Boston from 1863 to 1872, when he retired; a member of the Massachusetts Legislature, 1879-1880; and a vestryman and warden of St. Paul's Church, Boston. Mr. Sowdon, who was a member of five triennial conventions of the Protestant Episcopal Church, served on the Standing Committee of the diocese of Massachusetts for fifteen years. He was a member of the First Corps of Cadets and the Veteran Corps; Deputy Governor of the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Wars 1895-96, to which he was elected October 20, 1893, in right of descent from Colonel Arthur Noble, and as Governor from 1896 to 1905, when he was elected Governor General of the National Society.

CHARLES AUGUSTUS CHASE, A.M., of Worcester, Mass., a resident member since 1890, died at Worcester June 5, 1911, aged seventy-seven. He was born at Worcester September 9, 1833, the son of Anthony and Lydia (Earle) Chase. The paternal ancestry of Mr. Chase is traced to the company who came from England with Governor Winthrop, but the generation to which his grandfather belonged, having intermarried with Quakers, became members of that sect. His father, who was prominent in Worcester, was agent for the Worcester and Providence Boating Company, collector of tolls on the Blackstone Canal, associated with John Milton Earle, his brother-in-law, in the ownership of the Worcester Spy, County Treasurer, Elder in the Society of Friends, etc.

He had been prominent in Worcester as banker, scholar, historian, antiquary, and office-holder, and had seen it grow from a town of less than six thousand to a city of twenty-five times that size. His boyhood shared in the inspiring spirit which prevailed in his native place, and hence he attended the best schools, including the Classical and English High School, until he entered Harvard College, where he was graduated in 1855, receiving his degree of A.M. in 1858. He was fitted for his after experience in life by entering upon newspaper work, and became one of the editorial staff of the Boston Daily Advertiser, remaining with it until 1862, when he succeeded his father as County Treasurer. For twenty-five years he was associated in ownership of the Worcester Gazette. He was also Register of Deeds, Secretary of the Board of Trade, and Treasurer of the Worcester County Institution for Savings, and after 1904, its president.

Mr. Chase possessed a knowledge of public men and events which was rarely equalled, and had an especially responsible participation in the rise and progress of one of the largest savings institutions in this part of the country, besides possessing a rare appreciation of art and literature, being devoted to antiquarian research, and tireless in advancing the good, the true, and the beautiful in all lines of human attainment. He was a member of the American Antiquarian Society, The Colonial Society of Massachusetts, the Worcester Society of Antiquity, and others.

An intimate friend writes: "Whether moving in the city's business, social or literary circles, he was always one thing, the upright, the able and considerate gentleman. He died as a man may well wish to die, honored by those who knew him, loved by troops of friends, and widely respected in the place of his birth and long life."

He was married at Boston, April, 1863, to Mary Teresa, daughter of John and Mary (Gorman) Clark. Their children were Mary Alice, who married Thomas Hovey Gage, Jr., and Maud Elisa, of Worcester.

Abridged from The Evening Gazette, Worcester, June 6, 1911.

FRANCIS HENRY LINCOLN, A.M., of Hingham, Mass., a resident member since 1901, long prominent in real estate circles in Boston, died at Boston July 7, 1911. He was born at Hingham, April 14, 1846, the son of Solomon and Mehitabel (Lincoln) Lincoln.

He attended Derby Academy in Hingham, and was graduated from Harvard University in 1867. After leaving college he was associated with the drygoods firm of A. Hamilton & Company in Boston, and after the great fire of 1872 was with Alexander S. Porter in the real estate business. He was agent of the Hingham Mutual Fire Insurance Company, president of the Massachusetts Mutual Fire Insurance Union, trustee of Loring Hall and of the public library in his town, president and trustee of the Hingham Institution for Savings, and director of the Hingham cemetery; a member of the Society of Colonial Wars, the Society of Sons of the American Revolution, the Bunker Hill Monument Association, The Colonial Society of Massachusetts, The Society for Propagating the Gospel among the Indians and Others in North America, the Wompatuck Club in Hingham, and other organizations. He had also been treasurer of the American Unitarian Association.

Mr. Lincoln wrote several chapters of the "History of Hingham," his contributions including those on the town's ecclesiastical history, education, public conveyances, fire department, public institutions, lodges and societies, native and resident lawyers, native and resident ministers, and miscellaneous matters.

A widow, and a son, Francis Henry Lincoln, Jr., survive him.

ALBERT CLARKE, A.M., of Boston, a resident member since 1904, died at Highgate, Vt., July 16, 1911. He was born at Granville, Vt., October 13, 1840, the son of Jedidiah and Mary (Woodbury) Clarke.

He was a graduate of Barre, Vt., Academy, and received the degree of A.M. from Dartmouth College. As a lawyer he studied and practiced at Montpelier, Vt., from 1859 to 1865. He enlisted in the 13th Vermont Volunteers in August, 1862, and was thrice promoted; was in command of a company at the battle of Gettysburg, and captured cannon and prisoners. As a legislator, he was a member of the Vermont Senate and also of the Massachusetts House of Representatives. He was also colonel on Governor Dillingham's staff, Vermont, 1865. He held many other offices, judge advocate general of the G. A. R., president of the Vermont and Canada Railroad, and chairman of the U. S. Industrial Commission, being among the number.

Colonel Clarke was the author of many addresses and pamphlets, and best known from his connection with the Home Market Club as its secretary and editor of its publication, the Home Market Bulletin, the name of which is now changed to the Protectionist Magazine. In his literary capacity he was editor, and for a time proprietor, of the St. Albans Messenger, was on the staff of the Boston Daily Advertiser for a few years, and later editor and manager of the Rutland (Vermont) Herald. In 1889 he came to Boston and began his connection with the Home Market Club.

He was married at Rochester, Vt., January 21, 1864, to Josephine Briggs. Besides a son, who died in infancy in 1867, they had two daughters, Josia Caroline, who died in 1879, and Mary Elizabeth, now Mrs. Samuel Williams of Fitchburg. His widow and daughter survive him.

REV. WILLARD FRANCIS MALLALIEU, A.M., D.D., LL.D., of Newton, Mass., elected a resident member in 1868, and a life member from 1873, died at his home, 49 Grove Street, Auburndale, Mass., August 1, 1911, aged 83 years. He was born at Sutton, Mass., December 11, 1828, the son of John and Lydia (Emerson) Mallalieu. He was descended from Francis Mallalieu, a Huguenot who fled from France to England, and his father emigrated from the latter country and settled in Worcester, and afterwards lived in Sutton and Millbury.*

At the age of eleven he experienced religion, and soon after, during a visit to New Haven, Conn., encountered influences which inspired him with an idea to obtain a higher education—a purpose which never flagged until, in 1857, he was graduated from Wesleyan University. He had felt an inclination towards the ministry, and so after his graduation was admitted, in 1858, into the New England Methodist Conference and stationed at Grafton, a new and uncultivated field. After two years there he was appointed to Mt. Bellingham Church, Chelsea. In 1862 he was sent to the church on Lynn Common, Mass., then considered the best appointment in the Conference. In 1864 he was assigned to the Monument Square Church, Charlestown, and after a year was assigned to his first pastorate at Bromfield Street Church, Boston. In 1868 he was again in Chelsea, but at the Walnut Street Church. He was at this time elected president of the Central Tennessee College at Nashville, but declined the position. In 1871 he was stationed at Trinity Church, Worcester, and from 1872 to 1874, at St. John's, South Boston, and in 1875 at Trinity Church, Springfield. In 1876 he was appointed for the second time to the church in Bromfield Street. Then, for a second time, he returned to Walnut Street Church, Chelsea. In 1882 he was appointed to the presiding eldership, and in 1884 he was elected and consecrated a bishop. His first episcopal residence was at New Orleans, 1884–1892. In 1892 his position was changed to Buffalo, and in 1896 he became the resident bishop of New England.

Bishop Mallalieu was a vital, vibrant force in the life of men. The great themes of vital importance to the welfare of the community received added meaning from his cogent treatment. He had the statesman's vision, the business man's enterprise, and the prophet's sense of righteousness. He shone brightest as a friend, brother, neighbor, and companion. The years added no tinge of bitterness to a loveable nature, but mellowed and sweetened by the experiences of his long life, he stood as one who would not quit the firing line, tender and undaunted, a true lover of humanity and the trusting child of God.

He was married, October 13, 1858, to Eliza Frances, daughter of Capt. George Atkins of Sandwich, Mass. His wife, and an only SAMUEL NEWTON CUTLER, A.B., of Somerville, Mass., a life member since 1906, died at Somerville, September 22, 1911. He was the son of Samuel and Sarah Jane (Bennett) Cutler, and was born at Boston January 25, 1855. Mr. Cutler was descended from John¹ Cutler from Sprauston, Co. Norfolk, England, and afterwards an inhabitant of Hingham, through Samuel,² Ebenezer,³ Ebenezer,⁴ Jonathan,⁵ Jonathan,⁶ Samuel,⁷ and Samuel,⁸ his father, who was one of the most prominent business men of Boston, president of the Bay State Belting Company, etc., settled in Somerville in 1856, and died July 12, 1905.

He was graduated from the Somerville High School in 1873, and from Harvard University in 1877. From 1880 he was engaged in mercantile business, and since 1892 as a member of the firm of Hill and Cutler (his father's firm, organized in 1855), exporters and dealers in cotton and wool stock.

Mr. Cutler was a trustee of the Somerville Savings Bank, the Somerville Hospital, the New England Baptist Hospital; a member of the Somerville School Committee, 1886-1903, and chairman 1900-1903; a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, 1904, 1905; prominent in Baptist organizations, a life member of the Harvard Union, and of various historical and literary associations. He had been also first vice-president of the Boston Social Union.

He was married at Somerville, November 9, 1882, to Ella Frances, daughter of Hiram Newell Stearns, and is survived by a widow, two sisters, and a brother, all residents of Somerville. Mr. and Mrs. Cutler had no children.

SAMUEL CROCKER LAWRENCE, A.M., of Medford, Mass., a life member since 1891, distinguished as a merchant and a soldier, died at Medford September 24, 1911, in his seventy-ninth year. He was born at Medford November 22, 1832, the son of Daniel and Elizabeth (Crocker) Lawrence.

He was a student of Lawrence Academy, Groton, Mass., and was graduated at Harvard College in 1855, receiving the degree of A.M. in 1858.

From 1856 to 1857 he was engaged in the banking business at Chicago, and was in business with his father and brother, under the designation of Daniel Lawrence & Sons, Medford, from 1858 to 1867, and sole proprietor of the firm from 1867 to 1906; was president of the Eastern Railroad Company in 1875, which was leased to the Boston and Maine December 2, 1884; a director since 1884, and a member of the executive committee since 1893, of the Boston & Maine Railroad; director and member of the executive committee of the Maine Central Railroad Company since 1875; a member of the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia from 1855 to 1864; colonel of the Fifth Massachusetts Infantry in 1860-1861, and was wounded in battle while commanding that regiment at the first Battle of Bull Run; became brigadier-general in the Massachusetts Militia, serving as such from 1862 to 1864; and was the commander of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts in 1869. General Lawrence was the first mayor of the city of Medford from 1892-1894. He was also eminent in the order of free masonry; Grand Master of Masons of Massachusetts, Grand Commander of Knights Templar, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, active member and officer of the Supreme Council, thirty-third degree, etc.

Such are the bare facts of his life. Few persons ever did more in a financial way for their native city than General Lawrence. He was a lieutenant, in 1854, in the Lawrence Light Guard of Medford, an organization then started and named in honor of his father. To this company he erected and gave in his lifetime, under certain conditions, a magnificent stone armory, at an unknown cost, a structure embracing everything desirable for such an organization and unsurpassed by any in New England. He was commissioned colonel three days after the attack on Fort Sumter, and his regiment (a three months' organization) was soon on its way to the front. For more than thirty years he was a trustee of the Medford Public Library. He was unanimously nominated for Congress, but declined to be a candidate. The extensive grounds about his residence were open to all comers. Five hundred acres of them, bordering on the public Fells district, he prepared in the most generous manner as a park, including in his expenditure an observatory on the highest elevation, from which a magnificent view is had of a great extent of country. He was for years a collector of books, and owned what was probably the best masonic library in the world. He was indefatigable in his efforts to save the trees from gypsy moths, and spent yearly vast sums to rid the community of that pest. It was a source of regret to his friends that he persistently declined high official position both in state and nation.

He was married on April 28, 1859, to Carrie Rebecca, daughter of Rev. William and Rebecca (Taylor) Badger of Wilton, Me., who with their two children, a son and a daughter, survive him.

WILLIAM BULLARD DURANT, A.M., LL.B., of Cambridge, a resident member since 1875, was born at Barre, Mass., September 29, 1844, and died at Cambridge October 4, 1911. His father,

Rev. Amos⁶ Bullard,* was born at Medway July 13, 1807, married, December 30, 1839, Mary Ann Durant, and resided at Barre, Mass. ° He was a son of Amos⁵ and Abigail (Adams) Bullard, and descended from Benjamin¹ Bullard of Watertown, Mass., through Benjamin,² John,³ and Henry.⁴ His mother was the daughter of William Durant, and her line is Samuel, Samuel, and Edward.

A few years after his father's death the family moved to Leicester, Mass. Here he was fitted for college at Leicester Academy, and graduated from Harvard College in 1865, receiving his degree of A.M. in 1868, and the degree of LL.B from the Harvard Law School in 1869. For two years after his graduation from college he taught school. From 1861 he was a resident of Cambridge, where, in 1880-81, he was a member of the Common Council, and in 1890-92, Representative to the General Court, and from 1894-96, a member of the Senate, serving on the Committee on the Judiciary. From 1899 to 1907 he was president of the Cambridge Water Board. He was also a director of the Charles River National Bank, a trustee and conveyancer of the Cambridge Savings Bank, and a member of the Cambridge and Colonial Clubs.

He was married at Worcester, Mass., October 14, 1879, to Caroline V., daughter of P. Emory Aldrich, judge of the Superior Court.† The children of this marriage were three sons, all Harvard graduates: Aldrich, an engineer, at present at Havana, Cuba; Henry Woods, a lawyer in Boston; and William Bullard, Jr., an engineer, at present located at Turner's Falls, Mass.

CORNELIUS NEWTON BLISS of New York, a resident member since 1865 and a life member since 1870, died in that city October 9, 1911, aged 78. He was born at Fall River, Mass., January 26, 1833, the son of Asahel Newton and Irene B. (Luther) Bliss.

He was educated in Fall River public schools, at the academy there, and at the New Orleans, La., high school. Subsequently he was engaged in his stepfather's counting-room in New Orleans for one year; then as a clerk in a commission house in Boston; and, in 1866, was with J. S. and E. Wright & Company, Boston, later moving to New York to take charge there, the firm subsequently becoming Bliss, Fabyan & Company, drygoods commission merchants.

Mr. Bliss was for years one of the prominent figures in national Republican politics, and was prominently and favorably known as a merchant. He was also one of the coterie who were in the forefront of the affairs of the Republican party for more than a generation. He was treasurer of the Republican National Committee, 1892, 1896, 1900; had been chairman of the New York State Republican Committee, 1887, 1888; and with other distinguished men had represented New York State for years at Republican National Conventions.

He twice refused to become a candidate for the governorship of New York, and twice refused the nomination for mayor of New York City. He accepted the position of Secretary of the Interior in President McKinley's cabinet, 1897-1898, but resigned this post after a service of two years, because of the stress of private business.

He was president of the Union League Club, 1902, 1903; vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, and president for some years of the American Protective Tariff League, besides holding many other important offices in other organizations. He amassed a great fortune, and was always active in movements for municipal reform.

His widow, a son, Cornelius N., Jr., and a daughter, Miss L. P. Bliss, survive him.

GEORGE HENRY LEATHERBEE, A.B., of Brookline, Mass., a resident member since October, 1911, died December 2, 1911. He was born at Boston May 1, 1859, the son of William Hault Leatherbee, born there October 12, 1826, and his wife Mary Jane Millard, born at Boston March 26, 1826. His mother was the daughter of Charles J. and Mary Hannah (Cloutman) Millard.

Mr. Leatherbee was educated in the public schools, Adams Academy, and graduated from Harvard in 1882.

He was married, October 24, 1894, to Ella Duncan, daughter of Washington and Margaret West Smith. They had no children.

HORACE STUART CUMMINGS, A.B., of Exeter, N. H., a resident member since 1883, died at Washington, D. C., December 7, 1911. He was born at Southborough, Mass., July 1, 1840. His father was the Rev. Jacob Cummings, whose wife, Harriet, was the daughter of John Sargent Tewksbury, a well-known citizen of Winthrop, Mass. Rev. Mr. Cummings was a Congregational minister, having charge of the Society at Southborough. Three years later a call from Hillsborough brought the family into New Hampshire. From that town the minister soon removed to Exeter, where the childhood and youth of the son were passed amidst social and intellectual influences which were never forgotten.

Exeter was ever afterward intimately associated with his life; he never forgot his early friends, and to him there was no pleasure so keen as those yearly visits he made as long as his health permitted. Naturally he became a student in Phillips-Exeter Academy, where he prepared for Dartmouth College, entering that institution in the autumn of 1858. After graduation in 1862, Mr. Cummings returned to Exeter and studied law in the office of Charles H. Bell, subsequently governor of the State and a senator in Congress. Later he entered the Albany law school, and was admitted to the bar in New York City in 1863. For some reason he put aside his profession for a time and spent several months in Washington, where he served as law clerk in the office of his friend, Dr. John M. Brodhead, Second Comptroller of the Treasury. In the summer of 1870 he resigned and travelled in Europe until May, 1871. On returning to Washington he entered into the practice of his profession, and so continued until ill health compelled him to desist. In many ways he became interested in the business growth of the District; banking, street railways, and land development were among his activities, and no man's honesty and reputation stood higher. Politics possessed an interest, especially those in New Hampshire, and his acquaintance among the public men of the State was wide and comprehensive. Socially Mr. Cummings was very popular, and his home in K Street was often the scene of gracious and unpretentious hospitality. To the visiting New Hampshire person Mr. Cummings was kindness itself, sparing nothing in the way of attention and entertainment. His love for Dartmouth was shown many years ago in preparing a history of his class, and a short time before his death he gave much time in arranging and writing a larger and more elaborate biography of his classmates, which was received with great favor. Surely New Hampshire has lost in the death of Horace S. Cummings a loyal, kindly son, and his many friends will mourn a staunch and generous comrade.

In 1863-6 he was assistant secretary and then secretary of the New Hampshire senate. He was an Exeter representative in 1876-7. In 1877 he was a colonel on the staff of Governor Cheney.

He married, October 15, 1874, Jeannette E. Irvin at Pittsburgh, Pa., who survives him.

JAMES FREEMAN DANA GARFIELD of Fitchburg, Mass., a life member since 1878 (elected a resident member in 1876), died at Fitchburg December 15, 1911. He was born at Langdon, N. H., August 14, 1828, son of Elisha and Bathsheba (Egerton) Garfield, and the youngest of thirteen children who lived to maturity.

He was educated in the district school, at the academy in Keeseville, N. Y., and later attended the Fitchburg Academy, as well as the Lawrence Academy at Groton, and the Leicester Academy. He was early apprenticed to the printing trade at Alstead, N. H., where he remained during the year 1845. He then worked at his trade in Fitchburg, while attending school, and from 1849 to 1852, at Worcester, where he was foreman of the book printing department of the office of Henry J. Howland.

Returning to Fitchburg in 1852, he became one of the proprietors of the Fitchburg Sentinel, of which he was also editor and manager, a relation which he sustained until 1860. The Sentinel had been owned by members of the Garfield family practically since its founding in 1838, and when Mr. Garfield sold his interest, he retired from the newspaper business. After a residence of several years elsewhere he returned to Fitchburg, and engaged in the retail coal business, about 1864. He was president of the Garfield and Proctor Coal Company, of Boston, Fitchburg, and New Bedford, from 1888 to 1893, and again from 1906. This company did a large wholesale business, and for thirty years was a familiar name to the trade generally.

Mr. Garfield held various offices, such as director of the Safety Fund National Bank, Fitchburg, since 1881; director of the Orswell (cotton) Mill Company since 1887, and other mills; trustee of the Worcester North Institution for Savings at Fitchburg, 1888-92, vice-president, 1892-99, and president since 1899; treasurer of the Brown Bag Filling Company (for packing seeds) since 1897; president of the Sawyer Tool Manufacturing Company, Fitchburg, 1900-1906; a member of the Worcester City Guard before 1852, and of the Fitchburg Fusiliers from 1853 to 1858, serving as clerk of the company; member of the School Board from 1881 to 1887, and 1896 to 1899; Alderman, 1886-1887, and president of that board; Representative to the General Court, 1887; and trustee of the Fitchburg Public Library since 1899.

He was interested in history and genealogy, and one of the founders, and the secretary, of the Fitchburg Historical Society, 1892-1902, and librarian and later vice-president since 1902; was the author of the Walker and Egerton Genealogy, of "Journalism in Fitchburg," and of numerous other published papers on historical and genealogical subjects; and was a member of organizations of local and general character, such as the Board of Trade, the Merchants' Association, the Free Masons, the Worcester Society of Antiquity, and others.

He was married, December 1, 1853, to Emily Charlotte, daughter of Capt. Martin and Susan (Chamberlain) Newton of Fitchburg. She died January 27, 1903, aged 71. Their children were: Charlotte Gertrude, Emma Susie, Mary Louise, Edmund Dana, and Theresa Newton. The first named is deceased, and the second married William Ashley Blodgett.

From Who's Who in New England, p. 396; Crane, Worcester County, vol. 4, p. 58 (with portrait).

ISAAC JOHN GREENWOOD, A.M., M.D., a corresponding member since 1859, was born in New York November 15, 1833, and died December 16, 1911. He was the son of Isaac John⁶ Greenwood, M.D., born July 17, 1795, by his second wife, Mary McKay, born in New York December 24, 1815, whom he married July 17, 1832.

The paternal line runs through Dr. John⁵ of New York, the famous dentist, son of Isaac⁴ of Boston, Mass., a maker of mathematical instruments, son of Prof. Isaac³ of Harvard College, son of Samuel² of Boston, to Nathaniel¹ (son of Miles) who came from Norwich, England.

Dr. Greenwood graduated from Columbia University in 1853, and received the degree of A.M. from that institution in 1857. He studied chemistry with Prof. Robert Ogden Doremus and attended lectures in New York Medical College, 1856-61; was a member of the New York Historical Society, from 1858, and a member and also an officer of many other societies.

From an early period in the history of this Society, Dr. Greenwood has been a very extensive and acceptable contributor to the REGISTER. He published several privately printed books, among them "The Willoughby Family of New England," and "A Genealogical Statement of the Clarke Family."

He was married, October 23, 1866, to Mary Agnes, daughter of Joseph and Eliza E. (Barnes) Rudd of New York. Children: Eliza Rudd, Mary Mackaye, Isaac John, and Joseph Rudd.

Memoirs of the following named members of the Society may be found as indicated:

WILLIAM TAGGARD PIPER, in the REGISTER of January, 1912;
JOHN COFFIN JONES BROWN, in the REGISTER of April, 1912.

It is expected that a memoir of JOHN TAGGARD BLODGETT will appear in the REGISTER of July, 1912.

CHARTER AND ENABLING ACTS

An Act to incorporate the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

SECT. 1. Charles Ewer, J. Wingate Thornton, Joseph Willard, their associates and successors, are hereby made a corporation, by the name of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, for the purpose of collecting, preserving, and occasionally publishing, genealogical and historical matter, relating to early New England families, and for the establishment and maintenance of a cabinet; and for these purposes, shall have all the powers and privileges, and, be subject to all the duties, requirements and liabilities, set forth in the forty-fourth chapter of the Revised Statutes.

SECT. 2. The said corporation may hold and possess real and personal estate, to an amount not exceeding twenty thousand dollars.

[Approved by the Governor, March 18, 1845.]

Acts and Resolves of the General Court of Massachusetts, 1845, chapter 152.

An Act to enable the New England Historic-Genealogical Society to hold an additional amount of property.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1. The New England Historic-Genealogical Society may take, by purchase, gift, grant or otherwise, and hold, real and personal estate not exceeding one hundred thousand dollars, in addition to the amount authorized by the second section of chapter one hundred and fifty-two of the acts of the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-five.

SECTION 2. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

Approved April 1, 1868.

Acts and Resolves, 1868, chapter 100.

An Act to enable the New England Historic-Genealogical Society to hold additional real and personal property.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1. The New England Historic-Genealogical Society may take by bequest, gift, grant, or otherwise, and hold, real and personal estate not exceeding two hundred thousand dollars in value in addition to the amount authorized by section two of chapter one hundred and fifty-two of the acts of the year one thousand eight hundred and forty-five, and by section one of chapter one hundred of the acts of the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, and exclusive of the value of all books, papers, pictures and statuary now owned, or which may be hereafter acquired by said society.

SECTION 2. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

Approved April 13, 1888.

Acts and Resolves, 1888, chapter 227.

An Act to enable women to become members of the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

The New England Historic Genealogical Society, a corporation organized under the laws of this Commonwealth, may admit women to membership, subject to such restrictions as the by-laws of said corporation may from time to time impose.

Approved April 10, 1897.

Acts and Resolves, 1897, chapter 275.

The following is from the Revised Laws of 1902, Corporation Acts, chapter 125, section 8:

Any corporation organized under general or special laws for any of the purposes mentioned in section two [educational, charitable, antiquarian, historical, literary, scientific, etc.] . . . may hold real and personal estate to an amount not exceeding one million five hundred thousand dollars.

Memorial Biographies of deceased members of the New England Historic Genealogical Society. Vols. 1-9. Containing memoirs of members who died previous to 1890. This series of volumes is replete with historic and biographic lore, of constantly increasing value—great pains having been taken to make the memoirs complete and accurate. Only a small edition is printed. $2.50 per vol. or $10 for the 9 vols.

Waters's Genealogical Gleanings in England. These Gleanings abound in clues, which, if properly followed up, will enable the genealogist to pursue in the mother country investigations which without such aid would be practically impossible. 2 vols. $10.00

Genealogies of the Families and Descendants of the Early Settlers of Watertown, Massachusetts, Including Waltham and Weston: to which is appended the early history of the town, with illustrations, maps and notes, by Henry Bond, M.D. Second Edition. With a memoir of the author, by Horatio Gates Jones, A.M. Two vols. in one. 1094 pages. Price $10.00

Abstracts of Wills in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury at Somerset House, London, England. Register Soame, 1620. The volume contains, in 607 pages, 1366 wills, comprising about 40,000 names of persons and over 10,000 names of places. $6.00

The Pioneers of Massachusetts. By Rev. Charles Henry Pope. An alphabetical compilation of genealogical data, gleaned from public and private records and other sources, both in England and New England, relating to the first settlers and founders of what is now the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, between the years 1620 and 1650, inclusive; with an introduction, tables, summaries, and cross-index. Boston, Mass. 1900. 4to. 550 pp. $15.00

MASSACHUSETTS VITAL RECORDS

THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY is publishing, by a Fund set apart from the bequest of ROBERT HENRY EDDY to the Society, the Vital Records (Births, Marriages and Deaths) of Towns in Massachusetts whose Records are not already printed, from their beginning to the year 1850, in books of 8vo size, in clear type, on good paper, and with cloth binding. The arrangement is alphabetical.

Subscription to these Records, if made in advance of publication, will be taken at the rate of one cent per page, which includes binding. Expressage extra.

Only a limited number of copies are being printed. The type is then distributed, and the extra copies held on sale at a considerable advance on the subscription price.

Address all communications to F. APTHORP FOSTER, Editor, 18 Somerset Street, Boston, Mass.

New England Historic Genealogical Society

AN APPEAL

THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY, of Boston, Massachusetts, founded in 1844 and the oldest society of its kind in the United States, having the largest historical and genealogical library in this country and one which could never be replaced, has reached a crisis in its history calling for immediate action.

Its combustible building, an old dwelling-house remodelled many years ago, not only is inadequate to hold the priceless collections of books, pamphlets, manuscripts, and newspapers, some of which have already had to go into storage in an unused stable at the rear of the house, but has been condemned as unsafe to carry any further weight upon its floors and walls. This prevents any addition to the bookshelves, and necessitates that all meetings of members be held outside the Society's house.

A modern, fireproof building with metal fittings is needed at once, and this appeal is made to every person of New England ancestry, and others, for funds with which to erect it and carry on the valuable work of the Society. The Society owns land upon Beacon Hill, Boston, with an entrance to the same through a building which it has recently purchased in Ashburton Place. The land adjoins the Boston University School of Law and is situated near and midway between the State House and the new Court House. A suitable structure can be erected and equipped for about $100,000; and an additional permanent endowment of $50,000 will be required to meet increased expenses and for enlarging the field of publication.

The Society's library has always been freely open to the public, is visited and consulted by people from all parts of the world, and is almost daily taxed to its full capacity. Membership includes both men and women.

Here is an opportunity for sons and daughters of New England, no matter where they live, to help in preserving and publishing the records of their sterling ancestors; and here is an excellent chance to give money as a memorial to some individual or family, either towards the building or endowment, for a special room or alcove, or for equipment or publishing. Sums in any amount will be welcome, and should be sent to the Treasurer, CHARLES KNOWLES BOLTON, 18 Somerset Street, Boston, who will answer any inquiry.

MASSACHUSETTS VITAL RECORDS

THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY is publishing, by a Fund set apart from the bequest of ROBERT HENRY EDDY to the Society, the Vital Records (Births, Marriages and Deaths) of Towns in Massachusetts whose Records are not already printed, from their beginning to the year 1850, in books of 8vo size, in clear type, on good paper, and with cloth binding. The arrangement is alphabetical.

Subscription to these Records, if made in advance of publication, will be taken at the rate of one cent per page, which includes binding. Expressage extra.

Only a limited number of copies are being printed. The type is then distributed, and the extra copies held on sale at a considerable advance on the subscription price.

Address all communications to F. APTHORP FOSTER, Editor, 18 Somerset Street, Boston, Mass.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

THIS Society, having an opportunity to dispose of its present house at 18 Somerset Street, Boston, on advantageous terms, will probably vacate the property by July 1, 1912.

A contract for its new building, with entrance on Ashburton Place, entailing an expense of one hundred and fifteen thousand dollars, has been signed, and the work of preparing the foundations has already begun.

Forty-seven thousand dollars have been received, and an immediate additional total of sixty-eight thousand dollars is needed to defray the cost of construction.

Sums in any amount will be welcome, and should be sent to the Treasurer, CHARLES KNOWLES BOLTON, 18 Somerset Street, Boston, who will answer any inquiry.

MASSACHUSETTS VITAL RECORDS

THE NEW ENGLAND HISTORIC GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY is publishing, by a Fund set apart from the bequest of ROBERT HENRY EDDY to the Society, and known as The Eddy Town-Record Fund, the Vital Records (Births, Marriages and Deaths) of Towns in Massachusetts whose Records are not already printed, from their beginning to the year 1850, in books of 8vo size, in clear type, on good paper, and with cloth binding. The arrangement is alphabetical.

Subscription to these Records, if made in advance of publication, will be taken at the rate of one cent per page, which includes binding. Expressage extra.

Only a limited number of copies are being printed. The type is then distributed, and the extra copies held on sale at a considerable advance on the subscription price.

Address all communications to The Treasurer, 18 Somerset Street, Boston, Mass.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

THIS Society has disposed of its present house at 18 Somerset Street, Boston, and will probably vacate the property during July, 1912.

Its new building, with entrance on Ashburton Place, being erected at an expense of $115,000, is progressing rapidly and will be open to the public about October.

$73,000 have been received, and an immediate additional total of $42,000 is needed to defray the cost of construction.

Sums in any amount will be welcome, and should be sent to the Treasurer, CHARLES KNOWLES BOLTON, 18 Somerset Street, Boston, who will answer any inquiry.

THE SPICER GENEALOGY contains the early history of many other Connecticut families. Authors: Susan Spicer Meech and Susan Billings Meech. Price $7.25, post paid. Send for circular to SUSAN B. MEECH, R. F. D. 1, Groton, Connecticut.

WILLARD MEMOIR

Written by Joseph Willard, Boston, 1858. New edition limited to 500 copies, contains life and times of Major Simon Willard, founder of the family in America, and record of four generations of his descendants.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

THE Society vacated 18 Somerset Street on the thirty-first of July and delivered the property to Simmons College, the new owner, on the first of August. The offices and a portion of the Library are temporarily installed at no. 5 Ashburton Place, awaiting the completion of the new building at no. 9.

About $40,000 more is needed to defray the balance of the cost of construction of this building. Sums in any amount will be welcome; substantial subscriptions will be recognized by the creation of personal or family memorials.

CHARLES KNOWLES BOLTON, Treasurer,
5 Ashburton Place, Boston.
